INTRODUCE NOVEL ELECTION METHOD

Voting Was Done at Smoker in Swain Hall.

EARLY RETURNS GIVEN

New Officers Are Introduced to Class After Election

The latest method of holding class elections here was introduced Thursday night at the Freshman Smoker held in Swain hall when the first year men cast their ballots at the first part of the meeting and heard their newly-elected president address them at the close.

Each table was considered a precinct. Nominations were made and each man at a table wrote his choice upon a slip of paper. These were then passed to the head of the table where the chairman tabulated the results. The returns from each table were then collected and the total vote quickly tabulated. The individual ballots were preserved and later counted as a check on the first count. At the end of the smoker the new officers were introduced and President Nixon made a short talk.

The system used Thursday met with the approval of student officers and will probably be used frequently in the future, as it effects a great saving in time and labor.

The complete Freshman vote Thursday night is as follows:

President—Nixon 174, Presson 123, Dortch 85, Stone 54, Burton 45.

Vice-President—Schuler 139, Swarts 131, Williamson 119, Crocker 38, Edgerton 31.

Secretary—Satterfield 183, Smith 76, Forbes 73, Eby 53, Presley 43, Adams 39.

Treasurer—Hackney 210, Young 151, Fields 25, Harper 15, McConnell 10.

LARGE CROWD AT SOPHS' SMOKER

About Four Hundred Men at Class Smoker.

VOTE FOR FRESHMAN CAP

Endorse the Speak, Greet, Meet Movement—Collier Cobb Speaks.

About 400 members of the class of 1928 attended the sophomore smoker given at Swain Hall Wednesday night. Sandwiches, ice cream, cakes, tea and cigarettes were served.

Manly Williamson, president of the class, opened the meeting with a short speech, urging a continuance of the splendid co-operation and class spirit among the members of the class. "Kyke" Kiser outlined the "Speak, Greet, Meet" program of which the smoker was a part, and Williamson then introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Collier Cobb, who made one of his characteristically interesting and entertaining speeches.

"Joe" Bobbit brought before the meeting a plan originated by Dean Bradshaw whereby all freshmen would be required to wear caps until the night before the Carolina-Virginia game when they would be given a chance to discard them then if they could out-yell the sophomores at the "pep" meeting to be held then. This plan was heartily approved by the sophomores, although there was some objection to the plan and some others mentioned as possible substitutes.

The smoker closed with a resounding yell for the class of 1928.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS HAVE VIGOROUS START

Season Opened Monday With Four Teams in Action—Bell, Butler, and Wahman in Charge.

Intra-Mural athletes are getting under way this year with even more enthusiasm and vigor than last year, when they were a decided success. This year they are under the direction of Frank "Varsity" Bell, Frank Butler, and J. B. Wahman, and these men are running things in a very satisfactory manner.

The Tag Football season opened Monday afternoon with four teams in action. All of them looked good but "F" was particularly impressive in her victory over Ruffin. On Tuesday afternoon four more teams made their debut on the gridiron and two good games were played. The team representing New Dorms, dormitory champions of last year, had a good team on the field and defeated Mangum after a hard-fought and well-played game.

All in all, prospects are unusually bright for a very successful year in Intra-Mural athletics.

The Chapel Hill high school defeated the Rockingham high football team, who won last year's high school championship, at Rockingham Friday a week ago by a 13 to 7 score.

HERMAN McIVER

McIver, Tar Heel captain who is now playing his fourth year as tackle and center, is expected to be the mainstay in the line today when the Tar Heels meet the Gamecocks in Columbia, S. C.

CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

To Produce Plays At Meeting of Recreation Congress in Asheville—Leaving Tuesday.

The Carolina Playmakers are leaving Tuesday for Asheville, where they have been invited to attend The Twelfth Recreation Congress, which meets October 5-10, and to present a special performance of Carolina Folk-Plays. They are planning to present Old Wash Lucas, better known as The Miser, and Gains and Gains, Jr. The former was one of the plays which were featured on the Playmaker's first State tour in 1921; the cast of characters has been altered but little, however. Wash Lucas will be played by George Denny; Ida Lucas, by Katherine Batts; Perry Lucas, by Lawrence Wallace; and Tim Adams, by David Hodgkin. Gains and Gains, Jr., which was presented on the Southern tour last year, will have as its cast; George Denny as Gains Mayfield; Margaret Jones as Mrs. Mayfield; P. L. Elmer as Gains Mayfield, Jr.; David Hodgkin as Dr. Foster; and Lawrence Wallace as Ben.

The Recreation Congress is a national gathering of civic, social and governmental leaders with professional recreation workers to work and play together for a week; an opportunity to exchange experiences, learn the results of experiments, and secure practical information; a chance to see in perspective the leisure time problems of America, to learn how and what individuals and communities are doing to meet it; and above all an opportunity for fellowship with the men and women working in this challenging field.

