

ANNUAL MANNING-RUFFIN INTER-CLUB CASE HELD BY BUDDING LAWYERS

Imaginary Case of Stiles vs. Railway Argued by the Two Law Clubs of the University.

INTERESTING ARGUMENTS

The annual inter-club case between the Manning and Ruffin Law Clubs of the University Law School was held last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Phi Hall. S. M. Wheelbee and A. L. Parrington of the Ruffin Law Club were the attorneys for the Appellants, while Andrew Joyner and C. B. McRae acted as attorneys for the Appellee, in the case of John Stiles vs. City Railway Company in the Supreme Court of the Ruffin and Manning Law Club competition.

The facts of the case were: The plaintiff, who was on his way home, attempted to board a street car at one of the regular down town starting points, during the late afternoon rush hour.

Before he had actually entered the car, and while he was on the first step of the rear platform, he noted that the car was packed full, and thereupon decided to back out and off and take the next car. While in the act of attempting to do so, one of the starters employed by the company motioned for the car to start, and at the same time, not understanding what the plaintiff was trying to do, pushed the plaintiff into the car.

The plaintiff was forced to stand on the platform by reason of the car's being full of passengers.

After the car had proceeded a distance of about five blocks, and before plaintiff had paid his fare, the motorman, in order to avoid a collision with a heavy truck, stopped the car with such suddenness and force that plaintiff was violently thrown against an iron stanchion where, by he suffered contusions and lacerations about the face and head, in addition to a severely wrenched back.

At the trial, the defendant moved for a non-suit on the ground that the plaintiff's evidence showed that he was negligent in boarding a crowded car and standing on the platform, and further that there was no evidence that the defendant was negligent or that the injury was due to its negligence.

The motion for a non-suit was denied. The defendant excepted and appealed from the verdict and judgment in favor of the plaintiff for eight hundred dollars. Judge R. W. Winston acted as Chief Justice, with Judge Sykes, of Durham, and L. P. McGehee acting as Associate Justices.

The decision of the judges was as follows:

The judgment of the lower court is affirmed with regard to the first exception, since the Railway Company was negligent in placing a passenger on a crowded car.

The judgment of the lower court is reversed with regard to the second point, because the stopping of a car to avoid an accident fails to make out a "prima facie" case of negligence on the part of the Railway Company.

HENDERSON ADDS NEW BOOK TO LONG LIST

The Extension Department of the University has recently published a pamphlet on Relativity written by Dr. Archibald Henderson. The pamphlet is divided into three chapters, viz., "The World We Live In," "The Special Theory of Relativity," and lastly "The General Theory of Relativity."

The pamphlet fully sets forth and illustrates the principles of special and general Relativity. It was written primarily for the layman but the material is put down with utmost precision and is truly a scholarly production. In order to give the pamphlet a more pleasing appearance and to make it more interesting, Dr. Henderson has cleverly trimmed it with rich quotations. One of the chief features of the pamphlet is the clear-cut and interesting way in which the author points out Einstein's Hypothesis as applied to the physical universe. In the way of explanation, the pamphlet is filled with many plates and diagrams which makes it interesting and intelligible to even the meager student.

Walter J. Matherly, associate professor of Business Administration in the University, delivered the high school commencement address at the Whitney consolidated school in southern Alamance county, last week. Tonight he speaks to the Civitan Club of High Point on the subject, "Potentialities of Civic Clubs."

KITCHIN IS ELECTED TO HEAD PUBLICATION BOARD

Knox Massey and Ralph Maulsby Win Other Places—Small Vote Cast.

The last Publications Union election came off Friday when the president and student members of the Publications Union for next year were selected. Reed Kitchin with a vote of 571 won the right to preside at the meetings of the Union next year. Knox Massey ran Kitchin a close race for the presidency, receiving 532 votes. Ralph Maulsby is the third member of the board with 431 votes. J. E. Hawkins polled 375, while Steve Brody brought up the rear with a meagre 85.

The candidates for the Publications Union offices were nominated in chapel Thursday. All nominations were preceded by glowing tributes to the ability of the candidates, especially Brody. The election Friday showed that two-thirds of the student body is about filled up on politicking and voting. The Athletic Association election is the only important election yet to be held.

COLORED COOKS CLASH IN FRONT OF CHURCH

Super Chef of Cafeteria Gets Worst of Scrap—Alexander Put in Jail.

