

FETZERS SEND SECOND TEAM TO REPRESENT CAROLINA IN BIG CLASSIC IN YALE BOWL

Coaches decide at last minute to save the first string men.

COMMENT ON ACTION

It was hoped that the Varsity would put Spiked Punch in Yale Bowl

With the loss of Sparrow and Merritt starting him in the face Varsity Coach Bill Fetzer left Thursday night for New Haven with only two letter men on the squad that he will send up against Yale tomorrow. Apparently placing more importance on winning the State championship, which will virtually be decided within the next two weeks, than in making a brilliant but useless showing against a distant university Fetzer decided at the last moment to save his Varsity men for the Trinity game on the 12th and the N. C. State game on the 18th.

Big Poindexter, powerful guard with several seasons of experience, and "Heinie" Lineberger, substitute end on last year's South Atlantic Champions are the only two letter men that will make the trip. The line will be much heavier than that of the Varsity and will compare favorably with that of Yale in the matter of weight.

Just what the reaction will be in New Haven is problematical. Old "Ell" was given the scare of her life last year and will probably start off her first string men, unless she gets wise to the trick and saves them for another day. On the other hand it is Yale's opening game and she is depending on it to limber up her men and try out her new plays.

It must be remembered that in last year's game both "Red" Johnston and Hawfield received injuries that interfered greatly with their work for the rest of the season. But last year the squad had plenty of reserve strength and waded through the rest of the schedule without the least semblance of defeat. But the tale is different this year and McDonald, Bonner, Underwood and Randolph are too valuable to be uselessly risked.

The fact that the State Championship in baseball resulted in a tie last spring has raised the ire of the coaches to a high pitch and they have no intentions of risking the title in football. Carolina runs up against the Trinity team on next Friday and from present prospects it seems to be the plan to grind the pure living life out of the Methodists. Then within six days State College is tackled in Raleigh and another hard game must be lived through. If Carolina can emerge victorious from these two

REGISTRATION TOTALS 2122

Official Figures Prepared by the Registrar's Office Shows big Increase over last Year.

The figures showing the number of students registered in the University, up to date, also shows a larger increase than the University has had during any previous year. There are approximately three hundred more students in school than there were at this time last year.

The congestion in dormitories of a few years ago, was thought to be done away with for a decade by the erection of B, C, D, and E. Contrary to expectations, however, the unusual registration growth has caused conditions such that the larger rooms in Old West, Old East, South, and Carr, all have three, and some four men in them. Some of the rooms in Battle, Vance, and Pettigrew, have four men in them.

As the number of men registered always increases during the year, this congestion is not expected to decrease during the whole year.

Figures prepared by the Registrar's office are:

Graduate Students	92
Law Students	125
Medical Students	70
Pharmacy Students	107
Undergraduates	1728
TOTAL	2122

NEW FIELD SOON SAYS WOOLLEN

Work on Athletic Field Will Be Started Last This Week.

Work on Carolina's newest athletic field is expected to get underway late this week, according to C. T. Woollen, graduate manager of athletics.

The new field will be located southeast of the freshmen field and will be utilized for mass athletics between the dormitories. Until the field is completed, the intramural contests will be held on Emerson Field.

The new field will prove ample space for every student to secure some sort of outdoor exercise.

This new field will be built in addition to the indoor athletic field which will be completed in time for the basketball season, having room for eight basketball courts. All Varsity games will be played on one of these courts, with room provided for a crowd of spectators.

WORK ON THE INN IS PROGRESSING NICELY

Work is progressing nicely on Chapel Hill's new hotel, The Carolina Inn, which is in course of construction on the lot formerly occupied by Mrs. M. W. Daniel's boarding house, just at the West Gate. It is hoped by the builders that it will be completed by late next spring. Chapel Hill has for a long time needed a new hotel very much, and its completion will be hailed with delight by all concerned. The hotel is being built by John Sprunt Hill of Durham, and the contractor is H. L. Smith, assisted by his son, G. L. Smith. The plans were drawn up by The T. C. Atwood Organization.

