"CARRYING THINGS TOO FAR"

Mr. Editor:

For the last two pep meetings the dormitory lights have been cut off, throwing the buildings into complete darkness and inconveniencing the entire student body.

While pep meetings are essential and "Carolina Spirit" a thing much to be desired, the 2,000 students in residence here are within their rights in resenting this high-handed encroachment upon their rights, and this attempt to force involuntary attendance at such meetings when attention is more urgently needed elsewhere.

Athletics do not as yet reign lord almighty here on the Hill, and the wishes of a few cheer-leaders should not be allowed to upset the equilibrium of student life on the campus.

Dean Carroll Writes From Europe

Dean Carroll of the Commerce school writes that he is having a wonderful time hob-nobbing with European notables. Since he has been in England, Dr. Carroll has had long conferences with Henry Clay, Edgeworth, Sydney Webb, and other prominent men. He also states that he recently attended a lecture by Bernard Shaw.

In a letter to another member of the faculty he wrote that five members of the teaching staff of the London School of Economics ran for the House of Commons and that two of them were elected. Also two college heads at the University of Oxford are supporting the labor party. Professor Carroll was present in the house of commons when it was dissolved. He is high in his praise of Ramsey McDonald.

Dr. Carroll and Professor Pierson, of the history department, will be away all year studying under the Kenan foundation.

Speaker Rogers Is Opposed Paved Walks

Four new resolutions, three of which were discussed in detail, were introduced at the regular meeting of the Phi assembly Saturday night. The resolution that the United States adopt a system of occupational representation in lieu of the present district system, was, after detailed discussion by Light, Olive, Cooper and Chappel, overwhelmingly defeated by the vote taken by the assembly.

Following the defeat of this measure, the proposition that the Phi society go on record as favoring the concrete paving of all principal campus walks was elaborated on by Vick, Page, and others, and the vote of the assembly was tied, 26 for and 26 against. According to parliamentary procedure of the society in such cases, the Speaker, Ludlow Rogers, announced the decision as being opposed to the measure.

Causing considerable interest and divergence of opinion was the introduction of the bill, Resolved—That the Phi society go on record as favoring the adoption of the German system of optional class attendance in this University. This bill, after argument pro and con, was tabled for further discussion at the next meeting of the assembly.

The final bill introduced was "that the proposed amendment to the federal constitution authorizing the regulation of child labor should be adopted." This was briefly discussed by Young before time for adjournment, and also tabled for further debate at the next meeting.

In addition to routine business, one new member was initiated into the assembly at this meeting; namely, A. R. Barfield, '26.

Miss Brockwell's Pageant in Great Demand

A great deal of interest is being shown in Miss Ethel Rockwell's latest pageant, "The Children of Old Carolina," which she wrote during the summer vacation and has dedicated to the children of North Carolina. Already seven counties in the state have expressed a desire to stage this pageant in the spring as a part of their county commencement program.

Recently Miss Rockwell gave an address and a reading of the pageant to the D. A. R.'s of Durham, who are also contemplating on staging it in the spring on the Trinity campus. When Miss Rockwell recently staged this pageant in Dunn, N. C., an old man approached her after the performance and with great emotion said: "For 20 years I have longed to see a beautiful tribute paid to the great work Charles B. Aycock did for the children of North Carolina, and today I have seen it."

"13" Club Dance Is a Huge Success

Being one of the big spokes in the wheel of Chapel Hill society, the "13" dance given last Friday night at the gym was a most enjoyable affair. The couples present were somewhat few, compared with the Grail dance two weeks ago, and the collegiate dogs were given time to whisper sweet nothings into the ear of the fair damsel whom he was entertaining.

A figure was neatly executed and the girls participating pretty enough to cause the young gallants to forget what they were to do. Many beautiful girls graced the floor, and it was not until 1 o'clock that with tired, lagging feet, the couples wended their way home, after one of the most enjoyable dances ever held on the Hill.

Miss Ethel Rockwell, state representative of the Bureau of Community Drama, left the Hill yesterday for Charlotte to stage Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen," which is to be played on the 20th and 21st. She has just recently returned from that place, where she selected the cast and assigned the parts. All Charlotte is looking forward to this presentation of "Seventeen" as its greatest dramatic treat of the season, because the cast is a very exceptional one. Fully 1,500 people attended the program which was produced by Miss Rockwell last year, and double that number are expected to crowd the auditorium of the Central High school this year. Hence plans are being made for staging the performance for two days.

Work on the new chemistry building is progressing rapidly. Workmen have been erecting the steel girders for the first floor this week and if good weather continues the building will be under roof by the Christmas holidays.

B. S. Thompson, contractor, has been estimating the cost of a new house for the Zeta Psi fraternity which was designed by the Hunt company of Rocky Mount. He is now getting estimates from sub-contractors and expects to begin work soon.

Bids on the Methodist church were opened Thursday noon and the various estimates seemed very fair. The three lowest bidders were asked to make modifications in their bids and resubmit them in 10 days.
