

FRESHMEN DEFEAT THE STATE COLLEGE FRESH IN HARD FOUGHT GAME

Playing in Weldon Before Armistice Day Crowd Coach Morrison's Men Play Great Football.

SPARROW'S PLAY IS GOOD

The Carolina freshman eleven continued their winning streak last Friday in Weldon by defeating the N. C. State freshman team, 14 to 13 before a large Armistice Day crowd.

The work of Sparrow and McIver for the freshmen were the outstanding features of the Carolina play. Sparrow was really responsible for the victory, for had he missed the goal either time the victory would have been a tie or a defeat.

N. C. State scored in the first five minutes of play. The N. C. State team kicked to Carolina and the freshmen were unable to gain. Sparrow punted and Jenette ran the ball back 20 yards. He then carried the ball 40 yards around left end and in three plays Martin scored the first touchdown of the game.

In the second quarter N. C. State fizzled a punt and Carolina had the ball on their 35 yard line. Sparrow took off 14 yards around end and a forward pass, Sparrow to Vanstory, crossed the goal line. Sparrow kicked goal.

In the latter half of the quarter Sparrow punted to N. C. State's 40 yard line and Jenette made the longest run of the game, placing the ball on Carolina's 20 yard line. The entire backfield was used in making the first down and Jenette carried the ball over for the second touchdown but failed to kick goal.

Carolina was on the defensive most of the third quarter, and during the quarter the Carolina line proved its worth by holding them on their own two yard line for four downs, breaking through a throwing the State backfield for losses at times.

In the fourth quarter and in the last 3 minutes of the fourth quarter Sparrow punted and State fumbled on their own 20 yard line. McIver was down under the punt and recovered for Carolina. Sparrow made first down on the first play, and three more drives through the State line netted the touchdown from which Sparrow kicked the goal that won the game.

Marked improvement is the only thing that can be said of the last two performances of the freshmen. They were outclassed in the first two games they played but in the last two have shown some wonderful football, and have developed a driving offensive. The line has always held fairly well, but the holding of the State team on their 2 yard line for four downs was an exceptional feat in football and deserves highest praise.

BIBLE GROUPS TO BE IN FRATERNITY HALLS

Parson Moss and Others to Lead Classes Each Sunday—To be at Same Hour.

Along with its establishment of numerous Bible study groups throughout the various dormitories on the campus, the Y. M. C. is perfecting plans for the institution of similar groups in the various fraternity halls on the campus.

Plans have not been fully completed but it is known that the classes that will be conducted in the fraternity halls will come at the regular time, half past twelve on Sunday and will continue for thirty minutes. Thus they will serve to fill up a practically unoccupied space that precedes the dinner hour of one o'clock.

Last year and year before, Parson Moss conducted a series of classes in the various fraternity halls, holding the class in different fraternity halls on each Sunday, until the entire group had been included. These meetings were very successful in accomplishing their aim, and the interest shown in them was strong, considering the fact that the system had never been tried before.

This year the list of those who will conduct these meetings will include many faculty members, as well as Dr. Moss. Through this larger list of leaders, the Y. M. C. A. intends to relieve one man of the entire burden, and to obtain faculty members who are members of the different organizations to conduct the meetings in their respective halls. It is understood that under the system now being formulated, Dr. Moss will continue to conduct his rotary meetings as before.

PHI ARGUES OVER RULE OF CHAPEL ATTENDANCE

Many Arguments Advanced—Two New Members Initiated—Interest Taken By New Members.

Benjamin Hicks and J. D. Wilson were initiated in the Phi Society last Saturday night.

A bill was brought up for its final reading and discussion, whose text was to extend the compulsory chapel attendance rule to all University students, irrespective of classes, schools or sex. The discussion was lively, but the number of representatives speaking in opposition to the measure outnumbered those upholding the strength of the bill.

In the course of the discussion some members expressed themselves as favoring the abolition of chapel in its entirety, while others asserted that during the years that they had been in the University, they felt that the Chapel exercises had been more of a benefit to them than any course which they had taken. The bill was decisively defeated.

