

UNIVERSITY BASEBALL TEAM GOES THROUGH EASTER WEEK PROGRAM WITH SEVEN STRAIGHT VICTORIES

Unusual Feat for College Baseball Team.

MARYLAND FIRST VICTIM

Old Liners Defeated At Cone Park, Greensboro, In First Trip Game 2-0.

DAVIDSON OUTFIT SWAMPED

Four Virginia Teams Bite Dust—Maryland Secures Revenge At College Park for Defeat.

LOSE FIRST GAME

At College Park, Md., April 20.—Maryland 13; U. N. C. 2.

Easter Trip.

Coach Fetzer's Tar Heels swept clean during the Easter holidays, winning nine straight games from their opponents, and stepping forward as one of the outstanding teams in the South Atlantic.

None of the contests were taken easily, but with great hitting powers backed by close pitching the Fetzerites always managed to shove across the winning runs. Maryland, Davidson, Guilford, V. P. I., Washington and Lee, V. M. I., and Virginia all fell before the attack of the Tar Heels.

Maryland proved to be a tough combination, but Ferrabee was in great shape and shut the Old Liners out while his teammates worked across two runs. Both Carolina runs came in the first inning and after this initial frame neither team scored. The two scores came when Bonner, Hatley, Coffey and Jones all hit.

STATE TRACKMEN GUESTS OF U. N. C.

"North Carolina State varsity and Freshman track teams will be the guests of the University this afternoon on Emerson field. There will be two contests staged. One, a contest of track ability—the other a contest of sportsmanship. Carolina students will play the biggest part in the latter contest. This is a splendid opportunity for them to show their appreciation of the best track team in the history of the University and to prove themselves worthy hosts and true sportsmen."—Coach Bob Fetzer.

MIMS SPEAKS AT FLEECE TAPPING

Head of English Department At Vanderbilt.

TAPPING ON MAY 4TH

Will Speak On Subject "Colleges Under Fire."

Dr. Edwin Mims, head of the department of English at Vanderbilt university, will deliver the address at the annual tapping of the Golden Fleece, Senior honor society, which is to be held in Memorial hall Monday night, May 4.

Dr. Mims is widely known in the South as an orator and the announcement that he will speak at the Fleece tapping will be enthusiastically received in Chapel Hill, especially in view of the fact that Dr. Mims was once professor of English here. He is well known and pleasantly remembered by old timers of the University community, and his oratorical abilities have been very highly praised by them.

"Colleges Under Fire" will be the subject of the address of Dr. Mims for the Fleece event. He is well qualified to give an excellent address on this subject since he has been connected with many of the country's foremost educational institutions and has also had occasion to come into contact with outside opinion as well.

Vanderbilt university conferred the degrees of A.B. and M.A. upon him in 1892 and 1893, respectively. He received his Ph.D. from Cornell university in 1900. From 1894 to 1909 he was professor of English at Trinity college, now Duke university, coming from there to the University of North Carolina where he remained until 1912, when he accepted the position of head of the English department at his alma mater.

During several summers he has been connected with some of the more prominent summer schools throughout the country, as English professor. His particular field of study is in 19th century English literature. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and has written several books and scholarly papers. He has also edited a number of books now in use as text-books.

DEFEAT CAROLINA FOR FIRST TIME

University Team Receives First 1925 Reverse.

WAS TOO MUCH SCHRIDER

Tar Heels Had Taken Nine Straight Games.

While Schrider, Maryland's pitching ace, was holding the Tar Heels to three hits on his home lot at College Park, his teammates garnered 17 hits off Finch and the Old Liners gave Carolina her first defeat of the season, the final score being 14 to 2.

The Terrapin twirler hurled shutout ball and errors on the part of the Maryland infield enabled the Tar Heels to score their two runs. Thomas and Sharp were the only Hillians to touch Schrider, Thomas getting two of the three hits obtained off the Marylander's port side delivery.

The Tar Heels only committed two errors while their opponents made three misplays. Carolina also staged a double execution, Sharp to Jones being the route by which the twin killing came off.

This was the first defeat of the season for Coach Fetzer's crew and came after they had taken nine straight games.

