

"Y" SECRETARY OF V. P. I. TALKS TO "Y" CABINET

Is Here in the Interest of the Student Volunteer Convention to be Held at Indianapolis

OUTLINES CONFERENCE

"Student Volunteer Convention, Greatest Religious Meeting Since the Time of Christ." "A convention to which a man traveled six thousand miles to speak twenty minutes, a woman eight thousand simply to listen; a convention in which 5031 people represented 755 institutions in the United States and Canada; that's the kind of meeting the Student Volunteer Movement held in Kansas City beginning at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon of December 31, 1913 and closing at 10 P. M. Sunday, January 4, 1914."

Thus says the "Tar Heel" of January 8, 1914 concerning the Student Volunteer Conference. In the interest of the one which is going to be held in Indianapolis, L. S. Cottrell, graduate of V. P. I. and Y. M. C. A. secretary there this year, spoke to the "Y" Cabinet last Monday night. He came here as traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement and is visiting all the colleges of the State. He was at Trinity Tuesday, returning here Wednesday and speaking in Chapel. He spoke at vesper services and held conferences Wednesday also.

In his talk before the Cabinet Monday night, he briefly outlined the various matters pertaining to the conference. It is the Quadrennial International Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement of Foreign Missions. The convention, as its name indicates, is held only every four years and this will be the only opportunity that upper classmen will have to attend the conference as undergraduate delegates. In 1913-14 the convention was held in Kansas City, as the extract from the "Tar Heel" indicated. The last one was held in Des Moines in 1919-20. This time it will be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, from December 28, 1923 to January 1, 1924. This will be the ninth international convention. Although it will not be the largest convention ever held, for its size is strictly limited to six thousand, it is expected that it will be the best. More elaborate preparations are being made for this conference than for any other.

The purpose of the convention as summarized by the Committee on Arrangements is as follows: "To realize the critical needs and possibilities of the situation in the world today, and to consider the responsibility of the Christian students of the United States and Canada in the light of this situation. "To consider Christ and his way of life as the hope of all the world. "To present the foreign missionary enterprise in the light of its achievements and possibilities as an indispensable means of bringing the power of Christ to bear on the world's needs."

Fraternities Pledge Men For First Time

The fraternities have pledged for the first time. The new system went into effect this year and bore fruit recently. Those men who brought with them on entering the University advanced standing from accredited colleges became eligible for initiations on Monday of last week. Continued rushing was deemed inadvisable by the Pan-Hellenic Council and the faculty last year, because it interfered with studying and consequently the new rules were formed. The new pledges will not be initiated until they have passed their first quarter's work to the satisfaction of the registrar. Any man however who enters the University with advanced standing can be pledged after the first month.

Those pledged, as nearly accurate as possible were: Delta Kappa Epsilon, Jack Blalock of Norfolk; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Jack Milstead of Charlotte, Jack Ragsdale of Madison, and John Crudup of Henderson; Zeta Psi, "Al" Mosely of Raleigh; Alpha Tau Omega, James Pressley of Rock Hill, S. C.; Kappa Alpha, Sidney Dowd of Charlotte; Sigma Nu, "Buck" Buchanan of Norfolk; Kappa Sigma, Bill Ruffin of Winston-Salem; Sigma Chi, Zeb Morris of Concord.

GOOCH SERVES A SAMPLE BANQUET

Celebrates Completion of New Dining Room With a Delicious Banquet

On Monday night, Oct. 22, a "sample banquet" was given in Gooch's new dining room just above the restaurant to celebrate its completion. Invitations were sent to all the organizations listed in the Freshman Handbook to send a delegate and also to a number of men out in the village.

The banquet was started off with an oyster cocktail and ended with coffee and cigars and cigarettes. Between these were chicken, asparagus, green peas, celery hearts, pickles, fruit salad in baskets cut out of oranges, pineapple shortcake, Roquefort cheese, and saltines. The food was excellent from start to finish and cooked to perfection.

The decoration of the new room excited much favorable comment by all those present. It is finished beautifully and lighted with pink-shaded lights. The wall-paper has an attractive frieze at the top which runs around the room.

Both the silver and the table linen were new and bore the name of the restaurant on each piece.

Mayor Roberson acted as toastmaster, and short speeches were given by William McK. Fetzer, Robert A. Feizer, Sampson Merritt, G. Y. Ragsdale, and Augustus Bradley. This new room will be available for all kinds of student banquets and will supply a long felt want since it is the only real banquet hall that is to be found in the town. Heretofore the rooms in the Y. M. C. A. and Swain Hall have been about the only places available and since these are either too small or too large for the attendance, numerous organizations have had to give up many a promising smoker. This hall can also be used for alumni banquets and other reunions in the years to come, when the old men come back to see the Hill and again meet at Gooch's.

