

IMMEDIATE ACTION ON MED SCHOOL ISSUE IS ASKED BY QUEEN CITY

Charlotte Delegation Makes Plea
for Quick Action—Josephus
Daniels Approves Stand.

OUTCOME IS UNCERTAIN

The Board of Trustees of the University was swept from its feet in surprise a few days ago by the delegation from Charlotte, who urged the board to accept the Charlotte proposal to build a state medical school in that city, if they saw fit, or if they could find a better plan, accept it, but to let nothing stand in the way of immediate steps to build a state medical college. Following this came the proposal by Josephus Daniels that they proceed at once with plans for the school and to submit them to the Assembly for its approval at this session.

The change of tactics of the Charlotte delegation and the demand for speedy action came as a thunderbolt from a clear sky, and the members of the board were taken completely by surprise.

The proposal came when the trustees were about to adopt the report of the medical school committee, which was that the whole plan, including the few proposals for a coalition between the University and Trinity, be held up for two years, with a committee to work on plans in the meantime.

Josephus Daniels, who spoke after Charlotte's delegation had been heard, expressed himself as strongly in favor of immediate action, saying that the University should blaze the trail and lead in the establishment of a medical college in North Carolina.

The Charlotte plan was well presented by Dr. J. P. Monroe, Dr. L. W. Faison, former Lieutenant-Governor O. Max Gardner and others. It was, in substance, that while Charlotte was very anxious to get the school, and would put a $500,000 hospital, and $50,000 a year for maintenance expenses, at its disposal, they wanted a medical school at once, regardless of its location. They pointed out the pressing need for doctors in North Carolina, showing that many were prevented from studying medicine, due to the great cost of attending medical schools outside the State.

Josephus Daniels proposed that the present committee be enlarged and directed to make a study of the matter and present it at a meeting of the committee in Raleigh next week.

If the proposal is adopted by the Trustees it will mean the death blow to the few proposals. The school will be the university school, and not be complicated by coalition with other schools.

RULES OF WASHINGTON DEBATE RECEIVED HERE

Secretary of Debate Council Gets Rules and Definitions from National Literary Society.

George W. McCoy, secretary of the debating council, is in receipt of a letter from the president of the National Literary Society, in which are stated some of the rules of the contest to be held in Washington. Each university is to send two men, one to uphold the affirmative and one the negative. An outline of the pairing of the contestants is to be sent later. The maximum time limit on each speech in the try-outs will be 15 minutes, and each will be allowed a rebuttal of three minutes. When the final test comes, each speech may continue 20 minutes, and a rebuttal of five minutes will be allowed. The query reads: "Resolved, That capital punishment should be abolished by every civilized government."

The following definitions are furnished: "Capital punishment" is the destruction of human life by order or a properly constituted court, by means of hanging, electrocution, or any other method. "Civilized government" means any organized nation, state or territory having original legislative power, in which jurisdiction, the common people are instructed in the arts and sciences and in the refinements of civil life, according to the modern acceptance of these terms.

"You can't send your conscience to the laundry. Every man must wash his own soiled thoughts."

CALIFORNIA TRIP FOR DEBATERS APPEARS TO BE DEFINITELY CINCHED

Carolina Will Probably Debate
University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

ALLIED DEBTS QUESTION

Intercollegiate debating at this institution received a decided impetus Saturday when word was received that the University of Southern California had accepted the offer of the University of North Carolina to debate a team representing that institution in Los Angeles. The Secretary of the Debating Council has written the western institution in regard to the date, proposing that the debate be held during the Easter vacation period.

The debate will be on the cancellation of the allied war debts question, and this University will have the negative side. The team to be sent to Los Angeles will be made up of three men.

Final arrangements have not as yet been consummated, but it is thought by the officials of the Debating Council that nothing is likely to prevent the debate.

Such an East-West debate will no doubt stir up a great deal of interest among the students here, and competition is apt to be keen.

This new arrangement makes debating here assume a new angle, and some of the arrangements made for the debates with Johns Hopkins, Washington and Lee, George Washington, Pittsburgh and Kentucky may have to be altered and the internal system of holding the preliminaries changed.

Definite announcement as to the new arrangements will be published in the next issue of the Tar Heel. The bulletin board in the Library contains the official notices of all debates. Formal notice of the new arrangements will be placed there.

It is expected that the large number of debates scheduled will serve to arouse the interest of the student body and that many men, formerly unknown in debating circles, will appear as contestants for positions on one of the teams selected to represent this University in forensic activity.

Tryouts For "Kalif of Kavak" This week

Great interest is being shown in the try-outs for the musical comedy, "The Kalif of Kavak," which will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons, February 1 and 2, in Memorial Hall at 4 o'clock. The wide range of parts open for these try-outs is attracting men of all types.

The story of "The Kalif of Kavak" is laid in a Turkish harem. Two American women, Kathleen and her mother, are captured by the Kalif and the plot centers around this situation and the rescue of Kathleen by her lover, Jack. The characters include the Kalif, Grand Vizier, Steward, several minor court functionaries, Jack, Kathleen, Kathleen's mother, the Kalif's favorite wife, the English Consul, a group of harem girls and several American tourists.

