

CLEMSON TRACK TEAM TO MEET CAROLINA HERE

Tar Heel Will Meet Stiff Opposition in the Clemson Meet Saturday

CLEMSON SENDS 12 MEN

The Carolina track squad will meet stiff opposition in its first outdoor meet of the season when it lines up against the crack Clemson outfit Saturday at 2:30 on Emerson field. Clemson is sending a team of twelve men under Captain Wood. Carolina will find its hardest opposition in the dashes as the Clemsonites have a reputation for keeping the cinders warm. Rumor has centered around one Chandler who is a consistent ten second man in the 100 and generally places in the 220 and the quarter. He came in for a great deal of attention last season when he ran off with first place in the Southern Conference meet at Atlanta and the Tech Relays. So the dashes should furnish some material for excitement as Carolina has several men who are good in this department.

Robinson will also run the 100 yard dash and will take part in the quarter. In addition to being a track man, Robinson is captain of the football team for next year. Chandler and Robinson will be opposed by Moore and either Teague or Goodwin for Carolina.

E. L. Smith will run the 220 and the half mile. Captain Wood will also run the half mile against Milstead, Thatch or Wessels for Carolina.

The Sease brothers will run the mile and two mile. Carolina will be represented in the mile by M. D. Ranson, Thatch and Keel, while Purser and Scarborough will run the two mile. Robinson and Roy will run the 440 yard dash for Clemson. The latter is reported to be Clemson's find of the season. These two men will be opposed in this event by Whitaker, Parker and Milstead.

On the high and low hurdles Clemson will be represented by Mace, while the choice for Carolina will lie between Yarborough, Woodard, McGill, Giersch, and Moore.

Roy, the 440 man, will also toss the shot for the South Carolinians; the choice for North Carolina lies between Poindexter, Melver, Fordham, Hawfield and Abernathy. In all probability Fordham and Melver will be called on to do this work.

Findlea will throw the discus for Clemson, while C. C. Fordham, Abernathy and Heafield will throw for Carolina.

In the broad jump, high jump and javelin Clemson will be represented by E. H. Hall. For Carolina, Abernathy, Barbour, Melver, Fordham, Woodard, Purser, and Fordham.

Henderson and Carter will do the pole vaulting for the South Carolinians.

The Monogram Club Adopts Proposition

At its monthly supper meeting a few days ago, the Monogram Club adopted a plan to select and try out prospective candidates for the positions of cheer leaders.

The following plan was adopted:
1. A committee of three shall be appointed from the Monogram Club to select and try out the prospective candidates.

2. For chief cheer leaders four juniors will be selected and tried out. The Monogram Club will nominate two of these from which the student body will elect one as chief cheer leader.

3. For assistants six sophomores will be selected and tried out. The Monogram Club will nominate three of these from which the student body will elect two assistants.

4. For sub-assistants eight freshmen will be selected and tried out. The Monogram Club will nominate six of these from which the student body will elect four sub-assistants.

The committee to have charge of the above program is composed of Pierce Matthews, R. L. Ranson and Emmett Underwood. These men desire as many as possible to try out for the places.

It was announced during the course of the meeting that there would be a general awards night, when all monograms and certificates will be awarded.

Dr. Lyon to Speak On the Holy Land

Dr. David G. Lyon, a distinguished clergyman and Harvard University scholar, who has taken part in excavations that have revealed the secrets of many Biblical lands, will give a series of three lectures on Palestine next Sunday and Monday.

The first will be Sunday night in Gerrard Hall at 8:30. This will be an illustrated lecture on "The Palestine of Today in Its Relation to the Bible." The second lecture will take place at 11:00 Monday morning in connection with Dr. Caldwell's class in archaeology, and the public is cordially invited. The topic will be "Ancient Palestine as Revealed by Exploration." The third lecture, "The Holy City and the Future of Palestine," will be delivered in Gerrard Hall Monday night.

In his lectures Dr. Lyon will tell of the excavations in Palestine and will give a detailed account of the Harvard University Excavation of Samaria, the capital of the ancient kingdom of Israel. The lantern slides used by the lecturer were made from photographs which he took during his residence and travel in the Holy Land.

His third lecture deals with the excavators finding despatches the city's chief officer to the Egyptian Pharaoh about 14,000 B. C. He comes on through history to the temple of Solomon, the beautification of the city by Herod the Great, the New Jerusalem, and the modern Zionism movement.

