

COLLEGES SENT MANY DELEGATES FOR CONFERENCE

Annual Conference of Student Volunteer Union Come to Close Sunday Night.

150 DELEGATES HERE

Dr. North, of Rocky Mount, Opened Conference Friday Night—Elizabeth Cowan New Union President.

The Conference of the Student Volunteer Union of North Carolina came to a close Sunday night after a splendid three days session. There were about one hundred and fifty delegates here, representing colleges from all over the State.

Dr. North, of Rocky Mount, delivered the opening address Friday night on the theme of the Conference, "More Consecration for Missions." He sounded the keynote and started the Conference off with an atmosphere of devoted consecration.

The get acquainted social at the Baptist church following the address was well attended by the University students. The drawing card was the presence of one hundred lady delegates. Tom Quikel, who was chairman of the local arrangements for the Conference, was master of ceremonies and kept the crowd moving so the University students and the Volunteers could get acquainted with one another. Much pep was exhibited by all those present. There were songs and yells from the various groups, introductions and receiving lines, and games that tended to have a get acquainted purpose. Stunts added very much to the merriment of the gathering. Pointexter gave a comic reading, "Me and My Gal"; N. C. C. W. girls performed the burial of "I Kant"; Miss Ella Outland, as a N. C. C. W. graduate would say it, as a Chapel Hill lawyer would say it, and as six year old "Mary" would say it; Frank Warner, John Westbrook, and Mr. Ives, all of Duke University, gave selections on stringed musical instruments. The Young Peoples Interdenominational Union was joint host of the social, and also gave a stunt which was greatly enjoyed. A cross word puzzle, composed of words appropriate for missions and George Washington's birthday combined.

FINISH TRY-OUTS FOR DI MINSTREL

Kike Kyser Is Moving Spirit of the Minstrel.

55 MEN IN THE COMPANY
Pritchard, Lowe, Jarrell Are All in One Group.

Tryouts for the Di minstrel during the last few days under Kike Kyser have resulted in the following partial selection of the cast:

First group—Grier, Wallace, McPherson, McIntosh, Kenny, Henderson.

Second group—"Runt" Lowe, Grady Pritchard, Ben Hicks, "Fizel" Horton, Abe Harris, and "Piggy" Jarrell.

Third group—Schmidt, Davis, "Red" Foister, Erskine Duff, and Kike Kyser.

The singers already selected include McClamrock, Malone, McIver, Fulton, Marvin Wilson, W. Wilson, Lucas, Horton, Latham, Richardson, Brown, Bruner, and Bill Vaughn.

The production will include a number of features which will be very attractive. A professional female impersonation, an eight-man buck dancing team, a saxophone sextette, a monologue, musical act de luxe, and a roaring burlesque on the Playmakers. The circle men have been partly selected, and the remainder will be selected at the next rehearsal, the time for which will be announced by Kyser.

Original and unique lighting effects for the performance are being worked out by Mr. Graham, of the University electrical department.

Costumes and scenery will be original and are all being worked out by students. They will be the most elaborate seen on the Hill for many a day. The North State Eight, with the assistance of several string instruments, will have charge of the musical end of the show.

The veteran George Denny will act the part of the interlocutor. Denny has been closely associated with the Playmakers since that organization's babyhood, and his ability in all classes of acting has been stellar. Needless to say, he will strut his stuff with the usual excellency and add a lot of pep to the show.

The dates for the minstrel have been set for Wednesday and Thursday, April 1 and 2 in Memorial hall.

There are to be approximately 50 original sure-fire jokes and about 40 jocular tunes used in the show. A total of about 55 will make up the company.

WILL HOLD INDOOR MEET MARCH 3RD

To Hold Big Indoor Track Meet Next Tuesday.

IS ANNUAL OCCASION
Steele Dormitory Won Track Cup Last Year.

