Di Society Opposed To Class Separation

By the overwhelming vote of 64 to 5, the Di society Saturday night defeated the proposition: "Resolved—That each class in the University should room in a separate dormitory." The debate was introduced by Taylor Bledsoe for the affirmative, and C. R. Jonas for the negative. A moderate discussion extending over the period of an hour took place.

The affirmative contended that the separation of the classes would develop class feeling and class unity, which they contended would be a good thing for the University. They further argued that the system was now in use in most of the larger Northern colleges and universities, and had proved to be a better system than one allowing each man to room where he pleases. Also the affirmative said that for men taking the same work and undergoing the same pleasures and difficulties, to be constantly thrown together, would open the way for a larger number of closer and more genuine friendships among college men.

The negative thought that such a system would not be in accordance with the modern ideas of democracy and individualism, which ideas, they said, were fast becoming predominate in modern universities. They made the point that when a man comes to the University, he comes to learn how to get along in life, and that he can best do this by associating equally with men of all classes, and not by in any way being confined to any particular class. Another point brought out by the negative was that the University had developed out of the "prep school" stage, and that such a system of division would be a step backwards; whereas, they said, a great university should be a place where people can come to study and be governed and bothered by as few rules and regulations as possible.

A motion to purchase the president another staff to replace the old one that was displaced last year, was passed.

The following men were taken into the society: J. Frazier Glenn, Chapel Hill; Hoyt B. Pritchett, Greensboro; Dillard S. Gardner, Reidsville, and J. W. Harden, Burlington.

Demand for University Music Greatly Increased

The demand for "University made" music is growing by leaps and bounds. During the next week a University choir will sing in the cities of Greensboro and Durham.

The A Capella Choir will sing a concert in Durham next Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Paris Theatre under the auspices of the Music Department of the Durham Womans' Club.

On the evening of Tuesday, December 16th, the Choir will sing at the Odell Memorial Building in Greensboro under the auspices of the Euterpe Club.

On both of the above occasions, the program will be the same as the one given in Memorial Hall last Sunday afternoon.

Assistant Dean A. C. Howell, of the graduate school, is back at his desk after spending 10 days in Watts hospital, Durham.

F. B. Simpkins, of the history department, delivered a lecture in Rocky Mount Monday night before the Current Topics club on "Brazil." Mr. Simpkins' lecture was arranged by the University's Bureau of Lectures.

Alpha Gamma chapter of Phi Delta Chi, national pharmacy fraternity, initiated on December 8 the following five members of the school of pharmacy: K. V. Franklin, Raleigh; W. M. Matthews, Wilson; W. P. O'Neal, Belhaven; M. H. Roberts, Morristown, Tenn.; R. W. Sheppard, Chadbourn. K. B. Spoon of Charlotte was pledged.

Charles Causey, '28, of Greensboro, was pledged by the D. K. E. fraternity Saturday morning. Because of a misunderstanding and general mix-up on the regular pledge night last Thursday, Saturday was designated as the day for Causey to be pledged since it is asserted that the Pan-Hellenic rules were violated on the regular night and that Causey was taken off the Hill on Thursday.

The woman's dormitory is ready for the placing of the forms for the concrete first floor. When completed this dormitory will be a fireproof building of the same type of construction as Dormitories F, G and J.

Good news for all lovers of graphic pie

Graphic pie enough to satisfy the hunger of a life-time; no end of graphic mountains to scale and toboggan down. That's what the man who loves to analyze graphs and statistical symbols can look forward to when he comes with the electrical industry.

Economic study is one of many branches in this broad field. If you have thought of electricity as limited to engineers, this other side of the picture will interest you.

The commercial organization with its problems of distributing, selling, advertising; the manufacturing end with its opportunity for trained technical men; the legal and accounting branches—all this and more totals electrical industry.

It may pay you to keep this in mind against graduation.
