BONNER AND DEMPSTER'S LAST Ferebee Performs Well As Relief Pitcher-Dempster Fans Eight and Hits Two Homers and Single.

Duke University's baseball outfit showed that they were true Disciples of Swat on Monday afternoon when they jumped on two Carolina hurlers and bounded out a 10 to 5 win over the Tar Heels in the last game of the season for both schools. The Methodists drove out fourteen safe hits during the encounter, four of the hits being Babe Ruthian smashes to the far reaches of the outer gardens. They bunched their hits in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, ten of their safeties and nine of their runs being chalked up in these frames.

Harvey Johnson, Duke's big catcher, faced him first in the second and made it four straight strikeouts for the lanky Tar Heel. Dempster then topped one of Holshouser's fast ones and it bounded over Dodderer's head for a single, and Pearce and Chappell walked to fill the bases with one away; but Holshouser fanned Greene and Saunders to retire the side.

Carolina tallied twice in the first inning and hung up a lead that looked like a million dollars in the pitchers' duel that Holshouser and Dempster were staging. Bonner, first up fanned, but Hatley cracked a clean single to center, stripped socks, began by a very enthuand Coffey was safe on an error.
