COMPLETE PLANS ARE MADE FOR SEMI-CENTENNIAL

P. P. Claxton Will Take President Coolidge's Place as Principal Speaker.

52 PRESIDENTS TO COME

Many Notables Will Be on Hand to Honor University on This Memorable Occasion.

Plans for the big semi-centennial celebration to be held here on October 12 are now complete, all details having recently been worked out. Dr. P. P. Claxton, former United States Commissioner of Education, will be the principal speaker, President Coolidge being unable to attend.

The students will be given what amounts to a little more than a half-holiday. Classes will be held on the morning of the 12th until 10:30. The academic procession will form in front of Alumni building at 11:15. Academic costume will be worn. All members of the faculty are expected to be present, and, unless otherwise excused, march in the procession.

The procession will move from Alumni to Memorial hall for the morning exercises. President Chase will preside. Here Dr. Claxton will deliver the principal address, discussing the progress of education in the South during the last 50 years. Dr. Claxton is a former Tar Heel, now of Tulsa, Oklahoma, where he is now superintendent of the public schools for the entire city.

At this morning session the representatives of the various universities and colleges throughout the country will extend their greetings. Immediately afterwards, luncheon will be served at the Carolina Inn. In the afternoon Venable hall, the University's new $400,000 chemistry building, will be dedicated.

At 8 o'clock there will be a banquet in Swain hall. Over this banquet Judge Francis D. Winston, prominent alumnus of the University, will preside, and its three living ex-presidents, George T. Winston, Edwin A. Alderman, and Francis P. Venable, will make addresses. This banquet is open to members of the faculty and their wives. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. C. T. Woollen's office after the 1st of October and until the 8th.

Fifty-two presidents of universities and colleges will be on hand for the ceremonies. Anyone desiring to get in touch with any of the delegates may find out there address while here from the office of the President. A complete list of those who are coming is as follows:

Harvard University, William Hane Wannamaker.
College of William and Mary, President J. A. C. Chandler.
Princeton University, Professor William Starr Myers.
Columbia University, Professor Geo. B. Pegram.
Salem College, Professor Edwin J. Heath.

PHI HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF YEAR

Inaugural Address to Be Made At Later Date.

INITIATION OCT. 3 AND 10

Students Wishing to Join Urged to Be At Next Meeting.

The Philanthropic Assembly held its first meeting of the year Saturday night. A small group of enthusiastic workers were present. The speaker, W. T. Couch, postponed his inaugural address until a later date. He urged that all members co-operate in putting the merits of the Assembly before all new men who might be interested and united in the promise to get freshmen willing to work. All members present interested and also upper-classesmen who have put off joining until now. The Assembly decided to give only two meetings to the initiation of new men, these being October 3 and 10. All students who wish to join should be present at the next meeting. General pep speeches were made by Cooper, Matthews, and Dantzer, and each one showed that he meant to make the Assembly programs go with pep and vim. The coming meetings are expected to draw a crowd each Saturday night. A motion was passed to make attendance to the meetings optional. It was thought that with this change the members would attend more regularly as compulsory attendance savors of prep school coercion.

The Assembly endorsed the "Speak, Meet, Greet Week." It also invites anyone to be present at its regular meetings.

FRESHMAN SQUAD SCRIMMAGES HARD

Coaches Lowe and Pritchard to Have Formidable Eleven.

FIRST GAME OCTOBER 17

Squad of 85 Practices for Setto With U. of S. C.

The Freshman football squad, under the able leadership of Coaches "Runt" Lowe and Grady Pritchard, is rapidly rounding into form for the opening game of the season, which is to be played on the Emerson field on October 17 with the University of South Carolina Frosh.

The Tar Babies engaged in a real scrimmage for the first time on Tuesday with much vim and pep. From the way they are showing up, it looks very much as though they are going to be strong contenders for the state championship title this year.

