The V. P. I. Match

The V. P. I. match started off snappily and with much "mixing it up". Heafner went in against Barr in the 119-pound class. However, Barr won by having a 71-second advantage in the first nine minutes of play.

Motsinger met Elsea in the 120 class. The match was hard-fought throughout the first nine minutes of the bout, but for the first three minutes of the finals, Motsinger was down. Elsea secured the advantage quickly and after quite a struggle succeeded in pinning Motsinger's shoulders to the mat. This was the first loss of his career.

Vick's opponent was Rouse, captain of the Polytechnic boys. This was also a speedy match, but the captain of the Technicians got the advantage in the fifth minute of the bout, and thus he won on time.

Captain Waters mixed it up with Faulkner, the 149-pounder from Blacksburg. During the first nine minutes Waters was on the offensive. However, he failed to get the desired minute, so they had to go into the three-minute bouts. Faulkner was down for the first three minutes, being on the mat practically all the time. During the next period, the Carolina captain was down only a short period. Thus, he won the bout easily on time.

In the 162-pound match Blankenship and Ray faced each other on the mat. Although the V. P. I. man had only one hand, he was a specimen of strength and physique. Ray won the match on a time decision.

"K. O." Warren, just returned from the boxing trip through Virginia, met Miles in the 175-pound class. They came to the mat several times, and at least twice it appeared as though Warren had secured a fall. However, Miles always managed to come through and finally won the bout on time.

Lockart went in against Lineberry in the unlimited class. After a severe struggle, Lineberry succeeded in bringing Lockart's shoulders to the mat and the bout closed, 22-3.

On Friday, Carolina meets Concord Y there, and on Saturday they encounter Davidson there. The outcome of these two matches is eagerly awaited, but it is felt that the team will come back with two scalps from the western part of the State when it returns Sunday.

Secretary Everett Speaks to Delta Pi

"High ideals of gentlemanly conduct and the cultivation of a spirit of true Fellowship should be the basis of fraternity life," declared Hon. W. N. Everett, Secretary of State, in a brief address before the newly organized Delta Pi fraternity here Monday night.

At the combined business and social meeting of this fraternity Monday night, many faculty members and guests of honor were present through invitation. Following Mr. Everett's address, Mr. H. F. Comer favored the gathering with a short outline of fraternity ideals and set forth the true purpose of fraternity life, as the spirit of true fellowship as its vital objective. Short talks were heard then by Dean F. P. Bradshaw, Mr. Newsome, of the history department, Dr. T. J. Wilson, Jr., and Prof. W. J. Matherley. President Chase and Dr. Henry were scheduled to appear on the program, but were unable to attend by reason of other pressing engagements.

The meeting ended in a friendly "session," in which a bountiful spread of "eats" figured prominently. In addition to charter members and pledges, several invited students were present.

Delta Pi, organized here this year, now has a well-furnished hall in the Klutz building, and a total of 13 charter members and pledges. Charter members are: Book Brecht, Bennettsville, S. C.; S. Ellis, Winston-Salem; Edward Fry's, Franklinton; Carl Brett, Chadbourn; Paul Kirkman, Winston-Salem; Ode Smith, Rockingham; Cedric Leary, Aheskie; Mack Balser, Rowland, and Ray Strik, Winston-Salem. Pledges are: Roy Brookbank, Winston-Salem; William Phillips, Morehead City; Douglas Banks, Franklinton, N. C., and Charles Terry, Rockingham.

Prizes Are Offered For Essays and Orations

The Commission on Interracial Co-operation, with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, announces the offer of three prizes of $100, $50, and $25 respectively, for the three best orations or essays on race relations, submitted by students in Southern white colleges during the present school year. The only condition of entrance of any oration or essay is that it shall have been delivered on some public college or university campus this year or published in a college or university magazine. The contestants are free to choose any phase of the general subject of race relations and to treat it as they see fit. The purpose of the contest is to encourage study and discussion of this subject among college students.

The Law Library Still Inadequate

the other phases of the schools development. At least $20,000 are needed to bring the library up to the libraries of other schools that are in the same class.

The report shows that the work of the law clubs has been highly successful during the past year. A large portion of the credit for this is due Professor Albert Coates, under whose guidance the clubs have been functioning. Out of these moot courts the law school association has grown. This organization exists for the promotion of the law club work and to further the general interests of the law school. One of the things which it has accomplished during the past year is the number of portraits of prominent legal figures it has secured. Among these are portraits of Dr. John Manning, Judge W. H. Battle and Judge James E. Shepherd.

