

MANY OF N. C. C. W.'S PRETTIEST GIRLS COMING HERE WITH "FASHION"

Play to Be Given in Memorial Hall Tonight.

HIGHLY ENTERTAINING
Special Orchestra Accompanies Comedy—Twelve Popular Vocal Selections Rendered.

IS NEW VERSION OF "FASHION"
The Original Play Written by Anna Cora Mowatt and Has Had Many Successful Seasons.

At 8:30 tonight in Memorial Hall the curtain will rise on one of the most eagerly awaited theatrical productions of the year. "Fashion" is a thoroughly amusing comedy in three acts which has met with high approbation at every performance. The play itself is entertaining enough to be a success with almost any cast, but when the company includes many of N. C. C. W.'s prettiest, "Fashion" becomes almost irresistible.

A feature of the performance will be the specialty dance by Miss Helen Hall, Mr. Hurley, and the entire company. A large orchestra accompanies the actors, and a total of twelve popular vocal selections will be given. One of the scenes is laid in an elaborate ball room, and the polka will be danced by Miss Sehon, Mr. Hurley, and a full corps de ballet.

"Fashion" is presented here by the Dramatic Club of N. C. C. W. under the auspices of the Carolina Playmakers. The direction is in the able hands of Mr. W. R. Taylor, president of the North Carolina Dramatic Association. The cast of "Fashion" comprises fifteen people. Miss Hall, who takes the part of "Mrs. Tiffany, who imagines herself fashionable," and Miss Sehon, who appears as "Seraphina Tiffany, a belle", will be remembered as having taken leading parts in the interpretive dances presented here last year at the Dramatic Institute.

Costumes in the play are by Van Horn and Son, of Philadelphia. The scenes include the drawing-room and conservatory of Mrs. Tiffany's luxurious home. The great ball room scene in the second act forms a lavish background for the dancing of the romantic polka.

"Fashion's" subtitle is "Life in New York." It was written by Anna Cora Mowatt and has met with sensational success for years. The performance tonight will be a new version of the older "Fashion," and will present a comedy difficult to improve upon.

CASES COMPLETED BY LAW STUDENTS

First Year Law Students Argue Cases With Upper-Classmen Acting As Justices.

The first year students of the different law clubs in the law school association held their final arguments for the fall quarter last week. Forty-eight briefs were filed and 40 men participated in the arguments. The cases were heard on four successive nights with the members of the upper classes acting as chief justices. The members all showed interest and enthusiasm. Excellent briefs and well prepared arguments were reported.

The following won their cases in the different clubs:

- Ruffin club: S. E. Vest, T. J. White, Jr., and M. P. Wilson.
- Iredell club: C. H. Dearman, P. W. Deaton, L. F. Foy, and G. M. Hood.
- McRae club: P. J. Ranson, G. A. Shaw, Gaston club: W. H. Abernethy, H. A. Beard, J. L. Cartwell, Jr., and D. H. Dansler.
- Person club: P. D. Stephenson, J. E. Taylor and A. P. Thorpe, Jr.
- McGee club: L. I. Moore, J. E. Patterson, F. D. Pepper.

May Peterson Coming

The announcement that May Peterson, who has been in the Metropolitan Opera company, will appear in Chapel Hill in the near future, is news which should be of great interest. Her coming on January 10 was made public on the programs of the Levitzki recital.

May Peterson possesses a soprano voice of unusual quality. She is one of the most radiant and gracious personalities on the concert stage. She has appeared several times in North Carolina and is always greeted by enthusiastic audiences.

Edward B. ("Red") Gill was a visitor on the campus during last week-end. He is principal of the Kannapolis schools and director of athletics there this year.

Dr. Mangum Speaks To Fresh About Sex

Dr. Mangum, of the Medical School, spoke to the Freshman class in chapel Thursday. Because of the length of his talk the chapel period was extended half an hour.

The subject of Dr. Mangum's speech was the sex instinct. In his talk he outlined the sources of the instinct and gave special attention to problems arising from it as they confront the college man especially stressing the consequences of moral degeneracy both on the degenerate and on future generations.

Dr. Mangum's speech was interspersed with bits of humor which did not detract from its seriousness.

KOCH WILL READ CHRISTMAS CAROL

Playmaker Head to Give Dickens' Masterpiece.