At the present time there are about 85 men on the squad, which is about approximately 20 more than were on the squad at this time last year. The coaches are going to have a very difficult task in deciding on the players that will be in the regular line-up. From all appearances it looks as though the team will be much heavier than that of last year and probably not so fast.

The coaches state that hard practice is the order of events from now on and that they will send for their proteges through a scrimmage every day. By the time the whistle blows for the opening of the first game they expect to have a well-balanced and aggressive eleven on the gridiron.

FROSH DEBATERS ORGANIZE SOCIETY

Kelly and Calhoun to Supervise Regular Monday Meetings.

TO IMPROVE DEBATING

Hope to Make Better Material for Debating Activities.

About 40 freshmen met last night in the Y. M. C. A. to make plans for the Freshman Debating Society for this year. This society as organized last year will meet every Monday night to give members of the freshman class practice in debating, both extemporaneous and prepared.

The society will be under the supervision of two upperclassmen—Walter A. Kelly, a member of last year's society, assisted by Jesse Calhoun. However, the active direction and running of the society will be in the hands of freshman officers, to be elected at the next meeting, which will be held on Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Phi hall in New East building. At that meeting the complete organization of the society will be completed, so that a debating program can be immediately begun.

All freshmen who have ever done any debating in high school, or are interested in debating, are urged to come out to the meeting on Monday night. The Freshman Debating Society is wholly a freshman organization that has as its purpose the training and improvement of speakers, so that they may make better material for the two literary societies and intercollegiate debating teams which they will soon make up.

FATE OF DEAN'S LIST TO BE DECIDED SOON

This Matter Will Be Acted Upon by the Faculty At Their Next Meeting.

Whether or not there will be a Dean's list this year depends upon the action of the faculty at their next meeting. It will be remembered that last year the fifty men in the Junior and Senior classes of the School of Liberal Arts making the most creditable grades were given the privilege of non-compulsory class attendance.

This privilege was automatically taken from the men when their grades fell below a certain average. This year so far no Dean's list has been issued. It will be recalled that this was tried last year as more or less of an experiment and was put into effect for only one year.

This year of trial has passed. At the next faculty meeting the members of the faculty will decide the fate of the Dean's list. If the plan is re-adopted the new list will be compiled at Mr. Hibbard's office within a short time.

TRY-OUTS FOR CAROLINA MAGAZINE BUSINESS STAFF

Someone must be business manager of the Carolina Magazine for 1926-27. Do you want the place? Try outs for positions on the staff begin tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30.

LARGE NUMBER ARE PRESENT AT SENIOR SMOKER

Affair in Carolina Inn Is the First of Several Monthly Banquets.

PATTERSON IS SPEAKER

Adopt Recognition Buttons—To Wear Class Colors During "Speak-Greet-Meet" Campaign.

About 150 members of the Class of 1926 were present at the Senior class smoker which was held in the banquet room of the Carolina Inn Monday night. Sandwiches, cakes, punch and cigarettes were served.

Lawrence Watt, president of the class, opened the meeting with a short speech in which he explained that the purpose of the smoker was to get the members of the class together and get acquainted. He announced that similar meetings will be held throughout the year as often as once a month. Watt then introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. A. H. Patterson, dean of the school of applied science.

"I am glad to speak tonight to the largest senior class smoker that I have ever attended," Dr. Patterson began. "The present class is larger than the entire student body and faculty of the University was when I was a student here. Dr. Patterson took his 'text' from a quotation from Abraham Lincoln, 'We are the same that our fathers have been—we drink the same stream, see the same sights, and run the same course.'"

"We are not the same that our fathers have been," the speaker declared. "The world is changing rapidly. And I sometimes wonder if as many changes can take place—in government, in science, in society—in the next 25 years as have occurred in the last generation."

