

DEACONS TURN BACK TAR HEEL NINE IN CLOSE CONTEST ON GORE FIELD

Tar Heels Won Last Year by Good Score.

PRELIMINARIES FRIDAY

Will Be Last Performance of Local Harriers On Home Cinder Path.

TEAM GOES TO SEWANEEN MAY 15

Freshmen Track Teams Also Holding Championship Meet Here on Same Days As Varsities.

Hank Garrity's Deacons threw a monkey wrench in the State Championship machine on Gore Field Thursday afternoon when they turned the invading Tar Heels back with the worst of a 2 to 1 argument. The Tar Heels were in a fighting mood when they left the home air, but all the fight in the world cannot overcome the breaks in baseball. Sorrell, Wake Forest sophomore, was invincible, and good pitching with the breaks going well is a combination that even a major league aggregation cannot surmount.

The cloudy day greatly aided the opposing flingers, for both are fast ball hurlers, and their fast ones looked like streaks of white as they flashed toward the batters. Sorrell concluded his game with a perfect exhibition in the ninth, when he retired the side on nine pitched balls. Holshouser held the situation well in hand throughout the game, walking only two men and holding the Baptists to nine well scattered safeties. They were only able to bunch hits off him in the fifth, and then the Tar Heels cut them off without a score.

Wake Forest opened the scoring in the sixth. Simmons doubled and scored when Mottsinger dumped a Texas leaguer to short center. They tallied again in the next canto for their last score of the game. Hood stopped one of Holshouser's fast balls with his body, stole second and crossed the plate when Timberlake singled sharply through the infield.

The Hillians tallied their lone marker in the eighth. "Rabbit" Bonner was hit by Sorrell, and on the next play he stole to the middle station. Gibson came up and drove a clean single to the outfield, the "Rabbit" crossing the plate on the throw-in. Carolina lost a good opportunity to score in the fifth. Stanton opened the inning with a two-baser to center, went to third on an infield out. Then after the second out had been made, Johnson popped to Riley in an attempt to work the squeeze play.

DR. FOSTER ENDS LECTURE SERIES

Was Brought to Chapel Hill by Y. M. C. A.

DELIVERS 8 LECTURES

Lectures and Personal Interviews Well Received.

After eight lectures on the campus and numerous personal interviews with students, Alyn K. Foster, secretary of the Northern Baptist Education Board, in Friday morning's chapel concluded a series of what are claimed to be some of the best religious talks ever delivered on the Hill.

Dr. Foster, who was brought to Chapel Hill by the Y. M. C. A., began his lectures Monday night when he appeared in Gerrard hall before an appreciative audience. He also informally addressed the "Y" cabinet meeting that evening after his public appearance, when he emphasized the importance of the "Y" work on the college campus.

On Tuesday evening Dr. Foster gave the religious workers' council an informal talk when they met at the Methodist church, and immediately afterward again gave a lecture in Gerrard hall for the public.

The visiting lecturer also appeared in chapel three mornings in the earlier part of the week, at which time he particularly stressed the relation of science to religion and effectively pointed out why it was not in conflict with Christianity.

Interviews with students and others were also arranged for Dr. Foster during his brief stay on the campus. All the talks were exceedingly well received here.

Dormitory Club to Meet Monday Night for Last Time

The Dormitory club will hold its last meeting of the year on Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the social rooms of the Episcopal church. An interesting program has been prepared for the occasion, consisting of reports of the year's work, special music and other features. Since this is the last meeting of the year it is very important that all of the members be present.

CAROLINA WINS IN DEBATE WITH W.-L.

Debated Question of Regulation of Child Labor.

DECISION IS UNANIMOUS

King and Young Represented Carolina on Affirmative.

The Carolina debaters, defending the affirmative side of the query, "Resolved—That the proposed amendment to the federal constitution authorizing the regulation of child labor should be adopted," won a unanimous decision over the Washington and Lee team Thursday night in Gerrard hall. Carolina was represented by Malcolm M. Young and A. K. King; Washington and Lee was represented by Charles H. Hamilton and Wilson M. Roach.

The arguments submitted by the affirmative were: that the purpose of a government is to protect its people; that the constitution as it now stands does not permit adequate protection of children; that state laws are not uniform or adequate; that existing conditions permit unfair competition between states having child labor laws and those not having them; that a federal law will not interfere with states' rights. The negative argued: that the child labor question is not so distressing after all; that the states are working on this where necessary; that varying conditions in various states would make a uniform law impracticable; that such a law would be a great step in building up a bureaucracy; that it would give Congress a useless and dangerous amount of power; that the people have shown disapproval by rejecting it in the states where it has been voted on.

