BUSY SCENE MARKS SITE OF NEW DORMS

Men and Machinery Making Buildings Out of Confused Mass of Brick and Steel.

A busy scene greets the onlooker's eyes at the old class field, where work on the new dormitories is being pushed as rapidly as possible to make up for the time lost during the recent snow storm. In a few months' time the quiet athletic field has been converted into a scene of bustling activity where a force of 125 men are erecting the new buildings out of a confused mass of steel girders, lumber, brick, sand, slate, and miscellaneous building material. The whirl of machinery, the banging of many hammers, the voices of the workmen, and the puffing of the locomotives all give evidence of the University's era of progress.

The dormitory directly behind the Med. building is the furthest advanced in construction, and according to the plans of T. C. Atwood Company, University architects and engineers, will be entirely completed before May. The frame work is finished, much of the brick has been laid, and the slate roof is more than half completed. The frame work on two of the other dormitories will soon be completed, and the four buildings will be ready for occupancy before college opens in the fall.

The new buildings will be built on the same plan, and their modern appearance and simple but attractive style will lend a sharp contrast to the old buildings of the campus. All four will have red brick bodies and gray slate roofs. The dimensions of each building are approximately 128 feet in length, 43 in width, and 56 in height. They will accommodate 480 students, each one containing four floors with fifteen rooms to a floor and two students to each room. The rooms will be of uniform size, about 15x13, and will be fitted out with modern heating and lighting arrangements. There will be two toilets to a floor with cement floors, terra cotta partitions, two showers, and all conveniences.

Students will not be allowed to apply for rooms in the new dormitories until May 1.

PROGRAM SYSTEM OF DI SOCIETY IS CHANGED

Reports to Be Heard By Assembly on Subjects of Varied Interest.

The Di Society has plans under way to create interest and enthusiasm in the work by a change in the program inaugurated by the new program committee composed of J. P. Trotter, Mack Brown and Preston Edwards. This committee has arranged to have reports given weekly by members of the society and also by members of the faculty. Heretofore the discussion has been limited to some query without anything special for the members.

Such a change in the policy of the society will no doubt rejuvenate interest in the weekly meetings. The reports and speakers arranged and slated for the meetings within the next month are: "A review of Main Street," by Henry Dule; Comparison of the Marxian Theory of Government With Our Own," by Marion W. Nash; "Report on the Life of Dr. F. P. Venable," by Willie Lilycrop. There will also be given a report on "Wells' Outline of History" by some one to be selected in the near future.

During the past month there has been keen interest manifested by members of the faculty in that they have attended the meetings. Last Saturday night Mr. Wolsey of the department of economics spoke on the Federal Reserve System. Drs. Green and McKee have also spoken at past meetings of recent date. Mr. Trotter stated that the committee would appreciate any suggestions.

PLANS FOR SUMMER SCHOOL ARE ISSUED

Session Has Grown so Large Authorities Will Limit Enrollment—Will Start June 20.

The preliminary announcement of the 35th session of the University of North Carolina Summer School, edited by Mr. N. W. Walker, Director of the Summer School, has just been issued, and copies have been sent over the State.

The Summer School will open on June 20 and continue through six weeks, closing on Thursday, August 3. Owing to the scarcity of room, it has been necessary to restrict summer attendance to those applicants for admission who are best prepared to profit by such attendance. There are four requirements for admission. They are, holders of State Certificates, those whose previous academic training has been at least equivalent to that required for a State Certificate, those who can satisfy the University's regular requirements for admission as is given in the annual catalogue, and students who for special reasons may be recommended for admission for the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or by the Secretary of the State Board of Examiners.

Courses will be given in English History, Mathematics, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Geography, General Economics, Rural Economics, Sociology, Physiology, and a full course in the Department of Education. In addition to the foregoing courses, the Normal School Department will offer courses in English, History, Mathematics, Geography, Public School Music, Drawing, Penmanship, Plays and Games, Story-Telling, Physical Education, and Observation in the Demonstration School. There will be opportunities for study for those wishing A. M. degrees. A teachers' bureau will be maintained. The total expenses will be $64.00. Indications point to a large attendance.

MYTHICAL FRESHMAN KILLED BY SNOWBALL

to get up, no bath to take, no snow to wade through, no classes to attend, little child angels to wait on and serve him, the soul of the mythical Green is enjoying the pleasures of a mythical happy hunting ground, known only to just such souls as he was. Green and his spattered brains are the result of a man's or more than likely, a woman's fertile imagination, and as such, he is left to the graces of a loving and merciful eternity. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, and the parents of the deceased received hundreds of messages of consolation and condolence.

SELF HELP CONDITION ON CAMPUS REMEDIED BY 'Y'

Nearly All Applicants For Help Find Work on Campus Through The Y. M. C. A.