HIS TWENTIETH READING

Gerrard Hall Will Be Decorated for the Occasion.

The yearly revival of that combination of happiness and good cheer known as "the spirit of Christmas" will begin Sunday night, December 14, when Professor Koch will read Dickens' immortal "Christmas Carol." The reading will be held in Gerrard hall instead of Memorial hall as previously announced, and will begin at 8:30. The hall will be decorated with evergreen and Christmas carols will be sung from the balcony between staves.

This will be Mr. Koch's 20th annual reading of the Carol, and it has become such an institution that the story of its inception is interesting. Back in 1905, Mr. Koch, then teaching in North Dakota, read the Carol and remarked upon its beauty. One of his hearers asked that he give a public reading of the Carol, and Mr. Koch consenting, it was held informally around the fireside in one of the dormitories. For 19 successive years since that time Mr. Koch has given readings of the Carol, always on the last Sunday night before the Christmas holidays.

Several times Mr. Koch gave the reading in prairie towns in North Dakota, and once at Harvard university.

LOTUS PLANT HAS GROWN SIX INCHES

Botany Department's "Nelumbo Nucifera" Has Increased Its Height to Twelve Inches.

A poet once expressed the following as his highest aspiration:

"To eat the lotus of the Nile,
And drink the poppies of Cathay."

Again the "dear old lotus" comes to the fore. Over in the Botany department the staff seems to have found its development rather a bore; but the TAR HEEL reporter still finds that there is news of note about the "Nelumbo Nucifera" found by Ichito Ogha. The little sprig is now 12 inches long, having doubled its length in the last three weeks, which shows that its strength must be failing, for it grew the first six inches in a little less than two weeks.

The TAR HEEL's dream of seeing the specimen growing to the top of the "dear old well" will have to be abandoned, or at least modified. The result of the computation was that it would reach the top of the well by November 22, 1925. If the ratio just established continues the lotus sprig will stop its growth by April 1, 1925.

But it has at least accomplished one triumph: on the topmost part of the longest of the three sprigs there is unmistakably a leaf, about an inch long. By the time the students return after the vacation, it is hoped that the hard-working, much-talked-of little sprig will have acquired another.

Another Honor For Prof. Koch

The following paragraph from the Raleigh News and Observer will no doubt prove of interest on the campus:

"Frederick H. Koch, professor of English at the University of North Carolina and director and organizer of the Carolina Playmakers, was elected president of the State Literary and Historical Association which closed its twenty-fourth annual session here yesterday with the election of officers and the founding of a State Fine Arts Association."

According to Professor Koch, this honor comes to him as an evidence of the recognition which the work of the Playmakers is receiving throughout the State.

BASKETBALL HAS MIDDLE RING IN CAMPUS CIRCUS

Cagers Hard At Work Under Direction of Coach "Monk" McDonald, Former Star.

COBB CAPTAINS THE TEAM
Squad Has Been Cut Down to Twenty Men—Dodderer and Devin Back From 1923 Team.

With the passing of Thanksgiving the major athletic scene has shifted from the gridiron to the basketball court, the hardwood floor has replaced the turf, and gym costume the heavily padded moccasins.

Down in the "Tin Can" the squad has been working out under the direction of Coach "Monk" McDonald for every afternoon since the holidays, and the team is now beginning to round into shape. The squad is now down to about 20 men, most of whom have had some varsity or freshman experience. Three men of the "Wonder Team" of last year are back and form a nucleus around which Coach McDonald will probably build his team. These men are Captain "Spratt" Cobb, all-southern forward; Bill Dodderer, center, and Billy Devin, guard. Sam McDonald, brother to "Monk" and a letter man of two years ago, who was ineligible last year, is out for the team and appears to have a good chance of becoming Cobb's running mate at forward. He is getting plenty of opposition from other candidates, however, and will have to fight to get the place. Johnny Purser appears to be the foremost candidate for the other guard position. He has been on the squad for years and is a consistent player.

Other men who are out and are furnishing strong opposition for places are Jimmy Pool, Ike Calhoun, "Red" Barbour, Bunn Hackney, George Carmichael, Lawrence Watt, Donald Koonce and Billy Harvell.

Other Southern conference teams are looking forward to basketball, some with championship aspirations. Down at "Ole Miss" the team is in fine shape and is confidently looking forward to a successful season, according to their student paper. Mercer, one of Carolina's opponents last year, and who will probably be on the schedule again this season, is not so jubilant, for four of her varsity men are out because of graduation, ineligibilities and injuries.

