

INDICATIONS POINT TO SUCCESSFUL GRIDIRON SEASON AT CAROLINA

sive heat made it necessary that the players appear for practice in track suits—shoes being the only part of regular football equipment worn. It was impossible to hold a scrimmage on account of the dust which rose in clouds after each down. Then the water supply failed and the squad was cut down to one bath daily. Conditions generally tended to be discouraging, although at the present they have taken a slight turn for the better. Of late it has been possible to have the squad appear in full uniform for the afternoon practice period and to hold brief scrimmages.

But about the nucleus of varsity men from last year's eleven there have gradually evolved from mass of variously trained material four elevens, of ever varying personnel, which lately have been engaged in running signals and brief scrimmages on Emerson field.

Letter men of last year include Captain Lowe, Pharr, Tenney, and McDonald in the backfield; Cochran, Hutchins, and Shepard at end; and Jacobi, Poindexter, Pritchard, Kernodle and Morris in the line. Also of the last year squad there are Griffith, Edwards, Liipfert, Woodall, Linney, Whedbee and others who are bidding fair for a berth on the varsity. Besides these men there is much promising material from the last year freshman eleven in Hogan, Green, Matthew, Bostic, Gillon, Williamson, Sykes, Farrar, Mason and Giersh.

Bill Blount, who was all South Atlantic center on Tommy Campbell's 1919 aggregation, is back and is sure to appear somewhere in the lineup. "Red" Johnson, who starred at A. and E. last year appears to have a good hold on one of the halfback positions, and Sanford Brown, who played center on the S. A. T. C. team is also back in college.

Certainly there is no lack of good material for the 1921 eleven, and with a fair percentage of the breaks of the game there should be no doubt as to the ability of the Blue and White team to successfully recoup the losses of last year and bring back the State championship to Carolina.

it may not be said that the Baptist's didn't get away with substantial gains through the line and around ends, especially Heckman who pulled off the only really long run of the game when, toward the end of the last quarter, he went for 40 yards through the entire Tar Heel team only to be caught from behind and downed within 10 yards of a touchdown. The chance to score, however, was lost when the ball went over on downs and Lowe punted safely to mid-field.

Aside from this one occasion the last half was all Carolina. The second touchdown came in the third quarter when Johnson, who was the principal gainer for Carolina, took the ball over after it had been brought down the field by a series of furious and well executed line plays. Wake Forest appeared somewhat weaker than during the first half, and was unable to gain save on passes which she worked for short gains almost at will.

The final score came during the fourth quarter after the sole forward pass completed by the Tar Heels during the afternoon was gotten off by Lowe and McDonald and placed the ball within ten yards of the Old Gold and Black goal. It was carried across by Pharr after a series of rushes. Blount kicked all three goals.

Lowe was not at his best in punting, but managed to outdistance Heckman in this phase of the game. The line appeared weak on occasions but always stiffened whenever the goal was threatened. Poindexter played an especially good defensive game, and with Prichard managed several times to break through and nip plays in the bud. Both Lowe and Johnson were responsible for a large percentage of Carolina's gains, Johnson and Heckman were undoubtedly the outstanding stars of the game.

Carolina's greatest weakness appeared in her inability to break up forward passes, Wake Forest completing no less than six out of an equal number of attempts. But generally the team showed the effects of the careful coaching of the last four weeks.

In the matter of first downs Carolina led with 16 as against Wake Forest's 12. Carolina attempted five forward passes and succeeded in completing but one.

First Half.

First Quarter—Wake Forest received and returned the ball to 25-yard line. Failing to gain they punted on third down, Lowe returning ball to their 30-yard line. Johnson gained off tackle. Pharr carried ball 10 yards through line. Wake Forest penalized 5 for off-side. Johnson gains again, and Pharr carries over for touchdown. Blount kicked goal. Carolina received and returned to 25. Carolina fumbles and Lowe punts to midfield where Liipfert down man in tracks. W. F. gains on pass, Boylen to Heckman. Prichard recovers fumble on Carolina 35. Lowe punts to Wake Forest 30-yard line. Wake Forest registers substantial gains through line and on pass. Quarter ends with ball on Wake Forest 30. Score, Carolina 7, Wake Forest 0.