Following the precedent set last year, the Intra-Mural department will hold a big indoor track meet in the Tin Can this quarter and expects to have an even greater event than the very successful one of a year ago. The "big meet" is scheduled for March 9 and the Intra-Mural officials announce that plans have been made for nine events in the preliminaries.

Several records were made last year which were a credit to the participants and will be hard to excel this season, though many new records will no doubt be set at the big meet. Steele dormitory won the award of a beautiful trophy cup for having scored the greatest number of points of last year's event, with Ruffin, New Dorms, and Grimes fighting hard and close behind.

The events will be the same as at the former meet. Winners of the respective events with their records were:

75-yard dash: McMurray, Ruffin. Time 8.5 sec.

50-yard hurdles: Ambrose, Steele. Time, 6.6 sec.

440-yard run: McPherson, New Dorms. Time, 59.5 sec.

880-yard run: Wessels, Grimes. Time, 2:15.3.

Standing broad jump: Corpening, East. Distance, 10 feet.

Running high jump: Huggins, Ruffin. Height, 5 ft. 2 in.

Three legged race (75 yds.): Grimes. Time, 10.6 sec.

8-man team shuttle relay: Steele.

12-man team shuttle relay: West.

Managers have been appointed for the various dormitories and are urged to get right behind their dormitory and help it to have one of the best teams of the year.

One of the purposes of the big indoor carnival is to encourage men to participate in spring track, and the larger number interested the better. The list of managers follows:

New Dorms, E. J. Evans, 2 Battle; Manly, H. L. Coe, 101; South, F. L. Young, 6; "F," J. M. Henderson, 118; Mangum, C. E. Wike, 215; Smith, H. B. Pritchett, 26; Carr, J. P. Ford, 301; Grimes, William Walters, 311; Ruffin, M. S. Giersch, 108; West, David Thomas, 201; "G," W. B. Gaskie, 214; "J," J. C. Price, 302; East, H. L. McCall, 205; Steele, A. E. McIntyre, 26.

FEBRUARY ISSUE MAGAZINE IS O. K.

Reviewer Likes Everything But the Cover.

POETRY IS BETTER
Editor Waxen Warm in His Leading Editorial.

J. E. FARRIOR

Although the last issue of the Carolina Magazine came from the press very late, it has proved to be the best that has come out this year. It was a slight disappointment that the cover design should be the same as the first issue of the year. We liked the cover of the December issue so well that we hoped more pleasant surprises in the color line were in store for us.

The first article in the Magazine is a clear and coherent expression of the author's ideas on a very pertinent subject. But it leaves us just a little tired. We have heard this question debated so hotly from all angles lately that there doesn't seem to be any kick in it any more. Josiah W. Bailey's article, "In Behalf of Political Partisanship," is a good and timely one. Whether or not we agree with Mr. Bailey, his article gives food for thought. "Ruined by Testimonials" is a clever but ridiculous sketch.

The short story, "Violets," is admirably done and is rather above anything in the fiction line that the Magazine has run this year. Mr. King's article about the so-called red-blooded fiction is one, that we wish we could read about half the folks we know to read, though we doubt that it would delay them at all from rushing after the latest "best seller."

In "Folk Songs of the American Negro" Miss Lay deals with a subject that all southerners would do well to know more about. The negro songs—above all, the negro spirituals—are a product of our own south but most southerners know, actually, very little about them.

The various short sketches are on the whole better than the "fillers" that one usually finds scattered through the advertising. "Oh, Sing Unto the Lord" (Continued on page four)

LETZ QUARTET IS COMING MARCH 3

One of America's Premier String Quartets.

IS NATIONALLY KNOWN
Very Popular Especially In College Communities.

The Letz quartet, of New York, which will be heard here in a program of chamber music at Gerrard hall on March 3 at 8:30 o'clock, now ranks as one of the premier string quartets in America. It is in a way an outgrowth of the famous Kneisel quartet, of which Mr. Letz, the head of the organization, was an important member during its concluding seasons.

