

KU KLUX KLAN DEBATE STARTS ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Ku Klux Klan Kourior Editor Speaks in Defense of Sheeted Army in Debate Opener.

GRADY COULDN'T COME

Hon. Josiah William Bailey of Raleigh Will Take up the Klan Question on the Following Friday.

An airing of the Ku Klux Klan question by two men, one prominent as an exponent of the Kluckers, and the other very bitter against the Klan in all its phases, will take place in Chapel Hill within the next two weeks. The issue to be aired is by no means obsolete or out of date, and will be of interest both to students and people over the state.

Dr. W. A. Hamlett, an Atlanta man, editor of the Kourior, a preacher of the gospel, an outstanding lecturer on the Ku Klux Klan, and well known throughout the South, will take the rostrum next Friday night at 8:30 in Gerrard hall in an uncompromising defense of the Klan. Dr. Hamlett is known throughout the South and the Ku Klux world especially for his biting attacks on opponents of the Klan, issued chiefly through the official organ of the Klan, the Kourior, of which he is editor. He defends the organization on every ground, and for the last few years has devoted his entire time to preaching its doctrines all over the country. He was born and reared in Georgia, but during his early manhood he spent most of his time in Texas, where he taught and preached. Rumor has it that Dr. Hamlett will defend the Klan in his speech on religious grounds.

An interval of one week between the speech for and the speech against the Klan was arranged by the committee of the Di Senate in charge of arranging the lectures. Josiah William Bailey, of Raleigh, will present the side of the anti-Klucker on Friday night, February 7, at 8:30 p.m. That Mr. Bailey is highly capable of doing justice to that side of the question some think cannot be denied. It will be recalled by those interested in the Klan question that during his campaign for the nomination for governor, Mr. Bailey on numerous occasions made strong denunciations of the Klan, both in interviews with the press and in his speeches. In his speech in Chapel Hill last spring to the student

STUDENTS ENJOY SATURDAY'S FIRE

Turned Russell Inn Fire Into Panic.

CO-ED BATH-TUB SAVED

Pajamas and Silk Stockings Popular Trophies.

The burning of Russell inn, home of the Carolina co-eds and seat of campus dissension, was turned into more or less of a panic by the masculine portion of the student body Saturday morning. Very sympathetic with the ladies the boys were, but the sight of Russell inn going down was a feast to their eyes and the crackling of the flames was music to their ears.

No encouragement was necessary to make the boys rush into the building to awaken the girls and save the furniture. Many tales are floating around the campus as a result of the invasion, as the fire started in the attic and the lower floors were unaware of the impending danger.

One boy tells that he burst into a room and found the fair inhabitant still a-bed. Aroused from her sleep by the unexpected intrusion of the masculine visitor, she, with sternness and authority in her voice, whipped out the sharp command, "Get the h-l out of here!" Very nonchalantly the youth replied, "Git the h-l out of here yourself, the house is on fire." She did, so he says.

The co-eds' only bathtub was saved by somebody's heroic efforts. Old heads on the campus will remember that quite a rumper was raised last year by the co-eds in an effort to get two bathtubs, claiming that one was not sufficient for effectively purifying their part of the student body. It is pretty authoritatively announced that one of the firemen, in breaking into the bathroom on the first floor, disturbed one of the lounge ladies in her bath, and the report is also credited that several of the co-eds have issued statements to the effect that it was not they who were bathing when the firemen broke in.

But even at that, the tub, which has seen so much service in Russell inn, was wrenched from its moorings and transported into the front yard. The Tar Heel reporter has been unable to get in touch with the plans for the new woman's building, and does not know

HAVE SELECTED DANCE LEADERS AND MARSHALS

Frame-up Goes Through Without a Hitch—Gold New German Club President.

LITTLE EASTER LEADER

Jack London Elected Chief Ball Manager and Dave Woodward Will Lead the Junior Prom.

Monday afternoon and yesterday morning witnessed the elections of the German club and the dance leaders and marshals for the Junior and Senior dances. The frame-up was successful and went through without a hitch.