A resolution favoring the immediate granting of independence to the Philippines was introduced by Messrs Shaw and Barefoot. This subject is the query of two debates that are now being worked out on the campus between the representatives of the societies. Thus it called for some very good discussion by the members of the assembly. As the discussion of the bill, so was the discussion of the resolution, one-sided. Several upheld the affirmative and argued for the independence of the Islands, but when the final vote was called for, the resolution was unanimously defeated.

STUDENTS AND OTHERS MEET AND CELEBRATE GREAT ARMISTICE DAY

Splendid Parade Followed By Gathering and Appropriate Program in Memorial Hall.

JOHN BOUSHALL SPEAKS

With the first formal celebration of Armistice Day, in commemoration of the ending of the World War, the people of Chapel Hill and surrounding country gathered in Memorial hall with the students Friday morning following the parade, and listened to speeches that brought back memories of the days when the American doughboys were "carrying on" against the Hun in the trenches of France, and on Flanders fields.

The parade was led by the speakers, and the University band, forming on Franklin avenue, and marching from there to Memorial Hall. Besides the band and speakers of the day, the local chapter of the Red Cross had a float crowded with little children, all the school children, and the American Veterans of the World War, some in soldiers' uniforms, and others in the uniforms of the sailor, while some of the men who had seen overseas service were in "civies."

Colonel Abernethy called on Rev. E. L. Baskin to open the exercises with a prayer. Following this, Colonel Abernethy introduced the speaker, Jno. Boushall, of Raleigh. In making his introductory remarks the colonel said, "We have met in memory of that day, November 11, 1918, that marked the end of a worldwide struggle, the most wonderful day in the history of all civilization."

Mr. Boushall Speaks.

Mr. Boushall paid a tribute to the University and the sons it sent in the World War. He said that during this war, as in all wars in which the sons of this institution had had occasion to take up their arms for the defence of the nation and her principles, that she had displayed her wonderful spirit. He asserted that the thing that we call spirit here, is a living, throbbing being that goes on the men of this University to do greater things.

During the course of his speech he spoke of the disarmament conference that is meeting in Washington now. The future peace of the world will rest on the outcome of this meeting, according to the speaker. He declared that though at heart a peaceful country, the United States is willing to accept the conditions upon which the other leading nations of the world today might decide, but will not stand idly by and see principles thrown to the winds, nor take any bluffing. We, he said, are a people looking for peace, and are willing to go to extremes to get it, but we will stand for nothing but business in getting that peace.

At the close of his address, Mrs. E. L. Baskin outlined the work of the Woman's Auxiliary. Following this, Rev. Lawrence, Rector of the Episcopal Church, made a short talk on the Oteen Hospital, and then delivered the benediction.

U. D. C. ENTER-TAINED AT SALEM

(N. C. C. P. A.)

Winston-Salem, N. C., Nov. 14.—The "spacious" halls of Salem were the scene of a lovely reception on Wednesday afternoon, October 26, from 4 to 6:30, when the college, in corroboration with the Woman's club entertained in honor of the U. D. C. delegates. The guests were met at the door of Main building, where they were introduced to the receiving line, which was composed of the executive boards of both organizations. From here, the guests were ushered into the library where a delicious salad course was tendered them by the senior class. During the afternoon about two hundred guests called.

bers, at the time of adjournment, that the roll would be called by counties as usual at the next meeting, and that the appointment of the new members to the various counties would be completed in the next day or so. All members must find out what counties they represent, and answer to their names accordingly.

During the past few meetings since the initiations, the new members have been taking a very active interest in the workings of the assembly, and many of them have actively engaged in the discussion.

NEW SYSTEM PLANNED FOR ARRANGEMENT OF CAMPUS ATTRACTIONS

Representatives of All University Activities Map Out Plan to Avoid Conflicts.

TO ADVERTISE EVENTS

Monday afternoon a meeting was held composed of ean Bradshaw and representatives of all University activities and organizations to discuss the feasibility of a plan, whereby the present system of conflicts in University attractions might be avoided, and a farther reaching advertising system might be established.