The building itself will be three stories high and fireproof throughout. It will contain sixty-two bedrooms. No expense has been spared in making it up-to-date and modern in every respect. Across the front on the first floor will be a large dining room, a two-section lobby and a ladies' rest room. Directly behind the lobby and at the rear of the building there will be a large 50x50 ball room. The second and third floors will be entirely bedrooms except for a balcony around the ball room on the second floor.

MISS BATTLE OPENS TEA ROOM AND COFFEE HOUSE

A new business enterprise has been started in Chapel Hill. In the old Barber Place, which is located between the Methodist Church and Poister's, Miss Nancy Battle has opened a sort of tea room and coffee house to be known as Nancy's Coffee House.

The reporter, on getting wind of the opening of the new place, drifted in to give it the once over. It is an exceedingly nice place and will be appreciated by the students. It is the very place for the weary student on his way to class and a hard quiz to stop over for a few minutes and forget his troubles and come out with a meal that is bound to satisfy.

The house opens at 9 A. M. and closes at 11 P. M. Delicious waffles and coffee are served any time during these hours and regular meals are served during meal hours.

FRESHMEN ORGANIZE DEBATING SOCIETY

Great interest is being manifested by the freshmen of the University in a debating society, organized by them last Monday night in the Di Hall, when officers for the fall quarter were elected.

It is announced that topics of general interest will be debated, as was the custom in a similar freshmen society last year. All first year men interested are invited to be present at the meeting next Monday.

Officers elected are: Lee Kennett, President; J. H. Williams, vice-president; and Howard Raper, secretary.

The October number of the High School Journal, published by the School of Education, is out today.

YACKETY YACK CONTEST

The 1924 Yackety Yack announces a business contest—men from any class are eligible. All interested in making a place on the business staff may apply in writing to Abram Weil, Business Manager.

MEMBER BABSON AGENCY SPEAKS

Olin W. Hill, from Statistical Agency Predicts Lessened Business for 1924

Speaking under the auspices of the University School of Commerce, Olin W. Hill, a member of the firm of the Roger W. Babson Statistical Agency of Wellesley Hills, Mass., predicted lessened business and a higher bond market for the year 1924, in a lecture delivered here Wednesday night.

He stated that three factors would probably affect the business situation. They are a possible loan to Japan, the unsettled conditions in Germany, and a tendency toward political radicalism in this country.

High cotton prices in the south above 22 cents, he said are unwarranted by fundamental business conditions, and are caused by speculation.

The present method of handling business has resulted in the consumer paying 60 cents overhead charges for 40 cents worth of produce, the speaker declared.

As long as service is the dominating principle of business, we have the fundamental cause of prosperity and when the mere principle of the dollar dominates the situation, thereby lies the cause of depression, it was affirmed.

Many Commerce students heard Mr. Hill's lecture and asked him several questions when it was over. Prof. Murchison, of the School of Commerce, introduced the speaker of the evening.

MED. STUDENTS WATCH MULE DO HIS STUFF

A mule, under the care of a young negro, while passing the Med. Building Wednesday afternoon suddenly collapsed and rolled into the side ditch, from which it could not rise.

A sympathetic crowd quickly gathered around to offer advice, while the scared negro ran for aid. The negro soon returned, with one of his own tribe and followed by most of the Med. students. The first year students stood on the bank and watched their seniors pull the mule from the ditch, stand him on his feet, congratulate each other, lock arms, and stroll back towards Caldwell Hall talking about the bill that was to be presented later.

Dr. N. W. Walker, Dean of the School of Education, left Thursday night for Washington to deliver an address before the Teachers' Association assembled there.

DEAN BRADSHAW'S BOOTLEGGER USURPS PLATFORM IN CHAPEL

Decrepit old man proves to be George Denny, Manager of the Playmakers—Discusses Plans for the Season

Dean Bradshaw was rudely interrupted in his Chapel exercises Tuesday by the appearance of an old, bearded, ill-dressed man. Despite the efforts of the ushers he forced his way to the platform. The cause of the Dean's anxiety was soon discovered for the old man announced himself as his private bootlegger. Mr. Bradshaw was afraid to do anything and he let the old man have the floor in peace.

