PARAGRAPHS

The varsity baseball season opens Monday.

It looks as though the Tar Heel nine will present a formidable array.

The Tar Babies certainly looked good in their opening game last Thursday. We need a good first year reserve.

The Borglum lecture audience was augmented by some fifty contestants for the TAR HEEL board who had been assigned to cover the lecture.

If the lecture committee desires a good crowd for any of its speakers within the next week or so it might be arranged to have the TAR HEEL "heeler" forces out again.

The Di Minstrel Revue was one of the best things that we have witnessed here in some time. The take off on the Playmakers was especially interesting in certain places. The Swiss folk bells took well.

Wonder who will be the lucky bird to hand in the girl's name and picture who will be chosen for the Carolina Carnival queen? He will certainly be in a position to strut around all over the campus. And besides he will stand a good chance for Fuzz for his notoriety.

Editor Felton, of the Buccanner, received a magazine addressed to the Princeton Tiger, Clemson College, Chapel Hill, North Carolina, the other day. There must have been a general mix up in the circulation staff of the addressee. It would be wise for the fellow to take a course in geography, etc. We suggest Commerce A or its equivalent.

The track team will open its spring schedule with Washington and Lee here today. The boys have been working hard out on the cinder path and should show some stuff in the meet this afternoon. It is likely that the affair will attract numbers of visitors since W. & L. has quite a reputation in track and should prove a worthy competitor to Captain Ranson's men.

The University's debating stock has taken a sudden rise this year. The defeat over the Kentucky team here and the decision over the West Virginia debaters there last Monday night are two of the high points in the upgrade movement. The West Virginia team had just returned from a trip that carried them through twenty states and ten debates. All the debates were won, too, until the North Carolina team put a crimp in the West Virginians' record.

The high school people are to sweep down upon the campus next week end. Their impressions of Chapel Hill will mean much not only in their own lives but also in moulding opinion favorable to the University. Many good men have been influenced to come to the University by the impressions they received down here on athletic or debating teams and as visitors. So it behooves all men interested in the University and in the high school students to give them a glad welcome and a warm reception.

SUPPORT THE CARNIVAL

The success of the Carolina Carnival depends entirely upon the spirit of co-operation which it gets from the student body. The fact that this first year is more of an experiment in the management of the all-University function makes it more imperative that the committee in charge of the carnival be given the united support of the campus organizations.

But not only does the committee desire the interest and help of the organizations, but also that of the student body generally. The advertising of the May Carnival can best be carried on by students in their letters home and elsewhere. The beauty contest and the success of the coronation part of the exercises will depend heavily upon the activity of individuals. The committee in charge of the popularity contest has made announcements regarding rules for the competition. Pictures of girls and their names are to be turned in at the Y. M. C. A. or handed to Jack London not later than April 20th.

The carnival idea has all the possibilities of becoming a wonderful thing for the development of social activities of the University student body. Some of the northern institutions have well established affairs of this sort and there is no reason why the University of North Carolina cannot have a carnival that will become the one big gala day for the whole University community and friends of the student body.

The committee has certainly started about things in the right way. The very cardinal principles that are most stressed are the all-inclusiveness of the plan and its permanency of organization. With a successful carnival this year the future of the plans should be well established, for we believe that the plans of the committee on arrangements include affairs that will interest every member of the student body. We give the plans our heartiest indorsement and call upon the student body to respond with its cooperation.

Ten Men Dropped From Dean's List

According to an announcement from Dean James Finch Royster's office, 10 students who were included in the "dean's list" last quarter failed to maintain an average standing of "B" during the winter quarter and by the regulations governing the list, must be dropped. One co-ed is numbered among the 10.

The new "deaners" have not yet been selected by Dr. Royster, but will be chosen and announced as soon as it can be ascertained who is eligible. The students who remain on the list and who are granted the right of voluntary class attendance are as follows:

Juniors—J. G. Arnold, E. S. Barr, J. R. Blackwell, J. M. Braswell, J. B. Bullitt, R. C. Bullock, J. F. Cooper, Mabel Couch, J. B. Fordham, T. A. Kennedy, Ludwig Lauerhauss, D. Miller, P. Nash, O. H. Rouse, George Stephens, T. B. Stroup, A. H. Zealey, Mary Verner, L. E. Watt.