Last Thursday night a regular old-time cutting fracas was held in front of the Baptist church when Gooch's head cook waylaid Silas Lloyd, super-chef of the University Cafeteria. Silas came out at the worse end of the scrap with a cut on his head requiring ten stitches. But even at that Alexander— for such is the name of the aggressor—didn't get off so lightly since he is at present in the calaboose waiting for trial without bond. It was about 10 o'clock when the people living in the neighborhood were called from their homes by the loud cries of Silas who affirmed that he was in dire need of aid and that Alexander's intentions were undoubtedly not of the best sort. This incident is much to be regretted by the student body at large, since the meals at both of the places will surely suffer through the lack of the guiding hand and thus cause indigestion which will in turn cause poor grades and so on ad infinitum. The speedy recovery of Silas and the exodus of Alexander from the hands of justice is hoped for so that Silas may again be seen grinning from behind piles of meat and Alexander's culinary gems may be enjoyed.

HIGH SCHOOL OUTING

Last week the Chapel Hill High School held a picnic at Oconeechee, near Hillsboro. Three truck loads went over full of boys and girls enjoying their outing. The trucks were decorated in the high school colors. The trip was a success and everyone enjoyed themselves to the fullest both literally and figuratively.

BISHOP PENICK LECTURES HERE

Bishop Penick, North Carolina's latest ordained bishop, who delivered the University Sermon last November, will give a series of two lectures Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8:30 on "The Teachings of the Bible as Applied to the Tendencies of Modern Thought."

POMONA CLINCHES STATE TITLE BY SHUTTING OUT DURHAM BALL TOSSERS

Barbee's All Around Work Features Final Game—Durham Hosiery in Evidence.

DURHAM IS OUTCLASSED

The Durham Bull Yearlings were completely prostrated by the Pomona High School last Saturday and sent home covered with the dust of Emerson Field and the small end of a 5 and 0 score. It was Barbee's arm that won the game, the lefty moundsman striking out nine men, allowing only three bingles and slamming out a home run in the second frame. The game was played before a fair size crowd, generously besprinkled with many beautiful young ladies whose nether extremities in many cases were generously clad in brilliant red Hole-proofs.

Durham's first hit was collected by catcher Carden in the fifth canto when he hit one to short and beat it out to first while the shortstop was playing with the ball. The other two connections came in the seventh, Holt and Carden singling in rapid succession.

Barbee toyed with Durham in the first. W. White was whiffed, Satterfield flew out to the first baseman and Byrd was thrown out at the initial sack. Pomona threatened to score in their half of the inning when Regan, first man up was given first on an error by Read. Jessup popped up to Cherry who turned it into a double play by catching Regan at first. York swung thrice.

With none on and none out Barbee poled out a four base hit over center in the second and scored enough runs by himself to have won the game. In the third sista two markers were hung up by Pomona on two hits and two errors. Jessup singled and went to third on Holt's error. York followed with a second single and he and Jessup crossed the plate when Read threw the ball over home in an effort to catch the latter. Another couplet was shoved across in the fifth. Regan doubled to left and was brought in by Jessup's double to right. The hard hitting second baseman went to third on York's infield out and scored on Barbee's long sacrifice to deep center.

The Durham boys threatened to turn the seventh into a sure enough rally when singles by Holt and Carden placed two men on bases with none out. Read failed to deliver and flew out to the third baseman. E. White then cracked a ball square on the nose and sent it flitting away with a home run labeled attached. But like the castles in the air the Bull City hopes crumbled as Boucher made a spectacular one-handed catch while running at full speed.

Neither pitcher issued a pass, an unusual feat in high school ball, only one sacrifice hit was made and only two bases were pilfered. Carden of Durham (Continued on page three)

BASEBALL LIONS PENNED UP FOR FORTNIGHT, LICK CHOPS FOR BAPTISTS

Importance of Trinity Game Depends on Outcome of Wake Forest Clash.

TEAM IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Casey Morris will lead his lions over to Wake Forest Thursday to do battle with the Baptist nine on their home lot and attempt to revenge the crushing 9 to 3 defeat that was parcelled out to his team on the eighth of May.

Completely recovered from the wear and grind of their long Southern tour and placed again in the race for state honors by Trinity's defeat at the hands of Davidson, the Tar Heels will do all in their power to show the Wake Forest club that it was a played out and worn out team that they defeated on Emerson Field and not the Tar Heel team that five days later swamped State College 11 to 4.

Upon this game hinges the importance of the Trinity game on June 5. If the game is lost or even tied the game with the Methodist brethren will be merely an attempt to avenge the defeat by Trinity earlier in the season. If the Wake Forest game is won then there will hang upon the Trinity game not only sweet revenge but also perfectly good claims for state honors, for should Carolina be able to take both games in tow the only claim that the Durham college could lay upon the state laurels would be the University's tie game with Guilford, which is far from being strong enough to substantiate a baseball championship.