The bootlegger said that his name was Noah Setzer and that he sold the best and strongest "likker" in the county. In order to prove his claim he produced a bottle from one of his pockets and instead of asking anyone a sample it, he poured some of it in his face and whiskers. The strength of his "corn" was every bit as much as he had claimed for it took his whiskers completely off. After removing his coat and wig it was seen that he was none other than George Denny, manager and veteran actor of the Carolina Playmakers.

Mr. Denny explained to the audience something of The Playmakers and their plans for this year. He emphasized The Taming of the Shrew, which will be given in the Forest Theatre on Monday, October 15th. This will be especially interesting to

UNIVERSITY DAY PROGRAM FIXED

October 12th., Will Mark 130th. Anniversary—Hon. W. N. Everett to Speak.

October 12th., marks the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of Old East building. University Day, as it has come to be called, has always been a day when alumni and undergraduates have gathered to worship and swear new allegiance to their Alma Mater. This year, a much larger student body will gather to hear of Carolina's past glory than has ever assembled in Old Memorial before.

The Hon. W. N. Everett, '86, Secretary of State, member of the board of trustees, and member of the executive and building committee of trustees, will make the principal address of the day at eleven o'clock.

Eight thirty and nine thirty classes will be held; then, as has been the custom, undergraduates, professional schools, and faculty will assemble before Alumni to march to Memorial Hall at eleven. Of course the Trinity game in Durham will occupy the afternoon.

MED. SCHOOL DOGS TO HAVE NEW DORMITORY

A stupendous building project has been accepted by Atwood and Nash, Inc., at the request of Dr. Manning of the Medical Department. The new building will be situated in the woods south of the campus.

A fence some forty feet square will surround the project. The plan is to erect a sanitary kennel, containing five compartments, to house the dogs used in experiments by the Medical School. It is a significant fact that the Co-ed dorm is about to be built. The doomed inmates of the kennel will doubtless appreciate the 40 foot yard and the opportunity of a few bays at a baleful moon as much as the Med. students will appreciate the comparative freedom from fleas, and the men in the new dorms, the absence of anguished canine shrieks which now split the still night in twain.

Y. CAMPAIGN CONTINUED

The "Y" financial campaign was continued through Thursday night, due to the fact that the canvassers were unable to see a large part of the student to get their contributions. The full quota had not been reached when this paper went to press, but practically the entire amount is expected by the close of the campaign. Nearly one hundred canvassers took part in the drive for funds, and the failure to reach the quota as soon as was expected was not due to lack of energy on the part of the workers, but to the fact that a great part of the students were out of their rooms and could not be seen.

SCRUBS TO PLAY LIGHT INFANTRY

Assistant Manager Poole and Fifteen Men Leave for Wilmington today.

While the varsity is spending its week-end hanging around the drug store here in Chapel Hill and the second team is on its quest to twist the bull dog's tail, Carolina's hard-working "iron men" have set out for Wilmington to do their share by matching their prowess against the Wilmington Light Infantry team. The scrubs have been working hard, and they have received some hard knocks from the varsity, but Saturday's game promises to be even harder, for the soldiers have a reputation of being rough on visitors.

The Country Club Gives Big Reception

The Chapel Hill Country Club, which was organized last year, opened its doors Wednesday night with a house-warming, reception and dance. Besides the Club members many of the new faculty members were present as guests of the Club.

Extensive plans have been made for the future, and prospects for a thriving club are bright. A nine hole golf course and a tennis court are to be completed soon, while a dance will be given regularly every month.

At present there are no student members, but the golf course should prove a big inducement.

The Minotaurs and Sheiks Initiate

The Minotaurs, alias "The Bulls," a sophomore social order, held an initiation Monday night and the following yearlings were selected: W. B. Ballou, Bill Devin, Jack Cobb, Stacy Smith, Brandon Hodges, Frank Hammer, and Emmett Underwood.

