

CAROLINA TEAM DOUBLES SCORE OVER CLEMSON

North Carolinians Defeat South Carolinians by Score of 76 1-2 to 35 1-2

MOORE IS THE STAR

In the first outdoor meet of the season the Carolina track team on Saturday took the measure of the Clemson boys, defeating the South Carolinians by the score of 76 1-2 to 35 1-2. The meet was preceded by a shower, but it did not rain enough to put a damper on the races as the track was in excellent condition for the contest.

Last year the Clemson team acquired an enviable reputation in southern track circles by their excellent work in the Tech Relays and in the Southern Conference meet. During that season Chandler, dash man of the Clemsonites, was the scintillating performer in every meet, placing consistently in the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes. Chandler's work Saturday, however, was not up to his previous standard; he failed to place in the 100 and only copped second place in the 220.

Moore was the highest scorer for Carolina, placing first in two events, the 100 yard dash and the 120 yard high hurdles. Hall was the biggest individual scorer for Clemson, winning first place in the high jump and the broad jump.

The most exciting event in the dashes was the 100 which Moore ran in 10.2, closely followed by Teague. Teague ran well in the 220, nosing out over Chandler of Clemson by a comfortable margin. Moore's work on the 120 yard high hurdles was exceptionally good. Giersch also did good work for Carolina in this event. The mile was won easily by M. D. Ranson and Thatch. On the last round these two gentlemen ran together and crossed the tape with a tie.

Purser showed great form and ran the 2 mile in 10 min. 81-2 sec. Lambeth, for Carolina, won second place in the 2 mile and displayed favorable signs of developing into a good distance man. Jonas worked splendidly in the 440, winning first place, but

EASTER DANCES TO COME SOON

Those in Charge of the Dances Are Now Busy Making Final Preparations

Besides politics, the dances must be considered for the next few weeks. Leaders have been elected already, and everything is being put in trim for Easter and the host of winsome visitors that will visit Chapel Hill. Nature is rapidly coming to the rescue of the campus, clothing it prettily in the fresh green of April, inviting song birds to build their nests and stay a while, and making a very paradise out of the arboretum.

House parties have been announced by D. K. E., S. A. E., and Sigma Chi fraternities. House cleaning of the old variety is now under way. Each fraternity will have between fifteen and twenty five girls as their guests. Holidays begin Saturday afternoon lasting through the week following Easter Sunday. The dances begin with a Junior Order dance Wednesday afternoon. The house-parties will begin Wednesday and last until Saturday. Regulations for these dances will be the same that were in effect for Thanksgiving.

Owing to the size of the "Tin Can," and there being no possible way to heat it the dances will be given in Swain Hall if it can be repaired in time. If not they will again be given in Bynum Gymnasium. The "gym" is so small and inadequate for the large Easter crowd, every effort will be made to convert the now decrepid "beanery" into a ballroom. The floor will be given a doctor's careful attention. The walls will be covered in attractive crepe designs, every sign of its usefulness as a mess hall will be removed and it will be dressed for the occasion and the feminine company. Mr. Weiner, of Durham,

CAROLINA MEETS LENIOR THURSDAY

After Full Week's Rest the Tar Heels Again Will Take the Warpath

After a full week's rest, Carolina will meet Lenoir College on Emerson Field next Thursday. Coach Bill has been spending much time in working on his infield and in putting his men through batting practice, the Guilford game having disclosed weakness both at the bat and in the gentle art of scooping up grounders.

Lenoir is regarded as the "Dark Horse" among the North Carolina colleges and is known to have definite aspirations towards the State championship. Already Davidson has been defeated by the Lutherans and the other institutions have their eyes on the game here in order to ascertain whether the Davidson game was a fluke or whether Lenoir is dangerously on the warpath. The report is generally credited as being true that pitcher Jones of last year's Carolina Freshman team is playing right field with the visitors, and is hanging up a big reputation as a slugger.

On a whole the showing of the Tar Heels against the Guilford team last Thursday was pleasing to the University's supporters. The Quakers were barely nosed out by N. C. State and succeeded in defeating the highly touted Wake Forest team on Gore Field. Trinity alone was able to defeat the Guilford nine by a larger score than did Carolina and the general consensus of opinion is that the State championship rests between the Methodists and Captain Bryson's team.