In the German club meeting on Monday afternoon the following officers were elected without opposition: Charles Gold, president; Bus Murphy, vice-president; and Jim Shannonhouse, assistant secretary-treasurer. It was decided to elect officers when the vice-president, Louis Harrison, tendered his resignation. This coupled with the fact that the president of the club is out of school this quarter, left no presiding officer. The newly-elected officers will take office for the remainder of this year as well as for next year.

Nick Little was elected with practically no opposition to lead the Easter German. Henry Johnson and Hartwell Bass were elected assistant leaders by huge majorities.

In the Senior elections at chapel period yesterday morning Jack London was declared chief ball manager after no other nominations for the position were made. Seven assistant managers were elected, with but little opposition. These were: Hill Yarborough, Dick Thorpe, Ludlow Rogers, Borden Hooks, Vance Rollins, Max Rothrock and Marion Davis.

The Juniors elected Dave Woodward to lead their prom, with Chad Uzzell and Jim Webb as assistants. These were elected unanimously. Emmett Underwood was elected unanimously to be chief commencement marshall. The following were elected as his assistants: Russ Braswell, Bill Suggs, Red Barber, Dan Koons, Jack Somers and Boddie Crudup.

All elections were characterized by quiet crowds, it appearing from tabulation of the votes that the leaders and marshals were popularly qualified for their positions.

R. O. T. C. MEASURE PASSES DI SENATE

Has Comfortable Majority of 31-11.

CO-ED QUESTION AGAIN

Griffin Throws Out Invitation to Women Students.

In these modern times of co-eds and women politicians, women are in as great a need for training in the art of oratory as men are. Such was the main argument in favor of admitting co-eds into the venerable precincts of the Di Senate. Arguers against such admission contended that the "terrible" co-ed would be as a restraining influence and that the old days of the Di would pass away forever. Much discussion was aroused as is always the case when popular bills are discussed, but a vote on the bill was postponed until the next session in order that certain factions in the Di might be prepared to present their views.

Senator Jonas succeeded in pushing his bill for the establishment of a R. O. T. C. through the Senate after a debate in the last session and a short debate last Saturday night by a vote of 31 to 11. Opposing factions predicted the defeat of the bill, but several forceful speeches succeeded securing the necessary majority for its passage.

A resolution to issue the co-eds an invitation to attend the session of the Di next Saturday night was passed by an overwhelming majority, but was thrown out on a technicality by the President.

In spite of the Duke game, a good number of the Senators were in their seats Saturday night.

Mrs. Klutz

Entertains

On Friday evening at six o'clock, Mrs. A. A. Klutz delightfully entertained the local chapter of the Sigma Nu Fraternity, at a dinner at her home on Franklin street. The dinner was in honor of Walter Creech, the nephew of Mrs. Klutz, of Goldsboro, who was recently pledged to Sigma Nu. Besides the active members of the fraternity, there were also present several alumni; Prof. W. J. Matherly, Prof. C. A. Hibbard, Prof. J. C. Lyons, and Prof. E. E. Peacock.

STATE COLLEGE MAKES IT WARM FOR WRESTLERS

One Fall by Heafner Wins Match for U. N. C. Matmen Against Agriculturists.

THE FIRST COLLEGE MEET

Reporter Says State Men Had Track Tendencies When University Men Seriously Threatened.

Carolina grapplers were victorious in the first intercollegiate match when they won from N. C. State wrestling team last Friday night there, the score being 14-9. The University got one fall and three decisions on time, and State got three decisions on time.

Heafner, holding down the 119-pound class, repeated his performance of January 17, when he threw the Raleigh Y. W. C. A. wrestler. Crawford, his opponent, had a decided tendency to get off the mat at every opportunity, and this delayed the bout somewhat. However, after 7 minutes and 30 seconds, Heafner pinned his opponent's shoulders to the mat, and the University's representative had added 5 more points to his season's total.

Sherman was State's representative against the Tar Heels' 129-pound man, Molsinger. Sherman showed more of an inclination to remain on the mat than had his predecessor, and he put up a hard fight. However, by steady, conservative work Molsinger won on time and was on the verge of winning by securing a fall when time was called.