In New York City alone it is booked almost every year for several important series, such as the Columbia University course, the Educational Alliance series of the chamber music concerts, the Brooklyn Institute course and many individual appearances with clubs and musical organizations.

The quartet is well known around Chapel Hill, having appeared here on two previous occasions, and upper classmen will well remember them.

Among the chamber music organizations of the United States the Letz quartet ranks right at the top. The American, of Charleston, S. C., had the following to say about the Letz quartet, after it had given a concert in that city a few years ago: "The Letz quartet have the essential qualities of the interpreters of chamber music, namely, the combination of performances which makes for smooth dialogue rather than unwanted prominence of any one contributor to the musical conservation. Each member of the quartet, however, proved a real artist."

The Letz quartet, one of the most famous chamber music organizations in the country, has done a great deal to popularize its concerts. Not only does it present complete works of the classic and modern composers, but also transcriptions of popular works, such as Grainger's "Molly on the Shore" and Tschalkowsky's "Andante Cantabile." The concert will prove extremely popular among all classes of music lovers.

The quartet has an especial appeal for college communities. That the programs of chamber music given by them have unusual interest and great educational value, in addition to the purely musical and entertaining features, is best proved by the fact that from year to year this organization is being engaged and re-engaged by the leading educational institutions of the country.

The musicians are being brought here by the Department of Music.

"YES BY GOSH" RECEIVES ALMOST UNQUALIFIED PRAISE FROM X-ROADS

Reviewer's Faith in Carolina Revived—Musical Comedy Is a Cure for Headaches, Indigestion and Indisposition—Play Pronounced Good From Overture to Finale—Those Responsible Are to Be Congratulated.

Occasionally during our four years sojourn at this institution, we have had our faith in Carolina revived. It appears now and then that the University of North Carolina is more than a legalized convocation of the state's younger morons.

Monday night we went to the initial performance of "Yes, by Gosh!" with a very efficient headache, a bad digestion, and prepared to wield the scurrilous typewriter to the damnation of all amateur theatricals; we left the performance feeling top-hole, went to Gooch's, partook of foods such as no sane man will eat, repaired to our attic and started this—here we are:

"Yes, by Gosh!" is good from overture to finale; to our mind, the best offering that the Wigwag and Masque has yet proffered the campus. We understand that the entire production—sets, costumes, lighting, script and music—comes from within the organization; if so, it is to be congratulated: authors, cast, managers and directors.

The hits of the play were Theodore Fitch's voice and the remarkable dancing of Gene Brwin. Fitch as an actor is practically nil, but he has a delightful voice which is the mainstay of the show. Erwin with Harry Briggs is almost professional in the Argentine-Russian dance. The music for this number is an excellent following of the Rimski-Korsky motifs, and creates an effective atmosphere. Again in the number, "There's no doubt about it," Erwin, supported by Billy Vaughn, responds to four encores—and deserves them.

Deveraux Lippitt as the aspiring widow, and Jim Bob Blackwell, the daughter, are not so good; Blackwell, however, does make a beautiful girl, if one is not

U. OF VA. DEFEATED BY TAR HEEL FIVE

Ancient Enemy Loses to Basketball Team 26-15 in Great Defensive Game Here.

DEVIN PLAYS HIS BEST

Victory Over Old Dominion Quint Probably Gives North Carolina 1925 S. A. Title.

The Tar Heels outplayed and outclassed the Cavaliers of the University in their annual classic in the Tin Can last Saturday and won by a decisive margin, 26 to 15.

The game was played at top speed by both quint and while the Carolinians gained an early lead and held it throughout the game, they were hard pressed by the Cavaliers who constantly threatened until the last few minutes.

Both quint played a superb defensive game and goals from the floor were few. Due to the close guarding numerous fouls were called on both sides, and near the end of the first half Holland, visiting forward, was removed from the game. Each team received 14 free shots, but neither could successfully cage them, Virginia making seven good while Carolina put six through.