RICHMOND UNIVERSITY TEACHER TALKS HERE

Dr. S. C. Mitchell, History Professor, Gives Interesting Chapel Talk Thursday Morning.

"The University of North Carolina has the eyes of the world upon it," declared Dr. S. C. Mitchell, history professor of the University of Richmond and a delegate attending the convention of the Southern Science Teachers here, who spoke in chapel Thursday morning. Dr. Mitchell delivered an inspiring talk on the leadership of North Carolina in the South and eulogized the important place that the University is taking in that work.

"Independence of mind is promoted at your institution," Dr. Mitchell said. "You are preserving the ideals of the South. Our fathers fought for states' rights and you are carrying forward that work."

North Carolina according to the speaker, is the leading state in the fourth principal stage of Southern history. There was first the great task of federalism lasting until about 1820 when Virginia was the leader, developing such men as Washington, Jefferson, and others. The leadership next passed to South Carolina, where John C. Calhoun became the leading figure of the South. Georgia came next as the foremost Southern state, led by such men as Henry W. Grady. Finally, "in 1890 the leadership passed to North Carolina, where it has remained to this hour."

In lauding North Carolina's progress, Dr. Mitchell mentioned the names of Aycock and Walter Hines Page as its most prominent leaders. It was through Aycock that "North Carolina discovered the common school as the means of raising the common standard." Education was attributed as the principal reason for North Carolina's leadership.

FIRST DANCE OF SPRING QUARTER

Order of the Grail Holds Reunion Tonight.

NIGHT AFTER INITIATION

North State Eight Plays for the Terpsichoreans.

The Grail dance tonight gives promise of being one of the best dances that the order has thrown this year. Being the night after the Grail initiation and during a reunion of the old men, more color will be added to the affair.

Brynnum gymnasium will again be the scene of the dance and the North State Eight will furnish the music for the Terpsichoreans. The local student orchestra is rapidly gaining a good reputation for the quality of its music, and the Grail considers itself fortunate in being able to book this orchestra for its dances.

Dancing will begin at 9 and continue until the midnight hour. It is expected that quite a few girls will attend the affair, since it is the first dance of the spring quarter.

Grail members are working hard to have this dance up to standard set by other Grail dances. They are especially anxious that the night be made a success since it is the occasion of a Grail reunion.

PRACTICAL JOKER

The editor of the Buccanner lately received a package addressed to the Princeton Tiger, Clemson College, Chapel Hill, North Carolina. Since Princeton is in New Jersey and Clemson is in South Carolina, the person who mailed the package was suffering from an over-developed sense of humor, or else he was endeavoring to compose an address of unusual originality, in which he certainly succeeded.

At the left of this group is Lieut. J. A. Macready, U. S. A., former holder of the world's altitude record. Just behind the propeller you can see the G-E turbine supercharger which kept the Liberty motor running in the thin air, six miles high.

Over the mountain by a mile

Year after year, plucky explorers try to climb Mount Everest, the world's highest peak, 29,141 feet high.

With a G-E supercharger feeding air at sea-level pressure to the engine, an airplane pilot can go far higher. Lieut. Macready has reached 34,509 feet over Dayton, Ohio. He would have soared over Mount Everest with more than a mile to spare!

The tasks attempted for centuries in almost every form of human endeavor have been conquered with the aid of electricity, with more than a mile to spare.

The impossible today will be accomplished by men and women now in college. The scientist and engineer are doing their share. It remains for men and women entering upon their life's work to profit by the new opportunities that are constantly appearing in every profession and vocation in the land.

The supercharger is a turbine air compressor, which revolves as fast as 41,000 times a minute—the highest speed ever developed by a commercial machine. It is designed and made by the General Electric Company, which also builds the big turbines that supply electric light and power.