The judges were A. S. Keister, C. C. Cunningham, and C. E. Phillips. Presiding officers were: Dr. H. H. Williams, president, and Benjamin Eaton, secretary.

MIMS LECTURES TUESDAY NIGHT

"Leaders—Lost and Found," Will Be Lecture Title.

IS EXCHANGE LECTURER

From Vanderbilt Where He Is Head of English Department.

"Leaders—Lost and Found" will be the subject of Dr. Edwin Mims, head of the department of English at Vanderbilt university, in his exchange lecture here next Tuesday night in Gerrard hall at 8:30. This is a public lecture and it is expected that a large audience will come out to hear the noted English scholar, especially since he was at one time a member of the University faculty.

Dr. Mims will also speak to a combined audience of all sections of English 6 on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. He has chosen to give at this time "A Defense of the Victorians." The public is also invited to this lecture. He will speak to English 67, a University course in recent English literature, during his stay here.

The Vanderbilt professor is widely known throughout the South as a speaker of great ability, which, combined with his knowledge of his field of study, presents a combination that is exceedingly good and very rare. He comes to the University on an exchange lecture. Dr. M. R. Trabue, of the University faculty, will go to Vanderbilt May 19-21 to represent this institution on the exchange.

TAR HEELS CLASH WITH DUKE THERE THIS AFTERNOON

Fetzer's Sluggers Plan a Clean Come-Back in Today's Game.

MIGRATION TO DURHAM

Enthusiastic Hordes Will See Today's Encounter, Which Tells the Tale.

Carolina's athletic history is filled with the stories of strong comebacks, and the Tar Heels are planning to stage another one today. Duke will be met in Durham in the second of this year's three game series with the Methodists. In each of the last two seasons they have won the first of the series from the Fetzerites, only to lose the second encounter before the determined onslaughts of the revenge-hunting Hillians.

The 5 to 2 defeat at the hands of the royalists on Tuesday was the first setback that the Tar Heels have received in their dash toward another state championship, and neither the team nor the student body feel like losing out without a hard fight. The general feeling on the campus is that if the rain had not prevented the game being finished the story would have been different, for Bill Ferebee was just striking his stride when the game was called in the seventh canto. He struck out three men in that inning, and that was going strong with a wet ball. Such luck does not strike twice in the same place and today must tell another tale. Since losing the first game to the Baptists, another loss to the Methodist nine would virtually put the Tar Heels out of the race.

The feeling on the campus is running high, and practically the entire student body will migrate to the Bull City this afternoon. Every available bus and "Liz-zie" will be drafted into service to carry the gang. The usual crowd of enthusiastic, but financially defunct, students will start walking before the game, in the hope that they will be picked up by the passing autoists. One thing is certain, and that is that by hook or crook Carolina will move to Durham today. Time for the game will find the bleachers filled with Tar Heels, and they will be there to stay till the last man is out and the game is safe on ice.

PEAK OF MERIT NOW REACHED BY THE GLEE CLUB

All Past Records Surpassed in Program Wednesday Night.

FITCH FINE IN SOLO WORK

Jerome Swinford Stars Again, This Time in Two Song Groups; Audience Delighted.

By LUCY F. LAY

After having proved to the musical world that they have reached the highest peak of excellence in choral singing, the University Glee Club sang before an enthusiastic audience in Memorial hall on Wednesday night and proved their ability to their home ground supporters. The glee club has improved tremendously since their last recital on the Hill, and the performance left the audience with a feeling of awe and reverence for the ability with which Mr. Weaver has directed the club; for the excellent blending of tone in the singing of the club, and for the artistry which Mr. Fitch shows in his solo work.

The program given Wednesday night included many of the numbers sung at the January recital here and several new ones which were used in the Kansas City performance. The program presented a variety of some of the highest types of choral music, and the singing was a marvelous revelation of tone effects. Mr. Weaver's directing was so perfect that one almost forgot his presence in many of the numbers; so effective was the singing.

The Bach chorale, "Grant us to do with zeal," which was the best of the three chorales given at the January concert, was sung with ease and exquisite shading. The club maintained an organ-like background for Mr. Fitch's solo. In the "Moorish Serenade" the piano accompaniment of Mr. Fitch was exceedingly lovely. "Ma Little Banjo" received even more applause than last time. Always a favorite with audiences, it was sung with distinct originality and delicacy.

In the group of old sacred songs, "Pilate, Fili Israel," as a new number for the glee club, received enthusiastic applause. Praetorius' "Lo, how a rose e'er" (Continued on page four)

ANNUAL STATE CHAMPIONSHIP TRACK MEET FINALS BEING HELD TODAY

Weather Was Too Cold and Cloudy for Baseball.

