Boxing To-Night

Camp Bragg Vs. U. N. C.

How's this for a welcomed sign? Yes the card has been arranged. We will see some boxing here in May probably about the middle of the month. The boxing team will stage this show free to all students. Plans are under way to put this thing over in style. Definite plans will be announced later.

All men interested in boxing are urged to get in shape during the Easter holidays. Do a little training so as to be able to step into hard work when you return to school.

You ain't seen nothing yet; wait until you see this exhibition.

April—1924 A. D.

Beautiful day, cloudless sky, light and refreshing breezes from northeast, the track is in excellent shape. The State High School meet is called off: all contestants, officials and student having dropped dead so great was their disappointment in the weather conditions.

Just for luck why don't they try having the next State meet some time in May. Certainly the management couldn't lose anything and the sun might shine for a change.

I try anything once. Don't you?

Some of the High School boys showed real form in spite of the mud and slush. This was due to their coaching. This training will show up when the high school had goes out for track at his chosen college. It will mean better track men for the South and will eventually lead to southern champions holding their own in national meets.

A track champion is nine out of ten times a developed champion. His success can be traced to hard work with one end in view. If you want to know more about this read Charlie Paddocks articles in the magazines. All track men can't expect to be champions. It is not too late for the average Freshman or Sophomore to begin developing himself into a fair track man; certainly good enough to win a monogram.

The University track team is developing into a well oiled machine. A good high jumper and a fair broad jumper would round out a very capable team. The way the men are getting results should be sweet to Coach Bob and the student body. For instance Christy Fordham is getting 125 feet in the discus; this is typical of the quality of stuff the men are putting out.

The track team will go south during the Easter holidays. Saturday they will meet Georgia and the University of South Carolina in Columbia. They go on to Athens for a meet on Wednesday and jump to State College, Raleigh, N. C. for the third meet of the trip on the following Saturday. The new members of the squad will pick up some valuable points during this rampage. It should be a successful trip.

Lenior came to the Hill primed to lick Carolina. It was a pity that the game was rained out. They deserve a crack at us and we need a good stiff college game before taking on Trinity. It goes without saying that the Lutherans have a good ball club. They have won from Trinity, Davidson and the University of South Carolina.

You can have all the batting, fielding and general practice you want and still not develop a team. It takes games played together to get a baseball team in tune.

Our schedule is not at all suited to our team. This schedule business should be watched next year. The pitchers are right. We have enough of them to carry us through a heavy season. The other boys need to play together before they can hit on all six. At least two games a week should have been played from April the 1st. to the Trinity game on the 19th.

FRESH WIN FROM OAK RIDGE TEAM

Freshies Win a Close Contest By Ambrose's Pinch Hit in the Tenth Inning

Oak Ridge fell before the attacks of Coach Sides' young Tar Heel baseball nine Thursday afternoon on Emerson field. The affair, which went for ten innings, had the marks of a real ball game. The score was 6 to 5, the marginal run being the result of pinch hitter Ambrose's single in the tenth.

Hatley, Tar Baby center fielder pulled the same stunt that Monk McDonald did against the Bulls the day before. That is, he connected with the first pitched ball to the extent of a home run. Stanton hit well for Carolina, getting a triple and a single during the performance. McLean, with three singles out of four times at the bat, was the best man with the stick for the visitors. Oak Ridge got two more hits than did the young Tar Heels, but Holshauser kept the preper's hits well scattered. He was accorded very good support by his team-mates. Both moundsmen pitched well and struck out a number of the opposing batters.

The meanest word I've ever heard
Take him out—Take him out

What is the main distinction between professional and amateur baseball? I will let the Ground Keeper express my opinion on the matter: what's yours? The smallest fresh water college in the country does not know this gruesome chant. Even town teams are free from the fear that the citizens will turn against them when things do not go exactly right. A student body will stick by their faltering pitcher until he is batted to the four corners of the lot. Every base hit is a stinging blow to each of them. On the other hand in league baseball your home town will turn against you if you fail to deliver a dollar's worth at all times.

S. C. Monopoly

Norman McMillan has been traded to the St. Louis Browns by the Boston Red Sox. McMillan is a third baseman; he is a good one too; Spalding's guide rated him as the best in the American League last season. The Browns have another third baseman named Frank Ellerbe. It happens that both of these young men are South Carolinians. They were born and raised not 25 miles apart. I can remember when they played on opposing high school teams. McMillan went to Clemson and Ellerbe is a Wofford man. It is a coincidence that these two boys should meet in the Major Leagues, both playing on the same team and both playing the same position.

Beat this if you can.

