

"RAMBLING ROUND" BY P. C. FRONEBERGER HIMSELF

Popular Carolina Cheer Leader Relates in brief his experiences of the Summer

IN THREE SHIPMENTS

At the unfortunate hour of twelve on the fifteenth of June we left Raleigh by the famous Seaboard cinder path for Norfolk, Va., and at the same hour good luck took the backward route. In the short space of six hours our train lost four good hours, causing us to miss connection at Norfolk, the lousy station therein which we spent our first night on perfectly good hardwood benches. Nevertheless we arrived in Norfolk on schedule time just one day late, thanks to the Seaboard.

We soon discovered that the employment agency hadn't a darn bit of sympathy for poor working college students, so to make bad matters worse we caught a boat for New York City. Lucky for us we persuaded a friend to go with us who had been there before, or else we would have been there still. Frankly I must admit that we looked like a trio of mules in a brand new post office. We soon found a place to sleep—all it cost us was the price of a newspaper to spread out on the grass to keep the grass from getting dirty. However, I didn't like Battery Park so we changed to Central Park as a slightly better class of bums stop at the latter place, those that have retired from actual service.

Situation cleared up a bit one afternoon when we all three marched gallantly on to the main office of the Standard Oil Co., and demanded a position, giving our names and location as references. The manager liked our nerve and immediately gave us jobs as ordinary seamen on a tanker going to Texas. Almost before we realized what it was all about we were under way. We soon found that life on a ship is all that you have heard about it and a good deal more besides. We were the only English speaking people on the ship, the others being Scandinavians and New Yorkers who speak English about as fluently as I do Chinese. However, in a very short time we learned to speak with our hands and got along as good as any one else.

Out at Sea Several Days Later

Now at this point I had just recovered from the first attack of that well known mania to which most every one succumbs on their first sea voyage. No one will ever know how it feels to be sick until you have had a spell of it, rheumatism, yellow fever, asthma, and ptomaine poison are picnics compared with seasickness. While you are thus afflicted, absolutely nothing will stay within you—not even the thought of something to eat. About the most pleasurable thing imaginable is to see a sea sick lad hanging far over the rail, and have an old sea dog come along and sympathize with you, saying, "Brace up, lad, the first six years are the hardest. A good cure for you would be to stick your head in a bucket of salt water three times and pull it out only twice." We finally got through the storm, and I recovered but you wouldn't recognize me. I looked almost like a shadow having lost my former weight over the side of the ship.

TELEPHONES TO BE INSTALLED IN ROOMS

An added convenience to the eleven dormitories this year, will be the installation of telephones which were ordered from Charlotte Sept. 15. One telephone will be allotted to each building in charge of self-help men who will have the responsibility of delivering incoming messages. The phones will be operated as pay stations, and although the approximate cost of the installation and central office charge has not been given, it is expected that the charges for the use of the phones will meet the expense. If the telephones are not self-supporting, a small fee will be exacted from the occupants of the dormitories next year.

The fraternity row is being gradually depleted as large houses go up on the outskirts of the campus. The Gamma Phi Local will occupy the old D. K. E. house.

The Peckwick has been crowded every night since the opening of school.

Buch Midget has been this summer working on the Weldon News, which is now bankrupt, is due in soon.

Titled Italian Comes To Study Playmaking

Marchesa Capponi, a titled Italian woman, has come to Chapel Hill to study at first hand the organization and methods of The Carolina Playmakers. She has been conferring with Dr. Frederick H. Koch, director of the Playmakers, and it is learned she may spend considerable time in Chapel Hill.

The Marchesa, who is a native American of Los Angeles, Cal., is particularly interested in the work the Playmakers are doing. As the result of her conferences with Dr. Koch, she has some definite plans, it is understood, but just what they are is a matter of conjecture.

She has put the taboo on any suggestion of interviews and has pledged Dr. Koch and everyone else to whom she may have confided to the strictest secrecy regarding her plans. Some say she intends exploiting the folk play idea in Italy, while other rumors are that she will sponsor the idea in California.

It was by coincidence that she visited the University. She happened to be a passenger aboard a steamer on which Miss Dorothy Greenlaw, Miss Alne Hughes and Miss Jane Toy have just returned from Europe and during the trip the three mentioned the Playmakers in the course of a conversation with the Marchesa. She was immediately interested and decided to accompany the three girls, all University graduates, to Chapel Hill, with the view to conferences with Prof. Koch. She has been staying in the home of Mrs. A. A. Klutz and being entertained by Miss Greenlaw and Miss Toy and others.

