SPORTOGRAMS
By C. R. JONAS

The Cavaliers of Virginia university are coming for a battle Saturday night in the Tin Can. "Pop" Lannigan, the genial trainer and coach of the Virginians, has wringed into shape the best basketball combination they have known in several years.

The Cavaliers definitely clinched the championship of the Old Dominion by an overwhelming victory over Washington and Lee several nights ago. In fact, they have gone through a hard season with only one defeat, and that at the hands of Maryland university before Christmas.

They are coming to the Hill Saturday night determined to avenge consistent defeats at our hands for the past several seasons. A team like that is always hard to beat.

The greatest athletic achievement of the year, and several years for that matter, and the one getting more publicity all over the country than any other, was Nurm's two-mile race at Madison Square Garden, New York City, Saturday night. He ran the distance six seconds faster than it ever had been run before.

Leading sport writers had predicted that the two-mile would never be run in less than nine minutes. Then comes Nurm, after running practically every night for the last month and a half, and makes the remarkable time of 8 minutes, 58 1-5 seconds, thus demonstrating that nothing is impossible in track athletics.

Teague, our bashful sprinter, and Andy Bell were Carolina's high scorers in the Virginia indoor invitation games last Saturday night. They each captured a first place again strong competition.

Teague outran the 50-yard sprinters from Virginia, Washington and Lee, and Maryland. He beat such recognized first rate men as Castleman of Virginia, Pugh of Maryland, and Millbank of Washington and Lee.

This same Teague went out to see a young Miss in Richmond Sunday morning before the team was scheduled to leave for home. He says the girl hid his watch, but anyway he missed the train by about two hours and was left stranded in Richmond with $6.00. The ticket to Raleigh was only $5.57, leaving him a small amount for meals and only a 40-mile walk from Raleigh to Chapel Hill. He reports that it was worth all of that.

Andy Bell, running his first varsity race, and participating in his first indoor track meet, upset all the dope by leading the field in the mile. Coach "Curly" Byrd of Maryland university said Andy had better prospects for developing into a strong miler than anybody he had seen lately.

Coach Bob Fetzer started something in North Carolina when he began winter football practice. Over 100 men at Davidson are out in answer to a recent call and have been issued uniforms. That means that practically 20 per cent of the entire Davidson student body are out for football.

Although repeated and tearful calls have been made by our coaches for more men to come out, less than 100 have responded. Surely out of a student body four times as large as Davidson we have at least as many interested in football as they. But it seems not.

This year Virginia is recognizing swimming as a monogram sport and putting out a dandy team. All of which reminds us that we have no place to even go swimming. Somebody is afraid "Little Johnny" will catch cold if he goes in before Easter.

Page Dr. Lawson! The University of Oregon operates a three-hole golf course on the campus. Students may substitute golf for gym, and credit is given in the physical education department for participation.

Playmakers Will Send Player to Dallas Texas

The Carolina Playmakers are to send a player to Dallas, Texas, about April 19 to represent them in the Dallas Little Theater production of "Outward Bound." The Dallas Little Theater, which won the Belasco Cup in the Little Theater tournament held in New York last spring, is going to give what they call a "Guest Performance." Representative players from distinctive producing groups in various sections of the country are invited to take part in the production; the cast for the Guest Performance will include players from North Carolina, St. Louis, Cleveland, Oklahoma, and California. This is the first time that any amateur theater group has endeavored to assemble players from different parts of the country, and as such it is eloquent of the increasing interest manifested in the Little Theater movement. The Guest Performance should exhibit an interesting comparison of dramatic treatment in the different sections

A Word Concerning
"YES BY GOSH"

Q Last year the Wigwe and Masque placed the seats for their show on sale at eleven A.M. At three that afternoon every reserved seat had been sold.

Q They are placing them on sale this year at Patterson's Drug Co. on Thursday. Reservations will be held until noon of the day of performance.

of the country.

Mrs. R. S. L. Knight, Jr., of the Dallas Little Theater, was in Chapel Hill a few days ago to make the necessary arrangements with the Playmakers for sending a player. "Outward Bound," which has been selected for the Guest Performance, was written by Sutton Vane and has had a long and successful run in New York. The part selected for the Playmaker representative is that of "The Girl" played by Margalo Gilmore in the New York production. Open competitive try-outs for this part will be held at a date to be announced later. The performance in Dallas will be given for a whole week, beginning on the 20th of April.

SAYS HAWKINS PLAGIARIZES
Mr. Editor:

As a whole, I think the Carolina Magazine has been far above par this year, but the belated January issue has slightly cooled my high esteem of the campus' literary organ and its editor.

Specifically I refer to the so-called "Campus Note" which appeared on the last page of the January issue. In the first place the piece is not worthy of having been printed in the Magazine, being of no literary value whatsoever. And in the second place, the author of it, Mr. Hawkins, I am informed, is guilty of rank plagiarism. The article, in the main, was turned in to the TAR HEEL in the spring of 1923 by a freshman and had to do with a certain escapade of Hawkins during his sophomore year. The editor of the TAR HEEL rejected the article, passed it around for the amusement of the board, and finally gave it to Hawkins.

Now why Hawkins should take a freshman's effort that was rejected by the TAR HEEL two years ago and change it around is beyond me. I happen to know that the piece as it now stands is a rank fabrication and is without foundation.

If Hawkins is gathering material in such devious manner as the above and pawing it off as his own, then surely he is guilty of the lowest sort of plagiarism and his magazine is to be seriously discounted.

Sincerely,
W. C. K., Jr.
