On the basis of schedules prepared by 200 students Dartmouth College has worked out an estimate of the division of time made by the average undergraduate at Dartmouth.

The results show that he works nine hours a day and sleeps eight and a quarter hours. His itemized account of the time spent in recreation shows a total of five and one-half hours daily. That leaves one hour and a quarter unaccounted for, which probably can be added to the total given under recreation.

Not all of the nine hours allotted to work are spent in classes and in study. A somewhat intangible item described as "fraternity effort" is included, besides time devoted to work done for self-support and to compulsory athletics.

The figures given for work and sleep may fairly be taken as typical of the time consumed by the average student in other colleges.

An average of seventy-five is required of all students at West Virginia University for graduation, according to a new faculty ruling. Seventy is the passing mark but the average must be seventy-five for the four year course.—The Flat Hat.

Wake Forest is planning to make its athletic field the most beautiful part of its mapus. With this idea in view they intend to surround the field with maple trees. The trees were to be set out on Labor Day but they did not arrive in time. However, when the trees are secured, a half holiday will be granted for the purpose of planting them.—Old Gold and Black.

Isabelle was good as gold,
Isabelle was haughty
Annabelle was wild and bold,
Annabelle was naughty.

Isabelle was very prim,
Never went a-mugging,
Annabelle was full of vim,
Spent her time in hugging,
One maid went to Sunday school,
Stayed home from dances,
Anna was a dancing fool,
Took some awful chances.

One of them is still as prim,
Snobbish, curt and haughty,
The other still as full of vim,
Popular and naughty.

Penn State declares itself to be one of the leading fraternity schools in the U. S. At the present time Penn State has thirty-two national, fifteen local and thirteen honorary Greek letter societies.

A professor was invited to dine at the home of a lady of fashion. The day was hot, the wine cool, and the fair partner with whom the professor was engaged in conversation filled his glass as often as it was emptied.

When the company rose from the table, the professor noticed, to his dismay, that he was unsteady on his feet. In his anxiety to save appearances, he retired to the drawing room, where the lady of the house was showing to her friends her baby twins.

The pair were lying together on a pillow as they were presented to the professor. He gazed intently at them, rubbed his eyes, and then said rather huskily, "Really, what a bonny little child."—Mercury.

Announcement has recently been made of the establishment of a college under the auspices of the Klu Klux Klan within fifteen miles of Princeton. The name of the college which has been founded at Zeraphan, New Jersey, is Alma.

The basketball team of the University of Texas has been chosen by the Mexican government as the representative five of the southwest, to tour Mexico during Christmas week. INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE

The rebuttals were heated and pointed and there was much sparring on the part of Hampton and Witteowsky each of whom represented his University last year in the first of a series between the sister states.

After the debate the debaters, members of the Debate Council, judges, presiding officers and former intercollegiate debaters were given a smoker in the Presbyterian church club rooms by the Debate Council.

have pictures taken are asked to notify either the business managers or the editor before the date given so that a schedule can be arranged. Payment for all groups will be made before February 15th or their picture will not be published. Payment for all individual space will be made when pictures are taken.

A letter has been mailed to all organizations known to be existent on the campus. If the letter has not reached any organization and that organization wishes to have space in the Yackety Yack, the head or heads of the organization are asked to communicate with the editor or the business managers at once.

GRAHAM MEMORIAL

er. It is lighted by 7 large windows. The floor will be of tile and the walls will have a low wainscoting of pine. The ceiling will be beamed. Although in the basement, the room will seem to be entirely above ground because of the grading of the ground at the rear. It is not planned for the cafeteria to compete with other eating places, but it will be used on special occasions and will furnish sandwiches and cold drinks at night.

At the left side of the cafeteria the student will find a shining kitchen big enough to take care of the largest crowds that the building can hold. Under the portico will be rooms to hold provisions and furniture. To the right of the cafeteria there will be a barber shop and a men's wash room.

Going back up the stairs to the second story, the student will come to the floor which will be the gathering place for most of the important meetings on the campus. This floor is to be divided into fifteen rooms; seven are to be 11 by 21 feet, four 21 by 23 and four more are divided from each other by folding partitions which can be removed to leave a long room, about eighty by twenty feet. These rooms can all serve a variety of purposes. Their chief use will be as meeting places for county clubs, student committees, the French and Spanish clubs, and like organizations. The upper floor will be connected to the kitchen by dumb waiters so that a feed may be easily put on by any small club.

The building has been planned so that additions or changes can be made. It is possible that more club rooms, a game room, two rooms for publications, music rooms for glee club and orchestra, activities rooms, and a few offices may be added.

In assisting the office of the Dean of Students in its plan to attempt to be of assistance to students sometime in the future in the matter of vocational guidance, the Library has recently ordered sixty of the latest books on vocations which might be of interest to college men.

A shelf for about two hundred volumes, including those books which the Library already has and those which it has ordered, will be placed in the main lobby of the building so that any information needed will be easily available to the students.

If the office of the Dean of Students is able to do the work it is planning in the way of vocational guidance, it intends to be especially of assistance in gathering many outside influences and thus equalizing pressure and reducing chances of careless imitation, and in the matter of revealing local opportunities and need. The psychological tests given recently may be so arranged as to be of use in directing individual inclination after Christmas.