NEW FRESHMAN HANDBOOK UP TO SNUFF

This year's freshman handbook, published by the Y. M. C. A. under the direction of J. M. Saunders, is quite up to the standard of its predecessors. In addition, it contains several new features which add greatly to its attractiveness. The large number of pictures is immediately noticeable, while a closer inspection will reveal the clearness and simplicity with which the material has been arranged.

Fast in the handbook is a welcome by President Chase, followed by a generous portion of "Tips to Freshmen." Then comes a section explaining the work of the "Y" on the campus, and next a most interesting section on athletics at Carolina. Records for the past year in football, basketball, baseball, tennis and track are given, as well as the 1923 football schedule and the various college yells. Pictures of the team captains and coaches are included, and also a number of snapshots showing Carolina teams in action during the past year. The last section contains a list of all campus organizations, explaining the purpose of each and usually giving a list of members. The most novel and most useful addition of all is a small map of the campus pasted inside the back cover of the book. This map will be a great aid to new men, as the names and positions of all the buildings and dormitories are given and may thus be easily learned. A luxurious blue leather binding with an NC monogram stamped on the front gives the handbook a very neat and attractive outside appearance.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Cross Country Men

All men interested in cross country work are asked to meet in Gerard Hall Monday night at 7:30 to discuss the work for this year. All track men are especially urged to attend. Freshmen will have two or maybe three cross countries this fall and they are asked to come to the meeting Monday night to try and get their team started.

The Classes in Journalism which have been under the direction of Professor Louis Graves will not be taught this year as Mr. Graves wishes to devote his time to his newspaper. Mr. Graves may conduct a class in advanced journalism.

"Soe" Proctor, who spent the summer selling stereoscopes in Pennsylvania, is expected to return to school today.

The Publications Union has been functioning all summer under the direction of Mr. Matherly and Mr. Hibbard and much work has been accomplished.

MANY NEW NAMES ON 1924 FACULTY ROSTER

Majority New Professors Come from Outside State—Housing Problem

The annual influx of students has begun and with it comes an unusually large number of new faculty. The great majority of these come from outside the state, but there is a good number of old Carolina men in the group. Most of these new men were called here as a result of the growth of the University but a few are here to fill in for professors on leave.

The old Carolina men who are to teach are: Alert M. Coates, L.L.B., assistant professor of law; A. R. Newsome, A.B., assistant professor of history; Paul E. Green, A.M., assistant professor of philosophy; Wyatt Andrew Pickens, A.B., instructor in Spanish; Charles B. Millican, A.B., instructor in English; Wiley Britten Sanders, A.M., assistant professor of sociology; Thomas Ewell Wright, A.B., instructor in French; Wilton Cathey, A.B., instructor in physics; William White Rogers, A.B., instructor in English (part time); Oscar Eugene Martin, instructor in civil engineering (part time); F. P. Broons, instructor in chemistry; Paul Milton Gray, B.S. in E.E., instructor in electrical engineering; R. A. Hope, A.B., instructor in Latin.

The new men from other places are: Thomas L. Kibler, Ph.D., professor of economics; Chester Tenn Higby, Ph.D., associate professor of history; Paul Harrison Dike, Ph.D., associate professor of physics; Willard E. Atkins, J. D., associate professor of business law; Harold R. Smart, Ph.D., assistant professor of philosophy; Shipp G. Sanders, A. B., assistant professor of classics; Albrecht Naeter, N.S., associate professor of electrical engineering; Joel H. Swartz, Ph.D., assistant professor of geology; Ralph E. Trimble, B.S., instructor in civil engineering; Essek Ray Mosher, Ed.D., professor of education; Arthur Melville Jordan, Ph.D., professor of psychology; George Bryan Logan, A.B., librarian, school of education; John Coriden Lyons, A.M., instructor in French; Albert Wilder Thompson, A.M., instructor in French; Prof. D. A. McPherson of bacteriology in the school of medicine; F. H. Edminister, assistant professor of chemistry; and George B. Zehmer, associate director of the university extension department and head of the department of extensive teaching.

This large number of new residents has greatly complicated the housing problem and at the present time the main job of the heads of schools and departments is to find space for them. Never before has the demand for rooms been so pressing.

ALUMNI REVIEW HAS NEW EDITORIAL STAFF

The Alumni Review has again become part of the Central Alumni office. This has come about as an Association which decreed last June that the two should combine. In 1911 the Review and the Central result of the action of the General office were together but lack of funds caused them to separate. Now after ten years of separation the two are again together.

