

SUMMER SCHOOL SESSION STARTS HERE JUNE 12TH

First Term Begins Shortly After Commencement and Ends July 21st.

EXPECT LARGE NUMBER

Pass New Regulations to Prevent Co-eds Turning Summer School Into Summer Resort.

Final arrangements for the 1925 session of the University summer school have been practically completed and all indications seem to point to the largest attendance on record. Applications have been coming in to Dean Walker's office for several weeks from people over the state who expect to attend the summer term. The first term begins on Friday, June 12, and ends on July 21. Registration for the second term starts on July 22 and ends with the final examinations on August 29.

Vance, Battle, Pettigrew and Smith dormitories are being reserved for the men students, Carr for married couples, and the rest of the dormitories for the women. South will be closed for repairs and will not be used. By this arrangement the men will all be placed on the west side of the campus and the women on the east; the three new buildings in the triangle being used to take care of the increased number of co-eds that each summer brings.

The courses offered will be about the same as usual with a few exceptions. The alternation of courses in the departments always causes a few new courses to be given each year, one being offered one summer and another the next. Several instructors from other institutions have been secured to supplement the regular summer faculty.

One of the new regulations for next summer provides that no girl under 24 years of age will be permitted to room out in town unless she either lives in Chapel Hill or has relatives here. The Adviser of Women and the Dean of Students think that this may prevent some co-eds from using Chapel Hill as a summer resort, past experience having shown that residence off the campus usually has a marked influence on class work.

Expenses for the six weeks will be the same as in the past, with the exception of room rent, which has been raised from $6.00 a term to $7.50. The registration fee is $15.00 for all students and $10.00 extra for students who are not teachers.

BILL COUCH FOR AN N. C. SYSTEM OF WATERWAYS

Advocates Formation of a State Transportation Commission for Waterways-Highways.

AN N. C. CLUB PAPER

Great Amount of Dredging At High Cost Would Be Necessary to Open Channel Into Wilmington.

The formation of a state transportation commission which would include and control waterways as well as highways, was advocated by William T. Couch before the regular bi-weekly meeting of the North Carolina club Monday evening. He declared that such a commission is the first and most important step to be taken toward a solution of the state's transportation problems. "This body should have direction of all transportation facilities in the state, waterways as well as roads, to develop each according to the demands for it, and to consider and develop projects for the future," he declared. The topic before the club for discussion was Ports and Terminals for North Carolina.

The paper presented dealt with three clearly defined and inter-related phases of the subject, as follows: (1) What are the possibilities on the North Carolina coast for the development of inland waterways, and for the development of a modern port for sea-going vessels? (2) Would it pay to give further development to the port at Wilmington and our inland waterways? (3) If so, how should this development be promoted?

North Carolina's coast line has ample possibilities insofar as it has to do with "physical conformation" for the development of inland waterways; but this does not mean that such a development would be a profitable one. Dr. Collier Cobb was quoted by the speaker as being of the opinion that Wilmington is not the logical place for a modern port development, for it would be "practically impossible and entirely too costly." The privately owned shipping facilities at Wilmington are adequate for the present, (Continued on page four)

MUCH INTEREST BEING DISPLAYED IN MARIONETTES

Applications for Reserved Seats Are Pouring Into Playmakers' Office.

SHOW HERE ON MARCH 7

Stage in Memorial Hall Being Raised Three Feet Higher for Benefit of Marionettes.

Keen interest is being shown on the campus in the coming of Tony Sarg's Marionettes on March 7. Reservations for seats are piling into the Playmakers' office and it is expected that Memorial hall, which is being used to accommodate the large crowd expected, will be filled for both the matinee and evening performances. The big stage used in the recent Wig and Masque production is being left up, and the Marionette show will be raised three feet above this platform so that everybody may see it perfectly. Prices for the Marionettes are as low as possible, 25 cents for children and 75 cents for adults at the afternoon performance, and 50 cents and $1 for the evening show, the dollar seats being reserved.

"Yo! Ho! Ho! and a bottle of rum," which is taken from the Pirate Song in "Treasure Island," has become a byword as the pirates' favorite refrain. It is remarkable that in all the stirring scenes of the world's greatest pirate story, not one word of profanity is used, which would seem to argue that fighting pirates and walking the plank is less strenuous than catching classes.

The Marionettes can do just about anything that real actors can do. For instance, one scene shows a card game; in another there is a spirited hornpipe danced by the Marionettes. In "The Pied Piper," rats of all sizes scamper across the stage after the Piper.

Alexander Woolcott, of the New York Sun, writes: "It must be fun to be a puppeteer brooding over human comedy and, in Olympian fashion, pulling the strings and playing Fate behind the scenes." There are more than 500 different strings which must be manipulated during a performance, and these strings must be examined before every presentation. Not only do they wear out, but a knot may slip or the string may stretch. A broken string is quite fatal to the action planned, though audient.

CUBLETS TROUNCE TAR BABIES AGAIN

SPENCE VISITOR'S ACE

Vanstory Is High Scorer With Eleven Points.

The North Carolina State freshmen won their second basketball game this year from the Tar Babies by defeating them here Thursday night by a score of 25 to 19.