Veteran Vick had another man exhibiting track abilities in the person of Thomas, of State. Thomas got off the mat several times and thus prolonged the match. Vick very nearly pinned his man also, but he was not quite successful and was awarded the time decision.

The bout between the 149-pounders was the feature of the evening. Captain Waters was matched against State's captain and student coach, "Red" Hicks. The fray was snappy from the start and every moment proved of interest. Waters secured a fall by means of headlock in the fourth minute of play; however, Hicks rolled off the mat and this of course made the fall of no value. The decision was awarded to Captain Waters, he having been on the offensive 5 minutes and 20 seconds.

In the 165-pound class, Coach Shapi

DEBATE COUNCIL RELEASES SPRING DEBATE QUERIES

Queries for the Two Triangles On Russian Government and Child Law.

TO DEBATE STATE AGAIN

Preliminaries for West Virginia Debate Will Be Held February 17—Supreme Court Question.

Debate queries for the remainder of the year, excepting the freshman intercollegiate debate, have been announced by the University Debate Council.

The schedule includes two dual debates, two triangles, and one Oxford Union debate, in addition to the South Carolina—William and Mary triangle.

The query for the Tulane—Sewanee triangle is "Resolved: That the United States should grant immediate recognition to the existing Russian Government." Carolina's affirmative meets Tulane's negative in Chapel Hill; Tulane's affirmative meets Sewanee's negative in New Orleans; and Sewanee's affirmative meets Carolina's negative in Sewanee, Tenn. The triangle will be composed of two-men teams. The Tar Heels won both ends of this triangle last year on the Supreme Court query.

The date of the preliminary for the West Virginia debate has been set for Tuesday night, February 17. This is the only preliminary in which no rebuttal will be held, inasmuch as Carolina will be represented on only one side of the question. The query is "Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to override Supreme Court decisions that declare Congressional acts unconstitutional."

The child labor amendment will be debated on the Washington and Lee—Johns Hopkins triangle, and also in the dual debate with George Washington University, as announced recently by the Council.

The State Oxford Union debate to be held in Raleigh in the spring on the query, "Resolved: That Congress should enact the Cummins-Vaile Birth Control Bill" constitutes the remainder of the schedule.

The query of the fresh-soph intersociety debate has been announced as "Resolved: That Congress should be empowered to enact a uniform marriage

STATE TOURNEY COMES HERE TOO

Will Be Held On May Fifth and Sixth.

S. I. C. CONTEST ON 8TH

New Tennis Courts Will Be in Good Shape.

Tennis is coming into its own here this spring. Upon the announcement that the Southern tournament will be held here May 8 and 9 comes the news that the State tournament will be held here also on May 5 and 6. Twenty-two of the largest institutions in the South will be represented in the greater tournament while every college in the State will be represented in the State meet.

The State tournament was held on the Country Club course at Greensboro last year on April 30 and May 1 and 2. In both of the doubles, Carolina's representatives went into the finals. The team composed of Soloman and Smith defeated Fuller and Whitaker for the State doubles-championship. The semifinals in the singles was the best match of the tournament in which Price, of Davidson, defeated Smith, of Carolina, in a thrilling three set match. In the finals, Price defeated Soloman, which gave Davidson the championship in the singles.

Manager Fuller and Captain Soloman are expecting Carolina's representatives to make a creditable showing in both of the coming tournaments. C. T. Woolen, graduate manager of athletics, is busy making all necessary arrangements.

The 40 new tennis courts have been turned over to the University by Atwood and Nash and the only remaining work to be done is the setting of the posts and nets and the work of a heavy steam roller, which will roll the courts steadily when the sog dries out of the upper earth.

INTRA-MURAL BALL PICKING UP SPEED

To Have Full Time Games from Now On.

REGULATIONS PASSED

All Players Must Be Examined by Dr. Lawson.

The second week of Intra-Mural basketball brought forth a bunch of new stars and showed great improvement in the work of the teams. With the preliminary games a thing of the past the quarters will be lengthened to the full time and larger scores will be piled up. Several forfeits have been made in the past two weeks and it was necessary to pass a very stringent rule in regard to forfeits. If a team forfeits two games in succession they will lose their place in the league and some other team will be allowed to enter. So far there has been no team to forfeit twice in succession.