Score by innings: R H E
Carolina 011 000 000—2 3 2
Maryland 030 023 15x—14 17 3
Batteries: Finch and Sharpe; Schrider and Coghill.

The Strowd plantation was sold at auction Wednesday and brought a total sum of $139,000.

ALLYN K. FOSTER

FOSTER TO OPEN SERIES TUESDAY

Will Lecture Here April 28 to April 30.

AT BLUE RIDGE IN 1924

Y. M. C. A. Attempting to Bring Foster Here Permanently.

Dr. Allyn K. Foster, secretary of the Northern Baptist Education board, will deliver a series of addresses in Gerrard hall beginning April 28 and continuing through April 30. Dr. Foster is being brought to Chapel Hill under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A.

Members of the Carolina delegation to the Blue Ridge conference last summer will remember the speaker as the outstanding attraction on the conference program. He is a man of wide experience, scholarly training, a pulpit orator of rare distinction, and a man among men. In addition he has the pep and ginger that makes him a remarkably easy mixer among college men.

One of the universities included in Dr. Foster's southern itinerary wrote him asking for a cut of himself and a write-up to be used in its college paper. The following quotation is the complete material which he sent them and clearly characterizes the man as an all-around "good scout":

"The only recent cut of me is owned by Rev. H. S. Chapman, Baptist student pastor at Ann Arbor. I have no cuts 'on hand.' My career: Born Baltimore, when nobody's business! Undergraduate work at Johns Hopkins. Caught on baseball team all through—credits mostly in sports. Graduated Th.M. Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., Yale M.A. in English, Brown University D.D., Headmaster of Foster School for Boys, Conn., seven years. Pastor at Worcester, Mass., 1st Church and Washington Ave. Church, Brooklyn, N. Y. Entered war service Y. M. C. A., November 1917, continuing till late in 1919. Year and half overseas in France and Germany."

Dr. Foster is a great friend of William Louis Potest, president of Wake Forest college, and is described as being very much of the same type of man. In addition to such qualities, he has a great liking for the outdoors and is a golf and baseball enthusiast. He was a star player on his college baseball team some several years ago.

Dr. Foster is the man whom the Y. M. C. A. has been recommending to the University for more than two years as the one best fitted to occupy a chair of Religious Education here, if ever such a chair should be installed. The Y. M. C. A. has even entertained hope that it might be possible to secure sufficient endowment from private sources to bring Dr. Foster permanently to this campus as Religious Education Secretary of the Christian Association.

The entire student body and faculty is invited to attend the lectures and to meet the man personally.

Pi Beta Phi Dance Saturday

The North Carolina Pi Beta Phi Alumnae club will join with the University Pi Beta Phi chapter at a banquet to be held at the Carolina Inn Saturday evening as the annual celebration of Founder's Day. Pi Beta Phi is the oldest woman's fraternity, having been founded on April 28, at Monmouth College, Illinois.

Following the banquet the chapter will be hostesses at a formal dance from 9 to 12 in the Carolina Inn ball room.

Mr. Bernard to Show Slides

William S. Bernard, professor of Greek in the University, will show his lantern slides of famous paintings to the literature departments of the Community club in the Murphy hall auditorium next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. He will accompany the slides with brief comments and explanations.

DATE OF GOLDEN FLEECE TAPPING SET FOR MAY 4

Tar Heel Reporter Will Attempt to Pick Men That Will Be Tapped.

FLEECE FORMED IN 1903

From Seven to Ten Men Selected Annually—Number Has Not Increased With Student Body.

For the 21st time since its beginning in 1903, the Senior Order of the Golden Fleece will have its annual tapping. The tapping will take place on May 4th in Memorial hall, where the affair has been staged for the past several years.

Guess-work has lately come into remarkable importance on the campus and speculations as to the prospects for various prominent students are variable and highly interesting. Next week a Tar Heel reporter will give a probable line-up of prospects.

The history of the growth of the Fleece from an organization which was at first greeted in an almost hostile manner to one which bestows upon a number of juniors and seniors the highest honor which a Carolina man can receive is fraught with interest.