This change will not affect the position of Dr. E. R. Wilson, the editor, but the offices of Managing Editor and Business Manager are changed. Mr. E. R. Rankin formerly held both of these jobs but he has given them up to devote his full time to the Extension Division of the University. Mr. Robert W. Maddy, '18, will take his place as Managing Editor and Mr. Percy Powell, '21, will be Business Manager.

Mr. Maddy has come back here to take charge of the University News Bureau. In 1918-19 he held this same job but went from here to Columbia where he continued his studies in journalism. After graduating there he was connected with the New York Herald, first on the Paris edition and then in the New York office.

Mr. Powell, the new Business Manager, has graduated from the University and has taken about half the work required for a graduate degree. He has done a lot of work in the Alumni Office and is thoroughly familiar with the work of his new office.

Woop Eye, the famous Chapel Hill Canine, has not returned to the University this year. He is succeeded as king of the pups by Tom McNight's German police dog.

Dr. Nathan, the genial and rosy-tinted health officer of Chapel Hill,

Laundry Department

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Session 1923-1924

You are requested to bear in mind that the following rules and regulations must be observed, in order that you get prompt and efficient service from the Laundry Department.

1st. Have your Laundry READY—positively no second call will be made for bundles that are not ready for the laundryman on the first call.

2nd. Write REGISTRATION NUMBER, NAME, INITIALS and ADDRESS, plainly on the Laundry list. This list must accompany your soiled linen to the Laundry. Have each article carefully enumerated on the Laundry List. Place this list INSIDE the Bundle—tie it securely to avoid possible loss in transit.

3rd. Every student is required to enumerate each article on the Laundry list. Claims of error cannot be considered unless such itemized list accompanies soiled linen.

4th. Under NO CIRCUMSTANCES are two or more persons permitted to send their laundry in the same bundle. Do not send "borrowed linens" in your package. Return them to the owner before laundering. When two or more persons send in the same package we will positively accept NO RESPONSIBILITY for either loss or damage.

5th. Laundry will be called for once a week, on MONDAYS, from all students living in town residences and Fraternity houses. You are cautioned to have your laundry ready for the laundryman. Get your laundry ready Sunday eve. WE DO NOT MAKE A SECOND CALL FOR YOUR BUNDLE. Posters placed prominently in all the Dormitories state time that laundry will be called for.

6th. Certain dyes are not fast colors. Certain woolens are not pre-shrunk. We will use every possible precaution, cannot however, accept the responsibility for the fastness of colors, or the shrinkage of woolens.

7th. Kindly make all complaints to the Student Representative, at the office of the Laundry. Complaints for either loss or damage must be made within 24 hours after the delivery of the bundle, accompanied by the coupon that is pasted on the outside of bundle in question, to receive recognition.

8th. It is clearly understood that the University of North Carolina bases the cost of laundering an article on the cost of operation—not upon the value of the article. Hence it is agreed that in event of either loss or damage, that the liability of the Laundry Department of the University of North Carolina shall not exceed ten times the cost of the charge made for the laundering of the article in question.

9th. The representatives of the Laundry Dept. are not permitted to enter the rooms of students. We will deliver back to the place from which we receive all laundry, the clean linen. This done our responsibility ceases.

10th. EACH STUDENT WILL BE GIVEN A MARK OF IDENTIFICATION ON ALL GARMENTS AND LINEN AT THE LAUNDRY. You are therefore requested to have none other than your own apparel or linen in the package; in this manner only can we give to you a service that will satisfy.

"Do not ask for 'Special' or Individual Service, as we are positively unable to grant such a request. Bundles brought to the office of the laundry will not receive other than the regular service accordingly."

The University owns and operates a modern laundry which is conducted on a strictly scientific basis. All students (except those who live with their families in Chapel Hill) are required to send their work to the University laundry. A laundry deposit fee of $8.50 to be paid at the time registration is required of each student, against which a charge is made for the work done. If the amount of work done is less than the deposit, the balance is refunded, except that a minimum average charge of 25 cents per week will be made.

Laundry may be sent home by parcel post, but must be sent through the office of the Laundry Dept. They will pay the postage and insurance and charge the same against your laundry deposit fee. In this event no minimum charge will be made against the student account.

All work is accepted on a piece-price basis. The charges are exceedingly reasonable and are made strictly in accordance with the cost of operation. This enables the students to get their laundry work at a cost below the usual commercial prices.