Due to the small subscription list and the amount of work attached to its publication, the Law Review will be reduced in size beginning with the next issue. The Review was conducted last year by Professor Wettach and had a very favorable reception both within and outside the state. The present plan is to cut the size of the magazine and send it free to the lawyers of the state, as it is believed that this plan will render it more useful to the bar.

ACACIA CHAPTER GIVES AN ENJOYABLE DANCE

One of Best Dances in the New Carolina Inn Given Last Friday.

One of the most successful dances ever given in the Carolina Inn was given last Friday by the local chapter of the Acacia fraternity. The ballroom of the Inn was beautifully decorated with hearts and cupids and the Acacia colors, black and gold. Suspended from a balcony of the spacious ballroom was a lovely basket heart with the Acacia triangle made brilliant by the use of many electric lights.

Dancing began at 9 o'clock with the Piedmont Strollers of Durham playing. At 11:30 a delicious four-course buffet dinner was served, during which the guests were given a treat by a trio of entertainers who Tuesday night had performed for the Shrine ball at the Carolina hotel at Pinehurst.

Dancing was resumed after the dinner and continued until 1:30. Beautiful variety favors with the Acacia coat of arms were given the girls attending. Many girls attended the dance, and representatives from all the fraternities on the Hill were present.

Following is a list of girls attending the dance:

CO-EDS NOW BOARDING AT ROBERSON HOUSE

Women Students Are Scattered All About the Village Since Russell Inn Went Up in Smoke.

After a period of two weeks during which the women students forced by the loss of Russell Inn to seek food in new places have been getting their meals at the various cafeterias and at Swain hall, a dining room has been opened in the Robertson house and meals will be served for the rest of the college year there.

Before the old kitchen and dining room were available for use, furniture which had been stored there by former occupants had to be removed; chimneys condemned by the fire inspector had to be mended, and a general house-cleaning given to the old Robertson house. Mrs. E. S. Johnson, who is social director of the dormitory, has moved into the Robertson house, after spending some time with her sister on Cameron avenue.

Arrangements have been made to accommodate 26 for meals in the new dining room. The girls who could not be given rooms in the Robertson house have found "quarters" all about the village," to quote the Chapel Hill Weekly.

At Mrs. Green Bryan's are Misses Cornelia Wearn, Annie Moss Taylor, Naomi Alexander, Norma Connell, Margaret Jones, Lois Rogers and Sara Boyd, while Misses Aileen Sherrill and Frances Hampton are at Mrs. Utley's. Miss Romagne Galloway is at Mrs. Schwartz's, Miss Geneva Phillips at Mrs. Summerlin's, Miss Elizabeth Collier at Mrs. Julia Graves', Misses Louise Williams and Elena Tavera at Mrs. Penny's, Misses Mary Less Abernethy and Jewel Slink at Mrs. J. A. Warren's, Miss Cassia Wallace at Mrs. F. C. Smith's, Misses Miriam Sauls and Eunice Ervin at Mrs. Archer's, and Miss Mary Calhoun Henley at Mrs. Giles'.

Two Papers Read to Scientific Society

Two papers were read before the Eliza Mitchell Scientific Society at their 278th meeting last Tuesday night. Major Cain discussed Maxwell's Theorems of Relative Displacements, and Dr. Plyler presented a paper on the Infra-Red Absorption of Ice.

Dr. Cain's theorem is the same as was stated by Clerk Maxwell, the great English physicist and mathematician, several years ago. This theorem held that if a force is applied to any part of a beam, the resulting deflection at any other point on the beam will be replaced by the original force, which in turn produces a corresponding deflection at the point of the original force. Major Cain's contributions to the theorem were applications to arches of the cantilever type and extensions of the theorem to other structures.

Dr. Plyler opened his paper with a discussion of the structures of the infra-red design and methods of measurement. His special problem dealt with an investigation of the relative transparency of ice when frozen in hexagonal form and exposed to infra-red radiation along its various optical axes. He stated that he had reached the conclusion that water was probably made of H₂O or (H₂O)² and expressed the opinion that ice is probably formed from (H₂O)³.

During the discussion by chemists, geologists and physicists, various opinions were expressed as to the probable structure of the inner space between crystals. Many geologists believe that it is a layer of water. The general opinion of those taking part in the discussion seemed to point to unknown forms of ice between crystals. Dr. Plyler intends to investigate this theory later on.

The March meeting of the society will be taken up with a discussion of the nucleus of atoms led by Professor Patterson.

The players in Oglethorpe University are planning to tour Georgia in much the same way as the Playmakers recently did, in an effort to do for Georgia what the Playmakers are doing for North Carolina. The Playmakers have received a request from the English department at Mercer, also, asking for information relative to the installation of a course in dramatics.