In 1903 the Fleece had its beginning when two representative students met with Dr. Eben Alexander and Professor Horace Williams to try to devise some idea by which the various elements on the campus could be brought into closer union and harmony. Dr. Alexander had been a member of Yale's Senior Order of the Skull and Bones and it was from this order that the first plan of the Fleece was made, so as to bring together the leaders on the campus. But at first the Fleece was looked at with a little doubt as to its real purpose. Some looked at it as another fraternity—instead of an organization which aimed to bring together the fraternity and non-fraternity elements.

Now after 20 years the Fleece has become such an integral part of Carolina life that it serves as a means of honoring the best men on the campus who have personality, ability and have made notable achievements in more than one line.

Searching back through the files of the Tar Heel one can find only short mention of the various Fleece initiations for the first few years. There would be a mention of the event in the local column preceded by a notice, "Let L. D. Lloyd dress your head and smooth your face," and followed by, "You can't have too many of Giles' shirts."

From 1915 through 1919, the Fleece members were announced merely by a list printed on the front page of the Tar Heel, enclosed in a box. The list came out just after the annual junior week, during which the Fleece tapping took place at a public celebration in Gerrard hall.

Junior week was abandoned in 1920 and the tapping of that year took place when the whole student body was on the Hill. Dr. Chase was tapped on this occasion. In 1922 Governor Morrison made the address. In 1923 Dr. John J. Parker spoke and after the address he was the first to be tapped by the black-robed

GLEE CLUB WILL SING WEDNESDAY

The University Glee Club will conclude its present season with a concert in Memorial hall next Wednesday night at 8:30. Mr. Jerome Swinford, the popular New York baritone who has appeared with the club in eight concerts during the year, will come to Chapel Hill for this occasion by special arrangements which have just been completed.

The program Wednesday night will be an exact duplicate of the big program recently sung by the club in Kansas City, Mo. This concert has been hailed all over the country as the finest glee club work ever done by any American college organization, and has placed the University singers in a position of national prominence. The organization has had little opportunity to be heard by the local student body and faculty; they have given only one concert on the campus this year, and that happened to be on a night when only a few people succeeded in wading through the mud to Memorial hall. It is anticipated that a large audience will take advantage of the opportunity Wednesday night of hearing an organization that is better known throughout the country at large than it is right here on the campus.

HOLT MOORE

HURDLE STAR

Moore is one of the greatest hurdlers in the South, and reached high in the Olympic semi-finals last summer. He was high scorer of the 1924 track team and is counted upon to capture both the high and low hurdle races this afternoon.

DEANS HERE IN ANNUAL CONFAB

Conference of Deans Discussing Important Problems.

LAST SESSION TODAY

Endorse Fraternities and Extra-Curricular Activities Thursday.

Thirty delegates from leading institutions of the country are in attendance at the seventh annual national conference of deans and advisers of men which is being held here.

The conference was opened Thursday morning at 9 o'clock with an address of welcome by President Chase in which he stressed the importance of creating a student atmosphere that makes character building easy. Following the welcome address Dean S. H. Hibbard, of the University of Texas, led a discussion on "Fraternities," after which a discussion on "Sophomore Pledging" was led by Dean E. E. Nicholson, of the University of Minnesota. A roll call showed that 20 of the 30 delegates favored pledging students early during the freshman year while six were for deferred pledging. There was a prevailing opinion that fraternities are a desirable asset in college life and that the good in them far outweighs the bad.

Thursday afternoon with Dean Robert Rienow, president of the conference again presiding, a discussion of "Extra-Curricular Activities" was led by F. B. Wahr, of the University of Michigan. The conference decided that students who combine studies with extra-curricular activities with the possible exception of freshman in certain classes usually make a higher scholastic standing than do students who stick strictly to their text books.

The delegates were guests of the University at a banquet at the Carolina Inn, Thursday night.

Yesterday morning Dean Staley Coulter, of Purdue University, conducted a discussion "In What Ways May a Dean of Men be Instrumental in Improving the Scholarship of His Institution." Various methods were brought up for discussion including the contact with the student, the home, the registrar and the professor. Yesterday afternoon the session was moved up to 2 o'clock. Dean Carl Engberg, of the University of Nebraska, led an interesting discussion on "Academic Mortality." Causes of mortality and methods by which they may be remedied and prevented were discussed.

