FRESHMEN WILL MEET DAVIDSON SCRUBS HERE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

First Year Reserve Team Has Been Driving Hard in Preparation For Game.

THE COACH IS WELL PLEASED

Carolina Freshmen eleven will meet Davidson scrubs on Emerson field Saturday afternoon. The Freshmen have been driving hard all week for the game while Davidson always puts out a strong second team.

The Freshmen will start the game with practically the same team used against Bingham last Saturday. Sparrow will go back at quarter, if his head has healed, and George is expected to be in the backfield. In case Sparrow is not able to run the team, Gardner will in all probability again call signals.

Estes and Pendergraft in the line have been showing up well during the week and both the ends have been playing good ball, though weak in getting down under punts.

Coach Morrison stated yesterday that the entire Freshman squad was working hard and that the class gave promise of turning out more good football material next fall than any class that has been here during the history of the University. He is well pleased with the showing of his team and with practice will have one of the strongest freshman elevens seen at Carolina.

'Y' CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED WITH SPLENDID SPIRIT

Tuesday Night Canvassers Went Out
For Funds—Results Not Available For This Issue.

The Y. M. C. A. launched its annual financial campaign in great shape Tuesday night under the leadership of C. L. Moore, campaign manager and G. H. Leonard, secretary. The Tar Heel goes to press before any figures are available, but the morale of the thirty-six men who did the canvassing insured success.

At a meeting of these men immediately before the campaign was opened, each man showed his loyalty to his work by contributing an average of $5.88. The meeting was opened by the signing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and a prayer by Parson Moss. The feature and purpose of the meeting was the explanation of the budget by Secretary Comer, who emphasized the fact that Carolina has a representative in China, whose name in his city in China is a pass word, and of the $4,500 asked for, $1,500 goes to this representative, Eugene Barnett.

The fact that the Y. M. C. A. may be given charge of the new Graham Memorial building was also hinted at. After light refreshments were served the canvassers went to work with a feeling of confidence. Information as to the outcome of the campaign will be published in the next issue of The Tar Heel.

KNOW FOOTBALL TO APPRECIATE A GAME

Do you know that the "kick-off" is made from the forty yard line? That the side which is scored on has the choice of kicking or receiving? That all of the line must be in back of the kicker on the "kick-off"?

Do you know that your presence along the side lines during a game means a fifteen yard penalty for your squad? That a member of the team playing unduly rough or dirty football can cause the team to get a similar penalty?

Do you know what is meant by a down and that a team gets four downs to make their yards? A down is when the referee declares the ball "dead" by the blowing of his whistle. A team's yards are the ten yards which they must either cover during their four downs or surrender the ball to the opposing team.

Do you know that the Captain of the team is the only man who has the right to talk to the referee?

Do you know that when a forward pass is incomplete, or in other words not received, it is taken back to the point where it was put in play and the side holding the ball is charged with a down?

CHAPEL TALKS SUPPORT Y. M. C. A. FUND CAMPAIGN

Dean Carrol and Frank Graham Made Interesting Talks Supporting
"Y" Campaign.

What might be called a composite talk in behalf of the Y. M. C. A.'s financial campaign was made in chapel Tuesday morning by Dean Carrol and Frank Graham, whom President Chase introduced as "two headliners in one chapel period." Dean Carrol spoke first, discussing true and false economy, after which Mr. Graham made a short, forceful appeal to the students for financial support of the work of the Young Men's Christian Association at the University.

Dean Carrol remarked that he had been impressed upon coming to Carolina with the spirit of economy which characterized the institution. With regard to the handling of money he divided people into three classes—misers, economists, and spendthrifts. It is the second type, he said, who get the maximum amount of enjoyment from the money which they disburse. The speaker also distinguished between direct and indirect returns upon investments, asserting that most of us are so deceived by the former that we cannot properly appreciate the latter. He cited a number of examples to show the value of indirect returns and concluded his talk by referring to a great cooperative enterprise of faculty and students which sought to guarantee a maximum return, either directly or indirectly, for every dollar invested in it.