While in Chapel Hill Dr. Lyon will be the guest of an old friend of his, Professor Walter D. Toy.

Intra-Mural Tennis Tournaments Start

The Intra-Mural tennis tournaments will get under way Monday. They will be played on four courts which have been reserved especially for the use of players taking part in the tournament.

The sports committee arranged three elimination series to be played out by four man teams in order that the greatest possible number of men can enjoy tournament play. Two of the three tournaments will be dormitory affairs. Dormitory managers of tennis will enter a four man team in each of them. These two tournaments will be run off at the same time, and no man who plays in one of them will be allowed to take part in the other. The third tournament will be between teams entered by the various fraternities.

The four courts which have been reserved for Intra-Mural sports use are the only ones on the campus in playable condition except the two which are used for Varsity practice.

TRYOUTS FOR TAR HEEL BOARD

Preliminary tryouts for the Tar Heel board were held Tuesday night in Phillips Hall, 28 would-be reporters being present. Editor Colton stated that the contest will run about four weeks, during which time about ten places on the Tar Heel staff will be filled.

A new experiment in testing "cub" reporters' ability as news "hounds" was a feature of the meeting. Managing Editor J. M. Saunders, in conjunction with the University Psychology Department, had the candidates stand a novel psychology test based on problems confronting reporters.

Louis Graves, editor of the Chapel Hill Weekly, and Robert W. Madry, director of the University News Bureau, made short talks for the benefit of the candidates, and Managing Editor Saunders gave a few suggestions on reporting.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Nominations for all elections will be held in chapel period Monday morning. Monday week the final elections will take place. By special permission of the faculty, chapel period for Monday, April 14th, will be lengthened one hour in order to allow the candidates for the presidency of the student body to give their platforms and to give the students time to vote. The nominations for the following organizations will be held Monday: Publications Union Board, Tar Heel, Magazine, Yackety Yack, President Student Body, Athletic Association, Debate Council, Class Officers.

FIRST DRAMATIC INSTITUTE BEGINS

Program in Forest Theatre Saturday Afternoon Will be a Feature

Saturday, April 5th at 3:00 P. M. at the Forest Theatre or, in case of weather, in Memorial Hall, The Bureau of Community Drama will present under the direction of Miss Ethel T. Rockwell, Stuart Walker's charming fantasy "The Six Who Pass While The Lentils Boil" and its sequel "Sir David Wears a Crown." There will be a Dance Interlude between the acts by Miss Polly Wells who will dance Mendelssohn's Spring Song and Nevin's Narcissus.

At the conclusion of the plays there will be a most charming and unusual program, directed by Miss Elizabeth Sehon, of the Physical Education Department of North Carolina College for Women assisted by five of her students. Miss Sehon of Louisville, Kentucky, is a former pupil of Miss Marjorie H'Doubler, of the University of Wisconsin, who is probably the best teacher of Dramatic Interpretative Dancing in the country. Miss Sehon has been at N. C. C. W. only this year, but has already developed a great interest in her art.

The program is presented as a demonstration for The Dramatic Institute, being held in Chapel Hill, Friday and Saturday. All delegates are to be admitted free. General Admission to the grounds to all others will be 25 cts., reserved section, 50 cts. It is hoped that the visiting delegates will help in their respective communities in staging a similar program during a Dramatic Festival Week in May when every community in North Carolina will present an Open-Air Festival program. No one in the vicinity of Chapel Hill can afford to miss this Open-Air performance.

BUCCANEER MEETING

All men interested in trying out for the editorial or art staff of the Carolina Buccaneer are asked to meet in the Di Hall, New West Building, Monday night at 8:30. Freshmen as well as upper classmen are invited to be present.

FLAMES DESTROY KITCHEN OF SWAIN HALL EARLY THURSDAY

About Five Hundred Students Are Forced to Seek Other Boarding Places When the Kitchen of Swain Hall Is Burned, Stock Damaged

The kitchen of Swain Hall, alias Swine Hall, University boarding house, was completely wiped away by fire early Thursday morning. The fire evidently started about 4:30 although it was nearer 5:00 clock when the flames were first discovered. The origin of the fire is unknown. At midnight the place was all right according to men who were cleaning up after the Junior smoker which was held Wednesday night.