That the local Y. M. C. A. has the self-help condition fairly in hand is evidenced by facts given out by C. J. Williams, president of the association. Mr. Williams is greatly interested in seeing that every man who really wants to work his way through college, gets a chance to do so. He states that it has not been really necessary for a man to go home this year on account of lack of finances, because the "Y" always has some kind of work for a man to do.

The "Y" serves as a medium of communication between the town people who have work to be done and the students who want work. But besides this kind of work, the "Y" has succeeded in getting the University Buildings Department to employ students in any place possible. Some of the jobs which these men have been doing is clearing away the wreckage of the burned University Inn, raking the campus, building bridges and clearing away snow after the recent snow storm.

Most of this work has been given only to men who had to have it, and did not have other work, such as at Swain Hall, and most of it has been under the supervision of Williams himself. "Many men would work if they had a position," said Williams, "but the ones who will take what they can get regardless of what it is, are the ones who are going to make good."

Williams had eight men at this kind of work Saturday, eleven Tuesday, six Wednesday and eight Thursday.

WANTED: 1,000 CO-EDS

Many are the solutions offered ament the present problem of giving the student-body a broader, more social life at Chapel Hill, but none can escape the fact that one absolute essential to such a life is the abundant presence of the fairer, gentler, sex. Figure as you please you can't get around the proposition that the basis of social life is the association and relation between the sexes. Our problem here would be to a large extent solved if there were enough girls to go around once in awhile. With a student body of 2,000 men, as we shall have next year probably, there should be provision made here for 1,000 co-eds. Perhaps it would be better to have separate classes for girls in the freshman and sophomore years, provided they are admitted to the University; or it might be better to have a separate, co-ordinate college altogether for women, here.

Whether we like it or not, women are here on the campus to stay. While we are about it we might as well have a lot of them. And their presence would benefit the University. The writer has neither the time nor the inclination to go into an extended argument on this proposition. Having seen and attended another great state university where a very happy condition obtained, with this ratio of men and women students, I believe it is worth thinking about, as a way as something to be realized at Carolina.

Wm. D. Harris.

"CHIMES OF NORMANDY" WEDNESDAY NIGHT IS ATTRACTION OF WEEK

pretends that he has saved her life from drowning on a certain occasion. To escape from the power of old Gaspard, Germaine takes advantage of the privileges of the fair (a similar scene to that in the first act of "Martha") and becomes the servant of the Marquis. Her example is followed by Grenicheux and Serpolette. "The second act is taken up with the supernatural visitors who have made the Castle of Corneville so long an object of dread. Henri determines to find out the real character of these ghostly appearances, and discovers that it is all the work of the old miser, who has concealed his treasures in the chateau. The discovery drives Gaspard crazy, especially when he hears the bells of the chateau ringing for the first time since the flight of the old Marquis.

"The third act represents the grand fete given in honor of the return of Henri to his ancestral home. Serpolette arrives as a Marchioness, as some papers, found in the chateau indicate that she is the lost heiress. The miser, however, recovers his reason, and shows that Germaine is the true Marchioness. A love duet between her and Henri, and the reconciliation of all the parties, brings the romantic story to a close."

LIFE OF EDGAR BURNS GRIPS CHAPEL CROWD

Alexander Hadden Talks to Student Body and Sends Day Interviewing Men Here.

"Miracles and wonder are still performed," he said. Alexander Hadden in chapel Thursday morning as he related the experience of an extreme case of the criminal type. Mr. Hadden is a retired business man and goes from place to place delivering lectures and interviewing men on the present day moral and public questions that confront the American people.

Mr. Hadden told of Edgar Burns, who served 16 years in Sing Sing for murdering a citizen, and then stated that he was finally paroled by Governor Whitman of New York. This man Burns today is preparing himself for the ministry in an Episcopal seminary, said Mr. Hadden in bringing home his point that there is always good if you will give an outlet to it in most any man.

He spent all day Thursday in the Y rooms interviewing the students here about most anything that they happened to bring up for discussion. After touring in the Southern States he plans to return to Massachusetts, his home.

It took YEARS and YEARS to develop CAMEL QUALITY

We worked on Camels for years before we put them on the market. Years of testing—blending—experimenting with the world's choicest tobaccos.

And now, EVERY DAY, all our skill, manufacturing experience and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos are concentrated on making Camel the best cigarette that can be produced.

There's nothing else like Camel QUALITY. And there's nothing else like Camels wonderful smoothness, fine tobacco flavor and freedom from cigarettey aftertaste.

That's why Camel popularity is growing faster than ever.

A better cigarette cannot be made.

We put the UTMOST QUALITY into THIS ONE BRAND.