Dr. Patterson mentioned two duties that confronted the members of the class. "Your first duty, as your president has explained, is to get acquainted with your class and weld the class together—both for your own sakes and for the sake of the University. Then after graduation you must look to the future. Be forward-looking men. Catch the spirit of progress and keep the pace. I do not mean that you must be Babbitts. We as a state are ahead in many things, but in many others we are lamentably behind—in music, art, literature, and libraries, and in most of the finer things of life."

The speaker mentioned one shadow that hangs over us. That is in the danger of following the example of our daughter state, Tennessee, in issuing a

VALUABLE PROFESSOR IS ADDED TO FACULTY

Dr. English Bagby to Teach Psychology and Help Students With Personal Problems.

Dr. English Bagby, A. B. (Princeton 1913) Ph. D. (Johns-Hopkins 1918), comes to the University of North Carolina as Professor of Psychology from Yale University where he was Assistant Professor of Psychology. He has also taught at V. M. I., Johns-Hopkins, and Columbia University. Dr. Bagby served during the World War with the Aviation Corps. His chief duty was connected with the attempt to prevent aviators from going stale on their flying.

At Yale, Dr. Bagby devoted the greater part of his time to serving as psychological advisor to the student body. His aid was sought in many cases by athletes. At one time Captain Mallory, star catcher of the Bulldog baseball team, lost his accuracy in returning the ball to the pitcher. He was given aid in getting his former control. Dr. Bagby was also able to give assistance to track and football men.

Dr. Bagby's most important work at Carolina as at Yale, is to act as advisor to undergraduates in all problems relating to mental efficiency. He is working in co-operation with Dean Bradshaw in giving the students any kind of advice needed. Dr. Bagby will be glad to have any interested student call at his office, Room number 28, Peabody building between the hours of 9:30 to 11:00 A. M., and at other times by appointment.

The assistance which Dr. Bagby is prepared to give includes aid to students who are having difficulty with their studies. He will give instruction in methods by which such men can prepare their work more thoroughly without materially increasing their labor. He will assist any who may have trouble with their memory work. Dr. Bagby will be pleased to aid any student who may be nervous or depressed, or who is having trouble in connection with the social situation here.

Freshmen Elect Officers Tonight

The first smoker and general get-together for the Freshman Class will be held tonight in Swain Hall at nine o'clock. There will be no charge for admission and a full attendance of the class is expected.

Dr. Chase will be present and will make a short talk to the class of 1926. Prof. Bagby, a new addition to the University faculty, will also speak to the class.

It has been announced that election of officers for the class during the present year will be conducted tonight. In addition to this, other important business matters will be taken up.

"Y" BANQUET IS GREAT SUCCESS

Talks Made By Venable, Graham, and Comer.

SEVENTY MEN PRESENT

Two Thousand Dollars Already Collected by Canvassing Teams.

The annual banquet of the University Y. M. C. A., opening the campaign conducted by the "Y" with a prospective goal of $4,250 in student contributions, was held Monday evening from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock at the Episcopal church parish house. With excellent talks by Dr. F. P. Venable, Prof. Frank Graham, and Mr. Comer, together with an elaborate menu and much good spirit the banquet proved to be one of the most successful that has been held by the "Y."

The banquet was made possible by the contributions of many local people in various ways, especially valuable being the service and advice rendered by the ladies of the five Chapel Hill churches, who prepared the food that was served. Pretty co-eds, assisted in the kitchen by Kenneth Jones and his squad of freshmen, served the food. Many local business firms contributed generously with food and made little extra buying necessary.

Kike Kiser spoke about the "Speak, Greet, Meet Week" to be held next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday and the get-together to be held under the Davie popular Friday night.

Dr. Venable spoke about the great value of "Y" work, saying that he knew of no other organization that is so helpful to the students of the University.

"I rejoice to renew my connection with the 'Y' said Prof. Frank Graham, who was at one time 'Y' secretary here. He made a strong plea for the necessity of 'Y' service. 'Let us all move up to that highway where He and His students are working,' he said, 'do not go out as canvassers checking off names from lists or to beg, but go as men to meet other men,' he said, referring to the campaign to be conducted."

