

MANY NOTABLES ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND OPENING FIGHT WITH THE CAMP BRAGG BOXERS HERE TONIGHT

Bill Cox Has Everything Ready For Bouts.

GOV. McLEAN COMING

President Chase, General Bowley and General Albert Cox Will Occupy Seats.

WILL NOT CHARGE ADMISSION

Registration Card and Free-Will Offering for Students—Ten Three-Round Bouts Starting 8:30.

With Bill Cox, the Jack Kearns of North Carolina and boxing promoter at the University, confidently asserting that he will have General Bowley, General Albert Cox, President H. W. Chase, and his excellency, Governor Angus Wilton McLean, in ring-side seats, the 1925 boxing season opens tonight at 8:30 with ten three-round bouts with Camp Bragg.

The main bout will be between Chief Mayle, heavyweight champion of the Army, and Captain Warren. Mayle represented the United States in the Olympic games held in Paris. Another hard contest will be between Battling Conway, Lightweight champion of Fort Bragg, and Tom Gallagher, Amateur Lightweight champion of North Carolina. Those who witnessed the match here last spring between Carolina and Fort Bragg will be glad to know that Devero, the Filipino who has boxed Pancho Villa five times, will be here and will box "Piggie" Jarrell of Charlotte in the 110 class.

The men have been working daily in the Tin Can in preparation for the initial match, and it is expected that they will make a good showing. They have developed very much in footwork, hitting, and self defense.

General Bowley is said to have wired for reservations for six reserved, ring-side seats, for the official Fort Bragg party. General Albert Cox is scheduled to make a short talk from the ring in behalf of military training for college boys.

The coming of General Bowley recalls the "late unpleasantness" that occurred between the General and Chester D. Snell, of the University Extension Division last year. The Tar Heel carried a story of the affair for the students and brought the General's wrath down upon its head. Some students, recalling the Bowley-Snell squabble have suggested a round or two between these two gentlemen. Others assert that Snell will be in the seats of honor with Mr. Bowley at tonight's mix-up.

The referee for the match tonight will be Lieutenant Duff, who acted in that capacity last spring. The ring will be elevated two feet from the floor to enable the spectators to obtain a good view.

There will be no admission charge for students, but a collection will be taken to help equip the team while on the northern trip.

SECOND GRILL DANCE FOR NEXT SATURDAY

Acacia Dance On Friday and Basketball Game and Grail Dance On Saturday Is Program.

Another Grail dance has been announced. This will be given next Saturday night following the Duke University basketball game here. Many desires have been expressed on the campus for a dance that night and the Grail members, desiring to have three dances this quarter, have decided to hold their next hop on the night of the Duke game.

The last Grail dance was proclaimed by students as the best of the year, and on the basis of that it is expected that many boys will have girls down for the coming dance. Besides there will be a bevy of girls here for the Acacia dance on Friday night and who will probably stay over for the Duke University-Carolina basketball game on Saturday night and the Grail dance.

The North State Eight will again play for the dance and it will be held in the Bynum gymnasium. Arrangements are already being made for the dance and it is expected that this coming dance will prove to be as good as the last Grail foot-shaking.

Elisha Mitchell Society Tuesday

The Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society will hold its 278th meeting in room 206, Phillips Hall, on Tuesday, February 10, at 7:30 P. M. Major Cain will present paper on "Maxwell's Theorems of Relative Displacement." Dr. E. K. Plyler will speak on the "Intra-Red Absorption of Ice." The public is cordially invited to attend.

MUSTACHE SPREE RETURNS TO HILL

The annual January-February mustache-growing spell has hit the Hill again this year, although as yet it has not attained the alarming popularity that it generally reaches. Sometime ago Rodolph Valentino, shiek of shieks, returned from abroad with a sprouted face, and the local movement is blamed by many on him. The Chicago barbers are said to have struck against the Valentino mustache for fear that it would spread over the country and ruin their business. So far no notice of a strike has come from the local tonsorial artists.

The mustache growing period here is an almost annual affair and is looked forward to by many old residents who watch the antics of the college youths with much amusement. For some strange reason, the popular beard growing time here is always during the first two months of the year.

A few defections of effections in the co-ed colony are the only serious damage reported to have resulted from the movement. Some of the gallants are being forced to grow mustache in order to keep in the race. Co-eds, they say, like mustaches.