The Tar Heels are out for blood and will be contented with nothing less. With six wins, six losses and two draws to their credit the team must win both games to place the balance on the favorable side, and now-a-days its no longer a custom of teams from this institution to have a balance in any other column than the one on the credit side and Morris doesn't desire a whit that his team should start a backward movement.

The batting of Carmichael and the fielding of Bonner have been two of the outstanding features of the team of late. The dope slingers had it all figured out that Cart would make a good felder on account of his speed, but not much of a batter. Now Carmichael is perched within three lone points of the three hundred mark, which all goes to prove that as usual, all dope slingers are wrong, with the standing exception, of course, of our own Buck Midyette.

Bonner has reduced his section of the park to an Elysian Field for the pitcher and a veritable Hades for the batter. In the State game he pulled down seven lofty ones without the semblance of a bobble.

Ferebee has borne the brunt of pitching thus far and has shown himself cap- (Continued on page three)

Biggest Social Strut of the Season is Due Friday Night

Annual Satyr Carnival Will Be Lively Affair—Exhibition Dancers Are to Appear.

Bynum Gymnasium has only three more drab nights to itself and the campus has only three more days to wait before gladdening their hearts with the biggest social strut of the season—the Satyr Carnival is on deck for Friday evening.

Nothing has been said to the gym personally about it, so the old shack will be quite as surprised and delighted with itself Friday night as will those who subscribe themselves to the festivities therein. Lloyd Williams, who is in charge of the Carnival committee, announces that everything is in readiness for the biggest time ever.

With several specially-chosen dances by one of the country's most satisfying aesthetic dancers in the person of Miss Oisette Calz-Gazazza, sometime Marion Morgan Dancer and now of the Helen Moeller School, an exhibition dance by a pair of the state's finest, the always impressive and wholly delightful ceremony of "tapping" initiates to the Dramatic Order of Satyrs as a climax, and for the rest a rousing masquerade ball, it is a foregone conclusion that nothing in the world but a darn good time will be had by all.

The dance leaders will be Alan McGee with Lloyd Williams and LeGrand Everette as assistants, the music will be furnished by the Carolina Club Orchestra, the costumes by Miller, of Philadelphia (you'd better pop down to Pritchard-Patterson and see about yours right away), copious and splendidous eats will be in charge of Mrs. Dey and Mrs. Leavitt, the creme de la creme of three states will be there, some table space is left, a little standing room still, all going fast—what the Hades more do you want?

SOPH ENGINEERS TO WORK AT FETZER'S CAMP THIS SUMMER

The Sophomore class of the Civil Engineering school will be required to attend a six weeks summer school or camp at Brevard this summer. The camp will be in connection with Camp Sapphire, Captain Bill Fetzer's camp for small boys. However the engineers will not be able to partake of many of the pleasures of camp life as they will be required to work 8 or 9 hours per day.

The camp will be in charge of Professor H. F. Janda who will give intensive courses in Plane and Topographical Surveying and in Highway and Railroad Location. The students will also make a survey of Coach Fetzer's 500 acre plot in addition to a survey of the bottom of Lake Sapphire.

The Engineering faculty believe that this plan of summer school will prove highly successful as the camp will afford a splendid opportunity for combining pleasure with work.

Carolina's Highest Honor Awarded at Society's Annual "Tapping" Friday Night.

HON. J. J. PARKER SPEAKS

Carolina Playmakers Recognized by the Fleece for the First Time in History.

To six juniors and three seniors was awarded Carolina's highest honor when the annual "tapping" of the senior society of the Golden Fleece took place in Memorial hall Friday night. The nine campus leaders "tapped" this year were as follows: Roy Morris, Gastonia; C. B. Colton, Boston, Mass.; C. S. Hampden, Chapel Hill; R. C. Carmichael, Durham; John Purser, Charlotte; LeGrand Everett, Rockingham; Earl Hartsell, Stanfield; W. W. Gwynn, Leaksville; Jack Allsbrook, Roanoke Rapids.

Hon. J. J. Parker, Republican candidate for Governor at the last election, delivered a strong and impressive talk, describing in vivid terms the peak that civilization has reached and the crying call of the world for real men—men such as those always sought for by the Golden Fleece. He was introduced by Professor Horace Williams, honorary member of the Fleece, who also traced briefly the founding and early beginnings of the organization, paying tribute to the unbiased method ever employed in selecting its new men, "never allowing for a moment any personal feeling to enter in."