The Congress is attended by public officials—federal, state and local; recreation executives, park superintendents, play leaders, physical directors; specialists in music, drama, story-telling, community art; educators and authors; rural leaders; delegates from church, civic, labor and business groups; representatives of women's clubs—all who desire to see life made more abundant through happy use of leisure.

This association, which is attended by leaders from all over the country, met in Atlantic City last year. Professor Koch attended and gave a lecture on Folk-Playmaking in Dakota and Carolina. This year it is meeting in Asheville, and the Carolina Playmakers have the signal honor of being the only dramatic group invited to attend.

Dialectic Senate Take In Freshmen Tonight

The Di Senate will hold its third meeting of the year tonight in its hall on the third floor of New West building. The meeting will begin, as usual, at seven-thirty.

There is a good deal of business to come before the Senate besides the usual debates and discussion. The first matter to be attended to will be the initiation of freshmen. New members from the upper classes were initiated at the last meeting. There will be read an itemized report of the condition of the treasury, and new business will be attended to.

The meeting will be in charge of the new officers, and a good program is expected of the new program committee.

PAVING MAY BE DONE BY OCT. 12

Four Main Streets of Town to Be Paved.

PROVISIONS FOR PARKING

Traffic Regulators to Be Installed—To Care for Visitors to Hill.

The work of paving the greater portion of Franklin street, Cameron avenue, Raleigh street and Columbia avenue and of installing the new traffic control system is being pushed rapidly forward in order to complete it in time for the Virginia-Carolina game. Franklin street will be 58 feet wide, Cameron avenue 24 feet, Raleigh street 30 feet and Columbia Avenue 54. This unusual width of the leading streets of the town was planned so as to accommodate the inrush of visitors attending the games and dances at the University. Columbia Avenue and Franklin street will be able to care for cars parking parallel to the curbs on both sides of the street as well as two lines of traffic moving in opposite directions.

The work on Franklin street will be commenced within the next few days. No parking will be allowed on the street between the post-office and Columbia Avenue. Franklin and Raleigh streets and Columbia Avenue will be paved with concrete similar to the roads of the State Highway Commission. Cameron avenue will have an under layer of concrete and an upper layer of natural asphalt. This street will have its parking space adjoining it on account of its narrowness.

The total cost of the work, including a mile of concrete on the Pittsboro highway, will be approximately $95,000. The Zeigler Brothers, of Greensboro, were the successful bidders for the job. If possible, they will complete the work in Chapel Hill by October 12, in time for the reopening celebration of the University.

The asphalt forming the upper layer of the street is known as Kentucky rock or natural asphalt. The composition is mixed before leaving the factory in such a manner as to do away with the preliminary heating troubles usually experienced in asphalt road construction. The natural asphalt has nearly the same wearing qualities as the old-style asphalt in addition to saving much time and money.

The new automatic traffic control system will be one of the first of its type in North Carolina. Instead of the usual single steel, electrically-lighted mushroom in the center of two intersecting streets there will be four, one in the center of each corner. It is hoped that this new system will speed up traffic considerably at the intersections of Franklin street and Columbia Avenue, and Columbia and Cameron Avenues, where the lights are to be placed.

FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL'S BANQUET DRAWS MANY

About Fifty Men Attend First Meeting of the Freshman Friendship Council.

According to its annual custom, the Freshman Friendship Council held its first banquet of the year, Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock in the Methodist Hut. More than fifty men attended the banquet, which is said to be one of the most successful ever held.

President Chase gave a most inspiring talk, pointing out emphatically the great worth and value of "Y" work. There were also talks by Mr. Comer, J. E. Calhoun, and Mr. Morris, president of the Freshman Friendship Council at State College last year and a member of the "Y" cabinet there this year.

Officers elected for the present year are: president, Robert Harper, Charlotte; vice-president, John Anderson, Fayetteville; secretary, Lincoln Keeler, Salisbury; treasurer, Nelson Woodson, Salisbury. Reports were received concerning the work and activity of Hi-Y clubs last year in various cities, especially Greensboro, High Point, Chapel Hill, and Charlotte.

The work of the Freshman Friendship Council was outlined by Joe Bobbit, toastmaster of the banquet, in the absence of Brooke Todd, president last year, who is not back at the Hill this year. Bob Hardee served both as the asker of grace and the leader of cheers at the close of the banquet.

A savory Brunswick stew was the outstanding part of the menu, and together with the other good things served, made up a meal that might be said to closely rival the one served at the "Y" cabinet banquet last Monday evening. It is safe to say that everybody enjoyed the whole program thoroughly.

Miss Virginia Stainback, Greensboro, spent the week-end with Miss Latta.

GREETING WEEK COMES TO CLOSE

Speak, Greet, Meet Week Ends With Today.

