

UNIVERSITY DAY PLANS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED; IS 129TH ANNIVERSARY

October Twelfth to Be Celebrated in Grand Style—Procession to Memorial Hall for Exercises.

PETE MURPHY IS SPEAKER

The University has completed plans for celebrating the 129th anniversary of the laying of its first cornerstone, in the northwest corner of Old East building, on Thursday of this week. The day will begin as usual, but all classes will be dismissed for the remainder of the day at the ringing of the 11:10 bell.

Immediately after class dismissal the academic procession, made up of faculty in academic costume, guests, visitors and students, will form in front of the Alumni building and proceed, starting promptly at 11:30, to Memorial Hall for the exercises. Each class and professional school is to have a place in the procession, under the leadership of their class marshals. Professor Patterson, the chief marshal, is to be in charge of the procession. Mr. Weaver, professor of music, has been promised a band of 25 pieces for the occasion.

Mr. Walter Murphy, affectionately known on the Hill as "Pete," will speak to the University and visitors in Memorial Hall at 12 o'clock. Mr. Murphy has been a part of the University since the early 90's, a member of the famous football team of '92, said to be the best football team that has ever represented Carolina—a loyal alumnus, trustee, and at present is president of the General Alumni Association. Mr. Murphy has distinguished himself as a member of the General Assembly for the last decade or so, and is always a welcome guest to his University.

FIFTY-TWO NEW MEN INITIATED BY DIALECTIC

Speeches From New Men Take Up Most of Evening—Juniors Excused From Four Meetings Per Quarter.

Fifty-two new men were initiated into the Dialectic Society last Saturday night, representing every important county in the western part of the state and three other states. The homes of the initiates range from New York to Florida.

The program prepared by the initiation committee was performed in great shape, especially the part given to C. B. Farley of the junior class, alias Patrick Henry Smith. Many new men were introduced to the hall in eloquent speeches, and several of the initiates responded with equally witty replies, until weary with mirth, the hall voted to dispose of the remaining men "in toto" with a musical ceremony.

The majority of the meeting was taken up with the initiation and very little time was left for business. The only matter of business was disposed of by a unanimous vote without discussion. This consisted of the adoption of an amendment to the by-laws of the society allowing juniors four unexcused absences from society meetings each quarter. This amendment had been previously recommended to the hall by the president in his inaugural address.

The names of the fifty-two men initiated follow in the order in which they were registered: W. E. Hunt, Pittsboro; W. N. Gregory, Norfolk, Va.; H. D. Weihe, Washington, D. C.; Henry Ledford, Asheville; J. D. Seely, Asheville; G. G. Johnson, Arden; Rom Reid, Asheville; C. H. Davidson, Swannanoa; M. B. Madison, Webster; A. T. Curlee, Polkton; R. E. Poole, Forest City; H. Simmons, Asheville; J. L. Cantwell, Jr., Asheville; E. N. Washburn, Bostie; J. H. Fuddle, Stokesdale; J. H. Cruse, Gold Hill; Carl Buchanan, Sylva; W. E. Drake, Asheville; E. M. MODEST ALTSCHULER AND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TO PROVE EXCELLENT TREAT

High Class Entertainment Promised by Famous Musical Organization For All Who Attend.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED

The Russian Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Modest Altschuler, which will appear at Memorial Hall Wednesday evening, October 11, at 8:30 o'clock, has long been one of the most unique orchestral organizations in the country. This reputation has not been the result of accident, but of twenty seasons of purposeful work toward definite ideals.

The conductor, Modest Altschuler, is himself a musician of finest merit, and it is due to his resourceful personality that the orchestra has become such a definite, vital factor in the musical life of America. Under Mr. Altschuler's direction the orchestra interprets with sincerity and musicianly feeling the works, not alone of great Russian composers, but of those of other nations as well.

During the years of its existence, the Russian Symphony has played in every city of consequence in the United States, everywhere being heralded as a remarkable organization, and everywhere adding new laurels to its fame. In the matter of return engagement alone its superiority is proven.

The orchestra comes to Carolina from Charlotte, where it has appeared three times during the last three years. For the past two weeks it has played to the thousands who every day attend the Carolinas Exposition, receiving from the newspapers and the public the highest possible praise.

Says the Charlotte Observer: "The Russian Symphony Orchestra, under the master mind and hand of that genius of orchestration and directorship, Modest Altschuler, . . . is composed of 50 men, each an artist in his own line, and represents the highest in orchestral art either in this or European countries. Under their magnificent director, they play as one man, and the blending of the instruments is perfect. The audience gave hearty evidence of their appreciation of the wonderful art of the orchestra. The program was a most pleasing one."