VISITING ENGINEERS HAVE LUNCHEON IN DURHAM

The group of engineers who came here to hear Mr. Dunlap went to Durham Wednesday where they were joined by a considerable number of other members of the American Society of Civil Engineers of the State. Following a luncheon in the Malbourne Hotel and after an address by Mr. Dunlap, a State section of the American Society of Civil Engineers was organized. A constitution was adopted and the following officers were elected: President, Charles E. Waddell, of Asheville; Vice-president to serve one year, Professor Harry Tucker, of State College; Vice-president to serve two years, Col. Joseph Hyde Pratt, Director of State Geological and Economic Survey, Chapel Hill; and Secretary and Treasurer to serve two years, Professor Thorndike Saville, of the University School of Engineering.

Dr. D. T. Carr has just had a new X-Ray machine installed in his dental offices. It is adjusted to make both large and small X-Ray pictures. Dr. Carr thinks that it will be a great aid in helping him to determine the conditions of bad teeth.

WIGUE AND MASQUE ANNOUNCEMENT

The Wigue and Masque, the organization that presented the "Kalif of Kavak" with such great success last year, is offering a prize of $50.00 to the person who submits the best original musical comedy, the judges to be faculty members who are not connected with the Wigue and Masque. The play must be of the usual type of musical comedy, full of humorous situations and good lines. Everyone is urged to try and to be prompt in submitting his manuscript. The manuscripts will be mailed to Box No. 472, and must be in by November 24 if they are to be considered. For further information regarding this see Mr. P. J. Weaver, of the Music Department or any of the present members of the Wigue and Masque.

GERMAN CLUB ANNOUNCEMENT

Before those who have been passed into the German Club are eligible to attend meetings or the dances, they must pay their initiation fee. The Secretary and Treasurer of the German Club requests that this be attended to as soon as possible.

BIG CAKE RUN ON NOVEMBER 3

Cross-Country Run for Choice of Hundred Cakes Is Big Feature

The ladies of Chapel Hill have come across with the cakes and now it is up to the track aspirants to "take the cake" they want on Saturday, November 3, when the first annual all-University cross-country run will be held. It will start at the stadium and end at the stadium. The cross-country will be annual provided that this one is successful and future cross-countries are desired by the student body.

All varieties of cakes ranging from Lady Baltimore to plain layer cakes will be baked by the ladies of the town. These will be spread on tables on Emerson Field on November 3 providing it does not rain. In case of rain, the cakes will be placed in Memorial Hall. The winner of the two and one-quarter mile cross-country will have his choice of the entire one hundred cakes, the second will have his choice of the ninety-nine, the third, his choice of the ninety-eight, and so on until all the cakes are picked.

The race will not only be one for the sake of the cakes, but dormitory competition will also be included. The place a man finishes indicates the number of points he scores for his dormitory up to one hundred, the first man coming in scoring only one point. The dormitory which scores the least number of points wins the run. The scoring will be based on the dormitory having the largest number of entries. All dormitories, no matter how many are entered from each one, will be based on a percentage basis so that the number of entrants will not affect the chances of the dormitory to win the race.

The course will be marked off with arrows Monday afternoon beginning at the stadium. The Carolina Dormitories Association through their Intra-Mural Athletic Committee is promoting this meet. It is hoped that as many men as possible will come out for this cross-country run, for it is felt sure that it will be a great success.

CHANEY AND MATTISON TALK AT E. E. MEETING

The second meeting of the A. I. E. E. Society for the year 1923-24 was held in Phillips Hall on Monday evening, October 22, at 7:30. President Brown presided at the meeting.

The Society accepted the invitation of the C. E. Society to attend their banquet on the 23rd. A committee to arrange a dance was also appointed.

Q. F. Chaney gave a talk on Co-operative Work and the dangers of supposedly low-voltage transmission lines. Following this G. G. Mattison told the Society about the Colfax plant at Pittsburgh.

Professor Lear spoke to the society about the Phi Zeta Nu electrical fraternity. The Phi Zeta Nu tapping then took place and the meeting adjourned.