At 4 o'clock the deans left in a big bus to make a visit to Duke University at Durham, State College and other points of interest in Raleigh. At 7 o'clock they were guests of State College at a supper-smoker, returning to Chapel Hill last night.

This morning there will be a round table discussion. The conference adjourns today.

Institutions represented include: Michigan, Purdue, Kentucky, Texas, Princeton, Georgia Tech, Northwestern, Iowa, Worcester, Minnesota, Tennessee, Syracuse, Missouri, Vanderbilt, Emory, Penn State, N. C. State, Duke, Nebraska and North Carolina.

WOLFPACK TRACK TEAM HERE FOR 1925 DUAL MEET

Both Varsity and Fresh Teams In Action—State Has Strong Crew of Trackmen.

MEET BEGINS AT 2:00 P. M.

Jeff Fordham Not Here for Meet—Tech Team Threatens to Upset Dope With Weight Man Gone.

The Tar Heels and Tar Babies will engage the N. C. State Wolfpack and Cubs in a double-header track meet on Emerson field this afternoon. The freshman field events will begin at 2:00 o'clock, and the varsity at 2:30. Freshman events will be interspersed with varsity events. The freshman-Oak Ridge baseball game will start after the conclusion of the track meet.

Jeff Fordham, who has been high scorer of the track team to date, was forced to attend the meeting of student body Presidents being held this year at the University of Florida. It is highly improbable that he will be able to return to the Hill in time to participate in this afternoon's meet. In addition to the loss of Fordham's service, Gus McPherson suffered a slight injury to his ankle early in the week that has seriously hindered his work in practice. The fleet dash man will be able to run today but the injury will probably hurt him in racing against a star such as Captain Buck Byrum of State.

The West Raleigh aggregation has been improving steadily throughout the season and should be in first rate condition for this encounter. The general impression is that this will be the hardest meet of the year.

Running Events.

McPherson and Teague will be matched against Captain Byrum and Tucker, of State, in the sprints. These should be two of the fastest dashes witnessed by track followers in this section. Byrum will probably oppose Edwards in the 440. In the hurdles, Clark and Currin will offer the opposition for Moore, Giersch, and Huggins. Wright is likely to offer the best competition in the mile which the Tar Heel milers have met.

Field Events

Pridgen looms as a probable first place winner in the pole-vault and broad jump. In the former, Corbett and Sunley will seek to uphold their record. In the broad jump, Carolina is depending on Ambrose and Woodard. Matthews and Morris will compel Ambrose to do his very best if he is to come through a winner in the high jump. Ripple, Lambe, and Cook make up a trio of weight men who are likely to be heavy scorers for the Techmen.

On the whole, a very close meet can be expected, due to the strength of N. C. State in the dashes and field events. The next engagement of the Tar Heel cinder men will be in the state championship meet which will be held here next Friday and Saturday. This meet will draw together representatives of all the Colleges in the State. The result of the meet this afternoon will have considerable bearing on the outcome of the State meet.

THREE BIG GAMES FOR NEXT WEEK

Bonner's Team Play Wake Forest and Duke.

DUKE IS HERE TUESDAY

Opponents Are Obstacles to State Championship.

With their successful northern trip a matter of history, the Tar Heels settle down to a state schedule that promises to offer them stiff opposition. Three games are played next week, the first coming with Duke on Tuesday, on Emerson field, followed by Wake Forest in Wake Forest Thursday, and closed with a second meeting with Duke in Durham on Saturday.

Both Wake and Duke loom as strong obstacles to Carolina's championship hopes and will strive hard to down the Fetzerites. Duke will probably depend largely upon the hurling of Captain John Dempster to carry them to victory. The Tar Heels seem a little weak on left-handed pitching. Schrider of Maryland and Smith of Guilford gave them trouble, and Dempster is also built on the wrong side. He will probably get the call for both games as the Methodists do not have another pitcher in Dempster's class.

Wake appears to have a well balanced nine backed by several good hurlers headed by Simmons and Sorrell. The Baptists have been winning pretty regularly during the past few weeks and are backed by many to win over the Tar Heels.