On Friday night there was a meeting of the basketball managers. Mr. Gwynn, the official referee, recommended that a full schedule be published for all the managers and that every team wear some kind of insignia to help out the referees. Two athletic supply houses had representatives at the meeting and sold several teams uniforms. These uniforms, bought by the Dormitories and Fraternities, will make a permanent Intra-Mural uniform for each unit.

All participants in Intra-Mural basketball are required to take a physical examination. Unless every member of every team takes the examination the team will be ineligible. This ruling takes effect Jan. 29. One hundred and sixteen men have been examined to date and nine have been disqualified. Dr. Lawson is giving the examination at the gym and it is absolutely required by the University authorities.

But the Infant University Gave Tar Heels a Score.

GETS NOSED OUT 25-21

Old Buck Jumped Into Early Lead and Held Advantage Until the Last Half.

LAST GAME BEFORE LONG TRIP

Duke University Hasn't Got Her New Yells in Shape Yet and Carolina Students Are Disappointed.

Although outscored during the first half, the University of North Carolina basketball team staged a strong comeback in the last half and defeated Duke university 25-21, Saturday night, on the Methodists' court.

The game started off with the Duke five functioning like a well-oiled machine, and a healthy lead was run up on the Carolinians. However, in spite of the strong defense of the Durham team, the lead was reduced to 16-15 by the end of the first half.

Duke maintained her lead through the first minutes of the second half, but the Tar Heels, led by Purser and Devin, soon broke through the opponents' defense and ran up a four-point advantage. No scoring took place during the last few minutes of the game, the University men keeping the ball in safe territory in face of the five-man defense put up by the Methodists.

Dodderer played his usual steady game and his guarding made life miserable for the Duke players. McDonald tied with Devin for second place in scoring and his dribbling was a feature of the game.

Many University students made the pilgrimage to the Bull City, as the game Saturday night is the last scheduled before the northern trip. The Hillians had looked forward to hearing the new Duke war-whoops, but in that respect they were badly disappointed. The team wore jerseys with "Trinity" spelled out across them in big letters. The cheer leader was not very prominent, and splitting "Trinity" was the order of the day. It is not known among the Chapel Hill boys as to when the new Duke university goes into effect.

Jack Cobb was still confined to Watts hospital and Jimmy Pool substituted for him again. The Duke players were on the watch-out for the little forward that beat Lynchburg and Wake Forest and he was kept pretty well smothered during the game.

The game was played at a terrific pace until the last few minutes. The Tar Heels were unable to strike their gait until the Methodists had thrown a distinct scare into the spectators by their quick jump to the lead.

TAR BABIES PLAY THE YOUNG BUCKS

Meet Duke Frosh In Durham Tonight.

DUKE DEFEATED WAKE

Team Is Hopeful of Winning Game Tonight.

Coach Shepherd and his team journey to Durham to meet the Duke first year basketeers tonight in the second intercollegiate game of the Tar Babies. The odds are slightly in favor of the Duke yearlings by virtue of their victory over the Wake Forest freshmen who defeated the Shepherdites in an extra period game.

The Tar Babies have greatly improved since that time, however, and feel that they have at least an even chance of winning. They showed great improvement in the Mars Hill game and are beginning to show better team work as a result of their daily work outs.

The first string line-up is Morris and Ferrell at guards, Vanstory and Perkins forwards, and Newcomb-center. Vanstory has been the leading scorer and along with Newcomb bears the brunt of the attack. Perkins is a good floor man but has failed to break into the scoring columns heavily yet. Morris and Ferrell are both close guards, but against Mars Hill neither could drop the ball through the basket with much success. The squad shows great promise of developing into a great first year quint before the season closes and under Coach Shepherd's tutelage is fast rounding into shape.

Miss Louise Venable, of the Extension Division, has returned from a three-weeks trip to New York and Washington City.

Miss Pearl Setzer has returned from Wendell where she staged "What Happened to Jones" with much success.
