THE INTERVIEWER OF THE CENTURY.

On Thursday night of this week the University is to have the privilege of hearing the noted journalist and lecturer, Isaac Marcossou.

To most of us Mr. Marcossou is best known for his writings in the famous Saturday journal that is issued every Thursday. Almost everyone of us has read his articles and found them full of the finest interest and broadest information.

Not long ago he published an interview with Hugo Stinnes, the dominating power in present day Germany. The name Stinnes has become a word to conjure with in Germany. The man has grasped the unsteady helm of industry there, set the machinery going in empty factories, and amassed for himself what is now, perhaps, the greatest single fortune in the world.

George Denny is the popular choice for quarter back for he does not play keenly and always acts well under fire. Willie Horner is awarded full back as he is the leading scorer of the season.

Myrtle Reed's great story, "Lavender and Old Lace," featuring Marguerite Snow, Louis Bennison and Seena Owen, will be the principal attraction on the Thursday evening program.

The golden-haired Mary Miles Minter will come to the screen of the "Pick" on Wednesday evening in one of her latest Realart releases, "Moonlight and Honeysuckle."

Ray Carson is in the infirmary as a result of a strained back, which he received during the fire at the inn last Wednesday in lifting heavy objects for removal.

stories of those interviews—how he got them, what sort men they are, and the words they gave him for stories.

This lecture Thursday night will be one of the finest of the year here.

It is an expensive lecture and the faculty committee who arrange the programme for the year have found it necessary to charge a nominal fee.

THE FIGHTING SCOTCH

On Saturday there came a cavalcade of spirited Scotch to Chapel Hill. A hundred and twenty-five miles through the country some several hundred football mad fans rode from Fayetteville to back their high school team playing for the championship of eastern North Carolina.

Fayetteville was doped the loser in the game with New Bern but the Macs who came in enthusiastic force never were able to see it that way.

STUDENT FORUM

How's This One? Since at this time of year, all sporting writers are racking their brains picking All-American, All-State, All-Southern, All-County and All-Scholastic teams, it only seems fitting and proper that an All-Campus team should be selected.

Officials of the University of Texas have made an offer of $7,000 to Bo McMillan, star quarterback of the Centre College eleven for the past four years, for his services as coach at that institution next year.

Red Barron, star half back of the Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech, has been elected captain by his teammates for next season, at a meeting held by all letter men after the Turkey Day game with Auburn.

Prof. J. E. Steiner, of the School of Public Welfare, attended the Southeastern District Conference of Executives of Community Service in Raleigh last Thursday.

Dr. H. W. Crane, of the Psychology Department, and Psychologist of the State Department of Public Welfare, has returned from a special investigation at Goldsboro, and Thomasville.

The sites for the new law building, and the new history building, have been laid off to the rear of the "Y" and building operations will soon begin.

Dean Bradshaw is preparing an elaborate statistical survey of the total number of self-help students, the various kinds of work they are doing, and their average income.

"Ratty," the Elder, is the only logical man for coach, while "Ratty," the Younger, is the popular choice for manager.

Dear Mr. Editor: I noticed that in your editorial, in the last issue of The Tar Heel, on the Carolina-State game for 1922, you called for some discussion from the students.

The first thoughts that come to us when thinking over this proposition of whether the Carolina-N. C. State game should be played in Chapel Hill or Raleigh next fall are: Would it not really be better to have the game in Raleigh every year?

However, after careful thought, we find that if the game were played here one year and one year at Raleigh, the University of North Carolina would be benefited in a greater way.

President Chase and Professor Walker attended a meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools at Birmingham, Ala., last week.

Prof. W. S. Bernard gave an illustrated lecture at Mt. Airy, Friday on "Masterpieces of Great Painters."

President Chase made the long trip to Florida to witness the Carolina-Florida game Saturday.

The contract for Dr. Bullitt's residence was let Friday.

Work on the new class room building known as the "History Building," will be started soon after Christmas, according to the plans of T. C. Warren Company, University Architects and Engineers.

Students will shiver no more in their chapel seats, for the heating plant is now ready for operation.