BONNER SCORES IN 8TH

Sorrell Pitches Fine Game—Finishes With Perfect Exhibition.

THROWS NINE STRIKES IN NINTH

Carolina Still Has Chance At Championship—Meet Baptists Again On May 20th Here.

Carolina is host of the different colleges of the state that are here for the annual state championship track meet which began yesterday and will continue through today. The preliminaries were held yesterday in all the events except the mile, two mile, pole vault, and high jump. The finals will be run off today.

The Tar Heels won the state meet last year by a good score, and all indications point to a win this year by the locals. They have shattered records right and left, and weather favorable, did fair to establish new marks in the finals today.

If advance dope runs true to form, Carolina will emerge from the meet with about 100 points. State will come second, Duke third, Wake Forest fourth, Davidson fifth, with Elon and Guilford fighting for the cellar position.

The first places will probably be equally distributed between Carolina and State but first places will not win the meet, because there are five places to win in each event. First place counts 5 points, second place 4, third place 3, fourth place 2, and fifth place 1. The best balanced team in the field and running events will be winner, and Carolina undoubtedly has the best balanced team in the state.

This will be the last performance of the University of North Carolina track team on the home track. Two other meets are on the schedule, the last one being held at Sewanee to decide the southern conference championship. Carolina has a team that has made a brilliant record all season and one that has won praise over the South. Coach Curley Byrd, of the University of Maryland, says Carolina "bids fair to win the Southern Conference championship, as they seem to have the fastest and best balanced track and field squad in the South."

As an added feature to today's meet, the freshman teams of all state institutions will hold the finals for freshman championship of North Carolina. The preliminaries were held yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Poteat has been president of Wake Forest since 1905 and has been a teacher in that institution since 1878. He has had a wide experience and demand as a lecturer, having been lecturer on the Gay Fund at the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, Louisville, 1900; Brooks lecturer on science and religion in Hamilton Theological seminary, 1904-05, and lecturer on the Lewis Holland Foundation at the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, 1915. He has held office and has been a prominent member of numerous educational and religious organizations. "Laboratory and Pulpit" and "The New Peace" are among the books of which he is author.

GOBBLERS MEET VARSITY MONDAY

Fetzerites In Prime Shape to Continue Clean Record.

CLOSE GAME IS PROBABLE

Ferebee Held Techmen On Trip—May Pitch Monday.

Monday will find the Tar Heels back on the home field to act as hosts to the baseballers from Virginia Tech. The Gobblers were met on the northern trip and defeated by a score of 6 to 2, and the locals are out to repeat their victory. The athletic record against Old Dominion is clean for this season. It includes baseball wins over Hampden-Sidney, V.P.I., V.M.I., W. and L., and Virginia, and track wins over V.P.I., W. and L., William and Mary, and Virginia. That is a record to be proud of and one that the dope says should be lengthened on Monday.

Bill Ferebee pitched the game against the Techmen on the trip and held them helpless before his assortment of slants and twisters. They could only touch his stuff for five hits, and both of their tallies came as a result of Tar Heel errors. His teammates slashed out seven safeties for eleven bases and gave him six runs as a working margin. Bill may be called to give the Gobblers another chance at his stuff, but Coach Fetzer also has Holshouser, Poyner, and Coltrane in shape to show the visitors a good time.

Playmakers Experiencing Most Successful Tour

Telegrams received at the Carolina Playmaker office here indicate that the troupe is experiencing its most successful tour.

The performance in Winston-Salem on Saturday night was attended by more than 700 persons, and the Playmakers were competing with Billy Sunday. W. S. McIver, a member of the cast, fainted during the performance but the rare presence of mind of others on the stage at the time kept the play in action and the audience never realized that McIver's fainting was not feigned.

STUDENT BODY EAGERLY AWAITS FLEECE TAPPING MONDAY NIGHT

Dr. Edwin Mims Will Be Chief Speaker—This Is Twenty-third Annual Tapping—Abundance of Fleece Material.

On Monday evening the large majority of the student body will crowd into Memorial hall to be present at one of the most exciting events of the whole college year; an occasion when excitement and enthusiasm will run high, leavened by a touch of disappointment; for necessarily the tapping of the Order of the Golden Fleece will be a disappointment to many. During its long and successful life of 22 years, the Fleece has tapped 191 men, but no one can possibly estimate the number who had a faint hope that they would receive the highest honor that Carolina students can bestow.