REMOVAL OF THE REVIEWER LUCKY FOR NORTH STATE

Well Known Literary Magazine Will Be Moved From Richmond to North Carolina.

MEANS MUCH TO STATE

Prominent University Professors and Alumni to Help Guide Newly Acquired Magazine.

Announcement of the removal of a well-known magazine, The Reviewer, from Richmond to North Carolina, is of interest to students and alumni of the University for several reasons. By arrangements just completed in Richmond, Professor Paul Green, of the philosophy department, becomes editor of The Reviewer, which will be published by Robert S. Pickens, '24, owner of the Times-Mercury Publishing Company at Hickory, N. C., and editor of the Hickory Record.

Gerald W. Johnson, head of the department of Journalism at the University, and Professor C. A. Hibbard have consented to serve on the board of directors. Two former editors of The Reviewer, Hunter Staggs and Mrs. Edwin Swift Balch, with Miss Nell Battle Lewis, of Raleigh, complete the new board. The Reviewer started its very successful career in February, 1921, under Emily Clark, now Mrs. Balch, and Hunter Staggs, of Richmond. It has enjoyed an enviable reputation and has upheld a very high standard of literary attainment. It has published works of writers who have acquired nation-wide distinction.

Among its editors was James Branch Cabell, who has been called the "outstanding figure in Southern letters." Joseph Hergesheimer's "The Presbyterian Child" and the greater part of Cabell's "The Lineage of Litchfield" appeared in The Reviewer before they were given to the public in book form. The magazine has received complimentary press notices both in America and in England, and the New York Herald listed it with the sixteen important English and American reviews.

The News and Observer calls the new editor of the magazine "probably the outstanding creative writer in North Carolina at present." His plays have been published in Poet Lore, The Drama, The Reviewer and other magazines. Last

J. EDWARD HAWKINS SPEAKS IN RALEIGH

Editor of the Carolina Magazine Addresses Honorary Scholastic Society At the High School.

J. Edward Hawkins, campus character of note and incidentally the editor of the Carolina Magazine, broke into the ranks of the silver-tongued orators when he addressed the student body of Raleigh high school Monday morning. The occasion of the speech was the installation of the new members of the "Torchlight Society," national scholarship society for secondary schools. Mr. Hawkins was the president of the charter chapter at Raleigh high school.

In view of the great demand for speakers from the University by high schools and women's clubs throughout the state, the entrance of Mr. Hawkins is being heralded with much satisfaction by the oratorical faction of the faculty. Friends of the magazine editor are predicting for him a great future and are looking forward to the day when he will be classed with "Billy" Noble, "Bully" Bernard, Collier Cobb and Professor Meyer as an after-dinner and commencement speaker.

B. S. Thompson, contractor, has the contract for a block of six store buildings in Carrboro to replace those destroyed in the recent fire.

1925 CAPTAIN

Herman McIver, varsity center for three years, was elected captain of the 1925 team last Tuesday night.

M'IVER ELECTED CAPTAIN OF 1925 FOOTBALL TEAM

Has Played Three Years As Tackle and Center on Blue and White Machine.

PLAYED ON THE 1922 TEAM

"Red" Bowman Automatically Becomes Manager—Van Ness and Holderness Are Elected Assistant Managers.

At the final get-together and banquet of the football team held last Tuesday night, Herman McIver, of Mebane, was elected captain of the 1925 Tar Heels. "Red" Bowman was elected manager and Jim Van Ness and "Turk" Holderness assistant managers. George Snyder was elected manager of the freshman team.

McIver has been a member of the team for the past three years, playing at tackle for one year and at center for the last two, and his election to head next year's eleven was more or less expected by the student body. He was the only sophomore to make the undefeated "Wonder Team" of '22, playing right tackle. The next year he was shifted to center when "Bill" Blount failed to return to school, and has been recognized as one of the outstanding players in the state at this position. While his work is not spectacular, it is at all times steady and consistent and when "Big Mac" is out of the game his loss is always felt. Before playing varsity ball McIver played center on the freshman team and on the state championship Chapel Hill high team.

Bowman, who is to be manager of the team next year, is from Tuskegee, Ala. He was assistant manager this year and last season served as one of the sub-managers. He was a member of the freshman baseball squad and is a familiar figure on the campus.