The Tar Heels gained a five-point lead during the early part of the first half and appeared to be rolling up a good margin when Captain Miller for the visitors called time out. After a brief rest and conference the Cavaliers returned to the fray and slowly crept up on the Cobblers until the half ended with Carolina leading by two points, 12 to 10.

The second half continued the fast work of the initial period and the Cavaliers appeared unable to stand the pace as well as the Tar Heels and were continually running in substitutes. Wren, substituted for Holland, proved to be one of the fastest men on the floor and played a brilliant game. McCoy, the visiting left forward, handled the ball well and was high scorer for the Cavaliers. Walp played a consistently good game at guard and ran the floor with the fastest of them.

Captain Cobb was outstanding among the Tar Heels and seemed to be the only man on the court that could locate the basket accurately from the long distance that the strong defense of both teams made necessary. He tossed five field goals and with 10 points to his credit was the high scorer for the evening. Devin played perhaps his best game of the season. He was fast and skillful at handling the ball and shot two field goals from a good distance.

Rameses made his second appearance at a basketball game with much better success than on the previous occasion— (Continued on page four)

CAROLINA QUINT LEAVES TONIGHT FOR ATLANTA TO MEET GOBBLERS IN FIRST GAME TOMORROW NIGHT

LAST GAME AT 4 P. M. TODAY

Due to the fact that the Tar Heels are leaving tonight for Atlanta the game scheduled with Washington and Lee for tonight will be played this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Tin Can. The Generals will accompany the Tar Heels to Atlanta.

Last year the Virginians proved to be the hardest opponents that the "wonder team" met in a scheduled game, but this season's quint appears to be somewhat weaker. The Generals were runner-up to the Cavaliers for the championship of the Old Dominion but were decisively defeated by the big "V" team.

In spite of its somewhat mediocre record the W. & L. quint should prove a good opponent for Coach Monk's team. The Generals have a fighting tradition and will be primed for the battle tonight, hoping to score a victory over the Tar Heels.

MONOGRAM CLUB MET LAST FRIDAY

Holds Supper-Meeting Gooch's College Inn.

DR. ROBERSON SPEAKS

Coach Bob Arises From Sick Bed to Attend Meeting.

The Monogram club held the most successful supper meeting of the year last Friday evening. The affair was at Gooch's College Inn, and, despite the fact that only twenty-eight monogram men were present, a very interesting and instructive meeting was held.

After the supper was disposed of, and while lingering over the demi-tasse, President Chris Fordham, who is the club's only active married member, called the meeting to order and introduced Professor Frank S. Rowley, of the Law Faculty.

Professor Rowley, in a very interesting discussion of college spirit, mentioned several ways by which the monogram club could improve the spirit on any campus. He mentioned the fact that student mortality is very high at Carolina, and forcibly brought home to the club how they might exert an influence upon many freshmen which would cause them to remain in school.

Dr. Foy Roberson, an old Carolina football man, was then called upon. He threw the boys into a quandary by abruptly asking them why they are going out for athletics. Is it to provide recreation? Is it to furnish thrills? Is it love for the sport and athletic competition? What? Answering his own question Dr. Roberson pointed out the great opportunity for individual development which competitive athletics offers to a man. The spirit of friendly competition, the opportunity to practice fair play and good sportsmanship offers untold advantages for mental and moral as well as physical development. He mentioned the fact that the physical side has been overemphasized, and tried to impress the men with the fact that the real foundation of the entire athletic system is the opportunity for moral development. The conclusion of his talk was a plea for the continuance of the fine good sportsmanship which has made Carolina athletic teams famous all over the country.

Coach Bob Fetzer got up from a sick bed to be present at this meeting. As usual he was called upon and as usual responded nobly. The few minutes he talked was devoted to cautioning the men not to become satisfied with themselves, not to be content to rest upon past glories, and not to think that a good team last year insures a good one next season. A plea was made that we forget scores, and that we make as the goal of our success service rather than scores. He urged the monogram club to stand as a unit firmly and squarely for the right things on the athletic field and on the campus and in the state.