Various reporters of the Tar Heel have compiled the following list of some of the campus lights who are in vogue: J. E. Shepherd, J. E. Hawkins, Ed. Gregory, Rabbit Bonner, Taylor Cheek, and Walter Woodson.

CIVIL ENGINEERS IN SESSION TODAY

North Carolina Society Meets Here.

EXPECT LARGE NUMBER Cain, Braun, Hickerson and Saville Local Members.

On Saturday, February 7, the North Carolina section of the American Society of Civil Engineers will hold their annual meeting with the William Cain chapters of the University in Phillips Hall.

There are at the present 110 members in the state and it is expected that a large percent of these will attend the meeting.

The morning session of the meeting will largely be taken up with the business meeting and the reports of the different committees. Lunch will be served the delegates at the Carolina Inn at 12, at which time President Chase will deliver a short address.

Mr. Nash, University architect, will open the afternoon session with a short talk on the University's Plans for Physical Development. Following this an automobile trip will be taken over the campus and an inspection will be made of the new work. The visitors will also be taken over the highway experiments on the Pittsboro road which have attracted much attention lately.

Other speakers will be C. N. Connor, of the state highway commission; Harry Tucker, secretary of the state board of registration for engineers; George T. Seabury, national secretary of the A. S. C. E.; C. M. Upham, chief of the state highway commission; H. P. Hammond, assistant director of the board, and W. L. Craven, bridge engineer.

The A. S. C. E. meeting will close about 3 or 4 o'clock in the afternoon; many of the members, however, will probably stay over for the quarterly dinner and meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at 6:30 at the Carolina Inn. The North Carolina section of this organization has members at Duke, State college and here. The purpose of the meeting is to enable practicing engineers to get in touch with the teachers of engineering in the state.

Among the distinguished guests who will attend the sessions of the two societies are George T. Seabury and H. P. Hammond. Mr. Seabury is the national secretary of the A. S. C. E. and is making a special trip from New York to attend the meetings in order to present the aims and activities of the national society to the local chapter. Mr. Hammond is assistant director of the joint board of investigation and co-ordination of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. This board was established several years ago for the investigation of engineering education. It attempts to correlate this to the practice of engineering. The board is composed of representatives from the large engineering societies, and its activities

THE MARIONETTES ARE COMING

Tony Sarg's Marionettes, who hold the popularity record in Chapel Hill, are booked for two performances here on March 7th, according to George Denney, of the Carolina Playmakers.

TRY-OUTS TO BE NEXT WEDNESDAY

Playmakers to Present "Torchbearers" Here Next Month.

LOUISE SAWYER DIRECTS

Play Reading Will Be Given in Gerrard Hall Monday.

The class in play production, under the supervision of the Carolina Playmakers, will produce "The Torchbearers" on March 10th as its second studio production. "The Torchbearers", which is a brilliant farce-comedy, has been selected because of its amusing character and because of the success its presentation has met with elsewhere. The purpose in producing the play is two-fold: to discover and train new actors and actresses, and to offer local audiences something different from the usual folk-play program of the Playmakers. The performance will be given on the usual Playmaker basis, regular season tickets to the Playmaker performances being good for admission to "The Torchbearers."

A reading of "The Torchbearers" will be given in Gerrard Hall at 8:30 Monday night, and try-outs for parts will be held at 4:30 Wednesday, Feb. 11, in Gerrard Hall. It is emphatically urged that everyone come out for parts in the play; no dramatic experience whatever is required, as the chief purpose in producing the play is to train new actors. It is felt that in a student body as large as that at Carolina, there must be more dramatic talent than that which the Playmakers, with their necessarily limited numbers, can include. Hence the try-outs Wednesday will be open to everyone in an effort to discover new dramatic ability.

"The Torchbearers" includes six parts for men and six for women. Its lines are clever, its characters laughable and yet lovable, and its situations irresistibly amusing. The climax of the play comes in the second act, when the scene is laid backstage; many ridiculous situations occur during the production of a play by well-meaning but amateurish actors.

The first studio production was "Prunella," produced with memorable success in the Forest Theatre last spring. In these studio productions all parts in the staging are taken by students, such as the offices of director, advertising manager, property man, etc. The direction of "The Torchbearers" will be in the hands of Miss Louise Sawyer, already well-known as an actress of much ability.

