

Demon Deacons And Tar Heels Meet On Emerson Field

EXPECT A CROWD

Initial Encounter of Season for Both Teams.

PROBABLE LINE-UPS ARE GIVEN

Tar Heels and Supporters Are Determined Gharriy Men Shall Not Repeat Last Year's Performance.

Carolina's football season will open this afternoon at 3:00 when the Wake Forest team and attendant spectators invade Chapel Hill. Since the invaders won the state championship last year, the result of today's game will be of great importance in predicting the holder of the title this year. The price of general admission will be $1.50.

First Southern Game.

One autumn afternoon thirty-six years ago a team of eleven husky youths from the University of North Carolina lined up on the football field, facing another team from Wake Forest College in the first game of inter-collegiate football ever played in the South. When the smoke of battle cleared away from over that field the fighting Tar Heels, led by Captain Steve Bragaw, had crossed the Baptist goal line for six touchdowns and a 33 to 0 victory.

That team of Tar Heels initiated with their wedge formations and straight line plunging a string of victories over the Baptists that has been broken only once during the entire series between the two colleges, and that was last year when "Flash" Greason flashed down the field for sixty-seven yards and a 7 to 6 win.

Today another team of Tar Heels led by another fighting captain will face another team of Baptists, nick-named the Demon Deacons, and when Captain Herman McIver leads his warriors out on Emerson Field this afternoon, every man will go out with the determination that Greason shall not lead his Deacons to another win.

Just what the Tar Heel chances for a win are cannot be stated, but if spirit can do anything then Wake Forest had as well not make the pilgrimage to the "Hill". Without any feeling of over-confidence, the Hillians are facing the game without any fear as to the outcome.

STRICTER CHECK LAW THIS YEAR

Given Forty-Eight Hours to Make Check Good.

HANDLED THROUGH DEAN

Decrease in Number of Bad Checks Since Former Revision.

The bad check law, begun year before last and revised last year, has been made even more strict this year. Formerly, students who broke this rule were called before the council; the new rule provides that the student must go before the council voluntarily if he thinks he has been mistreated.

All of the work is in charge of the Student Council and all of the clerical work is handled through the office of the Dean of Students. The main provisions of the bill are as follows:

In case a student gives a check which is returned for any reason, he is immediately given notice of the fact. If he does not make his check good within 48 hours after he receives the notice, he is automatically suspended from classes until he does make it good. After he has made the check good he must give evidence to his dean that it is good and this fact must be checked through Dean Bradshaw's office.

The first offense puts the offender on probation with the Student Council unless there is some unavoidable reason for his error. On the second offense the student is automatically suspended by order of the Council, with the privilege of appealing to the Council within five days. If appeal is not made within five days the student is absolutely suspended. This appeal is entirely voluntary and must be made by the student before the Council in session.

This law was started in the Spring quarter of 1924 to fill a badly felt need. Many of the students had become so careless with their checks that the merchants and dealers of Chapel Hill were somewhat hesitant about taking them. It was revised last year and the number of bad checks decreased very noticeably. It has been revised again with the hope that this evil will continue to decrease.

Notice to the Senior Class

"Candidates for degrees are required by a recent resolution of the University Faculty to report their candidacy in writing to their respective deans and to the Registrar not later than two weeks after the opening of the quarter at the end of which they expect to complete the requirements for their degrees.

"Those expecting to finish their work in December, 1925, may report their candidacy up to Saturday, October 3rd.

THOS. J. WILSON, JR.
Registrar.

OLD SOUTH NEAR END OF JOURNEY

Center Campus Tradition Probably to be Razed.

NOT YET DECIDED UPON

New Building Cheaper Than Cost of Remodeling Old Structure.

Old South building, most venerable of the structures on the campus, and seat of the University's tradition, is in imminent danger of being razed in favor of a new and modern structure.

The building, now used as a dormitory, has long been in a dilapidated state and is right now in a very bad way. Information was given out during last spring that the building was to be remodelled during the summer and converted into an administration building. The cost of this work, it was found, would exceed the cost of tearing it down and replacing it with a new structure.