The election of two assistant managers marks a return to a system that was in vogue several years ago but was later dropped. These two men will serve in this capacity next season and one of the two will be elected manager for the following year while the other will automatically become manager of the freshman team.

FORDHAM HEADS MONOGRAM CLUB

Election Held Last Tuesday Night.

POINDEXTER RETIRES

Club Votes to Continue Monthly Supper Meetings.

C. C. Fordham, of Greensboro, was elected president of the Monogram Club for the coming year at the meeting of the Club held Tuesday night in Gerrard Hall. At the same time Jack Cobb, of Durham, was elected vice-president, and Grady Pritchard was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the organization. M. D. Bonner and W. A. Devin were chosen to represent the club on the University Committee of Awards.

After an interesting discussion by Coach "Bob" Fetzer on the need and possibilities of an active program for the club, the club voted to continue the policy instituted last year of having a supper meeting once each month. It was decided to have the meeting around the banquet table following the Christmas recess.

Various campus subjects were brought up for discussion by members of the club. The TAR HEEL, student semi-weekly newspaper, came in for considerable censure due to a so-called "unsympathetic" attitude alleged to have been adopted toward athletics.

The retiring officers are: C. C. Poindexter, president; C. C. Fordham, vice-president; Grady Pritchard, secretary-treasurer; M. D. Ranson and A. M. McDonald, representatives on the Committee of Awards.

German Club Holds Meeting

The German Language Club (Deutscher Verein) held its last meeting of this quarter Tuesday evening in the social room of the Baptist church. The meeting was devoted to Christmas exercises. A Christmas Tree occupied the center of the room. Mr. Paulsen appeared in the guise of Santa Claus and distributed refreshments. A talk was made by Mr. Yost, of the German department in which he told of the customs of observing Christmas in Germany.

B. S. Thompson has the contract for the Theta Chi fraternity house to be located on the south side of Fraternity court. The plans were made by John P. Koch, structural consultant, of Rocky Mount, N. C.

CAMPUS PROBLEMS BRING DISCUSSION

Joint Session of Student Leaders and Faculty Committee.

WANT CLASS COMPETITION

Group Expressed Itself in Favor of Having Classes Complete.

Several matters of general campus importance were discussed in the regular joint session of the central administrative council and student leaders and the faculty committee on student activities held last Wednesday afternoon. There was a general round of discussion in which both faculty members and students took part.

The subject of inter-class athletics was discussed and it was evident that there was a prevailing opinion that class athletics should, if possible, be again taken up and made a part of the intra-mural program. A plan, outlined by Coach Bob Fetzer and presented by John Purser, director of intra-mural work, was suggested whereby class competition could be had without actual class games. It pointed out the fact that the class as a workable unit in the intra-mural plan was not as good as the dormitory or the fraternity. The plan proposes that points should be given to the classes for participation by its members in any form of campus or collegiate activity. For example, if the junior class had a man on the football squad, that class would get a designated number of points. After considerable discussion the proposal was allowed to be carried over.

The proposal for the creation of a University button corresponding in size to the fraternity pledge button and which would be worn by all upperclassmen met with approval by the majority of those present. It was decided to have designs presented by companies and to take the proposal up later.

A very interesting discussion was had on the subject of class dormitories. President Chase was very much interested in this matter and was very desirous of securing student opinion. It was brought out that last spring the alumni proposed that some such plan be adopted whereby the classes would be bound together more closely as units. It was agreed to present the matter to the students for their consideration and suggestions at a later date.

Other suggestions were offered by students and faculty aiming at a better campus spirit. However, no other discussion took place at this time. It was decided to have another joint session of the students leaders and the faculty committee soon after the Christmas holidays.

It will be remembered by those in school last year that these meetings of student leaders and the faculty committee arose out of the movement for a greater campus unification. The central administrative council provided for by the plan adopted last year is composed of the president of the student body, the president of the senior class, and the editors of the Carolina Magazine and the TAR HEEL. It is the duty of this group to act much in the same way as the old campus cabinet in considering and proposing measures which it thinks will benefit the campus. It had no jurisdiction, merely being an advising group. The larger group of student leaders has been called in several times during the quarter for general conferences.

Theta Chi initiated Charlie Barton, of Earl, Arkansas, Wednesday night.