"I am glad of this opportunity to speak in behalf of an organization which still goes forth to war under the banner of a young man who went forth to die almost two thousand years ago," declared Mr. Graham. "The creed of the Young Men's Christian Association is the great trinity of youth—a vigorous body, a clean mind, and a fine spirit. It is the only voluntary religious organization on this campus. Take it out, let it die from lack of support or weak leadership, and you strike at what ought to be the very foundation of our interests and activities."

Among other things, Professor Graham spoke of the wide scope of the Y. M. C. A.'s work, not only on the campus but out in the state and in foreign fields as well. He concluded with a stirring appeal for student support in putting the financial campaign "over the top."

sured for Future.

The first two weeks washing was completed Tuesday morning, having been done in a little over eight days. Things will be more satisfactory in the future at the laundry, since the first big rush is over. The force of employees has been increased, and are daily becoming more accustomed to their work.

ARBORETUM WILL BE ENLARGED ACCORDING TO DR. COKER'S PLANS

Elaborate Plans to Extend Arboretum Back to Forest Theatre
Are Being Formed.

SOME DAMAGE BY DROUGHT

Plans to extend the arboretum as far into Battle park as the Forest theatre have been announced by Dr. W. C. Coker. Work on this new extension will probably start in the spring. Dr. Coker expects to follow the present style of landscaping, with walks, and scattering shrubs and plants well arranged. The addition will extend as far toward the main street as the back of the president's home, as far east as the Battle and Graham properties, and into the park as a line from the theatre to the Raleigh road.

Although the arboretum has been considerably damaged by the long drought, Dr. W. C. Coker, its founder and present guardian, says that the damage is not nearly so serious as he had anticipated. Many plants and shrubs have been parched to death, and the grass has been hurt to a certain degree, but Dr. Coker hopes to see the place restored to its normal beauty within at least two years.

The entire arboretum has suffered, but the plants which have been hit hardest are the evergreens. Most all of these have been destroyed. A large number of Japanese evergreens, closely related to our native cedar, are among the losses. With a few exceptions the native evergreens are also gone. Besides these particular losses there has been a general loss of some of the arboretum's most beautiful plants. Shrubs and small trees, withered by the sun, had to be cut out in the early fall, and were thrown into piles in the grove across the Raleigh road; it was these piles that made the bonfire that brought out the whole college Sunday night. The canebrake has been removed, not because of having been killed, but because the students were continually cutting the canes out, causing a large amount of rubbish to collect.

There is one little tree, a favorite with Dr. Coker, which cannot be replaced for a long time. This is the Sequoia Gigantia, commonly known as the California "big tree," which Dr. Coker has been nursing for six years, and which had taken a good growth when the dry spell hit it.

With this one exception all the plants can be replaced at very little trouble and not much expense.

The grass has not been completely destroyed and will regain its strength with the help of a little rain. The plants which have been left alive are being kept up now by daily watering. The other important work now under way is the continued clearing away of plants hopelessly lost.

The work on the garden behind Peabody hall, in the southeast corner of the campus has been discontinued for the present on account of the construction work going on nearby. Possibly the whole plot may be ruined. It was designed with the purpose of growing there a specimen of every North Carolina tree, shrub and plant, but the utilitarian activities of the University have crowded so close upon it that this purpose may have to be abandoned.

TAR HEEL EDITOR MAKES TALK ON PUBLICATIONS

Jonathan Daniels Addresses Students in Chapel on The Significance of Carolina Publications.

Jonathan Daniels, editor-in-chief of The Tar Heel, spoke on the subject of University publications in chapel Wednesday. He addressed his remarks chiefly to the new men, saying that the upperclassmen were already well acquainted with the various student publications. The substance of Daniels' talk was as follows:

"Back last summer when you were just beginning to think seriously of coming to Carolina, the first thing besides the catalog that touched you that was of Carolina were two University publications. The special summer issue of The Tar Heel brought you a complete picture of the preceding year at Carolina and the setting for the year to come. The Freshman Bible came to you at the same time, filled with advice and

WORK ON THE TENNIS COURTS IN PROGRESS

Thorough Renovation of All Courts
Give Impetus to Game Here
This Fall.

Renovation of the University tennis courts, under the charge of Hume Barden, manager varsity tennis, is well under way, and the courts promise to be in good condition shortly. He hopes by putting the courts in excellent condition, more students will take interest in tennis, and thus put the game on a sounder basis here.