According to estimates submitted to the University, a new building, identically like the Old South, can be erected for $174,000, while to remodel the present building will cost $200,000. It is claimed that the bricks of which it is built are of inferior quality and that work would have to be done on the foundation.

The building was formerly the administration building and in it is located the University bell. It is nearer the center of the campus than Alumni building, and the executive branch of the University has been casting longing eyes on it for quite a while. The building was erected in 1798 and the funds for its erection were derived from a lottery, said to have been one of the last to have been held in the state.

PAULSEN CALLS FOR BETTER COOPERATION

Laundry Now Working Overtime—Deliveries Unavoidably Late This Week—Warning Is Issued.

"It is absolutely necessary," says "Dean" Paulsen, director of the university laundry, "that every student have the laundry list filled out properly with name and initials in full and registration number and address plainly written." Failure to do this is liable to result in loss of articles. The laundry list should be made out carefully, and each article listed. No one should send in borrowed laundry to the laundry, as this is strictly against the rules.

All students are cautioned to have their soiled linen ready when called for by the agents, as laundry bundles are accepted through the agents only.

Although the machinery in the laundry has been shifted to handle the work faster, the laundry is crowded to overflowing with work, and the laundry crew is at present working as late as 10 P. M. and after. One has to literally pick his way through the huge masses of clothes which are to be laundered. Due to this large amount of work to be done and also because of the scarcity of laundry help available, the dormitory bundles will be returned about ten hours late this week, but the superintendent assures return of all bundles before tonight.

REGISTRATION NOW 2260

The total registration of the University of North Carolina now stands at 2260 according to the latest figures issued from the registrar's office.

NEW PLAYMAKER THEATRE OPENS

Five New Productions and Outside Attractions.

READINGS ON SUNDAYS

All Students Including Freshmen Eligible for Playmaker Organization.

The coming season marks the opening of The Carolina Playmakers' new theatre. The historic old building has been beautifully remodeled as an intimate theatre, seating three hundred and forty-five people. The whole stage can be clearly seen from every seat in the house. The dedication performances will take place November 23 to 26 inclusive.

Five new productions in all will be given by The Carolina Playmakers this season. In addition to this, seven outside attractions and three lecturers have already been booked and Playmaker readings with musical accompaniment are being arranged for Sunday evenings throughout the year.

The price of admission will be $1.00 for each of the five Playmaker performances. Subscribing members will be given first choice of seats to all performances and a 10 percent reduction on outside attractions for $4.00 per membership.

The number of performances of each production in the new theatre will be governed largely by the subscribing membership. On the basis of six years of experience, the management expects to give four performances of each new bill, matinee and night on Fridays and Saturdays. Subscribing members will have one day in advance of the general ticket sale in which to make their choice of performance and seat. The advance sale of reserved seats will be handled at Sutton & Alderman's Drug Store two days before the performance of each series.

In order to clear up any doubt concerning the manner in which one may become a Playmaker, the management has announced that everyone, including freshmen, is eligible to act and assist in the production end of the work. Open try-outs are held, and none of the parts are cast beforehand. A few positions are open for those interested in stagecraft, advertising, scenery construction and stage management. These will be filled following the first try-outs, October 19 and 21.

LAW SCHOOL LIBRARY GETS FAMED DOCUMENT

During the summer the library of the law school received as a gift a beautiful framed copy of the Magna Charta. This gift was presented by Miss Mary Louise Anderson, of New York, in remembrance of her grandfather, Abraham Rencher, an alumnus of this University.

On the lower part of the frame is a metal plate bearing the following inscription: "As a reminder of the courses and cost of Liberty and as a modest tribute to the memory of Abraham Rencher, A. B. 1822, A. M. 1831, Lawyer, Congressman, Diplomat, Governor, this is given to his Alma Mater by his grand daughter, Mary Louise Anderson—Magna Charter Day, June 15th, 1925."

Catholic Services will be held the first and third Sundays in every month at 8:30 A. M. on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. building.