The Sheiks, another organization of the same kind, and bitter rivals of the "Bulls," held an initiation on Wednesday night and found the following with all the qualifications of a "Duke of the Desert": Bob Huffines, Harold Lineberger, Jim Webb, Dave Woodard, Norman Cordon, Russell Braswell, and Tommy Clarkson. Much interest is being shown all over the campus, for the initiation in both organizations, which lasts for several weeks, is rich with the comical antics of the victims.

Petition Circulated To Oust Med. Dogs

A few days ago a petition was being circulated among the students in the Quadrangle asking the University officials to remove the dogs from the Medical building, claiming that the constant howling of these canines is a source of annoyance and a hindrance to concentrated study. The bearer of the petition gave a lengthy discourse in which he set forth the manner in which these dog-gone beasts are preventing the boys from getting the most possible knowledge out of their books. Indeed, the chorus that the brutes send out on the otherwise still night air is becoming monotonous, for the tune is ever the same—just a lusty discourse of yaps, barks and howls. The students in these parts do not seem to care for that kind of jazz, and they say that something has got to be done. Now we contend that if the dogs are keeping down the sale of Phi Beta Kappa keys they ought to be removed and that before mid-term exams.

S. R. Norris of the class of '20 stopped over at Chapel Hill while en route to Jacksonville, Fla., where he will practice medicine. He has been interning in Philadelphia.

PRITCHARD'S PETS READY FOR FRAY

Big Freshman Squad Rounding Into Shape for Opening Clash with Mars Hill

Coach Grady Pritchard's Tar Heel Yearlings will play their opening football game of the year Saturday afternoon on Emerson Field when the Mars Hill college aggregation comes to the Hill to do battle with the frosh eleven.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of 150 candidates have been working out under Coach Pritchard. The first scrimmage of the year was held on Tuesday, with about 30 men participating. Equipment was issued during the early part of the week.

The Freshmen this year will have one of the fastest first year elevens in Carolina's history. Some of the new men have all of the physical proportions of mountain trees, and show exceptional promise. The Frosh number in their ranks no less than 25 ex-high school and former prep school captains.

Rockhill, S. C., high school has sent a heavy delegation, while Charlotte high, Asheville, Durham, Fishburne, Riverside, of Georgia, and other schools have also sent representatives.

One of the most promising freshmen out is Nims, who has exhibited great ability as a punter.

Despite their good showing thus far, the first year men will have no easy tussle tomorrow. O. E. Roberts former Carolina man, is coaching the Mars Hill eleven. Reports from western Carolina declare that he has the best prep school team in the state.

SPOOKY STUFF AT RUSSELL INN

Mystic Order invades Co-ed's Stronghold. No one knows anything about it.

Mystic signs, sounds, and cards are in order at the Russell Inn now. Several placards have been discovered in the hall bearing mysterious messages signed by the "Mystic Order".

Yesterday morning some of the new girls were especially honored by individual cards. These apparently appeared in the room by magic, or at least nothing definite was known of the donor. One such card, besides being very attractively decorated, bore the following inscription: "Ye jewel, be ye ruby or pearl; will speak for one minute at dinner tonight on the all important question, 'Do fish perspire? If so, at what rate?'"

Nothing is known of this new order, its origin, members, or purpose—only its power is unquestioned. However every one seems to be enjoying the fun, yes, even the victims.

Interfraternity Conference Meets

The regular monthly sessions of the Interfraternity Conference have been resumed. The first of the monthly meetings was held in New York September 8th.

The committee on national expansion reported a great need for more national fraternities last spring. As a result of this report, a conference of selected locals will take place on the morning of Friday, November 30, the day of the plenary session of the Interfraternity Conference. These selected locals will decide whether they desire to band together as a new national.

A group of visitation officers is being formed whose function shall be to stimulate cooperation between undergraduate fraternity men.

"Shorty" Griffin, fullback on last year's freshman team has gone to Wake Forest College. "Shorty" found the competition too stiff here and decided he would have a better chance at Wake Forest. He is also going to take up the study of law.

"Step-on'em, Carolina, alias Jim Brown, has been sentenced by Judge W. A. Devin to root for the Carolina football team for the next two years. Brown got mixed up with some dew from Orange County thus fell into the toils of the law.