Every chorus girl will be a perfect gentleman, and it is predicted that Chapel Hill will be surprised to find in its midst a typical Broadway chorus of lithe and handsome chorus girls.

Carrboro Boy Killed When Autos Collide

Howard Creel, a fifteen year old boy living in Carrboro, died early Saturday morning from injuries received in an auto accident on Friday. Young Creel, in a cut-down Ford, was racing along the Pittsboro Road with his brother, who was driving a Ford delivery truck. As the two cars were running side by side they came to a curve around which another car suddenly appeared. Howard Creel, who was driving on the left-hand side of the road, had one arm in a sling, and could not turn his car aside quickly enough to avoid the accident. The two cars collided, and the boy received injuries which proved fatal. Creel's parents are said to be in Ohio, and could not be reached to notify them of the accident.

It is announced in "Science" of January 19 that Dr. Geo. H. Kirby, B. S. 1896, Professor of Psychiatry at the Cornell Medical College, has been elected the first president of the recently organized New York Society for Clinical Psychiatry.

WM. ELLSWORTH TO GIVE SERIES OF TWO LECTURES

Noted Publisher and Lecturer Will Visit
Chapel Hill Next Week—Is an Authority on Literature.

Archibald Henderson, chairman of the lecture committee, announces a double lecture, to be given on the nights of February 5 and 6, by William W. Ellsworth, of New York City. Mr. Ellsworth is closely associated with the leading publication interests in America, and is widely acquainted with the literary men of two continents. He has been president of the Century Company of New York for many years. As a lecturer he has had highest praise. He is a man of unusual ability in this line, a delightful speaker who has addressed crowded audiences wherever he has gone.

Mr. Ellsworth's lectures will be in the nature of a contrast between the literature of two ages and of two nations. During the season of 1922-23 he has been lecturing in all parts of the United States on Moliere and his times, and this will comprise his subject on his first night here. Moliere was born just three centuries ago, so this will be in commemoration of his tercentenary.

Mr. Ellsworth will tell the story of the famous French comedian and author, and this story will be told with a great wealth of illustrations. Lantern slides, including reproductions of famous paintings in color, etchings, and prints will be shown. Moliere's career was contemporaneous with that of the "Grande Monarque," Louis XIV, and the art of his day was wonderful. Upon the screen will be thrown old Paris, with its Bastille, its Notre Dame and its Palais Royale. Models and pictures of the theater of the day will be shown. Mr. Ellsworth will read in English some of the famous passages from Moliere's comedies.

On the second night Mr. Ellsworth will speak on "Forty Years of Publishing," a literary lecture illumined by excellent stories of men and women who have made American literature. He will give personal reminiscences of many great figures in American literature, such as Mark Twain, Henry James, Jack London, Theodore Roosevelt, Marion Crawford and Thomas Nelson Page. Thus the literary activity of the 17th and of the 20th centuries of America and of France will be brought together and studied by one who is a master in his way.

TWO DELEGATES SENT TO TECH CONFERENCE

J. O. Harmon and C. A. Holshausen Will Represent University in Student Federation Assembly.

Georgia Tech is fostering a scheme to form an organization among the students in Southern colleges to be known as the Southern Federation of Students. This union will be very similar in plan to the Southern Athletic Association. Its purpose will be to bring together the different forms of student government, and campus activities of every kind, so that each college may profit by thus obtaining new ideas. It will also consist of a forum, where the needs of different colleges may be discussed and student problems studied.

Only two institutions in North Carolina, the University and State College, have been invited to join this federation. J. O. Harmon, president of the student body, put the thing up to the students in chapel Friday morning. They voted to join the movement, and to send two representatives to the conference which will be held soon in Atlanta. J. O. Harmon, president of the student body, and C. A. Holshausen, president of the junior class, were elected unanimously as representatives. Dan Burns, also, at his own request, was given the privilege of a representative, although not official. The University will bear the expenses of one of the men, while the student body will send the other.

FOISTER MAKES CHANGES

R. W. Foister is having new windows put in his store. They will be deeper than the present ones, and similar to those of the Pritchard-Patterson Company. He has already re-arranged the store, leaving the front vacant. He expects to have them in in the next few days.

Ernest B. Dalton of Winston-Salem was initiated into the Alpha Chi Sigma chemical fraternity last Saturday night.

Carolina Will Send a Representative
Who Will Be Chosen
Some Time in March.

THREE PRIZES ARE GIVEN

The Southern Oratorical League, of which the University is a member, will hold its annual meeting April 14 at Johns Hopkins University, at Baltimore. The preliminary to select Carolina's representative will be held some time in March, no definite date having as yet been selected.

Last year this contest was held at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., with Victor V. Young as the representative of this University. Year before, the contest was held here. Carolina, through D. R. Hodgkin, won first place that year. The year previous to that the contest was held at the University of Kentucky at Lexington, with Carolina winning second place. Last year Johns Hopkins University won first place in the contest and the University of the South second place.