TO REVIVE OLD CUSTOM

Attempt to Restore Practice of Universal Greeting on Campus Ends.

By R. K. FOWLER

"Speak, meet, greet Week" has come and gone. To some it seemed a glowing success, to others a dismal failure. The first group consisted largely of congenially verdant freshmen to whom the occasion gave ample opportunity for stimulating equality as well for hailing football heroes by their first names. The second group was composed of lazy individuals who find it an effort to speak to their roommates, blasé wearers of the high hat and mentally inefficient young men who were able to retain only a fraction of the names poured into their ears. The majority of the student body, however, belonged to neither of these factions; they spoke moderately, met temperately, greeted mildly and treated the Week as a slight nuisance that would soon be over.

Nice, friendly signs dotted the campus including one specimen which inquired insinuatingly: "How many co-eds do you know? Speak, meet, greet." In spite of this determined effort which doubtless had its origin in our newest dormitory, the popularity of our feminine element does not seem to have materially increased. More than a little propaganda is needed to overcome the bashfulness of Carolina students, to whom women in any form are the bane of life.

In certain boarding houses a halt was called in the middle of each meal and introductions were served around the board. Cordial hands were extended across the tables, upsetting glasses of tea and seriously inconveniencing hungry gentlemen as they reached for the cabbage. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that feeding and greeting did not mix well. The prodigy who can be polite in a boarding house is yet to be discovered.

Although most freshmen heartily approved of the Little Pollyanna Movement a saddened few found that it brought dire results. After cheerfully and freely giving their name, room number and class to everyone they met during the day they were disturbed in the evening by voices outside their rooms calling them by their first names. Thinking that a delegation from the dear old home town had dropped in to bull, they opened up and were greeted by Sophomores armed for instruction. A session with paddles followed, the paddlers introduced themselves as Manly Williamson, Jack Cobb, etc., and silently departed.

LARGE NUMBER COME TO FRESHMAN SMOKER

Vote Down Wearing of Any Sort of Freshman Cap—Officers for This Year Elected.

The first step in the welding together of the Class of 1929 was made Thursday night when more than 700 freshmen gathered in Swain Hall for their first smoker. Two co-eds were present.

The chief speaker of the evening was President Chase who congratulated the men on their fine personnel and expressed the hope that there would be 700 of them "who liked Carolina well enough and Carolina liked them well enough" still here four years from now. "You have the raw material, but the question is: what are you going to make of it? Each of you is responsible for your success or failure in college."

The other formal speaker was Dr. English Bagby, who urged them to come to him when they felt the need of advice on any sort of problem, such as inability to study, social troubles or any mental disturbance.

"Squatty" Thomas opened the meeting with some cheers and the singing of "Hark, the Sound." He was followed by "Kike" Kyser, who explained the "Speak-Greet-Meet" campaign to them. The meeting was then turned over to Jesse Calhoun who conducted the election of class officers.

The following officers were elected: President, James Nixon, of Asheville; Vice-President, J. E. Shuler, of Salisbury; Secretary, Henry Satterfield, of Durham; and Treasurer, Rufus Hackney, of Durham.

The question of freshman caps was brought up. The first proposal was that they should wear caps until they wear hats until they beat the sophomores yelling and rooting. This was endorsed by Jeff Fordham, but was voted down. The second proposal was that they should (Continued on page four)

Tar Heels Invade South Carolina Territory Today

To Give Concert Sunday at Four

A concert will be given in Memorial Hall at four o'clock Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the music department. T. Smith McCorkle, who was recently added to the music faculty, will play the violin. He will be accompanied by his wife, Lilita W. McCorkle. Paul J. Weaver will play the piano. Selections from the works of Vieuxtemps, Schumann, Randegger, Kreisler, Chamade-Kreisler, and Hubay will be given.

STATE INSTITUTIONS TO BEAUTIFY GROUNDS

Dr. Coker Appointed by Governor to Act On Committee to Discuss Making Plans.

Dr. W. C. Coker has been appointed to act with two others on a committee to discuss the matter of making plans for the beautification of the grounds of all state institutions. He received a letter to this effect from Governor A. W. McLean during the last few days asking him to meet in Raleigh for a conference upon the matter.

The committee appointed for this purpose consists of the following men: Dr. W. C. Coker, of the Botany Department of this University; Professor H. M. Curran, of State College, Raleigh; and Mr. C. D. Matthews, also of State College, Raleigh.

At the conference held at Raleigh the first part of the week, the matter was discussed at some length. Material for the first report of the committee is being prepared.