Captain Dale Ranson, of track fame, called for a closer co-operation among the men of the various squads. He bespoke a better feeling between football men and other sportsmen. He drew an indictment against the monogram club for inactivity and suggested that while the potential power of the organization is almost unlimited, it is actually doing nothing. He urged action.

At the close of the meeting it was announced that the monogram club would take over one of the Easter dances. This is made possible by the courtesy of the German club.

J. Heinie Linberger and J. Spike Saunders were in Raleigh yesterday afternoon on business.

Coach McDonald Will Not Accompany Team.

PLAY GENERALS TODAY

V. P. I. Has Been Defeated by Virginia and Davidson—Not Considered As Serious.

COBBMEN SHOULD DEFEAT TECH

Maryland, South Carolina, Alabama, Tulane and Virginia Appear As Pre-Tournament Favorites.

Following this afternoon's game with the Washington and Lee Generals, the University basketball quint will leave tonight for Atlanta where they will meet the V. P. I. Gobblers Thursday night in the first round of the annual S. I. C. Tournament. While the tournament was not scheduled to get under way until Friday night the large number of entries made it necessary to begin Thursday night. The team with three substitutes will leave for Atlanta with Freshman Coach Shepherd in charge, studies forcing Coach McDonald to remain on the Hill. Manager Jack London and Dr. Lawson will also accompany the squad.

V. P. I. has a good quint but all dope points to the Tar Heels sweeping them aside in a forward rush to the championship. The Gobblers have been defeated by several teams, including Virginia and Davidson, while both these teams have fallen before the fast flying Cobblers.

An unusually large number of teams is entered in the tournament and because of this fact some teams had to play a Thursday night game although it was originally planned for the tournament to start on Friday. Carolina was unlucky enough to draw one of these first night games.

Among those teams which appear as potential champions along with Carolina are Maryland, South Carolina, Alabama, Tulane and Virginia. There are other strong teams entered and while one of the above teams is hoped to come through to the championship some dark horse may upset the dope.

The schedule of the tournament worked out on the winner-play-winner style has not been announced but rumor has it that Maryland and Alabama are to meet each other in the first battle and thus one of two strong contenders will be eliminated early. The schedule is divided into two halves or sections and the winners of each half are to meet Tuesday night in the grand finale. It has not yet been announced in which half the Tar Heels are placed or which other teams are also in their section.

Eight players will be taken on the trip, Poole and Hackney are going in addition to the first five composed of Cobb, Dodderer, Purser, and Devin. Many Carolina fans have threatened to make the trip also by hobnobbing or otherwise. "Red" Bowman is expected to forsake the baseball diamond for a few days to attend and Heinie Linberger will leave The TAR HEEL to his assistants and do likewise.

WILDCATS DEFEAT U. N. C. WRESTLERS

Western Trip Nets One Win and One Loss.

LICK THE CONCORD Y 35-0

Wildcats Nose Out Carolina On Time Decision.

The Carolina grapplers netted one victory and one loss on their trip into the western part of the state over the weekend, winning from Concord "Y" 35-0 and losing to Davidson 14-11.

They met the Concord "Y" team on last Friday and every man secured a fall in this meet. This is the record for this year's team in point of scoring. The bout of particular note was between Taylor, 162-pound Carolina man, and Anthony, unlimited, of Concord. Although Anthony outweighed him by 30 pounds, Taylor secured a fall over him.

The Tar Heels encountered the Wildcat matmen on Saturday night in a bout which was fast and closely contested throughout. In the 119-pound class Hearner lost to Davidson's man, Frierson, on time. Motsinger made things even again, however, by gaining a time decision over the Presbyterians' 129-pounder, Barrington. Vick lost on a fall to Cox in the second three-minute period after the main bout of nine minutes.

Captain Waters won from L. P. Cox on time, they going through the two extra three-minute periods. In the 162-pound group, Blankenship lost to the Wildcat's captain, Patterson, on time.