CIVIL ENGINEERS SOCIETY HAS A NOTED SPEAKER

John H. Dunlap, Secretary of A. S. C. E., Delivers Address Before Cain C. E. Society

NATIONAL REPUTATION

Mr. John H. Dunlap, Secretary of the American Society of Civil Engineers, addressed the William Cain Civil Engineering Society, the student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers, together with the student chapter of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers who met with the William Cain Society in Phillips Hall last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Dunlap was professor of sanitary and hydraulic engineering in the University of Iowa before accepting his present position. He gave a splendid talk before the students, faculty members, and guests who were there to hear him. He stressed particularly the value of hard work and the opportunities for public service which are peculiar to the engineering profession. He also told the students of the necessity of having a wide liberal training rather than a narrow technical one for the engineer of today.

He illustrated forcefully the value of the engineer in modern society by citing the benefits which have been realized from the increase of power facilities. Due to the efforts of the engineer, control of a great amount of power has been accomplished. It would not be possible to accomplish even a small percent of the gigantic operations, such as in industry and transportation, with this increase of power. Indeed, it would be impossible to live as we do today had it not been for the engineer's giving up these modern power facilities.

He stated that estimations indicate that within the next ten years 40,000 graduates of engineering schools will be needed every year to meet the ever-increasing demands put upon engineers. However, engineering schools at present are graduating only about 9,000 a year. To meet this increased demand engineers must fit themselves for this new era. A man's training should be such that it fits him for the responsibilities of this age, he said. Among the requirements he considered necessary in the education and training of any well educated engineer were the following:

1. Every educated man shall know his environment.
2. Every educated man shall know himself.
3. Every educated man shall think well.

PIANO RECITAL GIVEN AT COMMUNITY CLUB

A musical in the form of a piano recital was given under the auspices of the Community Club last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wheeler by Mrs. Engracia G. Dike. Besides the musical part of the program Mrs. Dike gave an interesting talk on Bortkiewicz, a Russian pianist under whom she studied at Constantinople. The latter part of her program was made up of the works of this man, who is coming into prominence as a musician of note.

GERMAN CLUB GETTING READY FOR FALL DANCES

Already plans are being made for Thanksgiving festivities. A meeting of the German Club will be held in the near future so that the leaders for the fall dances may be selected. Because of the crowds that are expected to attend the dances this year it is hoped that some arrangement can be made for more space than Bynum Gymnasium affords. The crowds last year were enormous and made dancing impossible almost half the time. If the Thanksgiving game brings as many to the Hill as expected, the "gym" will be about as useful as a jack rabbit on Broadway, or a "Froggie" Wilson without any bullfrogs.

The same old story—the secretary and treasurer of the German Club requests that those who have been recently elected to membership in the club please pay their initiation fee, five dollars, and receive thanks for same. No one will be allowed admittance to the German Club dances who has failed to pay his initiation fee.

The Junior Class Smoker will be held Tuesday night at nine o'clock in Swain Hall. No admission will be charged. Eats and Smokes will be served.

THE WIGUE AND MASQUE INITIATE EIGHT MEMBERS

The Organization Is Planning for a Big Year—Is Offering $50 for Best Comedy

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

The Wigue and Masque, a local student organization with a purpose to promote music and dramatics in the University, initiated Tuesday night, eight men being taken in. The initiates and the characters in which they appeared are as follows: G. E. Copeland as an eight year old girl at a family re-union, Frank Hursey as Little Eva, Jules Welch as L'Apache, Erskine Duff as a chaperone of the Pi Phi Sorority, Robert Dye as a train robber, Hal Kemp as Levy, a pawn broker, J. D. Edwards as Aunt Dinah, and Winslow Melver as John Bull.

The Wigue and Masque was founded by four Carolina students in May 1922, with the primary purpose of producing a musical comedy every year. In the Fall of 1923 they began rehearsals for the first show, a snappy and original musical comedy, by Ernest Thompson. Being the first musical comedy that had ever been presented at the University it met with astounding success, and each performance was given before a packed house. An extensive trip was planned, but was not completed on account of the lack of funds due to the fact that the organization was practically in its infancy. The transportation of cast of fifty people made out-of-town performances unprofitable. However, the show did go to Pinehurst and was favorably received by an audience consisting almost entirely of habitual play-goers. The production was under the direction of P. J. Weaver, P. H. Darggett, and Legrande Everett.

The Wigue and Masque is the only organization of its kind in the State and one of the few of its kind in the South. A feature of the organization is that co-eds are not eligible for the parts in the plays. The chorus consists entirely of men in the role of female impersonators. However, that is no detraction, for it was generally conceded last year that the chorus in the "Kalif of Kavak" would have made Flo Ziegfeld turn green with envy. The Wigue and Masque bids fair to rank with the Playmakers within the next two or three years.