Linton Speaks in Chapel Tuesday

Mr. Albert Linton, vice-president of the Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, will appear at chapel next Tuesday morning at 10:30. There are more than 250 life insurance companies in the United States. The Provident Mutual is one of the wealthiest and most conservative of these companies.

Aside from Mr. Linton's position and success in his field, he is a splendid speaker. He is to present insurance as a profession.

In the United States there are about seventy billion dollars of life insurance. More than seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars is paid out annually to policy holders. And yet, it has been estimated that only 7 per cent of the economic value of human life in America is insured.

Before returning to Philadelphia after their New Year's day game with the University of California, the University of Pennsylvania's squad visited the oil fields of Kansas, the Grand Canyon and the large and interesting cities of California.

TONY SARG SENDS NEW PRODUCTIONS

Popular Marionettes Will Show Here on March 7th.

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS

"The Pied Piper" and "Treasure Island" Will Be Given.

An announcement from the Carolina Playmaker office that Tony Sarg's Marionettes have been booked for a performance in Chapel Hill will arouse widespread enthusiastic anticipation on the campus. The performance will be given in Memorial Hall on March 7th; brand new productions of two favorite classics will be given, the grotesquely humorous "Pied Piper of Hamelin" at the afternoon performance, and in the evening "Stevenson's "Treasure Island" with its wild band of lusty buccaners.

Most readers of The Tar Heel will need no introduction to the delights of Mr. Sarg's inimitable marionette dramas. "Rip Van Winkle" was presented here last year, and met with outstanding success during a season of unusually good entertainments. Mr. Sarg has spent many years in perfecting his marionettes, training the puppeteers to expert manipulation, and heightening the effect of stage devices and orchestral scores. According to the first newspaper criticism of the new productions, "Tony Sarg has attained that which he sought—Perfection—and the title of 'Marionette Master' is undeniably his'.

Mr. Sarg has been unusually happy in selecting "The Pied Piper" and "Treasure Island" as the new mediums for presenting his fascinating marionettes. Browning's "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" has grown from a fairy story into a cherished tradition, and one must have firm

SPRAY Y FALLS BEFORE FROSHIES

First Year Men Lick the Association, 25-15.

GOOD DEFENSIVE WORK

Newcomb Scores Ten Points and Leads Freshmen.

The Tar Babies added another victory to their credit when they defeated the Spray Y. M. C. A. here last Wednesday night by a score of 25 to 15. The first half of the game was characterized by very good defensive work on both sides.

It was only in the last quarter that the Tar Babies staged a strong defensive game, quickly running up a ten point lead, which the visitors were unable to overcome.

For Carolina Morris played an exceptionally good defensive game. Newcomb stood out as high scorer for Carolina, chalking up 10 points to his credit. Clark, Spray's right forward, was largely responsible for their score, making 10 of their 15 points.

Line-up and summary:
Carolina (25) Position Spray (15)
Vanstory (5) Clark (10)

Cadets Overcome by Southern Champions, 31-19

PLAYED IN LEXINGTON

Annapolis Team Swamped N. C., 39-20—Team Worn-Out from Long Invasion.

WAS THIRD DEFEAT THIS SEASON

Games With V. M. I. and Washington and Lee Important Contests—McDonald Joins the Team.

Showing the best form and smoothest team work seen on the V. M. I. court this season, the University basketball team defeated the Flying Squadron in Lexington Thursday night, 31 to 19. In the game against the Annapolis team the Tar Heels appeared worn-out from their long trip and allowed the Middies to run away with them, but in the game with the Virginia Cadets a complete reversal of form was shown.

Johnny Purser opened the scoring for Carolina shortly after the initial tip-off, and from the start the Hillians had a clear cut advantage over their opponents. Cobb, Purser, and Devin stood out in the offensive work and the guarding of the whole Tar Heel five forced the Cadets to resort to the use of long shots.

Bellinger and Wintringer carried the brunt of V. M. I.'s attack but were unable to compete with the Chapel Hill players. The first half ended 19 to 11 in Carolina's favor and in the second half the eight point lead was increased to 12 points.