Immediately preceding the tapping ceremony, the annual address will be made by Dr. Edwin Mims, head of the Department of English at Vanderbilt university, a former member of the University faculty. His subject for the address, "Colleges Under Fire," has aroused much interest, and his speech will probably rank with the excellent one made by Dr. Smith, of Washington and Lee, which was given at the Fleece Tapping last year. Dr. Mims is well known as a speaker.

A Tar Heel reporter has made out a preliminary "dope-sheet" anticipating the men who may be picked for the Fleece. Since the most important characteristic of a Fleece candidate must be a fine personality, and since a group of men naturally have different ideas as to the proper judging of a man's character, the pick of any one student on the campus cannot hope to be correct. The Fleece, composed of the men taken in last spring, works constantly on the matter, and when it has finished its job it gives annually to some nine or ten men the honor of wearing the "emblem of Jason." The members of the Fleece have in the past and will in the future come as near reaching an honest selection without being biased as any organization existing.

The very first initiates included eight men from the Class of 1904 and eight from the Class of 1905; the first group being admitted in 1905. Since then the pick has fluctuated between seven and ten. Among the names of the men of the Class of 1905 is found the name of Charles T. Woolen. Dr. Williams has been from the founding of the Order an honorary member, and Dr. Chase was "tapped" in 1922.

The tapping itself constitutes one of the most dramatic and exciting events of the whole. The air of excitement and suspense which broods over the crowd serves to enhance the thrill of the actual "pounding" of the men selected. Black-robed figures, unknown and masked, stalk slowly and majestically up and down the aisles. After the address is over and the president of the Fleece has assured the campus that the Fleece has done its work conscientiously and sincerely, black-robed figures, unknown and masked, and wearing the Fleece across their shoulders, suddenly appear and stalk slowly and majestically up and down the aisles. Several minutes pass as they continue their silent walk; then suddenly one of the two turns and makes a dash, pouncing on a man and jerking him out of his seat to receive the ribbons of the Fleece. The crowd responds with a burst of applause and the figure resumes his measured pacing, sometimes turning suddenly to surprise the audience. Excitement runs high during the tapping, which comes with slowness which is almost aggravating.

With an excellent speaker booked for the address, and evidently plenty of material from which to pick, the annual tapping on Monday night will be every bit as interesting as usual. The Fleece rightly deserves the title of the finest organization on the campus; and the lucky men who will receive the honor on Monday are to be congratulated.

The active Fleece composed of men taken in last year numbers six: W. J. Coker, Jr.; R. Y. Thorpe, J. E. Hawkins, John Deyton, J. M. Saunders, and "Rabbit" Bonner.

Among old Fleece men on the Hill are Dr. Chase and Dr. Williams, honorary members; Mr. Charlie Woolen, Dean F. F. Bradshaw, Professor Albert Coates, F. R. Lowe, L. J. Phipps, W. W. Gwynn, A. M. McDonald, John Purser, C. C. Poindexter.

Delta Pi fraternity announces the pledging of Edmond Nichols, Jr., of Durham, and the initiation of Mr. P. M. Gray, of Charlotte. Mr. Gray is a member of the University faculty.

CLASS OF '25 BANQUETS IN NEW CAROLINA INN

Sherwood Brockwell Is Chief Speaker—Plans Are Drawn for Senior Week.

The class of '25 set a unique precedent in the way of Class Smokers when they held the fourth smoker of the year in the dining room of the new Carolina Inn. The affair was entirely lacking of that quiet subdued atmosphere which so often reigns supreme for the first hour of a smoker on the Hill.

R. Y. Thorpe introduced Sherwood Brockwell, of Raleigh, insurance board man and fire engineer, who made the speech of the evening, showing himself to be thoroughly capable of holding the attention of a crowd. Mr. Brockwell is well known as an entertainer; but he gave with his humorous stories an excellent, enlightening and forceful address on Fire Prevention, pointing out the defects in our present system. His talk was enthusiastically received.

The class adopted unanimously the proposed class buttons to be worn by all classes. The button will have an appropriate Carolina emblem on it, and the numerals of the various classes will be conspicuous on each one. The class drew up plans for the Senior Gift and for Senior Week, which has been scheduled for the week before examinations.

The Smoker was pronounced a marked success and was concluded by splitting Carolina for the class of '25. Fruit salad, ice cream, coffee and smokes were served and music also helped to make the evening more enjoyable.

Tar Heel Officers Elected For the Coming Year

The Tar Heel staff in its meeting held Wednesday night elected the following officers for the coming year:

J. T. Madry, of Scotland Neck, business manager; G. E. Wilkinson, of Statesville, managing editor. The two assistant editors chosen were C. W. Bazemore, of Windsor, and F. P. Eller, of North Wilkesboro.
