TRINITY GAME

Carolina held up this lead until the ninth, when with two men out and the weak end up, an error and two singles put the winning run across for Trinity. Dempster reached first when "Touchdown" Jones allowed a slow roller to pass between his legs. Johnson sacrificed Dempster to second. Chappel fled out. McDaris singled to left field, sending Dempster across with the tying run, and going to second on the attempt to get Dempster out at the plate. English followed McDaris with a single to center field, putting McDaris across and making the score four to three for Trinity.

Carolina made a threat in the ninth when McDonald reached second with no one out on Chappell's muff of his long fly. Jones sacrificed McDonald to third. With the tying run on third, Dempster tightened down and sent Coffey back by the strike out route and Morris fled out.

Summary: Three base hits: McDonald, Spikes. Home runs: Bonner, Spikes. Stolen bases: McDaris. Sacrifice hits: Turner, Dempster, Johnson, Chappell, Jones, Morris. Base on balls: off Bryson, 2; off Dempster, 2. Passed ball: Johnson. Hit by pitcher: Coffey. Umpires: Whitted and Allen.

BASEBALL TRIP

(Continued from Page 1) games on account of a sprained ankle sustained in the Hampden-Sidney game, was back in his old position in centerfield against Trinity yesterday, and will play in the outer garden during the trip.

Bonner, who was shifted behind the bat from the outfield early in the season, split his finger in the Trinity game yesterday. His position as catcher will be taken by "Casey" Morris, who has been playing first base this season. Morris' three years' experience behind the bat make Carolina supporters feel that the catcher's position will be well taken care of. The trouble, however, lies in supplying a first baseman. "Touchdown" Jones has played this position several times early in the season, but does not seem to be sure of himself. He will probably be tried out at that position or be put in the outfield and Dodderer given a chance at first.

Starling and Johnson will play their regular positions, third base and short stop, respectively, during the trip.

Monday night, May 19, comes the long delayed and much hoped for Sophomore Smoker. The following night at 9 o'clock the Freshmen will hold their first Smoker.

THE GILDED FUZZ SELECTION

in part: "It has made a clean sweep of those maggot-like problems which have been boring into the very vitals of the campus (Applause). The organization has done its work thoroughly, in fact, that there are now no fields unplowed by it. With a ten inch plow it has snowed under the seeds of discontent and in their place it has planted the Lillies of the Field (Prolonged applause). Recapitulating and adding up, then, I would say that since campus problems no longer cry for our aid in solution the order should be dissolved."

In support of Fuz Froneberger's offer for wrecking the order Fuzzette Kitty Lee Frazier then rose and gave a glowing account of its mountainous achievements at the Co-ed House. It seemed that the Fuzz had seen its palmy days.

The Hay-shaker felt, however, that the members had been misled by the aforementioned gentleman and lady. "The work of the Fuzz," he said, "has just begun. You deserve much praise for the truly efficient way in which you have solved the pressing problems of the campus. It would seem from the speeches of those who have preceded me that there is now no longer any necessity for the continuance of our order. It grieves me to say that such a step has been rendered impossible by the actions of one of our own members." The speaker here paused in order to ask Fuz Steve Brody to retire from the room. "By virtue of having failed to swing in with the lofty standards of this fair order Mr. Brody has become a fly in the ointment of the University.

"Now Lady and Gentlemen here's a problem worthy of an attempt at solution. Last fall the University Executive Committee, after mature and prolonged consideration, adjudged Mr. Brody so evil and contaminating an influence that his continued association with members of the Boll Weevil Staff would be both ruinous to them and Carolina. They made the boys resign. But what have they done about Brody I ask you? What effort has the Golden Fleece made to extinguish this disturbing factor? (The Golden Fleece is violently hissed by all present). Ah, my friends a state of apathy has prevailed. Isn't it true that Mr. Brody continues to lounge around Patterson's Drug Store? There he is coming daily in contact with scores of innocent professors and students.

"He deliberately flaunts President Chase by passing the mansion several times daily in his Hudson Coach. The members of the Executive Committee, according to Dame Rumor, verge on nervous prostration because of this sore affliction. They have failed. The Fuz never fails (sustained applause for over five minutes). It is up to us to show the campus that we do not uphold a member who has by it been adjudged unworthy. Lady and Gentlemen we can still stop Brody's—alleged—sewer-like emanations. We must be rid of Brody (More applause as the Hay-shaker resumes his seat)."

Fuz Bingo White then rose and after having supported the stand of the Hay-shaker bitterly attacked the Golden Fleece "It is an obsolete shibboleth," he declared. "They are robbers and thieves," he vehemently continued. "Robbers and thieves in the sense that they have robbed us of a great many of those whom we rushed daily during the year. DOWN WITH THEM." (Bingo staggered to his seat while the assembled brothers guffawed at the Fleece).