Coach "Monk" McDonald joined his team at Lexington for the two games played there, Coach "Bob" Petzer, who accompanied the team on the first part of the trip, returning to Chapel Hill.

Navy Game
Already defeated by Harvard and the Crescent Athletic club, the North Carolina basketball team failed to put up the fight expected against the sailors Wednesday night. The Tar Heels were trip-worn and were conserving themselves for the two games in Lexington which they regarded as far more important games than the game with the Midshipmen.

Only one foul, a technical one, was called against the Tar Heels. This is regarded as a record for the Annapolis court and the clean playing of the local team received much praise. Both sides

MEET WOLFPACK ON NEXT TUESDAY

Varsity and Freshmen Go to Raleigh.

STATE HAS GOOD TEAM

Important Games to Be Played Here Soon.

Tar Heels and Tar Babies clash with Wolfpack and Wolfcubs in Raleigh next Tuesday night in what should be a superb exhibition of basketball.

The Raleigh teams have always been strong rivals of Carolina's in all sports, and although they haven't had the pleasure of defeating a Tar Heel quint for several years, they have driven them to some close scores.

This year, starting with poor prospects, the Technicians have developed a smooth running five that appears as a dangerous contender for state honors. Doped to lose to the Deacons of Wake Forest, it surprised even its followers by taking the measure of the Gharrrity crew in the second game.

The Tar Heels will go into the contest with a much needed rest after their strenuous northern trip. With the state championship yet to be made secure before worrying about the S. I. C. tournament, they will work hard to win the next few games with state colleges.

Most of the remaining state games will be played in the Tin Can. After State at Raleigh, South Carolina and Duke come here on Thursday and Saturday respectively. The following Tuesday and Thursday Wake Forest and State come to the Tin Can and on Saturday the Cavaliers of Virginia appear. On the Wednesday following, which will be the 25th, Washington and Lee and the Tar Heels meet in the grand finale before the S. I. C. tournament.

The Tar Babies meet the Duke yearlings in the Tin Can on the day following the State fresh game. Then on the 16th they take a trip through Virginia, meeting Fishburne, Woodberry Forest, Augusta Military Academy, and the V. P. L. W. and L., and V. M. I. freshmen, on consecutive nights.

Returning to the Hill they play Wake Forest and State here and close the season with Asheville high school.

BLASTING PERIOD NEARING ITS END

Work on New Church Progressing Rapidly.

INTEREST IN THE SHOVEL

Operator of Big Shovel Handles Machine With Ease.

In spite of the very unfavorable weather, work on the location of the new Methodist church is progressing remarkably well. The ease and precision of the operator in manipulating the big Erie steam shovel, scooping out truck loads of dirt at a time is still a source of curiosity and interest for the students and town folk. The shovel has been at work only a short time and a huge hole where formerly lay several thousand cubic feet of earth. This hole will, in the process of time, be converted into a very up-to-date and convenient basement to the $200,000 church the Methodists have planned.

A great number of huge granite rocks were found deposited under the top layer of soil, and a great deal of blasting has been necessary to break them up. This work has now been about completed and the almost daily early-morning blasting is at an end.

In the basement of the church there will be located two social rooms, a kitchen and dining room, the choir room, a place for the boiler and organ blower as well as other smaller divisions. The two social rooms are 20 by 21 feet, each having a large open fireplace. Here various committees and organizations may find a comfortable place to hold their meetings.

The largest room in the basement, 60 by 38 feet, is a combination dining room, social activities room and Boy Scout room. Conveniently located alongside and connecting with it is a kitchen which

TAR BABIES WIN FROM M. P. TEAM

Swamp Mount Pleasant Collegiate Institute.

FRESH MEN CONSISTENT

Offensive Attack Defeats Cadets By Score of 38-14.

Playing a consistently offensive game, the Carolina freshmen chalked up an easy victory against the Mount Pleasant Collegiate Institute quint here Thursday night, 38 to 14.

Mount Pleasant was kept constantly on the defense, while the Tar Heel center, Newcomb, easily found the basket for a high score of 13. Ferrell did outstanding floor work for the freshmen and was responsible for a good many of the points made by his teammates.

Tingle and Mock did good defensive work for the visitors, while McLaughlin was the high scorer for Mount Pleasant, scoring 5 points for the visitors.

Line-up and summary:
