CAROLINA QUINT LOSES TO DURHAM Y. M. C. A. IN OPENING EXHIBITION

Carolina Shows Early Season Form and Loses Hard Fought Contest on Durham Floor.

SCORE, N. C. 41—"Y" 18

Carolina opened the basketball season Saturday night, going down in defeat before the strong Durham Y. M. C. A. team by the score of 41 to 18 on the Durham Y. M. C. A. floor. Carolina showed nothing brilliant during the course of the game, while the entire Y. M. C. A. team played with a snap from the time the first whistle blew until the end of the game.

Coach Steiner of Trinity, a former basketball star, officiated and while he was as fair as it is possible to be, nothing in the way of a foul was overlooked, and the majority of the time Durham wasn't scoring field goals was taken up with Carmichael and Mangum trying to shoot fouls.

There has been considerable agitation among collegiate circles during the past two or three years to make the Southern game of basketball like the Northern game, namely, purely a passing game, fouling for personal contact. Saturday night's exhibition was a demonstration that such a procedure would be a rank failure if brought on too suddenly in the South. The element of roughness in the game lends, if anything, more interest to the game, and if it is made entirely a passing game, as Coach Steiner would have had it, it would have been even worse than it was from a spectators standpoint, and it was about as bad as it could have been.

Carolina failed to produce any stars, both the Carmichaels were off color, either from lack of practice, or from playing in positions foreign to them. The work of Graham, playing guard during the last period, was outstanding. He had the hardest man on the floor to take care of and was in most every play Carolina made, as well as horning in on the passing game of the Y. M. C. A.

Lineberger and Green, both new men, showed up well in their initial workout with McDonald and the Carmichael brothers, and both played as good basketball as any member of the squad. Carolina took ten men over to Durham, and all ten of them took part in the game, and had there been any more present in uniform they would probably have played, as the scorekeeper was plainly evident when a man was disqualified. ## 'Y' SECRETARY MAKES APPEAL FOR S. F. FUND

Mr. Comer Discusses Cause of Needy Students in Europe—Asks for Money Contributions.

Secretary Comer of the "Y" spoke on the "Student Friendship Fund" in chapel Friday morning, presenting the cause of the needy 250,000 students in the universities of central Europe. He stated that the average central European student has only the equivalent of twelve cents a day for all expenses, and that this scarcely provides room and one scanty meal.

Secretary Comer declared it our turn to help these destitute students that now fill 120 universities in Europe. Dynamite all the buildings here and destroy all the dormitory life, and even then, you have a bad conception of the university life in central Europe today. He described the conditions there by saying that one sees men with one leg in school trying to survive, and some students with no legs. The governments are all practically bankrupt and without enough money at present to relieve this horrible condition that we, the American students, must face squarely and cheerfully.

"They are calling for our friendship and we owe them the brotherhood of friendship," said Mr. Comer. "We must act with the European students in a spirit of charity and loyalty at this critical crisis. We will appreciate deeply whatever you can spare in the way of old clothes that you are going to discard," declared Secretary Comer.

He added that Jim Phipps, president of the campus cabinet, had been appointed acting treasurer for the student friendship fund and that he earnestly hoped the students would respond to the appeal for charity.

PLACE IN THREE-MILE RUN PLACE IN THREE-MILE RACE

Taking second, third and fourth places and amassing eight points, Carolina won the triangular cross-country run against Elon and Trinity held here last Saturday. John Purser and the two Ranson brothers represented Carolina. Through an agreement made before the game, Trinity won second place on a technicality.

Marlette of Elon took first place, John Purser coming in a close second. M. Ranson, P. Ranson, for Carolina, and Cabe of Trinity followed, with Scholz of Elon coming in last.

Nine men, three from each school, entered the run. The route followed was around the track, by President Chase's house, and down Main street to Carrboro. From there they ran back and around Emerson Field for the final lap. The course was three miles.

The schools represented agreed before the run that in case of a tie, the one having a man to come in last would forfeit the place. In this case Elon's man, Scholz, came in last, giving second place to Trinity. Each team had 18 points.

The team scoring the least number of points was to be declared winner. First place counted one point, ninth place, 9 points.

Fetzer To Coach Track The track team this year will be coached by Bob Fetzer, who is an experienced man in this work. Besides much experience on the track, he went north during the past summer, and studied northern methods of coaching.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT INSPECTS DORMITORIES

Insurance Inspector Discovers Large Number Crude Electric Heaters Which Are Confiscated.

As a result of the recent burning of the inn, the wiring system of Smith, Carr and Steele dormitories was inspected by N. E. Cannady of the State Insurance Department, Division of Fire Prevention. In the course of the inspection a large number of crude water heaters was confiscated. It was discovered that in many rooms more than the allotted number of lights was being used. One room was found with eight lights. In another room a 300-watt lamp was discovered.

It was brought to light that very few students realize that the use of water heaters and other electrical appliances is illegal. The state law in regard to this reads: "In order that the life and property of the citizens in the state of North Carolina may be protected from dangers incident to defective electric wiring of buildings, and to assure the proper installations of electric wiring of buildings and apparatus in the state of North Carolina, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to install any new electrical apparatus or wiring, or to add to or repair any electrical apparatus or wiring already installed, without first obtaining a written permit. Any person, firm, or corporation failing to comply with the above shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

Mr. Birch of the supply office stated that extra expense to the University caused by the illegal use of water heaters and other devices can not be estimated. Each building is wired for a certain amount of current and when any new electrical apparatus is installed, it results in the burning out of fuses. When this has occurred, the students have often inserted coppers in the sockets which makes a direct contact, and which is not only apt to burn out the meter but also liable to cause fire.

Last week two $58 meters were burned out in Smith and Carr, and the current used in the latter building alone during the past month amounted to $250.

WHY IT HAPPENS.

When one remembers that in an ordinary column there are 10,000 pieces of type, there are seven wrong positions that a letter may be put in, and there are 70,000 chances to make errors, millions of chances for transpositions, he will not be too critical. In the short sentence, "To be or not to be," by transposition, alone it is possible to make 2,759,022 errors. So you can see the perils that beset a printer.—Exchange.

MARCOSSON LECTURES TO A SMALL AUDIENCE ON MANY EXPERIENCES

Only Few Take Advantage of Hearing Celebrity in Gerrard Hall. Relates Experiences.

ENTERTAINING SPEAKER

The only disappointing feature of the Marcosson lecture in Gerrard hall Thursday night was the size of the audience which turned out to hear the noted journalist. Less than two hundred students and townspeople took advantage of the opportunity to share the experiences of a man who has, in his own phraseology, "seen kings in their shirt-sleeves, field-marsals in their pajamas."

A lecturer of unusual smoothness and charm, a word artist of marked ability, Mr. Marcosson held his tiny audience while he showed them intimate glimpses of modern world-famous figures. Marshal Foch, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, General Smuts, and Hugo Stinnes were the chief personalities treated in the lecture, which was apparently a small but very interesting cross-section of the interviewer's everyday experience.

By way of introduction, Mr. Marcosson spoke a few words of praise for Walter H. Page, the publisher who first "discovered" him, and who is a native of North Carolina.

From his experience in interviewing the great and the near-great, the speaker declared that he had found that the greater the man, the simpler the task of interviewing him. He said that his profession, though a very strenuous one, was the most fascinating in the world. He boasted of having interviewed every important personage in Europe and America except God and the Kaiser, adding that he never expected to find them both in the same place.

The latter part of the lecture was devoted to the discussion of the general state of European civilization since the war. This Mr. Marcosson represented as being in a sorry plight. The present revival of industry and trade in Germany is due to inflation of the currency, while the nation is practically bankrupt. Austria is in a still more pitiable condition, and it is the salaried classes, college professors especially, who are in most extreme need.

In conclusion, the lecturer told of his recent visit to the grave of the unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey. He deplored the fact that it is the unknown soldiers who have reaped the whirlwind of the war, and of the peace, in neglect and unemployment. The one great hope of the world at present, he declared, is in the disarmament conference at Washington. The first task, is to disarm the minds of the different nations, after which physical disarmament will easily follow.

Playmakers Have Done Much In Dramatic Activity This Quarter

Chapel Hill Has Been Fortunate To See So Many Excellent Performances—Playmakers Have Gone Many Steps Forward and Have Established Name For Members—Good Plays and Good Acting.

(By G. W. Lankford)

Chapel Hill and the University has seen an unusual amount of dramatic activity during the fall quarter through the instrumentality of the Carolina Playmakers and their director. This organization has presented, or had presented three series of performances for a total production of three full three-act plays and five one-act plays, three of the latter being original Carolina Folk-Plays written by students in the course in Dramatic Composition.