The new home of Prof. T. Saville, who was lately married, will be finished by the Christmas holidays.

The Lawrence S. Holt scholarships were awarded to F. A. Grisette, W. C. Mitchum and B. B. Dalton of the senior, junior and sophomore classes, respectively.

Myrtle Reed's great story, "Lavender and Old Lace," featuring Marguerite Snow, Louis Bennison and Seena Owen, will be the principal attraction on the Thursday evening program.

More than 200 schools took part in the debate last spring, but this number should be exceeded the coming year as many more schools are expected to enter the contest.

H. D. Snell, director of the University Extension Bureau, spent the week-end in Charlotte and neighboring towns in connection with his work.

Dr. Archibald Henderson delivered a lecture in Durham, Friday night, before the Canterbury Club on "The South's Awakening."

Mrs. W. J. Matherly made a talk in Stantonsburg, Friday on "Design and Improvement of School Grounds."

Prof. Paul J. Weaver attended a recital Friday at Pinehurst.

spirit of the Davanagh lives in his daughter, Clare, who is given considerable aid by Dan Cupid.

Many spectacular thrills are provided by the blowing up of dams and the resultant mad rushing of the log jam down the river.

TYRE TAYLOR DELIVERS AN ORATION ON WILSON

Praises Services of Ex-President at Di Society Meeting—Motion Passed to Send Appreciation.

The special feature of the regular Saturday evening meeting of the Di Society was an oration by Tyre C. Taylor, a graduate student and formerly inter-collegiate debater, praising the services of Woodrow Wilson to his country and to the world.

A. J. Sharp of the freshman class was initiated as a regular member in the society. G. W. Lankford put a resolution before the Hall to be voted on at the next meeting that the society elect at the beginning of the winter quarter the presidents who are to serve for both the winter and spring terms.

The hall was then thrown open for an open forum discussion of the query: "Resolved that the Di society go on record as favoring the United States cancelling the Allied war debt." There were no heated arguments for either side.

Dr. George McKie of the public speaking department made several profitable suggestions as to speech and debating and expressed his willingness to assist in personal training of society members.

President Chase Attends Meeting in Birmingham

Chapel Hill, Dec. 1.—President Chase, of the University, has left for Birmingham, to attend the convention of the Southern Association of Colleges and Preparatory Schools.

Phi Elects Officers For Winter Quarter.

Finger Nail's History.

The rapidity of the growth of the nails is indicative of the health. The growth of the nails on the right hand is in most people more rapid than of those on the left hand.

The 1922 football game between the University of North Carolina and State College will be played on Riddick field October 19, Thursday of Fair Week, as originally scheduled.

There was some controversy over whether the game should be played in Chapel Hill or Raleigh, Mr. Woolen, Graduate Manager of the Carolina team, wanting the game played here.

MISS KNOX VIOLINIST RETURNS FROM FRANCE

Noted Musician Loved by Carolina Students, Is Continuing Studies in New York.

Miss Emily Rose Knox, known and loved by all Carolina upper-classmen, has returned from her summer course at Fontainebleau Palace, France, going there under the auspices of the Society of Friends of American Musicians in France.

Miss Knox returned on the ship Paris, on which Marshall Foch came to this country, and he attended one of her concerts on board the ship, sitting on the front seat, and frequently voicing his appreciation of her music.

Miss Knox will spend the Christmas holiday in Raleigh with her parents. Sometime during the holidays, she will give a concert at Sweet Briar, Va., and efforts were being made by one of the faculty to get her to play here but she will be unable to come.

C. E. SOCIETY DISCUSSES TRAINING OF ENGINEERS

William Cain Student Chapter Meets and Discusses "The Qualifications and Training of The Engineers."

The William Cain student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers met in Phillips Hall Thursday morning. The subject for discussion was "The Qualifications and Training of the Engineer."

A large number were present for the meeting, and many had things to say about the subject for discussion. It was brought out at the meeting that the Engineer's courses at this University were very confining, in so far as they do not give a man enough training in the cultural courses.
