

CAROLINA FORCES MUSTER TO MEET VIRGINIA ELEVEN

Thanksgiving Game On Emerson Field Expected to Be Keenly Contested.

FETZERS DESERVE PRAISE

Number of Spectators Expect It to Set New South Atlantic Record For Attendance.

By Brown Shepherd

For a week carpenters have labored to construct seats in every possible nook on Emerson Field that will afford the occupants a view of the struggle which will take place Thanksgiving Day. Accommodations have been provided to seat fifteen thousand spectators. The number of tickets purchased to date excel all former sales of reserved seats for an athletic contest at the University. Of the total number only about one thousand seats remain to be sold. Indications point to an attendance total which will set a new record for football games among the South Atlantic States.

Tar Heels Optimistic.

Alumni and supporters of the blue and white are awaiting the combat with keenest interest. Thirty times have the wearers of the Carolina colors faced the Blue and Gold on the gridiron. Nineteen games have ended to the tune of that ancient Virginia ditty, "WahooWah." Thursday thousands of Tar Heel advocates will journey to the Hill in possession of the comforting opinion that Carolina stock has risen to a degree unequalled since the passing of "Red" Johnson and the "wonder team" of '22.

On paper the Tar Heel's edge of the razor is hoped to be slightly keener than that of the Old Dominion Warriors. Both Maryland and V. M. I. were flattened a slight degree deeper into the turf by the onrushing Carolinians than they were by the dogged cleats of the Virginia eleven. Such an advantage serves only to create a source for optimism. Authorities are of the opinion that the final score of the 1925 struggle between the keen and bitter rivals rests to a large extent in the hands of the god of breaks.

Both Teams Stronger.

Both Carolina and Virginia have teams of much higher calibre and of more versatile offense than the two elevens that trotted onto Lambeth Field last Thanksgiving Day amidst the applause of Tar Heels and Old Dominion supporters.

If authority may be based upon the statements of Virginia sport editors, the Charlottesville lads have the strongest material that has composed a Virginia eleven for ten years. In addition Coach Neal has a wealth of competent reserve material to insert in the line-up should occasion arise. The system of plays employed by Neal's proteges is both flashy and intricate. Those who witness the team in action next Thursday will behold an offense cleverly veiled and dangerously powerful.

Carolina Not Second Choice.

It is an assured fact that great import may be placed on past consistency (Continued on page two)

DANCING PERIOD NOW UNDER WAY

Script Dance At Washington Duke Hotel Was Curtain Raiser.

DANCING ALL THIS WEEK

Durham and Chapel Hill Are Centers of Big Social Affairs.

The script dance given at the Washington Duke hotel Friday evening served as a curtain raiser to ten days of continuous dancing in Chapel Hill and Durham. Hal Kemp's orchestra played for this initial event.

Saturday at the Carolina Inn, Gamma Psi of the University of North Carolina and Kappa Delta Pi of North Carolina State were hosts at a formal ball in honor of the installation of the Alpha Lambda Tau Fraternity. Again the mule was furnished by Hal Kemp's orchestra.

Monday afternoon D K E budded forth with a tea dance in its chapter house. Invitations to this dance were issued verbally. The guests of honor were the members of the bridal party of Matilda Bryant and Bob George. The presence of Kemp's orchestra at this affair was the last appearance of Carolina's local orchestra in this vicinity during the week of Thanksgiving.

The eyes of the younger social set turned Monday and Tuesday nights to the ball room of the Washington Duke Hotel where formal dances have been scheduled in honor of the approaching wedding of Bob George and Matilda (Continued on page four)

Season Tickets At Y for Dances

The Members of the German Club are urged to secure season tickets for the Thanksgiving Dances at the Y. M. C. A. today, Tuesday afternoon, November 24, 1925, from 1:30 to 4:30. The season tickets will be given out upon presentation of the Membership cards.

Members of the German Club who have not yet received membership cards will please ask at the general delivery window at the post office. If the cards are not at the post office, and have not been received otherwise, they may be secured from Borden Hooks, Secretary-Treasurer of the German Club, at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon.

LIBRARY TRAINING URGED BY WILSON

Resolution Is Passed Calling on State Department to Aid.

WORLD COURT FAVORED

Dean Carroll Discusses Benefits of Libraries to Business Men.

As a result of the efforts of Dr. Louis R. Wilson, head of the University Library a resolution was passed by the State Library Association which met here last week establishing a teacher-librarian certificate, which is to be awarded by the state department of education upon the completion of proper normal courses in library as well as educational subjects. This resolution was passed in an effort to emphasize the importance of, and increase the use of elementary and high school libraries.