The membership of the league comprises prominent state universities of the South, including besides those mentioned above, Georgia and Alabama. Virginia has dropped out.

"Only men students in good and regular standing, who are pursuing undergraduate studies at the time of the contest and who have not received any academic degree shall be admitted as contestants." The above is the wording of the constitution of the league as to eligibility. The new constitution has not as yet been passed upon by the debating council.

No speech shall exceed 1800 words. No speaker shall use quotations without making it clear that he is quoting, and the amount of quoted matter in any one speech shall not exceed 200 words. rard Hall—Brings His Own Piano.

C., just before coming to Chapel Hill, and will go from here to New York City for two concerts there in Aeolian Hall. This is the only concert he will play in the South on this trip.

James Huneker, America's foremost music critic, recently wrote of Mr. Shattuck's concert in Philadelphia: "It was brilliant, virile and beautiful. With a sympathetic accompaniment by the Philadelphia Orchestra, the result was a musical Aurora Borealis."

TAR HEEL BASKETEERS LEAVE ON THE ANNUAL TOUR INTO VIRGINIA

V. M. I., Washington and Lee, and Lynchburg College to Be Played
—Trinity vs. Carolina at Durham Saturday—
Nine Men Taken on Trip.

The Blue and White basketeers, accompanied by Dr. R. B. Lawson and Manager Harold Ross, left yesterday on their annual invasion of Virginia. Captain McDonald, Carmichael, Green, Mahler, Sam McDonald, Grnham, Poole, Pursler and Lineberger were carried on the trip, which includes but three games.

Virginia will be played only at Chapel Hill, as the Orange and Blue team failed to return Carolina's game last year.

Carolina plays V. M. I. tonight at Lexington. The Cadets recently defeated Lynchburg College 35 to 2, but lost to V. P. I. 22 to 19, and barely nosed out Roanoke College. Captain Ryder is playing by far the best game of any player on his team, but Kyle and Miller are getting their share of goals.

Tomorrow night Washington and Lee takes on the Tar Heels, after playing V. P. I. Saturday and Virginia last night. The Generals have four veterans in their line-up this year: Captain Schneider, Lake, Hines and Cameron. Suively and Thomas are alternating at the fifth position, which can be well cared for by either player. Lake was chosen for an All-South Atlantic forward last winter and is making a strong bid for mythical honors again. When Washington and Lee defeated Roanoke College 39 to 28, Lake contributed 25 points to the score.

After playing the Generals, the Tar Heels will move over to Lynchburg and meet the Lynchburg College quint. From past performances of the latter, Carolina should not have any great difficulty in winning Thursday night. Witt, the Lynchburg center, is the steadiest and most effective scorer of his team. Suttonfield, a former Leakeville high school star, is playing guard for the Lynchburg five.

Trinity and Carolina meet at Durham, Saturday, for the first time this season. The Methodists are confidently expecting a victory, but chances are the Trinity supporters will be somewhat surprised. Tom Neal, of football and baseball fame, has answered the lure of the indoor game and is now performing in a defensive role. Captain Simpson and Spikes are again running at the forward positions for Coach Steiner.

ROOM-TO-ROOM CANVASS UNDER UNIVERSITY TABOO

Burch's Office Announces That Euling
Against Student Agencies Will Be Enforced.

No peddlers, jobbers, canvassers, merchants, salesmen, or traders of any kind are to be allowed the traditional privilege to pursue their avocation among students living in the dormitories. Such is the law brought to light through an announcement made by Dean Bradshaw in chapel Friday morning.

The law is no new one. Its origin came about 15 years ago when authorities thought conditions so irritable as to make such a law necessary. For a few years the law was strictly adhered to. Ladies Aid Societies or anyone desiring to canvass or to sell to students in the dormitories were required to get special permission from campus officials. During late years, however, different student mercenary enterprises have appeared among the various dormitories. Each year the number and variation of these enterprises have gradually increased. The campus management until recently saw no urgent need for moderating the growth and increase in number of these mercenary undertakings.

In most cases the work was being done by self-help students who needed the profits obtained therefrom in order to finance or aid their college expenses. The recent actions taken toward eliminating present existing circumstances were precipitated by the beginning of enterprises operated by self-help men within the last two weeks. Each night they offered for sale at every door, individually wrapped in sanitary paper, their stock of sandwiches, doughnuts, jelly-rolls, pies and cakes. For some it was a convenience and for some studious ones an annoyance.

It is thought by some that the action originated as a result of complaints from down-town restaurants against the existence of such enterprises operated free from all taxes and license. This impression seems to have no definite grounds to be based on.

The management took the stand that although a few needy ones would be thrown out of employment by their action, they felt it their duty to aid the much larger number who were being disturbed by its operation. The students are to be allowed to continue their business by offering the (Continued on page three)

It's a ziddy whirl, this life. People eat animals, animals eat smaller animals, smaller animals eat vegetables, vegetables eat animals, animals eat bacilli, bacilli eat microbes and microbes eat us. The cannibal takes the short cut.