Mr. Comer spoke about the "Y" plans for the coming year. He especially emphasized the establishment of a new department in the "Y" cabinet this year, the Case committee. This new department is established with a view to keeping as many freshmen as possible from going home.

Last year practically one-fourth of the Freshmen Class left school up to June. Already the Case committee has kept since the University opened this fall, there being only one man so far that they have worked on who has left.

Over $2,000 was collected the first night by the canvassing teams, $600 being in cash. Around one-third of the student body has been seen so far but the others will be seen in the near future. Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund can do so by seeing Frazier Glenn.

Seventy men attended the banquet and alone contributed to the amount of $300. The campaign has been decidedly successful so far and fully came up to the expectations of the "Y" cabinet on the first night.

SUPPLEMENTARY TRY-OUTS FOR GLEE CLUB

From the Glee Club comes the announcement of a supplementary try-out for places Thursday night at eight o'clock in Memorial Hall.

This meeting will be held for the purpose of completing the search for talented singers on the Hill. Although many candidates have already tried for places, President Lauerhass is giving this last chance to experienced men who have failed to attend the previous contests. It is hoped that many applicants of appreciable ability will be present at this meeting.

GRAIL ENTERTAINS STUDENTS FRIDAY

"Speak, Greet, Meet" Week is Launched Yesterday.

FROSH SMOKER TONIGHT

Faculty and Students Will Gather Together Friday Night.

"Speak, Greet, Meet Week" was officially opened Wednesday morning during chapel period with an address by President Chase and an explanation of the purpose of the week by Kike Kyser. The week officially will end Friday night when the Order of the Grail will be at home to the faculty and student body under Davie Poplar.

One of the main features of the plan is the greeting period before meals. Students are expected to make themselves known to all fellow-students at the table before beginning the meal. Today the same program is to be carried out, and in the boarding houses, cafeterias and college dining hall students are expected to continue to make acquaintances. The class smokers of the week have been an integral part of the week's program. The freshman smoker this evening is the big event in the campaign for today.

Tomorrow all classes will stop for 10 minutes so that every member of the class may meet every other member of the class. In many cases students will learn the names of their professors by this method. During the chapel period, every activity officer on the campus will be on the platform to endorse the movement. Dr. Chase will make his second appearance of the week before the students in behalf of the program.

The "Speak, Greet, Meet" campaign closes Friday night with a great wind-up under Davie Poplar. The Order of the Grail will be host to the University faculty and the entire student body. It is planned to have this section of the campus gaily decorated for the occasion.

At this gathering the faculty of each school will form a receiving line for members in that school. The students, after passing down the line, will gather into groups, according to classes. Yells will be given, songs will be sung, and there will be a few short speeches.

The Grail entertainment will start immediately after the first Pick is out, and it promises that the party will be over as soon after 9 o'clock as possible. Refreshments will be served.

RHODES SCHOLAR TO BE SELECTED

Application Must Be Filed by October 7.

RULES OF ELIGIBILITY

Carolina Allowed Five Candidates—Applicants Must See Hibbard.

Any student interested in trying for the Cecil Rhodes Oxford Scholarship, for which Carolina is allowed five candidates, should see Mr. Hibbard, Dean of the School of Liberal Arts at once. Candidates are elected this year for the Scholarship which begins in 1926. The state of North Carolina is allowed two of these scholarships. As they may be held for three years there is one year in every three during which no election is held. On each of the other two years one of the Scholarships is filled if a suitable candidate applies.

These scholarships are given through a fund left by the late Cecil Rhodes, English multi-millionaire who played such a great part in the development of South Africa. They carry ordinarily a stipend of about 300 pounds or $1,500 per year, but until further notice they will also carry a bonus of 50 pounds. Even with this added sum, however, the total is not sufficient to meet the increase in prices and all candidates are warned that they will need in addition approximately $260 per year while at Oxford.