Besides the actual dramatic performances Professor Koch has delivered two public lectures in Gerrard Hall, one of them an illustrated lecture on Folk-Playmaking, and the other a combined lecture and reading on the Comedy in Shakespeare before the Sophomore classes in English. He has also made several trips to various dramatic organizations throughout the state and south, including a lecture tour to South Carolina where he spoke to students and faculty of Converse College at Spartanburg, and Winthrop College at Rock Hill. He helped them in their plans for community theatres and came back very optimistic over the possibility of two new groups of community players in the South.

The volume of business of the Playmakers has grown to such an extent that it has been found necessary to incorporate the organization into a non-stock corporation of representative men from the faculty and students with a regular business manager and directors.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE REVEALS CONFLICTS IN ATTRACTIONS PLANNED

Representatives From Various Organizations Meet and Straighten Out Program For Fall Quarter.

BRADSHAW IS CHAIRMAN

The newly organized "All-University Program Committee" met in the president's office Saturday at 4:30, in accordance with the motion passed at the previous meeting. The following organizations were represented: Music Department, Satyrs, Debate Council, School of Commerce, Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society, U. N. C. Women's Association, and the Y. M. C. A.

Francis Bradshaw, dean of students, was elected ex-officio chairman, and Claude Currie, secretary to President Chase, was elected secretary. The object of the committee was defined: "To endeavor to present to the campus a logical and co-ordinated program of all University attractions and to prevent as far as possible all conflicts and near conflicts."

The practical value of this was exemplified when each representative had presented the schedule of his particular organization and several probable conflicts were revealed. For example, March 3rd and 4th had been chosen by the Playmakers for their winter series of folk plays, and the annual triangular intercollegiate debate with Washington and Lee and John's Hopkins University was scheduled for the same date. Pavlow and the Russian Ballet is to show in Raleigh on the 4th, and there is a possibility that the Carolina-Virginia basketball game is to be played the same night, which is a fairly active week-end. This tangle of programs was brought to light by the existence of the committee which is now working to clear the way for one activity. This is only one instance of many to show the necessity of this committee.

Several members of the committee had been unaware of the fact that there is a "date book" in the president's office in which any representative of an organization, who is scheduling an event that is open to the public or interests a large group, is supposed to sign for the date. A thorough use of this book in the past would have simplified matters for all concerned.

Events already scheduled or tentatively scheduled for the winter quarter include the following:

- January 13—Japanese Players.
- January 16—Basketball game.
- February 2—Basketball game—Wofford.
- February 3—Tony Sarg Marionettes.
- February 4—Basketball game—Trinity.

FAYETTEVILLE WINS HIGH SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIP HERE SATURDAY BY DEFEATING WINSTON-SALEM TEAM

EXPLAIN GOLDEN FLEECE AND THE AMPHOTEROTHEN

Bailey Liipfert and Jim Kerr Discuss Two Honorary Fraternities in Chapel Thursday.

Continuing the presentation of organizations on the campus, Amphoterethen and Golden Fleece were explained to students in chapel Thursday by Jim Kerr and Bailey Liipfert.

Jim Kerr, Amphoterethen, traced the progress of the order from its very first meeting in 1912 when it met as a local with four charter members, and related minutely how it was established in the University. Membership, he stated was limited to juniors and seniors. He declared the purpose of the organization to be the study of citizenship and public life in its broadest and most significant conception. He said: "It is to cultivate the ability of extemporaneous debating, and as a part of the human race it has a purpose to fulfill."

Kerr also made known the fact that they have under consideration the plan to build a modern and up-to-date building for Amphoterethen, which will help to carry on the work even more successfully than it has been in the past.

Bailey Liipfert, Golden Fleece, told of the birth and existence of the one organization that has done so much to create a warm and cordial feeling and relationship between the fraternity men and the non-fraternity men than any other organization on the campus. Liipfert drew a vivid picture of the relation existing here years ago, when the University was young and had only two hundred students enrolled.

"There was fighting here and fighting there," said Liipfert, "and one man was jealous of the honor and distinction another man won for himself." But Golden Fleece came in and had as its purpose the bringing together of the leading men on the campus in every phase of University life, the very best man in each particular field of endeavor. Therefore, each year Golden Fleece picks the leading men from all phases and this collection of outstanding figures on the campus make up the membership of the honorary fraternity.