Under the system now in vogue, many of the University attractions of vital importance to the college life, have suffered because of the lack of support by students owing to confusions in schedules and to the poorly conducted advertising system. The proposed plan provides for a committee, representative of all University activities, which shall meet at least three times a year to formulate as nary as possible a logical and well co-ordinated program of all University attractions for the year. Also two bulletin boards will be established to advertise the day's attractions and chapel program, all coming University activities, and announcements and meetings concerning more limited groups.

Each member of this committee shall present at the meetings an outline of all University attractions offered by each organization with dates arranged as nearly as possible, for the ensuing year or term. All near conflicts which tend to confuse the student body shall be avoided as nearly as possible.

It is hoped that by the coordination of the business heads of the organizations represented, a more satisfactory system of advertising may be worked out. The two bulletin boards would serve to co-ordinate the work of these organizations, showing their common purpose in presenting to the student body a well arranged program of attractions that are intended to contribute something of real significance to the student life on the campus.

The results of these new arrangements will be: Avoidance of conflicts of all University attractions, a more co-ordinated program, a more thorough advertising system, and a more enthusiastic interest shown by the students toward college activities.

LARGE CROWDS SEE HIGH SCHOOL GAMES IN EAST

Next Week the Leading Teams of the West Will Be Decided By Elimination.

The past week produced some record-breaking crowds in the scramble for the high school football championship. Four thousand people, a crowd worthy of a big college game, saw the Wilmington team romp through and around Kinston for a 40 to 7 victory, and 1,600 spectators witnessed the defeat of Kinston by New Bern. The ultimate winner of the Eastern series is uncertain so closely are the teams matched, but comparative scores seem to favor Wilmington, Durham or New Bern. On November 15th, the faculty managers of the seven undefeated Eastern teams will meet to arrange the schedule of the final contests of the series.

This week the Western contenders will be eliminated to four teams. On November 18th Greensboro plays Charlotte, Asheville battles Monroe, Winston-Salem meets Salisbury with Shelby scheduled to play the winner.

SCRAPPING WILD CATS BATTLE TAR HEELS TO SCORELESS TIE IN THE ANNUAL TWIN CITY GRIDIRON CLASH

CAROLINA TENNIS TEAM WINS FROM TRINITY 5-1

Methodists Bow to Stellar Tennis of Carolina Racquetters—Virginia to Be Played Thanksgiving.

Playing stellar tennis, the Blue and White team defeated Trinity at Durham, five matches out of six on Thursday afternoon. The matches were played on the Trinity courts. No doubt was left as to who the winners should have been. Trinity won only one match.

Powell, captain of the Trinity team, defeated Barden, 6-4, 7-9, 8-6, in a match which occupied the major part of the afternoon. In all probability this match was the best played during the day. Both were the pick of the two colleges, Powell being captain of the Trinity team, and Barden having won out in the elimination tournament held here a few weeks back.

Jernigan defeated Lehler, 6-1, 6-1, giving him no chance to win during the sets. This was the most decisive victory gained by the Carolina team.

Tench Cox, playing his usual brilliant brand of tennis, defeated Marr easily by the score of 6-1, 6-2. Cox's serving was especially good.

Johnston, the runner-up of Barden in the tournament, defeated Terrentine, 6-4, 6-2. Johnston's lofting power was at its height although he showed weakness in the backhand.

Carolina easily captured both matches in the doubles. The double team is practically equal in strength to the singles team.

Barden and Cox defeated Powell and Lefler, 6-1, 6-4. Jernigan and Johnston defeated Terrentine and Summers, 6-2, 6-3.

A match with Virginia has been arranged by Manager Barden and will be played here the Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving. This match promises to be an especially good one, the calibre of both teams being of a strong nature. It is not known who the men will be that will compose the Virginia team.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY HAS MEETING 'U DAY NIGHT

Dr. Venable and Dr. Coker Make Interesting Talks to Society—Splendid Attendance.

The Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society held its regular meeting Tuesday night in Chemistry Hall with an unusually good attendance. The features of the meeting were talks by Drs. F. P. Venable and W. C. Coker.

"Ostoses" was the subject of the address of Dr. Venable, which proved to be a well prepared lecture of special interest to chemistry students.

Dr. Coker, in a most interesting way, discussed his trip to Europe this summer, his subject being, "My Visit to Lapland and to Some Old Hibernia." His lecture was illustrated by the use of an exhibition of plants which he gathered in the European countries which he visited. Dr. Coker's tour included visits to England, Norway, Lapland, Sweden, and other points in Europe, and his account of his findings was highly interesting.

The attendance was the best that has been known in some time. There was no important matters of business disposed of and only one person elected to membership, this being H. F. Latahaw.

DR. LEVERMORE SPEAKS

Levermore, Secretary of New York Peace Society, who is sent out by the Institute of International Education to speak to the International Relations Clubs of various colleges.

Dr. Levermore spoke to the International Relations Club and History Department Tuesday afternoon on the subject of "After War Reconstruction," speaking again Tuesday evening on "Spiritual Reconstruction."

Pure Pluck on Part of Davidson Responsible For Score.

JOHNSON & MOORE STAR

Red Johnson Again Plays Brilliantly for Carolina—Grady Pritchard's Work Outstanding.

Carolina played the better game but the Davidson Wildcats lived up to their name, outfighting Carolina, and thereby hangs the story of Davidson holding the Varsity to a 0 to 0 tie in Winston-Salem Saturday afternoon.

The Davidson crew certainly had the fight. From the beginning of the game until the final whistle the entire eleven was mixing it proper, and Carolina's lack of spirit and the whistle ending the first half kept them from winning by a safe margin.

Carolina Better.

There was no doubt as to which team was the better. Carolina went into the game the better team and came out the better team, but they were outfought. The game proved two things. That Davidson still fights at football games, and Red Johnson is as good as he was if not better.

Johnson was again the principal groundgainer for Carolina. He seldom failed to gain when called on and Lowe called on him twice as much as he did on all the rest of the backfield put together.

McDonald, taking Fred Morris' place, played a heady game, running the ball well on the offense and playing one of the best games of the day on the defense. He also did the punting, breaking about even with McFadden, who punted for Davidson. Lowe ran the team well, but outside of that took very little part in the game.

Moore, the light half of Davidson, was the Wildcat's Red Johnson. Weighing only 126 pounds the boy broke through the line and around end for most of Davidson's games

DI SOCIETY HOLDS AN INTERESTING MEETING

Favors Establishment of a Pardonng Board in North Carolina. Amendment Considered.

The Di Society met Saturday night and carried out a very interesting program, in spite of many absentees on account of the Davidson-Carolina game in Winston. For the first time since the opening of the fall quarter, no men were initiated as regular members.

Before the society was thrown open for discussion of the query, a very important amendment to the constitution was read to the hall by H. S. Trotter to be given over to the constitutional committee for consideration and to be voted on by the members next Saturday night. The purport of the resolution was to inspire the freshmen with more interest in speaking by requiring four members to introduce both sides of the query before the society was thrown open for open forum discussion. E. C. Hunt also reminded the president that the time was ripe for the consideration of a smoker. This matter was deferred until next Saturday night.

The Hall was then thrown open for an open forum discussion of the query for the evening. "Resolved, That the Di Society go on record as favoring the establishment of a pardoning board in North Carolina." There was a great deal of interest shown in the query, though no heated speeches followed, as in previous discussions; however, the speakers at times had a tendency to introduce frivolous and irrelevant arguments. The best speech for the affirmative was made by W. E. Price of the 1920 class and an old Di man, who was visiting the Hall. Those speaking in the affirmative were: Messrs. Williams, Purser, Mann, Milstead, Hamrick, and Apple; and those on the negative: Messrs. McLean, Trotter, Brown, Hartsell, and Hunt. After a rather lengthy discussion, the affirmative won by an almost unanimous vote.

In the absence of President Dorsette, the meeting was presided over by Vice President Sam Cathy.