The basis of Dr. Wilson's argument in urging the passing of such a resolution was the need of training for those teachers who are placed in charge of the school libraries in order that the maximum value may be got from the few books now in those libraries.

The unanimous passage of a second resolution was obtained through the efforts of Miss Annie F. Petty. This the new president of a committee of resolution required the appointment by three, which committee is to carefully study all proposals for library extension work, acting subject to the call of the executive committee.

Another resolution was passed unanimously, urging the conviction of the association upon congress that the United States should enter the world court under the conditions laid down by Harding and Hughes.

Dean Dudley D. Carroll, of the school of commerce of the University, gave the principal address of the afternoon session. Dean Carroll portrayed the reciprocal benefits from close cooperation between business men and public libraries. He said that business men should give liberal support to their library out of pure self preservation. Business of today is based upon statistical data, charts and graphs, which are available in public libraries. Information concerning all forms of industry is placed on the reading shelves of all libraries.

Dean Carroll's address interested interesting discussions, as a result of which many interesting facts were discovered. It was revealed that there are only eight libraries in the state with full-time librarians in charge; that the (Continued on page two)

TENNIS TEAM TO MEET VA. NETMEN NOV. 25

Local Team Has Displayed Unusual Form This Season But Expects Bitterly Contested Matches.

The tennis team of the University will meet the tennis team of the University of Virginia Wednesday afternoon. The matches will be placed on the Varsity courts behind the Triangle.

The team will probably be composed of Elgin, Whitaker, Geddie, Cone, and Harvell. There will be seven matches played, five singles and two doubles. The doubles teams are composed of Elgin and Whitaker, and Geddie and Cone. Each member of the Carolina team will participate in the single matches.

This contest should be especially good. The Blue and White, displaying unusual form for such an early date in the season, defeated the Wake Forest netmen by winning six of the seven matches played. Whitaker and Elgin won the doubles at the Pinehurst tournament in which several excellent players participated. Elgin was the runner-up for singles honors in this same tournament. DI-PHI MEETING JOINTLY DISCUSS HAMPTON AFFAIR

Societies Present Picture of Old Days in Heated Discussion.

GLEE CLUB IS VINDICATED

Joint Meeting Also Discusses Change of Meeting Night and Wrestling Coach.

Some of the "old timers" who so frequently bemoan the lapse of interest since the "good old days" in the Di and Phi Societies would have been greatly encouraged had they witnessed the heated discussions which took place in the Phi Hall last Saturday night when the Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Assembly met for their first joint meeting of the year, and the second in their history.

At this meeting it was demonstrated that the importance of the two societies which were once, we are told, such a powerful factor on the campus, is not yet entirely passed. For not in many moons has such spirited interest and such keen competition to gain hearing on the floor. Speaker Couch, probably for the first time during his term of office, was forced to tax his judgment to the utmost in order to award recognition to the first men on their feet and he was not able to put a stop to the discussion until a full half hour after the regular time of adjournment.

The bombshell which caused such a stir among the campus Senators and representatives was the last of three resolutions discussed, namely, "Be it firmly resolved, that the Di and Phi in joint session go on record as favoring the action of the University Glee Club in the Hampton Institute affair. This bill was introduced by R. M. Hardee, a member of the glee club and a participant in the incident. In introducing his resolution Hardee briefly outlined some of the criticisms of the club recently voiced in some of the Virginia dailies. He stated that the concert was to a great extent an effort to familiarize the members of the club with negro music, which may only be studied at first hand.

A graduate student, Moser, asserted that the Glee Club, led by Mr. Weaver, pulled off the most disgusting and humiliating thing that has ever happened since his six years at U. N. C. He said that Mr. Weaver could not explain the affair and should be fired off the faculty. In conclusion he stated that he was forced to hang his head in shame and hoped nothing similar would ever occur again. Owens believed that the Glee Club was not justified, that white audiences would have enjoyed it and received as much from the Glee Club as the negroes did, and that the Glee Club leader had made a big mistake.

Stewart, a former student at Dartmouth, continued the argument by saying, "We are not superior to nor even equal to the negro if we cannot give and receive from him. We must promote relations between the races by co-operation and the Glee Club is a good way in (Continued on page two)

HI FOOTBALL SERIES APPROACHING FINALS

Chapel Hill Meets Sanford Here Today—Other Important Games of Series to Be Played.

Three tie games, two in the East and one in the West, during last week, marked the progress of the state high school football championship elimination series.