Governor McLean has received several letters from state institutions calling attention to the desirability of having some organization to make plans for this work and to supervise the actual carrying out of the plans. The need of an expert to take charge of the work was also stressed. Governor McLean stated that he knew no other person who was better fitted to fill this position. Many new buildings are going up throughout the state with no provision for planting shrubbery, grass, and trees. The purpose of this project is to beautify the premises of all state institutions, including the Capitol at Raleigh. Plans are now being made for the beautification and conservation of the grounds around public institutions. These plans consist of the planting of various kinds of trees, shrubbery, and grass.

Dr. W. C. Coker has had adequate experience along this line. Here at the University he has had charge of the beautification of the grounds for some time. He is responsible for the setting out of all these trees around the campus, especially those in the court between the Quadrangle buildings and also in the court between Murphey and Saunders Buildings. He has vastly improved the appearance of the campus. He has divided the uncultivated space up into neat grass plots, and has provided by gutters for the carrying off of the water which beforehand usually collected in mudholes in the walks which had to be used by students and others passing through the campus. Several years from now, the arboretum will not be the only spot of beauty around the campus, but the whole campus will have assumed a similar aspect if the plans that are now being made carry through.

However, the hearty co-operation of the student body will be essential to the success of this project.

North Carolina Club to Meet Monday Evening

The North Carolina Club will render its first regular program of the year Monday evening at 7:30 in Saunders Hall.

Edgar T. Thompson, professor of rural social economics, will give a paper on the subject: "Leadership and the reconciliation of town and country interests". The meeting will then be thrown open for questions and general discussion. Election of officers, which was postponed from the last meeting, will be held. The meeting will last one hour exactly.

The North Carolina Club meets fortnightly on Monday evenings for discussion of problems pertaining to the State. The public is cordially invited. The club year book for 1924-25 is now off the press and is available for members of the club and others who desire copies.

LINE-UP CHANGED

Shifts Made to Find a More Effective Combination.

TEAM DETERMINED TO WIN

Fetzerites Will Try to Make Up for Defeat Administered by Wake Forest Last Saturday.

The Tar Heel football squad left the "Hill" last night for Columbia where they meet the University of South Carolina Gamecocks this afternoon. The Fetzerites go to the Palmetto State, with the hopes of the Carolina student body behind them, determined to bring back a victory.

Coaches Bob and Bill Fetzer have been making numerous changes in the first string line-up this week in an effort to find a more effective combination than the one which faced Wake Forest here last Saturday afternoon with such disastrous results. Braswell has been moved nearer the middle of the line and has been playing guard, while McMurray and Doddier have been holding the flank assignments. Robinson has been running at a tackle position instead of at guard. Shuford has also been at the fullback position in the backfield.

These shifts in the line-up have given the team more drive and force than they have yet shown this season, and the team should show a stronger and more sustained offensive this week-end than they did last Saturday.

The line-up of the first string practice these last few days indicate that the Fetzer brothers may start the following men against the Gamecocks: Doddier and McMurray, ends; Morehead and Robinson, tackles; Whisnant and Braswell, guards; Captain McIver, center; Sparrow, quarterback; Bonner and Devia, halfbacks; and Shuford, fullback.

GRAIL RECEPTION IS A BIG SUCCESS

Large Attendance at Get-Acquainted Meet Last Night.

FACULTY PARTICIPATES

Punch Served From Bowls Presided Over by Co-eds.

The "Speak, Meet, Greet" campaign was brought to a close last night with a reception in the Tin Can which was sponsored by the Order of the Grail.

It was originally planned to hold the reception under Davie poplar, but on account of the rain it was held in the Tin Can. Due to the bad weather and the change in plans too late to notify the public, a smaller crowd than had been expected was present.

The program was opened with a series of yells, after which the faculty divided into separate schools, members of the faculty of each school forming a receiving line and the students of their schools passing rapidly down the line and introducing themselves to their faculty. The crowd was then divided into freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes, graduate students, and faculty, the members of each class introducing themselves to each other.

The entire crowd was then broken up into lines irrespective of classes and schools which formed themselves before the punch bowls which were placed at convenient points. Each punch bowl was presided over by two co-eds, and before any person was served he had to introduce himself to both of the girls at the bowl.

Another feature of the meeting was the getting acquainted that went on among the members of the faculty at the same time that the students were meeting each other.

After refreshments had been served, the crowd assembled again in one mass and gave several yells. The reception closed with the singing of "Hark the Sound."

It is hoped by those that have sponsored the movement that although this gathering closed the formal campaign to re-establish the old custom of speaking to one another, that the practice itself will not fall back into the state of disuse it was before this movement began.

Returns From N. C. South Carolina Game by Radio

A radio receiving set will be installed over the transom of the Carolina Smoke Shop by Professor P. H. Daggett in time to receive the returns of the game with the University of South Carolina today. The set will be large enough to receive the broadcasted returns of all the large games hereafter. The set will be installed by Mr. Schmitt, manager of the Smoke Shop, for the especial benefit of the students.