The game was featured by many spectacular shots from near the center of the court. The Tar Babies took an early lead but were able to hold it only for a short time, for State soon forged ahead and held the lead. The first half ended 8 to 10 in favor of State.

Vanstory was easily the outstanding man for Carolina, chalking up 13 points as the high scorer of the game. Spence, center, was high scorer for State, ringing up 10 points.

Connally Will Be Here First Next Week

Mr. Joseph Connally, traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement, will be here March 3 and 4. He will address the Y. M. C. A. cabinet Monday night, will speak in chapel Tuesday and Wednesday, and will meet students in the meantime in the interest of missions in foreign fields.

Mr. Connally attended the Student Volunteer Conference held here last week, and delivered one of the most stirring addresses of the Conference. He is a first honor graduate of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas.

TWO OF CAROLINA'S BEST BETS

SAM McDONALD

BILL DEVIN

McDonald at forward and Devin at guard will have much to do with the Tar Heel's chance at winning the 1925 Southern Basketball Crown. Both men have been consistent players during the past season.

GIVES $3,000,000 FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Former U. S. Senator Establishes Big Memorial Fund—Dr. Greenlaw On Advisory Board.

Simon Guggenheim, former U. S. Senator from Colorado and mining magnate, and his wife, announced Monday, February 23, a preliminary gift of $3,000,000 for the endowment of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation Fellowships for advanced study abroad.

The purposes of the foundation are: To improve the quality of education and the practice of the arts and professions in the United States, to foster research, and to provide for the cause of better international understanding.

The foundation is a memorial to the son of Senator and Mrs. Guggenheim who died in 1922 and who was preparing to enter Harvard university and later undertake a course of study abroad. The fellowships are to be awarded on a program even broader than that of the Cecil Rhodes scholarships.

The Guggenheim scholarships will be open to men and women, married or single, of every race, color and creed. Any subject may be studied in any country in the world. There are no age limits. The first fellowships will be awarded for the academic year 1926-27; each scholar will receive about $2,500 a year; a larger or smaller sum, and longer or shorter appointments than one year may be granted in individual cases.

After the first year it is expected that 40 or 50 scholars will be appointed annually. The coming of these fellowships has been welcomed here with much gratitude and several graduate members have already contemplated applying to the foundation for appointments.

BILL IS DIRECTED AT CAKE-EATERS

Would Banish Bell Bottom Breches From In Front of Colleges for Women.

Bad news for so-called cake-eaters and good news for peace loving citizens who live in the vicinity of female colleges in North Carolina, is embodied in a bill introduced recently into the Senate of the General Assembly by Senator W. L. Seawell, of Lee, which will make the ancient custom of "checking" female colleges a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of not more than $50 or imprisonment of not more than 30 days.

The bill was introduced by Senator Seawell at the specific request of Presidents C. E. Brewer, of Meredith college, Raleigh; S. B. Turrentine, of Greensboro College for Women, Greensboro; and J. L. Faust, of North Carolina College for Women, Greensboro. It is understood that practically every president of a female college in North Carolina approves of the bill.

President Brewer stated last night that the purpose of the bill was to put an end to the spectacle that can be seen every fair Sunday afternoon in front of Meredith college and the other female colleges in Raleigh. The condition, however, is worse at Meredith than at any of the other local colleges on account of the crowded quarters at that college which make it necessary for the girls to obtain their daily exercise by strolls along adjacent streets.

Every Sunday afternoon these streets are congested with slow moving automobiles filled with young men who shout, (Continued on page four)

THIRD APPEARANCE OF FAMOUS LETZ QUARTET BOOKED FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Hans Letz and His Popular String Quartet Returns to Hill for Third Concert—Played Here in Springs of 1921 and 1922—Nothing to Be Compared With a String Quartet for Purely Beautiful Music.

The Letz String Quartet will make its third appearance in Chapel Hill Tuesday night, March 3. Concerts were given here by the famous quartet in the spring of 1921 and 1922 and will be well remembered by upper classmen.

According to Paul John Weaver, head of the department of music, the concert given in 1922 was so splendid that a number of students who had no special knowledge of music came to him and told him that they had enjoyed that particular concert more than any concert they had ever heard. Mr. Weaver himself added that for perfection of workmanship, and purely beautiful music and weaving of parts, there is nothing to be compared with a string quartet.

Mr. Letz was for several seasons concert master of the Chicago Symphony

SPRING PRACTICE GETS UNDER WAY

Season Opens On Emerson Field April 6th.

THREE PITCHERS BACK Ferebee, Coltrane and Poyner Are In Harness.

With the help of the bright warm days of the past week, the Carolina pitchers and catchers are fast getting into shape for the season which opens on Emerson field with Hampden-Sidney April 6th.

The warm days are giving the hurlers a chance to get their arms hardened up with little danger of soreness or injury that cold weather often brings. Several strong contenders are out for both the pitching and receiving jobs and indications are that the Tar Heel nine will have a strong battery.