During the spring months of last year rains caused deep ruts to be formed in the courts, and upon the arrival of the students here three weeks ago the courts were in very poor condition. All of these ruts are being filled up by the manager, and even now the courts present a better appearance than at the opening of school.

Special attention is being paid by the manager to the drainage of the courts. The drainage is not the main question, however, at present, no rains having occurred since the arrival of students. The extreme dryness of the courts has led tennis officials to sprinkling the courts every afternoon.

A new marker has been purchased which is reputed to have cost $400. This marker makes a line of about an inch wide, and can easily be seen from the back line of the opposite court. The courts are now being lined off every day.

In places on the courts, there is an over amount of red clay, which slicks up badly after a rain, and takes a long time to dry. These places are being fixed, and at present there are only two of the twenty courts in this condition.

The students have been turning out in large numbers on the courts during the past week, and difficulty has been experienced by many in securing courts for use. However the eight courts made ready for use last year, have proved to be a vital factor in relieving the congested condition.

A large number of matches, to be played here and off the Hill are now under consideration, and in some cases have been arranged for. Virginia is to be played here the day before Thanksgiving. Two matches, one with Wake Forest to be played either here or in Raleigh, and one with Trinity in Durham, are under consideration, and will probably be arranged for. According to Manager Barden these matches will probably be played before the Virginia game.

The match with Virginia promises to be an especially good one since both teams are said to be very strong. Virginia has much added material this year, but Carolina is not behind in this respect. Many new promising players are here this year. Among these are Bruton of last year's Trinity team, and Tench Cox of Asheville, who played excellent tennis against Pat Winston in the Greensboro tournament, losing 8-6 and 7-5. This is said to be the best tennis played against Winston during the whole tournament.

The improvement of the courts will probably help considerably in getting matches here and Barden is trying to bring the state tournament here this year. The place has

TAR HEEL REPORTER GETS LAUNDRY FACTS

Laundry Situation Investigated and Made Clean in Story By Member Tar Heel Staff.

(By G. Y. Ragsdale.)
"The laundry is a fake." This is the gist of many statements made by those who have been foremost in slamming the most recent enterprise of the University. Last year, hundreds of students here howled for a laundry. The University gave it. They still howl.

Mr. Paulson, superintendent of the laundry, is considered by his colleagues as one of the foremost men in his vocation in the South. Other laundries in the state, on being conducted through the establishment, have stated that it is the most modern equipped laundry in North Carolina.

The first two weeks saw the establishment in a mighty rush. Between 18,000 and 19,000 pieces of laundry were received at the first

PROF. DAGGETT HONORED.

Prof. P. H. Daggett, head of the school of electrical engineering, has been recently elected as a member of the council of the Society for the Promotion of Electrical Education. Professor Daggett was elected as a member of the council shortly after he had read a paper on Student Government before the council, which assembled for its meeting last year in New Haven, Conn. Professor Daggett was one of the seven newly elected members of the council of twenty-one, seven being elected each year for a period of three years.

DR. SEERLEY TALKS TO STUDENTS ON HYGIENE

Sex-Hygiene Authority Visits Chapel
Hill and Makes Two Interesting Talks.

Dr. F. N. Seerley, dean of Springfield Y. M. C. A. College, and a well-known authority on Sex-Hygiene, spent last Monday on the Hill, speaking in Memorial hall at the 11 o'clock chapel period and again at night in Gerrard Hall on the subject, "Manhood and Womanhood." Traveling under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., Dr. Seerley is making a lecture tour of all important colleges east of the Mississippi river, his next engagement after leaving the University being State College.

During the war, Dr. Seerley had charge of all physical training and sex-hygiene in the overseas Y. M. C. A. In the medical profession he enjoys an enviable reputation, particularly in the realm of physical training. Not the least remarkable thing about him is his own vigorous, robust physical condition, in spite of the fact that he is past sixty years of age. In his lectures he employs a snappy narrative style which keeps his audience laughing about half the time. His manner of presenting his subject is plain, direct and without affectation, and the large audience which filled Gerrard hall Monday night seemed to be visibly impressed by his powerful plea for better and cleaner sex life on the part of young men.

BLUE RIDGE WILL HAVE LARGE N. C. DELEGATION

Secretary Comer of the "Y" Plans to Send Large Number Carolina
Men to Conference.