Colleges and Universities are allowed a number of candidates proportionate to the size of their student body. Carolina leads the state of North Carolina with an allowance of five. All applications must be in the hands of the Secretary of the State Committee for Selection not later than October 17th. The Secretary for North Carolina is H. S. Hilley, President of the Atlantic Christian College of Wilson, N. C. Men applying from Carolina must first, however, turn their applications in to Mr. Hibbard on or before October 7th.

The selection is based on three main bases. These are: (1) Literary and scholastic ability and attainments; (2) qualities of manhood, force of character, and leadership; (3) and physical vigor, as shown by interest in outdoor sports or in other ways. Excellence in all three of these departments is desired, but in lieu of such an ideal combination character, personality, and intellect are

FOOTBALL SQUAD IS PREPARING FOR GAMECOCK GAME

The Next Encounter Will Take Place in Columbia Saturday Afternoon.

HARD SCHEDULE AHEAD

Following Five Games Will Be Played on Enemy Territory—Last Two Games Here.

The Wake Forest game is gone, and the defeat is written down in the Tar Heel athletic history. The big idea before the coaches and the men on the squad now is to wipe out the memory of last Saturday's 6 to 0 setback by a series of victories over the other teams on the schedule.

The team came through the curtain-raiser with no major injuries to the players, and settled down immediately to hard practice preparatory to the game with the South Carolina Gamecocks at Columbia, S. C., next Saturday. The Gamecocks won last year's contest on Emerson Field by the score of 10 and 7, and they have practically the same team back this season that wore the Garnet and Black in 1924. Their only major loss was the graduation of Frankie Meyer, one of the fastest ends in Southern football for several years.

The Fetzerites however have a double incentive to urge them on when they invade the Gamecock nest. They are faced with the proposition of avenging last year's defeat by the South Carolinians and also to erase the memory of the Baptist game of last Saturday.

Following the South Carolina game the Tar Heels will get into the midst of a schedule that would try the strength of any team. Five straight contests on enemy fields will come during the latter part of October and the first of November. Duke at Durham on Saturday, October 10, and N. C. State at Raleigh on Thursday, October 16, are two hard games within five days. Then comes Maryland at College Park on October 24, Mercer at Macon, Ga., on October 31, and V. M. I. at Richmond on November 7. Following these games on the road the Tar Heels return to the "Hill" to make their last stand against Davidson's Wildcat crew on November 14 before they settle down to the grind of preparation for the Cavaliers on Thanksgiving Day.

Record Attendance for First Meeting of Year.

CHASE MAKES SPEECH

Class Decides to Secure Successor to Rameses III.

The Class of 1927 pulled one of the biggest smokers in the history of the University at Swain Hall on Tuesday night at nine o'clock. With a record attendance for the first class meeting of the year, the juniors initiated their third year as Carolina men with a crash and a slam.

Bob Sides, president of the class, started things off with a speech of welcome to the men and women (yes, there were representatives from the new Woman's Building present too) and closed his speech by introducing the speaker of the evening, Dr. H. W. Chase.

The juniors are rather proud of the coup-d'etat that they pulled over the seniors, when they got ahead of the near-graduates and obtained President Chase as their main speaker. Dr. Chase spoke for several minutes on the past record of the Class of '27 and of its possibilities for the future.

"You were sophomores," he said, "but that is too far in the pre-historic past to mention." He also told the class that the last two years of a college course are worth ten times as much to a man as are the first two.

"The junior class has the advantage over every class on the campus," he said. "You have gained that advantage over the two lower classes by your achievements, and you hold the advantage over the higher seniors because you do not have to worry every time you wake up in the night over the proposition that will face you when you graduate and go out in the cold cruel world. That is too far in the future to bother you."

Dr. Chase closed his speech by urging the members of the class to take a greater part in the university activities. "A large majority of the successful alumni of the University are men who when they were undergraduates took a part in the extra-curriculum activities."