Of especial interest to Carolinians is the fact that Lamar Stringfield, solo flutist with the orchestra, is a native of Raleigh who obtained his education at Wake Forest College. Mr. Stringfield is an excellent musician, having studied with such master instructors as Walter Damrosch. He has a background of wide experience for so young an artist, and has appeared with a number of the leading musical organizations of the country. Mr. Stringfield has to his credit more than 75 original compositions—a remarkable attainment for so young an artist—and has received much notice in musical circles for his suite, "In the Mountains, (a) The Dawn, (b) The Day, (c) The Dance."

The securing of the Russian Symphony for a concert at Chapel Hill, according to a local musician, should be regarded as a distinct triumph for the music department of the University. Here are various recent press notices which attest to the truth of this statement:

"It is a peer of the greatest orchestras in the world."—Buffalo Times.
"Musicians went into rhapsodies last night over the work of the Russian."

Counsellor System To Study Freshmen

The University has just put into effect a Counsellor organization similar to that used at Yale and other large institutions of the country. The purpose of the movement is to enable the University to study this year's freshman class, its make-up, needs and problems, and to deal with the freshmen as individuals.

Fifty members of the faculty have volunteered to serve as counsellors for the freshmen and to aid them in any way possible. Each counsellor is provided with cards on their men giving their home and preparatory background so as to give him information about the man he is dealing with.

It is believed that this work will create a better and more friendly understanding between faculty and freshmen and will save a few wrecks which always occur among first-year men.

SPECIAL ISSUE OF BOLL WEEVIL APPEARS SOON

Determined that it shall become a prominent figure in University life, the Carolina Boll Weevil is planning its second invasion of the campus, which will take place October 18, the day before the State College game. This edition, which is to be eight pages larger than the first, will feature the State College game throughout with bits of fun and humor from the pens of campus wits.

It is hoped that another such edition can be put out featuring the Virginia game on Thanksgiving Day. Future editions are to be greatly superior to the first copies of "Carolina's College Comic," the board of editors has promised. The first edition was compiled in a great hurry in order to have it ready for the opening of college, but with more time given to future editions, the prospects are bright. The publication promises to outshine its lamented predecessor, Tar Baby, and will prove that University wit is as strong as of yore.

FRESHMEN WILL FORM A FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL

Preparations are under way for the organization of the "Freshman Friendship Council." This council, to be composed of freshmen who have been members of "Hi-Y" clubs in their hometowns, is formed for the purpose of aiding the new men in becoming better acquainted with one another and will thus facilitate their organization into a class.

The first meeting will be on the third week of this month. It is planned to have a bi-weekly supper throughout the year for the members and a social each quarter for the whole freshman class.

Last year there were 71 members in the Council and this year it is expected that the enrollment will go over the hundred mark.

TRINITY AND SOUTH CAROLINA TO FACE TAR HEELS THIS WEEK

After Which Cry Will Be "On to Raleigh" for State College Game Thursday the Nineteenth—Trinity and South Carolina Both Victorious in Saturday's Contests.

This week will be full of excitement for football enthusiasts here. Both Trinity and South Carolina come to Emerson Field to demonstrate their strength against Coach Fetzer's eleven. The Trinity game is a special attraction for University Day, which is Thursday. The South Carolina game is scheduled for Saturday, after which the team will have only a four day rest before the State College game on the 19th.

Carolina made an excellent showing in the Yale game last Saturday. The defense was tested for the first time and showed up remarkably well, holding Old Eli to one earned touchdown.

PHI ADDS HALF-HUNDRED TO ROLL OF MEMBERS

Initiation of New Men and Inaugural Address of Speaker Are Features of Meeting.

The meeting of the Phi Assembly on last Saturday night was featured by the initiation of 50 new members into the society and the inaugural address of the Speaker, Victor V. Young. This number of initiates breaks all past records of enrollment and it is hoped that the same will be true as to quality.

The speaker's address was postponed until after the initiation, so that the new, as well as the old members might derive benefit from the speech. The first part of the address was devoted chiefly to the history, tradition, procedure and growth of the society, so as to give the new men a conception of the workings of the Assembly. The speaker then outlined the policy for the quarter, which was characterized by co-operation and hard work, and ended with a plea for better spirit and greater interest being manifested by every individual doing his utmost to uphold the records and traditions of the society.

Jack R. Allsbrook was unanimously elected to the position of treasurer of the society. This election was made necessary because of the fact that B. S. Bowden, treasurer-elect, did not return to the University this fall.

The assembly was fortunate in having "Jimmie" Massenbergh, a loyal Phi man of the class of '21, to speak to the new men on the value of literary society work.

The Phi members will continue their fight for the next two weeks to gain their quota of one hundred new men, for which goal every one is striving. The fifty new men of last Saturday night, together with the two new men

Carolina Offside Under Yale Goal Misses Chance to Score

McDonald Carries Ball Over But Play Is Thrown Out by Referee—Yale Makes Three Touchdowns.

