Vol. XXXII. Nov. 20, 1923. No. 18

Soc's review for the Playmakers may appear to be flavored with a liberal dose of acid to ardent admirers of Professor Koch's well known crew, more than their performance called for in fact. There will probably be a loud chorus from a few: "He's too cynical, unjust, severe—Who is he anyway?" Whether the reviewer used the flail too vigorously or not is a matter of opinion, but this we do know—a steady diet of ice cream and honey becomes deucedly monotonous.

Although the critic's discerning eye caught many details and side issues of the performance, he overlooked the commendable musical program rendered by the University orchestra. The orchestra has been faithfully practicing twice a week since the beginning of school under Frederick Hard, and now there is a real finish to their work. Their rendition of the Turkish March by Mozart was especially pleasing.

Amid all the bustle and stir of Thanksgiving day preparations, the appearance of the town and campus is not being overlooked. The women of Chapel Hill are conducting the annual clean-up, paint-up week with all the thoroughness of the bonneted Dutch Cleanser lady to make the town presentable to the swarms of visitors due for the holiday. Their work has been made doubly severe due to careless tourists from the North who scatter paper and refuse with annoying unconcern along the main street.

The campus is also undergoing a thorough cleaning up process under Mr. George Pickard and his band of colored workers, whose life is made miserable by thoughtless students who use the land around the dormitories as a dumping ground for rubbish. Every student should have sufficient pride in the natural beauty of the University grounds to refrain from cluttering them up with waste matter, and the clean up committee will welcome co-operation in keeping the town streets and the campus free from dirt.

The attention of all hopeful authors is called to the announcement of the State Intercollegiate Press Association which intends to publish an anthology of the ten or twelve short stories by college students in the state. As an additional incentive, a prize of fifty dollars is being offered for the best short story. The anthology will represent the literary ability of the younger generation in the state, and the local writers should certainly grasp the opportunity to represent the University.

THE HOLIDAY SPIRIT IS BEING MANIFESTED

The advance guard of the Thanksgiving spirit is beginning to permeate the scholastic atmosphere about the campus. Calendars are being consulted as to the exact number of days before the twenty-ninth of November, "Goin' home Thanksgiving?" is asked on every side and by everybody. It seems that a bunch of the more zealous ones have already made dates with the girls back home. What visions the thought of Thanksgiving stirs up in the breasts of the imaginative! Home! The Girl! Turkey and Pumpkin pie! Carolina-Virginia game! Home, the haven of refuge for those pursued by the monster, Nostalgia; the girl for those who have been pierced by the perfumed arrows of Cupid; pumpkin pie and Turkey for the connoisseurs of the culinary art; the big game for all.

The cheer leaders are on the job stirring up the students to the proverbial frenzy and augmenting the fervor with which the students are anticipating the last Thursday of this month. Probably not half of the student body has ever seen the Tar Heels battle with the Virginians. Few in the sophomore and freshmen classes have ever watched a contest between the two teams, for it has been two years since the two universities locked horns on Emerson field. All these things and more contribute to the enthusiastic spirit that is taking possession of the campus.

MEDICAL FRATERNITIES HOLD THEIR INITIATIONS

On Saturday night the Kappa Psi Medical fraternity initiated. The following men were initiated into that fraternity: Paul Smith and H. F. Eason from the medical school, and C. C. Fordham, Herbert Temple, Graham Johnson, and E. H. Hodges from the Pharmacy School.

The Phi Chi medical fraternity held an initiation last Thursday night. Zack Newton and C. A. Boseman were taken in.

T. B. Pierson, Grand Secretary of the Phi Chi medical fraternity, was in Chapel Hill over the week end. The local chapter have an informal banquet for him at the Coop Saturday night. While here Mr. Pierson inspected the chapter and the medical school in general. In his talk he stated that he was much pleased with the chapter here and also that the Carolina med school, in his estimation, stood among the very best in the country, and that it even equaled Pennsylvania and other big schools in the country.

NEW SOCIETY HOLDS ITS FIRST MEETING

The North Carolina section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education was formed a few weeks ago and the first regular meeting was held at State College, Raleigh, last Saturday.

A number of professors from the Department of Mathematics and the Engineering School attended this meeting. Mr. Frank Page, Chairman of the State Highway Commission, addressed the society on the functions of an engineering school in relation to the training of engineers. The next meeting will be held in Chapel Hill about the middle of December.

The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education has recently been given $108,000 by the Carnegie Corporation for the purpose of making a study and investigation of engineering education.

All the freshmen foot ball squad got out of its jaunt to Chapel Hill, N. C., last Saturday to play the North Carolina University yearlings was the trip. The boys enjoyed that, but they didn't care so much about the game which ended 19 to 0 in favor of the Tarheels.

According to the frosh, the Carolina varsity should be better next year than the eleven which appeared at College Park recently.

The hospitable manner in which the team was received at the Carolina institution will long be remembered by each of "Mac's boys."

Four of the Frosh players are on the hospital list as the result of the game with the Tarheels. Stevens and Goghill suffered injuries to their knees that may keep them out for a couple of weeks; Clayton had his hand hurt and Charsee strained a muscle in his back.—The Diamond-Back, University of Maryland.

DI SOCIETY HAS A GOOD MEETING

Discuss Motion to Limit Marriage Contracts to 10-Year Period

Good, live meetings seem to be becoming a habit with the Di Society. Last Saturday night two spirited and hot discussions were heard in the Di Hall.

With the consent of the program committee, the order of exercises was switched around a little so as to have to the impromptu debate first. The question for the debate was: Resolved, that marriage contracts should be limited to 10 yrs., subject to renewal by the parties concerned. The argument on this was exceedingly hot at times and humorous, especially between Messrs. Turner and Gudger. The negative carried. The regular question for the evening was: Resolved, that the university entrance requirements should be raised so as to get better prepared students here. Several men were moved to express themselves on the affirmative, but only a few had the nerve to attempt to discuss the negative. The affirmative won by a comfortable margin.

Messrs. L. G. Deyton and H. C. Beatty were taken into the society and initiated.

Mr. C. L. Haney reported that he had not been able to have the seats in the hall fixed as yet. After this a motion was made that a committee be appointed by the president to devise some means by which the hall can be cleaned up every week and also to have any repairs made that are necessary. The committee appointed is composed of Messrs. Leonard Huggins, Raper Jonas, W. S. Berryhill, C. L. Haney, and Justus.

General A. J. Bowley, of Camp Bragg, a well known speaker as well as being a man of military renown, has accepted an invitation to speak here sometime this year, probably on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22.