The organization is making elaborate plans for the production of a screaming show this Winter. It is offering a prize of $50.00 to the person that submits the best original musical comedy, the judges to be faculty members who are in no way connected with the organization. The manuscript must be sent to Box 472 before November 24, or else the play submitted will not be given consideration. This contest is open to everyone, and every one who is imbued with a wish to write is urged to try for it. A plan similar to this was used last year and it resulted that four plays were offered. It is hoped that more students will take an active interest this year, and furnish enough competition to make the prize a real honor.

Several towns have been booked for performances, so the proposed trip of last year is sure to a reality this year.

The Oak Ridge Club recently had the first meeting of the year. At this meeting L. L. Garner was elected president; C. W. Thomas, vice-president and Brody Ginn treasurer. An extensive programme was outlined by the president, which will be carried out during the year. A number of feeds are to be given this year and much will be done to entertain the athletic teams and other visitors who will be here from the Ridge this season. At the close of the meeting C. H. Davidson was appointed press agent for the club.

Almost the entire graduating class from Oak Ridge enter the University the following fall. There are about fifty students from that institution here this year, many of which are outstanding personalities in the life of the campus.

TAR HEELS OFF FOR MARYLAND GAME SATURDAY

Maryland Has a Strong Team This Year, Having Defeated the Strong University Penn Team

TEAM IN GOOD CONDITION

In the best of health and spirits, the University football team, undefeated in the South, for two long years, will play the University of Maryland at College Park, Maryland, Saturday. Not since "Runt" Lowe dropped the ball on Riddick Field, has the University's record been blurred by a defeat administered anywhere below the Mason-Dixon line. Tomorrow, in foreign territory, Carolina runs up against what is probably one her two stiffest opponents of the year.

Last year the Marylanders were completely annihilated on Emerson Field. But the Maryland team was big and fat and the weather was cruelly hot. The big huskies were helpless in face of the heat and the lighter Carolina team, and even though the scrubs were playing against them for a good part of the game, they were defeated with ease, 27-0. This year the game is hard to forecast. The mighty Pennsylvania was trampled under by Maryland and the world gasped. Then on the following week-end, exultant over their victory against Penn, they allowed V. P. I. to walk away with the bacon. And V. P. I. had far less trouble doing the stunt than she had in defeating Davidson College which, with a team undoubtedly weaker than Carolina, has already been licked by Wake Forest.

Salted down by the V. P. I. tragedy, the Maryland bunch will exert herself to the utmost in an effort to defeat the Carolinians. Carolina has defeated her in the two times that they have played and elaborate plans are being laid to ensnare the down-homers in the distant park and to exact sweet revenge. Press reports say that the game promises to be an aerial contest, the University of Maryland expecting to depend greatly on her forward pass department for gains. Two year's bitter experience has probably convinced her that, if gains are desired, it is far better to seek them either around or above the line.

Northern sport writers, having gauged Carolina's strength by the Yale game, are paying little attention to her. Coach Bill Fetzer has again gone northward, taking with him this time, not scrubs, but the whole Blue and White Varsity. With all the players in uniform, excepting Sparrow, the team will be able to play its best and perhaps retrieve a little of its Yankee-land reputation that was lost somewhere in the Yale Bowl about a month ago.

Carolina's record to date:
Carolina 22; Wake Forest 0.
Carolina 0; Yale 53.
Carolina 14; Trinity 6.
Carolina 14; State 0.
Carolina 50; Opponents 59.

DOGS IN DORMITORY

As the result of the petition, which the inhabitants of the Quadrangle presented against the barking dogs in the Med. building, those animals have been moved to a new home.

This new home for condemned dogs is located between the athletic field and the site of the new gymnasium. Six contented canines were found there, quietly occupying a rather long kennel, which is built in the center of a four cornered lot. In the yard is a nice pile of hay. The whole thing is enclosed with a high fence securely built, so there is no danger of the occupants straying from home.

Two Social Orders Hold Initiations

Both the Gorgon's Head, and the Gimghoul, Junior Orders on the campus, had recent initiations. These are social organizations composed of representative men.

The Gimghoul initiated Jack London and Tom Cheeseborough. The Gorgon's Head added the following neophytes: Dick Thorpe, Dick Richards, Roger Whichard, Al Purrington, R. L. Johnson, Grimes Williams, Will Whedbee, and Sam Blount.