Playmakers Leave On Trip Wednesday

Everything is in readiness for the Carolina Playmaker's Eighth State Tour into Western North Carolina which begins April 10 and continues through April 17. The troupe will leave the Hill Wednesday afternoon after classes and the following towns will be included in the itinerary: Winston-Salem, April 9; Salisbury, 10; Charlotte, 11; Lincolnton, 12; Asheville, 13; Candler, 15; Hickory, 16; High Point, 17;

Instead of using the rails, the Playmakers are starting out on the Eighth State Tour in one of the big, white, twenty passenger Faegol busses of the Safety Coach line, now operating between Raleigh and Durham. This will be known as the "Playmaker Special." All baggage and properties will be carried in a Ford, of course. All jumps will be made during the mornings except the trip from Lincolnton to Asheville which will require all day Sunday. The troupe plans to spend some time at Chimney Rock and Hickory Nut Gap.

The three plays to be taken are, "Fixin's," a tragedy of the tenant farmer, by Paul and Erma Greene; "The Beaded Buckle," a comedy of the modern aristocrat, by Frances Gray; and "Gaius and Gaius, Jr.," a comedy of the old plantation days, by Pearl Setzer.

The personnel is: Mrs. H. W. Chase, chaperone, Miss Margaret Jones, Charlotte, Miss Miriam Sauls, Savannah, Miss Lucy Lay, Beaufort, Prof. Koch and George Denny, Chapel Hill, Aubrey Shackell, Edenton, Charles Norfleet, Winston-Salem, Erskine Duff, Elizabeth City, P. L. Elmore, Dover, George Ragsdale, Smithfield, George Mattison, Greenville, S. C., T. M. TAR HEEL BOARD ELECTS EDITORS

J. M. Saunders, of Durham Nominated for Editor—Will Have No Opposition

The elections for the editorial positions on the Tar Heel staff were held Sunday night in the Tar Heel office. J. M. Saunders of Durham, was unanimously nominated for editor by the staff and since no further men were nominated by the student body in chapel last Monday, Saunders will be next year's editor. He has had two year's experience on the Tar Heel, serving as managing editor this year, and has taken a prominent part in debating.

For senior managing editor, T. W. Rowland of Asheville was elected, H. N. Parker of Raleigh was elected to the junior managing editorship, and Winslow McIver of Sanford and W. B. Piskin of Reidsville, both of the rising junior class, were elected assistant editors.

The new staff will go in office about a month from now when the Heeler contest, now going on, will be closed. The election this year was held according to the regulations of the Publications Union, which abolished the old system of having the Tar Heel staff elected by the student body with the exception of the editorship.

Prominent Engineers Observe Tests Here

During the past week two prominent engineers, Mr. Howard O. See, President of Dixie Culvert and Metal Company of Atlanta, Georgia, and Mr. L. M. Sandston, consulting engineer of the Armo Culvert and Flume Manufacturing Association of Middletown, O., came to Chapel Hill especially to visit the earth pressure experiments which are being conducted here as point research work between the North Carolina Highway Commission and the School of Engineering of the University of North Carolina.

These experiments are being carried out on a private road belonging to W. G. Fields whose farm is about one mile out from Chapel Hill on the Pittsboro road. The object is to determine how much pressure earth embankments exert on culvert pipes located under the road. The methods of determining the loads consist in recording the pressures that are transmitted to four 30-inch-cast iron pipes, which are located in such a manner that embankments of various heights can be constructed over them. Each of these pipes rest on a steel column which, in turn, rests on a weighing scale of 30,000 pounds capacity. The scales and columns are housed in a reinforced concrete room, which has been built under the proposed road. There is a slot in the top of the room that is just large enough to admit the pipe which lies in a horizontal position with one half of its surface protruding above the top of the room and exposed to the earth fill which will be placed on it, and the other half of the surface being inside the room and resting on columns. As the foot of the hill is placed and thoroughly rolled, the pressure of the earth coming through each pipe can be accurately determined by weighing the load that comes through each scale.

Mr. See, during his visit, remarked that engineers and manufacturers all over the country were interested in these experiments because millions of dollars each year are being spent on culvert pipes, but so far there is no reliable data on the loads that are being transmitted to these pipes. Both Mr. See and Mr. Sandston were highly enthusiastic over the layout of the experiment, and predicted that extremely valuable information would be obtained from these tests.

L. B. Aull and J. B. Wardlaw, highway research fellows, are conducting these tests under the direction of Dean G. M. Braune and Prof. H. F. Janda of the school of engineering.

HEELER CONTEST

Assignments for Heelers will be posted in Tar Heel office in New West, Thursday.

Grail Gives Dance Next Saturday Night

The Order of the Grail will give a dance Friday night in Bynum Gymnasium. This is expected to be one of the best Grail dances of the year since it is the first dance on the Hill since examinations. The former Grail dances have been very much praised and it is the purpose of the order to make this dance even better than the others.

The delegates to the Southern Federation of College Students will be honorary guests of the Grailers Friday night. A number of out-of-town girls are expected for the dance. The Carolina Club Orchestra promises to extend itself to make the music the best yet for the dance.

Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock and will continue until 2. Those in charge of the dance have announced that no spectators will be admitted to the gallery during the dance.

PERSIAN RUG DISPLAY

B. H. Serunian, a Persian student at the University has just received direct from Tibreas, Persia a large shipment of beautiful Persian Rugs. These range in size from a small square to a druggat worthy of a palace, and the price is from thirty-five dollars up. Mr. Serunian has found a demand here for Persian Rugs and he will give a display in the show rooms of the Pope Mattress Company in Durham during Easter week.

PLAYMAKERS ARE BEGINNING TO DEVELOP COMEDY OF MANNERS

Miss Anna Forbes Liddell, Who Reviews Playmaker's Thirtieth Series of Folk Plays Says Playmakers are Developing a Comedy of Manners

By Anna Forbes Liddell
The Carolina Playmakers are beginning to develop a Comedy of Manners. "The Younger," and "The Wheel," both present in clever and amusing fashion the kind of young folk we all know. The situations, the type of action, are familiar to us all; in these plays we recognize our friends, perhaps even ourselves.

In "The Younger," Miss Sue Byrd Thompson, is, according to the announcement on the program, "vindicating the flapper." Certainly Miss Thompson portrayed a convincing character in "Helen Carr," and Miss Miriam Sauls acted the part so adorably that nobody with a heart could want to "reform" her. It is interesting to find that among the spectators at the performances there has been much discussion as to whether the part was overdone or not overdone, but it seems to be one of those questions which you can't answer unless you are in a position to know, and then of course you shouldn't tell. Certainly Miss Sauls displayed dramatic talent. Miss Thompson herself as "Marion," the elder sister, was just mean enough and just sympathetic enough. Miss Kitty Lee Frazier played the mother with dignity and grace. Her stage presence is always good, and she is to be complimented upon her improvement in the use of her voice. As the irresistible young High School "Sheik," Vance Rollins gave a finished piece of acting. In the estimation of the writer, he was the star of the evening. The author deserves her share of the glory, for the part was delineated with ad-

THE HIGH SCHOOL FINALS WILL BE HELD THIS WEEK

Debates, Tennis Matches and Track Meet Will Bring Large Number of Visitors

FINAL DEBATE FRIDAY

This is High School Week. That means that the championship contests in debate, tennis and track conducted by the Extension Division will be decided here. Large numbers of high school students with their teacher-coaches and friends are expected to flood the campus.

The debates will begin Thursday night and will continue on through Friday morning. Friday night the final contest for the Aycock Cup will be held in Memorial Hall.

Over sixty schools are scheduled to send teams to enter the final contests for the cup. With four debaters to each school and a coach and chaperone the number will exceed the three hundred mark considerably.

The track meet will be held Friday afternoon on Emerson Field. There are 13 schools already entered in the meet and some lively events are expected. It was only due to the horrible weather conditions that several records were not broken last year. According to the dope and if the present good weather continues, there should be an excellent exhibition and perhaps a broken record or two next Friday.

Tennis eliminations will get off to an early start Thursday morning if rain does not prevent. The tennis matches promise to be good this year. There are already 13 entries in the tournament and more expected.

It is estimated that there will be six or seven hundred visitors here for High School Week. This is a low estimate as there will be around five hundred contestants and coaches to come.

County Clubs are asked to look out for the boys of the different teams. Mr. Rankin of the Extension Division has charge of this part of the program and all who desire any information as to the number of men on the athletic teams and how many places will be needed to house the teams will see him in Alumni Building.

FEDERATION WILL MEET THURSDAY

Delegates from Larger Institutions of the South Will Attend the Conference

The annual convention of the Southern Federation of College Students will be opened Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Delegates to the conference are expected to begin arriving Wednesday night. The sessions of the convention will continue through Saturday afternoon.

There are 16 members of the federation and 11 have signified definite intentions of sending delegates. Each member school is allowed two voting delegates. The following schools are members of the federation: Georgia Tech, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi A. & M., Maryland, Vanderbilt, Washington & Lee, N. C. State, Mercer, Florida, V. P. L., Clemson, Emory, Oglethorpe and North Carolina.

The program of the convention, besides the regular routine of business, contains discussions of publications, fraternities, student government, athletics, the honor systems, drinking problems and many other questions of importance to college men. There will be entertainment features of the convention.

Students who are interested in the discussions are invited to attend the sessions and hear the discussions. The places for the meetings will be announced in chapel later in the week.

The tentative program of the convention is given here:

Thursday—10 a. m. Assembly and Registration of delegates. Address of welcome. Appointment of committees.
2:30 p. m. Discussion of Publications.