H. F. Comer, secretary of the "Y," has announced that plans are under way to send to Blue Ridge the largest delegation that ever represented the University, and that will not require much effort, for although Carolina is the nearest college to the Ridge, she has never been represented by more than ten men, whereas, of the leading colleges in the other eleven Southern States represented at Blue Ridge last summer, Mississippi A. and M. had 28, Georgia Tech, 40; Vanderbilt, 37; Tennessee, 36; Florida, 34; South Carolina, 12, and Virginia, 10, while North Carolina had only three.

This unusually bad showing of Carolina can be attributed to two causes; first, that the students have not, in the past, understood the purpose of the Blue Ridge conferences, and second that heretofore the conferences have been opened before the University closed.

The purpose of the Blue Ridge conferences, like the Carolina spirit, cannot be defined. It is to set forth the best that a college has in all phases of its activities, religious, social, athletic and otherwise. It is a sample of the college spirit. A man attending these conferences serves three purposes; he materially benefits his State, his college, and most of all, himself.

The conference next summer, contrary to custom, is to be held later in the summer, so that every college will get an equal opportunity to send delegates. Mr. Comer suggests that every student be seriously thinking this over and be saving up the money to go to Blue Ridge next summer. He will be glad to give additional information to any student who will call at his office in the "Y" at any time during the year.

VARSITY WILL BATTLE MARYLAND TOMORROW ON FOREIGN TERRITORY

Carolina to Enter With Line-Up
Practically Unchanged From That of State Game.

NEW PASSES ARE PERFECTED

Carolina varsity meets the University of Maryland on the University of Maryland's gridiron tomorrow, in what will probably prove to be one of the hardest fought football contests of the season. No other Southern contest will attract as much attention.

Carolina will go into the game with the same line-up as was presented to North Carolina State over a week ago. Captain Lowe, whose knee was injured in the game with the Wolfpack, will be back in the game and calling signals.

During the past week Coach Fetzer has been driving the team in an effort to improve the offense, resorting to a great extent on a bewildering array of forward passes. Maryland will evidently be attacked in the air. The new pass formations are smooth and from practice evidence will prove successful.

Monday afternoon the varsity scrimmaged the Freshmen and Tuesday spent the entire period in signal drill and perfecting the new passes. Fetzer's entire team is spent with the offense, the defense proving in Thursday's game that it is almost invincible.

Very little has been said with reference to the Maryland team this year. It defeated V. P. I. last Sat-

FRESHMAN DEBATING SOCIETY ORGANIZED

Professor McKie Makes Talk to First Year Debaters Concerning Value of Public Speaking.

After much spirited preliminary discussion, the Freshman Debating Society, at its first regular meeting in Di Hall Monday night, finally brought order out of chaos and effected a temporary organization to last until November 14, when permanent officers will be elected. The following temporary officers were chosen: Edwin Lanier, president; C. Dockery, Jr., vice president; F. M. Bushall, secretary.

Sixteen first year men were present at the organization meeting of the society. Prof. McKie called the meeting to order and made a talk concerning the value of training in the art of public speaking. He reviewed briefly the history of the Freshman Society during the seven years of its existence, and called for an informal discussion of plans for the year. A great many ideas were submitted by various members, the majority favoring the open forum plan of discussion.

It was decided to allow the temporary officers to act as a program committee to select a question for debate at the regular meeting next Monday night. The following query was selected, "Resolved, That the Freshman Debating Society go on record as favoring government ownership and control of railroads."

CIRCULATING LIBRARY AT FOISTERS FOR STUDES

A circulating library is one of the latest additions to Foister's Art Store. This library contains all of the latest fiction. Here the student who has a taste for reading can get books on love, adventure, or any other theme that might suit his fancy. There are two classes of books, those that cost two dollars down, and those that cost one. In the first class, the member pays his two dollars for his first book; after he has read that one he swaps it for another by paying twenty-five cents. In the second the first charge is a dollar and the renewal price is fifteen cents. The book that the member has, the last one that he keeps, is his own property.

The new department of physical education at the University of Michigan will undertake to train men to look after the moral tone of high schools, to superintend matters relating to hygiene in schools, to train pupils in gymnastics, to teach them to play games, and consult with them about their vocations.