Alan McGhee, president of the society, spoke briefly on the problem that faced the Fleece this year and the manner in which it was solved. He expressed his wish that the selection would please the campus, and added that the organization was unanimously satisfied that it had chosen the most deserving and most worthy men. The Fleece man must be a real leader, one who has distinguished himself in some phase of University life, possessing along with that the necessary characteristics of the ideal University man. He must be potential, with certain distinguishing attitudes, according to Mr. McGhee.

Following this talk the traditional robed figures appeared in the doorway and the "tapping" began with these mystic persons wandering about the hall and finally mounting the stage where Mr. Parker was fairly jerked from his seat and the Golden Fleece ribbons were pinned on him as the first to be "tapped." The audience voiced approval with a long, vigorous applause. When Mr. Parker was in the University as a student the Golden Fleece was first organized, and he was offered membership at that time but rejected because of the peculiar condition that existed then between the fraternity and non-fraternity men on the campus. It was the feeling then that the Fleece was a new fraternity rising up soon to (Continued on page three)

ACACIA FRATERNITY GIVES SPRING DANCE

With the house artistically decorated with old gold and black, the fraternity colors, and the Carolina Orchestra playing like Garber-Davis; Acacia fraternity gave their annual spring dance which was conceded to have been one of the best private dances held on the Hill in many moons.

Quite a few out of town girls attended, among them being: the Misses Jane Trent, Alice Hedrick, Dorothy Russell and Elizabeth Sawyer, of Meredith College, Raleigh; Miss Luella Koons, of Roanoke Rapids; Mary Elizabeth Perkins, of Greensboro; Josephine Herring and Virginia Venable, of Durham.

The Chapel Hill girls attending were: Sue Bird Thompson, Kitty Lee Frazier, Carrie Edmunds, Jane Toy, Adeline Denham, Ella Boone Dixon, Jessie Giles, May Belle Pen, Estelle Lawson, Helen Thomas, Vailera Uzelle, Catherine Boyd, Annie Duncan, Katherine Culpepper and Grace White.

Chaperones and faculty attendants included Mesdames Russell and Battle, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bradshaw, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Caldwell, Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Knight, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Lawson, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Pickard. The dance lasted from 9 till 1:30 and tasteful refreshments were served.

ATHLETES WIN OUT IN FRESHMEN ELECTIONS

Emmett Underwood Will Pilot Next Year's Sophomore Class—Charlie Thomas Wins Vice Presidency.

After three days of campaigning, marked by a great show of political ardor, the ballots of the rising sophomore class closed Saturday with the following result:

Emmett Underwood was elected president over Pete Pearce by a majority of 67. For vice president, Charlie Thomas won out over W. S. McIver by 75 majority. N. C. Gordon nosed out over his opponent for the campus cabinet by the small margin of three votes. C. W. Gold was elected secretary-treasurer over M. M. Young in the first day's balloting by a margin of 129 votes.

The campaign began Thursday morning in Chapel when President Pelletier threw the house open for nominations. Everything worked with precision and without a hitch for the friends of the various candidates had put their heads together and had planned all the details.

WILLIAM CAIN SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

Major Cain Presents Society With Picture of Himself—New Officers Are Elected.

The William Cain Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers held its annual banquet in the laboratory room of Phillips hall today. This banquet is a thing that has been looked forward to all the year and today it proved to be just as successful as was anticipated.

Aside from the temporary enjoyment which the banquet furnished the students and faculty, the society was presented with a gift which will be a thing of lasting admiration and pleasure. This gift was a very fine picture of Major William Cain, the founder of the society, who made the presentation himself. Major Cain presented the portrait modestly but with a few impressive and well chosen words.

The portrait will be placed in the library to serve as a memorial for one who has done so much to make the engineering school of the University the best in the state, and among the leading schools of the country.

At this banquet the society also installed its officers for next year. For president the society chose J. N. Gilbert to succeed O. E. Martin; for vice president L. I. Lassiter to succeed A. S. Chase; for secretary, W. M. Price to succeed H. A. Lawrence, and for treasurer R. L. Rosenberger to succeed R. J. Morton.

SENIOR CLASS BANQUET

The Senior class will hold its annual banquet on Wednesday night, May 23. The speakers of the evening will be President Chase and Dr. Archibald Henderson, with Tom Turner and Pike Trotter responding.

The business of the meeting will consist of a discussion of a report which will be made at that time by the committee appointed to look into the question of a permanent class gift to the University and the choosing of permanent class officers.