ADDITIONAL MEN IN ENGLISH DEPT.

Prominent Scholars Added to English Faculty This Year.

WELL KNOWN AUTHORS

Names Are Taylor, Jones and Abbott—Other Additions.

The English Department of the University was strengthened by the addition of three new members to its teaching force at the beginning of this year. The newcomers and their ranks are George C. Taylor, acting as associate professor of English; Howard M. Jones, associate professor of English; and W. R. Abbott, instructor in English.

Professor Taylor took his Master's degree at Harvard and his Doctor's degree at the University of Chicago. For a number of years he was head of the English Department at the University of Colorado. He withdrew from teaching a few years ago and since that time has been living in Columbia, S. C. His most noteworthy contributions recently have been published in "Modern Philology" on the relation of middle English dramas and lyrics. There was issued from the Harvard Press a short time ago a book by him entitled "Shakespeare's Debt to Montaigne," a volume which is expected to take its place among the more significant Shakespeare studies.

Professor Jones has been associate professor of English and comparative literature in the University of Texas since 1916, with the exception of last year, when he was a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago. He has published several books of poems and plays in addition to scholarly articles in "Studies of the University of Texas" and in publications of the Modern Language Association.

Professor Abbott was graduated from the University of Virginia in 1923 and received a Master's degree at Harvard in 1924.

Other appointments to the faculty recently announced are as follows: Urban T. Holmes, formerly at the Universities of Pennsylvania and Harvard, to be associate professor of French; William Harvey West, M. A. at University of Nebraska, to be instructor in botany; and Dexter Keazor, Ph.D., formerly instructor in University of Denver, and at Cornell University, to be assistant professor of economics.

ECONOMICS CLUB TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

The Economics Club will hold its first meeting of the year Monday night at 7:30 in 209 Saunders Hall.

The work for this year will be outlined and officers will be elected for the fall quarter. The officers of the club are anxious for all members to be in attendance Monday night.

GRADUATE STUDENTS IN EDUCATION MEET MONDAY

All graduate students majoring in education are requested to meet in Peabody Building, Room Number 23. The meeting which takes place Monday afternoon at three o'clock is a very important one and all are urged to be present.

On Sunday, September 27, an organ recital will be given by Mr. Paul Weaver at 5 p. m. in the Chapel of the Cross.

Y Opens Its Annual Financial Campaign On Monday Night

Endorse Finance Campaign of "Y"

Prominent leaders in campus activities heartily endorse the "Y" campaign to be held next week, as is shown by the following letters: "The service rendered by the "Y" on the campus is invaluable. We must not forget to do our share in helping finance such a worthy institution.

J. B. FORDHAM,

President of the Student Body.

"I believe the "Y" to be the most influential student organization on the campus in encouraging those principles of right and wholesome living for which every true Carolina man stands, and upon which Carolina has accomplished all that we cherish most. Each of us owe it our loyal support and financial aid.

LAWRENCE E. WATY,

President of the Senior Class.

"The Y. M. C. A. is doing a great work for the students. It is up to all Carolina men to give their co-operation and help in the finance campaign.

W. A. DEVIN,

President of the Athletic Assn.

"The Y. M. C. A. in the University is doing a great work. Besides rendering services to the many organizations on the campus it renders personal service to the University students and prompts interest in all the wholesome phases of college life.

HERMAN M. McIVER,

Captain of the Football Team.

"The Y. M. C. A., in my estimation, is probably one of the most important organizations on the campus, so far as the students are concerned. Consequently, I feel that every student should give his whole hearted co-operation in the building and financing of the "Y".

O. G. "SQUATTY" THOMAS,

Cheer Leader.

COMER TELLS OF Y. M. C. A. SERVICE

Asks for Co-operation of the Student Body.

EXPLANATION OF WORK

Description of Work Being Done During Year is Given.

