Bakery Gives Party; Everyone is Invited

W. B. Neal, proprietor of the Hill Bakery, will give a free-for-all "party" Saturday, in celebration of the formal opening of his newly completed bakery, near the site where the old "Pick" stood.

From 10 A. M. to 10 P. M., Mr. Neal will be the guest to the public in general, and everybody who comes in will get a sample of the good things to eat produced by his now thoroughly modern and up-to-date bakery.

No baking will be done on this opening day, however, Mr. Neal, with his expert baker in charge, just arrived from the North, will show the guests over the plant, and explain in detail how it all works. The visitors will get an inside view of what a strictly modern bakery is like. Mr. Neal's advertisement appears in this issue of the Tar Heel.

PLAYMAKERS HAVE SUPPER

The Playmakers who went on the Eighth State Tour had a supper Sunday afternoon, meeting at the home of George Denny, the Manager, instead of the Country Club where the picnic had been scheduled to take place. Steak and weinies were broiled at the open fire and the usual picnic accompaniments were plentiful.

Various members of the cast took off the three plays which were taken on the trip, such incongruities as the Comedy of Flim Flams and the Greek tragedy of the Bearded Ornament bringing forth roars of laughter. Charles Norfleet as the baby in Fixin's and Miss Saul as Mrs. Agnes Miller in the Greek tragedy were especially good in their interpretation of the characters.

The Law School Association organized last fall to bring prominent lawyers and speakers to the University, announces that Justice W. R. Adams is to speak in the Law Building on Friday, May 16 at 8:00. Justice Harriet Clarkson will also be here on May, 19. Justice Hoke had hoped to come this spring, but due to illness, will be unable to do so. He states in a letter however, that he will be here next fall if possible.

On May 16, Mr. W. J. Matherly will take his class in Personnel Management on a field trip to Winston-Salem, N. C. There are seventeen in the class, and they will make the trip by auto. The class will visit the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and P. H. Hanes Knitting Mills, and will study problems of Personnel Management by observing how they are handled in these factories.