Three letter men are back from last year's pitching staff and doubtless will be called upon to do the major portion of the hurling unless some of the new contenders come through strong. These letter men are Bill Ferebee, Homer Coltrane, and Bill Poyner. Ferebee did not go so well last spring but the year before he was one of the mainstays and beat Virginia and Trinity when both were doped to lick the Tar Heels. Coltrane and Poyner both won their letters last year and had a fair season. All three are right handers.

Whisnant, Holshouser, and Ambrose are three men from last season's frosh team that did good work and who should make a good bid for part time service. Whisnant and Holshouser are right handers but Ambrose twirls from the south side. Everett and Grady are two others who are competing.

Four strong contenders are out for catcher none of whom are letter men. These are Green, Farrell, Prescott, and Sharpe. Farrell is from last year's squad while Sharpe alternated with Cardin on Coach Sides' Tar Babies last spring. Prescott caught for the Tar Babies in 1923 but was out of school last year. Captain "Rabbit" Bonner is a nifty catcher and held down this position last year while Morris' finger was broken. If Coach Bill can find some hard hitting outfielders Bonner may go behind the bat instead of into the field.

U. N. C. GRADUATE WINS HIGH HONOR

H. S. Everett Ranks Second in Examinations Given by National Board Medical Examiners.

Houston S. Everett, son of Dr. A. C. Everett, of Rockingham, and a graduate of the University in the class of '20, earned second place in examinations given last September by the National Board of Medical Examiners. Mr. Everett is a member of the class of '25 at Johns Hopkins University and has gained a place of distinction for himself and credit to his school by virtue of his rank in this national examination. There were 150 candidates who took either the complete examination in part 1 in September or completed part 1 by taking subjects previously postponed. Geo. K. Speare, of Harvard University, led the list with 395.8 credits out of a possible 425, Everett following with 393.6 credits.

While yet at the University, Mr. Everett distinguished himself in campus activities. He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and was elected as the best student of the senior class. He was a member of the TAR HEEL board for three years and served on the Yackety Yack and Magazine staffs during the third year here. He was also active on the "Y" cabinet and in the Di Society in the capacity of vice-president. The varsity track was under his management in 1919. As a student, he was very popular and became a member of the Sigma Upsilon and Pi Kappa Alpha fraternities.

Cobb Leads In Scoring With Sixteen Points.

GOBBLERS OUTCLASSED

Hackney and Poole Are Substituted in Last Half and Do Good Work.

TOURNAMENT'S OPENING GAME

Alabama Loses to Maryland While Virginia Whips South Carolina—Tulane and Terrapins Strong.

The Tar Heels won their first game of the tournament with ease against V. P. I. Thursday night, tripling the score on the Virginians, the final count being 42 to 13.

The outcome of the contest was never in doubt. Carolina leaped into the lead from the opening whistle and with Cobb leading the attack rolled up the score. Captain Cobb was high scorer of the game, his individual score of 16 points being higher than that of the opposing team.

Rutherford was the leading scorer and the outstanding player for the Gobblers. He made good all the shots that came his way but the close guarding of the Tar Heels gave him little opportunity to score.

Virginia defeated South Carolina in another of the opening games while Alabama, favored by many to win the tournament, went down before the Maryland Old Liners by a 27 to 21 score.

The Tar Heels made a fine impression on the first night crowd and are being picked by many dopesters to repeat their victory of last season. The Atlanta Journal for Thursday carried a picture of Sam McDonald and of Watkins, State College forward, Morgan Blake, Atlanta's premier sport writer, says that the tournament winner is a toss up between some ten teams but he seems to lean strongly towards Carolina, Maryland, and Tulane as the three foremost contenders.

Line-up and summary:
Carolina (42) V. P. I. (13)

Cobb (16) Rutherford (6)
R. F.
McDonald (6) Kress
L. F.
Dodderer (6) Payne (2)

GENERALS THROW BOMB INTO CAMP OF TAR HEELIANS

Washington and Lee Springs Surprise and Licks Carolina in Last Game of Season.

CAROLINA WAS OFF FORM

And Virginians Were Evidently in Top-Hole Shape—Found Basket From All Angles.

The Generals of Washington and Lee outplayed and outscored the Tar Heels in the final game of the regular schedule Wednesday afternoon in the Tin Can and tacked a 29-22 defeat upon them.

The winners played a snappy brand of ball from the opening whistle to the last moment, and their pep and enthusiasm carried them a long way in their victory. It was, however, the ability to cage the ball from the center of the court that both Lake and Funk possessed that won for them. These two men took a shot from whatever part of the court they happened to receive the ball, and in the majority of cases scored a goal.

The Tar Heels were way off the form that has characterized their play during most of the season just passed. They played a listless, peppy sort of game compared with the basketball that they demonstrated against Virginia and State recently. They couldn't locate the basket and failed to make good several shots of the so-called "crip" variety. Their guarding, while not so good as it has been at times, was still enough to keep the Generals from scoring from beneath the goal and most of the invaders' tallies came from without the foul line.

Washington and Lee got the ball on the tip-off and after a few minutes Funk tossed it through. Carolina got the ball on the second tip-off and carried it down the field with snappy passing, but missed the try at the goal and the Generals brought and caged it for a four-