For the benefit of those who are not fully acquainted with the work of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Comer has issued the following:

The casual onlooker perhaps sees little else of the Y. M. C. A. but the building, the reading room, the self-help office, the information bureau, the directory, the freshman bible, the ice water barrel, the parlor and piano, Speak-Meet-Greet Week, the steering committees for new students, and a few other of the surface or more physical features of the "Y's" activities, but there are far more important phases that lie underneath the surface of it all, important as the above-mentioned items of program may seem.

The Cabinet would have the whole campus look deeper into the meaning and purpose of the entire program, and invites any and every man who will to come in and ask for an assignment in the point of activity he finds most interesting. In order to operate the work of the "Y" it is necessary for the student body to throw some of their dollars into the work, and the campaign is to give every man that opportunity, but even more earnestly we solicit your active co-operation in the program outlined below which is in operation at the present time:

Departments in Operation

1. Social Department—Receiving new students—Providing entertainments and social leadership to students at large.
2. The Building—Home and club house to every Carolina man—Service office—Reading room, parlor, committee rooms, etc.
3. Self-Help Bureau—Providing employment and various forms of self-help assistance to over 700 students.
4. Information Bureau—"Y" office is general information bureau to visitors, students and all, including long distance calls and telegrams.
5. Chapel—The "Y" has always had a leading part in taking care of Chapel.

GOAL OVER $4,000

Workers Will Gather in Chapel of the Cross Before Drive.

HOPE TO GO OVER THE TOP

Drive Will be Intensive and Completed Monday Night—Students Asked to be in Rooms.

The "Y" campaign, with a goal of $4,250, will open with a banquet held at the Episcopal church parish house on Monday evening at 7 o'clock. With speeches by Dr. Chase, Dr. Venable, Prof. Frank Graham and Mr. Comer, together with special musical features, the program promises to be very interesting. An attractive menu, served by co-eds, will accompany the talks.

At the meeting of the men on Thursday evening who are to take part in the campaign, captains were elected for the 25 five-man teams, each of whom will attend the banquet and make plans for the campaign proper. Each team will have its own field and a canvass will be made from room to room that same night. Students are asked to remain in their rooms until they have been seen and have contributed their share to the fund.

This campaign is an annual affair. In the past some of them have succeeded and others have failed, due largely to the attitude of the first-year men. It is hoped that the members of the freshman class will understand the need for their assistance and will help put across the campaign better than in any previous year.

UNIVERSITY BAND MEETS TUESDAY

Record-Breaking Attendance of More Than Fifty Men.

SCOTT NEW PRESIDENT

Sides, Former Director, Elected to Honorary Membership.

Last Tuesday night in New West building the University band, under the supervision of its new director, Mr. McCorkle, was formally organized for the coming season.

At this first assembly of candidates for the band, over fifty men were present, a record-breaking attendance. Three officers were elected: R. K. Scott, president; McNatt, secretary and treasurer; Kelley, business manager. In view of the fact that this organization is receiving increasing recognition and appreciation of the vital part which it plays in Carolina life, many talented applicants are expected by the officers. With that new interest in this deserving department and the attractive trips which the band will make for its private concerts or with the football team, the personnel of the company should expand even beyond the present fifty-piece proportions.

Old band men were pleased to see Mr. Sides, the former director, at the meeting. At the motion of one of the men, Mr. Sides was elected an honorary member of the band. After he had been introduced to the new candidates, the former director gave an inspiring talk to the prospective players, exhorting them to support this important organization loyally. Present plans indicate that the University will have, as becomes an institution of its prestige, a most creditable corps of bandmen to render concerts and lead the triumphant parades of the coming season.

GRAIL OPENS ITS SEASON TONIGHT

First Dance of Year to Be Held Tonight.

IN BYNUM GYMNASIUM

As In the Past Freshmen Will Not Be Admitted to Floor.

With Hal Kemp and his orchestra furnishing the music, the first dance of the college year will be given tonight by the Order of the Grail in Bynum Gymnasium. Dancing will last from nine until twelve o'clock and German Club rules, prohibiting the presence of first year men will be enforced. The regular admission of seventy-five cents will be charged.