Liipfert told the students that Carolina was a place where they could grow and expand into the type of man that Golden Fleece would seek out. And Golden Fleece, he said, "wants you to give up a little of your honor for the honor of the University."

JACKSONVILLE TAR HEELS GIVE CUP TO 1921 TEAM

Large Silver Loving Cup Given to Team by Jacksonville Tar Heels When in Florida.

By defeating the University of Florida, the Carolina team not only won its first post-season game, and gained recognition of its ability to win throughout the South, but received a beautiful cup from the Jacksonville Tar Heels. The cup is large and very imposing.

The following is engraved on the cup: "Presented to U. N. C. Football Team From Jacksonville Tar Heels, 1921." This is the first time in many years that such a cup has been presented to the football team, or any other branch of athletics.

By a unanimous vote the team expressed its thanks for the cup. It was presented for permanent possession and will be placed in one of the buildings of the University. It will doubtlessly be put in the library among other cups won by University athletes.

GERMANY GAINING A HOLD ON THE ITALIAN MARKET

Rome.—A striking illustration of the way in which Germany is regaining her hold on the Italian market is furnished by figures just published which give the number of films imported here. In 1920 a total of 130 foreign films entered Italy, sixty-seven coming from the United States, forty-four from Germany, twelve from France and seven from other countries. In the first ten months of 1921 the number of foreign films had risen to 481.

Hard Fought Contest Goes To Scotch Aggregation By 7-0 Score.

VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE

Teams About Evenly Matched—Fayetteville Holds Under Own Goal Posts—Score Result of Break.

(By S. B. Midyette.) Defeating Winston-Salem by a score of 7 to 0 on Emerson Field here Saturday, Fayetteville representing the east, won the state high school championship in one of the hardest fought games seen here this year. About 2,500 enthusiastic people witnessed the game. The scoring came in the latter part of the third period when McRae recovered a fumble made by Caldwell back of his own goal line. Winston's best chance to score came in the first of the third quarter when in three mighty smashes they carried the ball 50 yards down the field, placing it on Fayetteville's 10 yard line. The alertness of the Scotch line, and the ability to down men for losses, prevented a score and the ball went over on downs.

The crowd that witnessed the exhibition was unusually large for a high school game. Fayetteville had the largest number of supporters, her side of the stands being practically full. During the period ensuing between halves, the Winston-Salem girls took the field in the form of a snake dance.

Both teams played hard, scrapping football, and the game was a close and hard fought one throughout. But for the folly of the Winston-Salem quarterback in failing to punt from behind his own goal line, the game would have doubtlessly gone into five periods. Throughout the contest looked as though it might go either way.

The two teams resorted to forward passes and end runs frequently. Winston was more successful in her aerial attack.

Fayetteville, on the other hand, did well, via the end run route. The passing of the game for the Winston-Salem team was from Wilson to Sapp. Sapp as a ground gainer did good work. The Winston team relied chiefly on Caldwell for gains, while Hall

GRISSETT IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SOCIETY

Wins Out over Three Other Nominees and Becomes President of Philanthropic Society.

Felix A. Grissett was elected president of the Di society over three other nominees at the business meeting Saturday evening. T. L. Warren and G. B. Porter were the other men nominated and Grissett won over Warren by a seven vote majority. Grissett has been a member during his entire college career and a constant worker in society, participating in several inter and intra-society contests as well as the Pennsylvania-Carolina inter-collegiate debate held in Philadelphia recently.

The following men were elected for the other offices: E. C. Hunt, vice president; Earl H. Hartsell, secretary; C. B. Colton, first censor morum; C. Y. Coley, second censor morum; Geo. W. McCoy, first corrector, and A. F. Raper, second corrector.

A surplus of business was disposed of in the way of settlement of fines for absences and allowing annual dues to remain unpaid.

The custodian of documents made a very brief report by saying that all speeches and documents of any value had been removed from the archives room to the library. C. J. Williams reported that $125 had been raised from the alumni to secure Dr. Edward K. Graham's portrait for the society.

E. Mehaffey was initiated as a regular member.

KNOW OF ANYONE WHO CAN FILL THE POSITION?

Trustees of one of the school districts of Santa Clara county, California, are looking for a teacher who is willing to dress suitable for a country school. According to requirements, she must wear some clothes below her knees and some above the waist and below the elbows.