Starts in Kitchen
The kitchen was the only part of the hall seriously damaged by the flames although water did considerable damage to the stock. It seems that the fire was raging fiercest in the ceiling of the kitchen when discovered. From here it spread over the whole room and into the basement directly beneath. The flames had eaten their way into the main hall when the firemen checked their progress before much damage had been wrought.

Equipment Destroyed
Practically all of the kitchen equipment was totally wrecked by the hot fire. All the pitchers, plates, silverware, and utensils that were in the kitchen were totally rendered unfit for further use. Ammonia was very much in evidence Thursday morning as the tank was cracked by the intense flames.

Stock Partially Damaged
J. O. Harmon, manager of the hall for the University stated Thursday morning that they had about $15,000 worth of food supplies on hand and practically $5,000 worth of food-stuffs was destroyed or damaged. The flames did not gain any headway into the stock room to the left of the kitchen basement and so canned goods

Seniors Hold Smoker Last Tuesday Night

The Senior class smoker, held in Swain Hall, Tuesday night was featured by a speech by President Chase, a quartette, and the usual round of class discussion and light refreshments. A fair representation of the Senior class was on hand.

President Chase urged that the Seniors, as the natural leaders of the campus, continue with the unification movement which has gained remarkable impetus the past months, he stated that too few men are taking part in the movement.

John Purser proposed a tug-o-war program which was immediately adopted by the class, 75 of the strongest men to compose the team. President Gwynn called for a few extemporaneous speeches and jokes from the Seniors, but the hour was late, the Seniors were tired, and no speeches or jokes came forth. There was nothing else to do but cheer the class of '24 and adjourn.

56 High Schools Send Teams Here

Of the 250 statewide high school debates held under the auspices of the North Carolina High School Debating Union, subsidiary to the University Extension Division, 56 schools were victorious in both of their debates April 10 and 11. The statewide contests were held last Friday night.

This will mark the twelfth year of the North Carolina High School Debate Union. It is announced that County Clubs at the University are expected to make preparations in advance in order to care for boys from their home towns.

Schools which will send debaters to Chapel Hill are: Aberdeen, Albemarle, Altamahaw-Ossipee, Andrews, Apex, Bessemer City, Clearmont, Cullowhee, Deep Creek, Durham, Elice, Fayetteville, Forest City, Gibson, Glen Alpine, Greensboro, Guilford College, Harmony, Kernersville, Lexington, Long Creek, Macclesfield, Macon, Marshville, Matthews, Maysville, Mills River, Norlina, City, Pantego, Pinnacle, Raeford, Rockingham, Roxboro, Salisbury, Sanford, Saluda, Scotland Neck, Wake Forest, Wallace, Walnut, Weeksville, Washington Collegiate Institute, Waynesville, West Durham, Wilkesboro, Wilson, Wilton, Woodland, and Yanceyville.

TAR HEELS WIN OPENING GAME ON BASEBALL SCHEDULE WHEN GUILFORD LOSES BY 6 TO 1

A Change Made in Cast of "Fixin's"

A few days ago when the Registrar's office ruled the leading man in "Fixin's" ineligible to play with The Carolina Playmakers on their Eighth State Tour, which takes place April 19th to 17th, great consternation reigned in Professor Koch's camp. C. M. Pritchett, of Asheville, who played in the original production of this play when it was taken on tour last February, failed to pass the required number of courses to make him eligible to represent the University.

With the production so close at hand it was a problem to find another man to take his place. Try-outs among eligible students was held immediately and Aubrey Shackell, Assistant Manager of The Playmakers, who had played a part in the support of Mr. Pritchett in the original production, was selected to fill the vacancy. George Ragsdale, of Smithfield, Editor of The Carolina Magazine, was cast to take Mr. Shackell's part.

Registrar's eligibility rulings seem not to be confined to Carolina, however, as Director Koch discovered on reading the current issue of the Bill-board. Minnesota is handling the situation with what they call, "Eligibility Insurance" to guard the Garlick Club, University of Minnesota dramatic organization, from financial loss, if any member of the cast, for scholastic or other reasons, is unable to appear in the production of "Mr. Dot" Friday and Saturday at the Campus Music Hall, has been arranged for Leonard Mabbott, Production Manager. Policies are being drawn up, he said today, to provide reimbursement to the club should last-minute calamities in the way of failures or conditions in studies or illness prevent production of the play through absence of any members of the cast. Professor Koch has issued a call for some enterprising promoter to start such a system for delinquent students here. It should be added, however, that the Playmakers for the high average maintained by their students, and it is very unusual that a situation such as the above mentioned occurs. Late reports show that they had a higher average than that of any similar University organization.