Second Quarter—Wake Forest continues to gain through line. Penalized 15 yards for holding. Lowe receives punt on 25. Lowe gains 8 off tackle. Edwards gets 2 for first down. Lowe, Johnson, Pharr, and Abernathy carry ball 30 yards on line plays. Johnson skirted right end for what would have been a touchdown if Carolina hadn't been penalized 15 for holding. Armstrong intercepted Pharr's pass and returned ball to near mid-field. Wake Forest worked ball steadily down field until whistle ended half with ball on Carolina 20-yard mark. Score, Carolina 7, Wake Forest 0.

Second Half.

Third Quarter—Interchange of punts left the ball in Carolina's possession in mid-field. Johnson ran for 10 and is followed by Lowe with 12. Lowe came back with 7 off tackle. Johnson failed to gain off tackle. He got 5 on next play, McDonald carried through line for 4. Johnson made touchdown from one foot line. Blount kicked goal. Wake Forest received slight gain. Lost 10 when Shepard and Johnson broke through line and downed Heckman. Ball on Wake Forest 25. Score, Carolina 14, Wake Forest 0.

Fourth Quarter—Wake Forest kicks and Johnson returned to 40. Lowe and Johnson get 30 on off tackle and around end plays. Pass McDonald to Lowe nets 20. Pharr carried to 1 yard mark. Pharr carried ball over. Blount kicked goal. Wake Forest received. Heckman got away with a 40-yard run to N. C. 14-yard line. Passes fail, and ball finally goes over on downs on 4-yard line. Lowe punted to mid-field. Pass, Heckman to Boylan, netted 25, and Wake Forest threatened again, but McDonald and Tenney broke up passes. Score, Carolina 21, Wake Forest 0.

The line-up was as follows:

University.	Wake Forest.

The man whose courage and foresight gave alternating current to America, and founded the Westinghouse industries.

George Westinghouse

Thirty years ago the alternating current system was but an infant, for whose life those who believed in it were fighting daily and nightly battles; today this same system is a giant of almost inconceivable size, so capable of defending itself that no one seeks to attack it. For 95% of the electricity that is generated and transmitted today is alternating current.

The story of the development of alternating current is a story of courage and vision and faith; of misunderstanding and misrepresentation; of engineering failures and triumphs; of commercial ability and organization. It reads like a classic romance. In its chapters are credit and honor for all who have deserved it, but the central figure, the man whose motives and acts furnished the basis of the plot, was George Westinghouse, the founder of the Westinghouse Industries.

When, in 1886, he brought over from Europe the crude Gaulard and Gibbs system, even he, great as was his foresight, did not dream of the coming magnitude of the idea which he was fostering. The development work undertaken by the strong engineers whom he put to work led at first into many serious differences with those who favored direct current. Legislatures were even importuned to prevent the use of the "deadly Westinghouse Current," as many extremists described it.

That the little 50 horsepower generators of those days have grown to sizes two thousand times as large; that stations of a few horsepower have been succeeded by stations with a capacity of hundreds of thousands of horsepower, while at the same time, distribution voltages have grown from 1,000 to 220,000, is due largely to the vision and the courage of George Westinghouse, and to the qualities of the engineers whom he called, characteristically, to help him. By no means the least of the achievements of this man was his ability to organize the greatest aggregation of engineering intelligence ever known, men of analytical ability, consummate mathematicians, great inventors; and to promote in this great group the most harmonious and intelligent co-operation.

The same energy and courage and purpose that forced the acceptance of the air brake, the modern systems for the economic and safe distribution of natural gas, and later of the steam turbine, led and won the fight for alternating current, which has grown to be one of the world's greatest and most necessary commodities.