FLAPPERS' CLUB WRITE A LETTER

Write Letter of Indignation to Manager of "Ye Gods"—Slander Is the Charge

The Flappers' Club of Raleigh was aroused by the slams directed against them by the Carolina "Ye Gods" troop when they played in the capitol city several weeks ago. Their indignation reached such a peak that they wrote their protests to Pete Siewers of the Senior class, on pink stationery of a lively hue, firmly standing for their rights and objecting to the insinuations that they try to imitate chorus girls by the free use of paints and powder.

The Raleigh Flappers admit that every member has a "man" at Carolina and that their college sweethearts certainly don't believe that the modern girl sets her style by the chorus girl. Furthermore, the Flapper Club goes on record as disapproving of the college girl because she disdains to use cosmetics enough. In fact the Flappers are against any girl who gets beyond or wants to get beyond finishing school, and as for getting back to the prim pre-war girl—not a chance!

But here, read the letter for yourself:

My Dear Sir:

We went to "Ye Gods" and enjoyed it immensely, but it was ruined in respect for us because of a joke that was made, a very poor joke: that the modern girls are trying to make themselves look like chorus girls by the use of lip sticks, rouge, etc. Was that meant in earnest or was it only a joke, an effort to be funny?

If it was the latter, it failed miserably; if it was meant, we don't give a damn what you say. We'll do what we doggone please! every member of our club, has a man at Carolina, and we feel sure that they don't feel that way. We'd hate to think they did.

Good for the slam of the college girl. We are absolutely opposed to any girl who goes to college. But you made a slip, dear boy—the college girl was made too heavy—bah! They never use any rouge or cosmetics to extremes—that's why we are opposed to them. We don't like girls who get beyond finishing school or who wants to get beyond.

That's why some of the girls of the nicest families in Raleigh are members of this nationwide organization.

We don't want the pendulum to swing back (people say it will) to the pre-war girl, and we'll do everything in our power to prevent it. Aside from this one great aim our aims are secret—so is our motive and membership.

Yours for the flapper and "Ye Gods" without the objectionable reference to us.

The Flappers Club of Raleigh, signed.—

THE CAROLINA BUCCANEER

is another department. This one is conducted for children, seemingly those who have entered their second childhood. It contains some good remarks. The article on ballroom dancing by C. T. S. is a good parody on a popular course in dancing. The illustrations by F. W. helps to make it a scream. The "Prince of Walls" is a versified story of a scion of a Royal House in search of a mate. The illustrations by McCarty add materially to its humor.

The Editor has taken two whole pages to himself to make a few introductory remarks, state his beliefs and platform, and to formally introduce the Buccaneer. He ran true to piratical form and his remarks were terse, concise, and carried conviction. It is noticeable that he is taking his work seriously, and, although it is quite early in the season, he has acquired a nautical vocabulary worth of Blackbeard himself.

This review would be incomplete and certainly unfair if mention was not made of the commendable work done by another member of the crew—the business manager. Business houses would naturally be hesitant about advertising in a new publication of doubtful circulation. But the business department seems to have overcome all obstacles, for there is a good proportion of ads in this issue.

In summarizing we will say that the new comic has set appealing standard with the first issue, and we look forward with eagerness to the Cap and Gown Number.

FOISTER PLANTS FLOWERS

In the spot that was graced by Casey's wigwam in the Spring quarter of last year and since has been serving as a dumping ground for trash, Foister is making some changes. It has been spaded up and soon will blossom with sweet peas and other flowers of more uncommon names. Already the flower seeds have been sown and until the start of erecting the new Methodist Church, Foister intends to have bouquets growing beside his door.

An Open Letter From Mr. Dorsett

I wish to call the readers of your paper to the property which I shall sell Easter Monday, April 21st., at auction, beginning at 10 o'clock A. M.

My dwelling house has a good basement, accessible from the hall. The body of the house rests on rock wall, and all sills are oak. Has 12 ft. lower and upper halls, and eight 16-ft. rooms. Kitchen, pantry, and bath rooms. 10 by 30 ft. sleeping porch; 90 ft. of lower and upper porches, floored with oak and red heart cedar. Large upper room with three dormer windows. Substantial framing and good material.

Beautiful view, elm grove, freestone water, good air, drainage for fruit trees which bear well. Smoke house built of solid oak, dressed, tongue and grooved. Garage for four cars, wood-house, and other out-buildings.

An ideal location for a pleasant, healthful, and quiet life. Suitable for club, with room for golf course, and one four-room dwelling. One mile from the University, Chapel Hill High School with 21 teachers, and from center of Chapel Hill and Carrboro.

Go through University campus to west end of Cameron Avenue, and then take the road to the left. Only a short distance from the turn.