Now before you start on the meat of this story the Hay-shaker wishes to call your attention to several departures from established precedent and his plans for the continuation of the order next year. This year the order has decided to award a supreme honor—the title of "Fuzzy." Those deemed worthy were "Fuzzy" Paul Addison Clements and "Fuzzy" James Clell Greenwood. These men have worked hard for years to garner this appellation and it is therefore no more than fair that the students should address them in this most becoming manner.

Though the Hay-shaker will not be here next year the "Fuzz" will go on. The line of succession has been determined upon and in this, his "30," the Hay-shaker wishes Hay-shaker, Second the greatest of success with the order next year. His identity will not be made known for reasons which will be apparent to even the obtuse-minded Monday morning.

This year's pick follows:

"FUZZY" JAMES CLELL GREENWOOD, BILTMORE, N. C.
"I am Sir Oracle, when I ope my mouth let no dog bark."

"Oh, monstrous, superstitious Puritan,
Of refined manners, yet ceremonial man,
Dost search, and, like a needy broker, prize
The silk and gold he wears."

"What are these wondrous civilizing arts
This Roman polish, and this smooth behavior,
That render man thus tractable and tame."

"FUZZY" PAUL ADDISON CLEMENTS, ATLANTA, GA.
"My lord advances with majestic mien,
Smit with the mighty pleasure to be seen."

"Trifles themselves are elegant in him."

"With what'er gall thou sets thyself to write,
Thy inoffensive satires never bite."

JAMES EDWARD HAWKINS, RALEIGH, N. C.
"Such men as he be never at heart's ease,
Whilst they behold a greater man than themselves."

"How else said he, but with a good bold face,
And with big words, and with a stately pace?"

SUE BYRD THOMPSON, NORFOLK, VA.
"You are above
The little forms which circumscribe your sex."

"Is she not more than painting can express,
Or youthful poets fancy when they love?"

PHILLIP CHARLES COCKE, JR., ASHEVILLE, N. C.
"Pleasure with intoxication should be join'd,
So take the corn and leave the chaff behind."

"Now, he exacts of all, wastes in delight,
Riots in pleasure and, neglects the law."

THOMAS PATTON CHEESEBOROUGH, ASHEVILLE, N. C.
"Taught or untaught the dunce is still the same."

Aping the foreigners in every dress
Which bought at a greater cost, becomes him less."

CHARLES KNOX MASSEY, DURHAM, N. C.
"I am a part of all that I have met."

"What fairer cloak than courtesy for fraud."

ROBERT LEE FELTON, JR., FAYETTEVILLE, N. C.
"Sooner than the matin-bell was rung
He clapped his wings upon his roost and sung."

"Haste thee, nymph, and bring with thee
Jest, and youthful Jollity."

But hail, thou Goddess sage and holy,
Hail, divinist Melancholy."

PAYSON DENNIS CARTER, CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

"I bray and croak and hiss at will—
"I've read the world: have you read King is Quhair?
Ah, no, my friend, but I have read
Walt Scott's Emulsion and I have red hair."

NOVI FRATRES IN FACULTATE

"PSYCHO" HENMAN

"He could on either side dispute
Confute, change hands, and still confute."

FRANK CARL VILBRANDT

"Little deeds of kindness, little words of love,
Help to make earth happy like the heaven above."
(THE HAY-SHAKER'S "30").

JONES WINS THIRD PRIZE

S. F. Jones, special student in the University, won third prize in the editorial contest conducted by The Open Road magazine. There were several hundred contestants and editorials came from all over the United States.

The editorials were divided into two groups: those written by high school and preparatory school people, and those by older people. First prize was twenty-five dollars; second, fifteen and third, ten.

The most frequent subject written on was "World Peace," and most of the others were on political lines of thought.

The decision of the judges was based on three things: the clearness and force with which ideas were presented; the author's ability to write good English; the importance and value of the subject.

Miss Polly Wells who has spent several months in Chapel Hill at the home of her uncle, Professor Horace H. Williams leaves for her home in Middletown, Conn., on Friday. Miss Wells leaves a host of friends. She will attend the dances at Fortress Monroe on Saturday and make visits in Philadelphia and New York on her way home.

DEAN CARROLL TRAVELS

D. D. Carroll, Dean of the School of Commerce, has been awarded one of the Kenan Traveling Professorships for the next scholastic year.

Mr. Carroll, with his family, intends to start for Europe in September, where he will be during most of his absence.

During the fall months he will be in England and Scotland, and the rest of the time on the continent, studying current economic changes going on there.

Professor Carroll, while he is gone, will visit France, Italy, Austria, Germany, and probably Russia.

iversity Band or Orchestra on hand, and Professors Fitch and Weaver taking part in the program.

A big mass meeting will be held Sunday at 4:30 o'clock. At this meeting the Rev. "Parson" W. D. Moss will lead in an invocation and make a short talk to the class, followed by a 15-minute address by President Chase. The band will be on hand to render music, and the student body is invited to attend.

The class song is now being written and will be sung at intervals throughout the week.