JUNIOR SMOKER

The Junior class held its second Smoker of the year on Wednesday night at Swain Hall. The four features of the program were, in the order of their appearance, as series of "artistic gyrations," or in English, an old-fashioned clog dance, by Mr. Morton of Wake Forest, two talks by Mr. Dan Grant and President Chase, and refreshments.

Mr. Grant, speaking on "Our Relationship with Alumni," said that the people of North Carolina must be made to realize that the University is not a thing set apart, but a real organ of the State functioning for the State's good. He urged the members of the class to try to bring about this realization.

Dr. Chase advised the use of that old adage "look forward and not backward" as showing the proper spirit for the University men to take in regard to their Alma Mater. The new centralization movement on the campus, he said, was an example of this looking forward.

After Dr. Chase's talk the meeting was given over to business and then adjourned with a yell for the class.

Only 1,618 hours were lost on account of illness by the 7,000 students of Ohio State University during the month of January, 1924. The activities of the student health service is credited with much of the improvement over past years.

MANGUM MEDAL CONTEST

Contestants must file names and subjects of orations with the deal of the school in which they are registered by April 15. Preliminaries are on May 10 and final contest on June 9.

Ex-Captain Casey Morris Has a Big Day With the Stick, Hits a Homer

GUILFORD SCORES FIRST

Quaker Lead-off Man Hits First Ball Hard and Tallies on Fielder's Error

Carolina opened her 1924 baseball season last Thursday with a 6-1 victory over Guilford College on Emerson Field and entered the State championship race as a serious contender. Casey Morris and his big bat had a glorious day, the ex-captain poling out a homer, a two-bagger and received two passes to first, both of which he immediately followed up by stealing second.

Guilford scored her only run on the first ball sent over by Bryson. Bryson apparently figured that the visitor's lead-off man would know baseball better than to strike at the first ball of the game, and split the plate. Frazier however swung into it and turned loose a pretty Texas Leaguer that flitted over second base and rolled through Carmichael's legs. Frazier made a complete tour of the bases and ended Guilford's scoring. Carolina tied the score in short order in her half of the first. McDonald walked, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and was called out at home when Bonner flied out and the ball beat Monk home. Carmichael connected with a double to right. Gibson ended affairs, shortstop to first.

In the fourth the Tar Heels chalked up four runs. McDonald hit safely, Bonner walked, and Carmichael filled the bases while Cummings was playing with the ball. Casey Morris then came to the bat and with a mighty wallop sent the ball high over the centerfielder's head and put the game on ice. Following this home-run, Starling and Gibson popped up and Coffer struck out.

Carolina's final total was made by "Rabbit" Bonner. The left-fielder singled and stole second. Carmichael sacrificed and Bonner moved to third. Gibson then batted the Guilford infield up and "Rabbit" went home and "Hoot" was safe on first.

Dayton Delivers His Inauguration Speech

"I believe that the societies still play a vital part in directing campus affairs. Show me a student leader and I will show you a society man," said J. W. Dayton in his inaugural address before the Di Society last Saturday night. Throughout his speech, Dayton stressed that the societies were not dead, but very much alive, and even if they didn't seem to be having an influence on the campus life, their influence in an indirect way is great. Leaders are trained in them, who can go out over the campus and state and do good as a result of that training.

He refuted the argument that the Di is dead by saying that "just as age on the part of our fathers and mothers gives beauty, dignity, honor and respect to them, so the age of our organization lends itself to strengthen the bonds which hold us together." He said that the University was paying the penalty of progress, but that it was nothing to be alarmed about.

The following officers were installed besides Mr. Dayton: R. W. Linker, vice-president; H. C. Klingenschmitt, secretary; H. L. Estridge, first censor morum; A. E. McIntyre, second censor morum; Spencer Murphy, first corrector and Cameron McRae, second corrector.

C. R. Jonas, Dan Burns and L. Q. Galloway were appointed by President Dayton to serve on the program committee during the Spring quarter.

The tennis situation is about to be remedied to some extent. The new courts behind the quadrangle are scheduled to be completed in a few weeks. When these are done there will be plenty of room for all who wish to play singles without interruption.