The Tar Heel eleven, outweighed 20 pounds to the man, ran true to form Saturday afternoon and held the mighty Yale team to three touchdowns, one coming in each of the last three periods.

Carolina, in contrast with Yale's rather sluggish playing, presented a fast, aggressive combination with the most effective running attack, according to reports, seen at New Haven this season. Off tackle plays with Johnston and McDonald carrying the ball gained most ground for Carolina, but their brilliant aerial attack was responsible for considerable gains.

DAGGETT IS SECRETARY OF ENGINEER COUNCIL

University Representative at Meeting in Chicago Is Rewarded for Active Work in Organization.

At a council of the State Boards of Engineer Examiners held in Chicago last week, P. H. Daggett represented the Engineering Schools of the University of North Carolina. The object of this council was to discuss engineering problems throughout the United States.

The paramount outcome of the council held in Chicago was the adoption of a set of regulations for reciprocal licensing of professional engineers. Under these regulations an engineer who has received license in his state may practice in any other state which is a member of the council without a further state examination.

The council was composed of sixteen representatives from the twenty-one states which have reciprocal license laws; viz., New Jersey, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Florida, Louisiana, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, Oregon and South Dakota.

The council fully recognized graduation from an approved technical school as four years of experience in the engineering profession and ruled that only six additional years of experience would be required for a degree. In making such a ruling the council placed great emphasis upon a college education for engineering.

Professor Daggett took a very active part in all the discussions and as a reward for his services and a recognition of his ability in the engineering field, he was elected secretary and treasurer of the council.

NO POST-SEASON GAMES RULING OF CONFERENCE

Season Closes Saturday After Thanksgiving, After Which No Games Permitted—One Year Rule Enforced.

Under a new ruling of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association drawn up by the executive committee at the recent meeting in Atlanta, all post-season games between members of the association will be barred. This ruling, stating that the football season officially closes on the Saturday following Thanksgiving will undoubtedly knock out the scheduled game between Florida and Louisiana State, which was to take place in Havana, Cuba, Christmas day.

It was also ruled that the one-year rule embodied in the constitution will be strictly enforced, which states that a student, to participate in varsity sports, must have been legitimately registered at the institution for at least twelve months and that he must have a class standing higher than the previous year. Davidson College was granted permission to play freshmen in their last Saturday's game with Georgia Tech, for these two institutions had drawn up their contract before the S. I. A. A. had formulated the one year rule. Eight other colleges, members of the association, asked that the one year rule be waived in instances when larger institutions which they were playing agreed to the playing of freshmen. The committee decided that they had no right to waive this regulation or any other regulation of the association, and the request was refused.

The first quarter was scoreless, but after the Eli backs had carried the ball from mid-field to the 20-yard line a forward pass, Neidlinger to Mallory, behind Carolina's goal netted Yale her first score.

At this point the Southerners displayed their greatest offensive strength. With Johnston doing most of the running the ball was carried in a steady march down the field to Yale's own yard line. Two rushes failed to score, but on the third down McDonald carried the ball over, only to be called back because Carolina was offside, and on the next play McDonald tried a forward pass, but it was grounded by Neidlinger behind the goal line.

The second Yale score came early in the third quarter, after Mallory's kick came to rest on Carolina's five-yard line and McDonald's punt from behind the goal line rebounded from the goal posts and Eddy for Yale recovered.

The final score came in the last period as a result of an off tackle play by Neidlinger after the ball had been carried down the field from the 50-yard line on gains by Wright.

The work of Neidlinger and Mallory for Yale and that of Johnston and McDonald for Carolina were the bright spots of the game.

The game was somewhat slowed up due to the drizzling rain that continued during the entire game. The lighter Carolina team was more handicapped by the wet grounds than the heavier Yale aggregation.

DORMITORIES ORGANIZED FOR SOCIAL ADVANTAGES

Plan Initiated Last Spring by Junior Class Committee is Being Tried Out in Quadrangle.

Occupants of the four new dormitories met last Friday night and formed a new social organization for each of the four dormitories. The junior class committee started this movement last spring by circulating a petition among the students getting their assertion that such an organization was needed and would receive their support. The meeting was called by this junior class committee through permission of the Campus Cabinet.

The purpose of this organization is to give every student advantages of social life and to give him an opportunity to get acquainted with those around him. It intends to make dormitory life less mechanical and more homelike. According to present plans and agreement the University will place the necessary furniture in a suitable room in each of the dormitories and the room will then be left to the occupants of the dormitories to be used at their own pleasure.

The committee believes that the organization will prove successful and hopes soon to have in each of the dormitories a telephone, a dormitory band, orchestra and anything else that may create better social relations. The success of the experiment depends altogether upon the dormitory itself. If the plan proves successful in these four dormitories, the same organization will be worked out for all the other dormitories.