At the beginning of last week four teams from the East, Wilmington, Sanford, Chapel Hill, and Rocky Mount, and four teams from the West, Winston-Salem, Monroe, Greensboro, and Gastonia, all group champions, remained in the contest. It was expected that the games of the last week would pave the way for the finals in determining the champions of the East and West this week, but the three draw games put to flight those hopes. This will necessitate six of the eight remaining teams, to play a couple of games this week.

In the East, Sanford and Chapel Hill battled to a scoreless stand-still at Durham, while Wilmington and Rocky Mount were equally as unsuccessful in getting a scoring advantage over the other and when they came out of the fray at Mount Olive each held a goose egg. But in the West things fared better for Gastonia when they beat Winston-Salem 6 to 2, while at Greensboro another scoreless tie was the result of the game between Monroe and Greensboro.

Since the Eastern and Western champions must be determined this week, the tie games thru-out the state will be played off today. Sanford and Chapel Hill will play here today on Emerson Field. (Continued on page three)

YOUTH DEFENDED BY VAN DOREN

Speaks on "Pioneers and the New Youth."

ANALYZES THREE BOOKS

Plays American Standardization, Fundamentalism, and Hundred Percentism.

"The New Youth movement of today is not original with this generation, but is the embodied spirit of the old pioneers breaking out in revolt against standardization," declared Carl Van Doren in a lecture on "The Pioneers and the New Youth," which he delivered in Gerrard Hall Friday night.

In introducing the speaker of the evening, Professor John T. Booker of the University English department said that it was his privilege to present the Van Dorens—Van Doren the literary editor of the Century Magazine, Van Doren the critic, Van Doren the lecturer, Van Doren the translator, and Van Doren the pedagogue. Mr. Van Doren has at one time or another performed with distinction in each of these fields, and his talk gave further evidence of his remarkable versatility. His style was entirely individual and he was at once convincing, witty, profound, and thoroughly delightful.

Mr. Van Doren opened his lecture by pointing out that the present New Youth movement is not, as many think, altogether a product of our own times. In each succeeding generation there has been a group of young people who strive to be free from binding conventions and retain (Continued on page four)

HARRIERS WILL MEET VA. TRACKMEN THURS.

Will Be Third of Three Athletic Events to Be Held Here Between the Two Universities This Week.

With victories over N. C. State and Duke University safely tucked away the Tar Heel harriers are preparing for the meet with Virginia to be held here Thanksgiving morning. This meet will be the third of three athletic events to take place this week between the Tar Heels and the Cavaliers, a tennis match being scheduled for Tuesday and the annual football game on Thanksgiving afternoon, which, of course, holds the center of the stage.

This contest between the harriers of the two rivals will be of great interest as it marks the beginning of cross-country relations with the Virginians. In the Duke and State meets, Elliott, Pritchett, Daniels, Henderson, Franklin, and Berrier have figured in the scoring. Thorpe, Ragan, and Davis have also done commendable work and are improving rapidly as the season advances.

The Cavaliers will be represented by Irvine, captain of last year's track and cross-country teams and star half-miler of the South Atlantic section; Risher, captain of this year's team; Braxton and Smith, members of last year's varsity; and Leavell, Wilkinson, Pinkerton and Gilbert, all from the 1924 Freshman harrier team.

News from the camp of the Virginians indicates that Coach Lannigan is putting the finishing touches on his team for the Thanksgiving meet and his proteges will furnish the Tar Heels with strong competition. In the home camp, Coach Ranson is giving the Tar Heels their final workout over the three-mile course mapped out for the meet this afternoon.

ALPHA LAMBA TAU INSTALLED FRIDAY

Formal Ball Is Given At Carolina Inn Saturday Night Honoring Installation of Local Chapter.

Friday afternoon the members of the local order of the Gamma Psi initiated into the Alpha Lambda Tau fraternity. The following afternoon members of the fraternity journeyed to Raleigh to be present at the installation of Alpha Lambda Tau at N. C. State. The petitioning organization at State was the Delta Kappa Pi local fraternity.

Saturday evening at the Carolina Inn both chapters were hosts at an enjoyable formal ball in honor of the installation. An attractive group of girls were present for the occasion. Music was furnished by Hal Kemp's orchestra.

The two chapters recently formed at Carolina and at State are the first lodges of Alpha Lambda Tau to be established in the state.

Those initiated into the University chapter of the fraternity were: F. P. Eller, D. V. Gray, Bob Sides, J. M. Wall, X. T. Keel, S. B. Heffner, Bruce Fewell, Julian Meredith, C. B. Brooks, J. C. Taylor, C. R. Jones, R. F. Whitesides, B. W. Ginn, R. S. Williamson, J. W. Vick, and W. T. Rightsell. (Continued on page two)

DIGNITARIES TO ADD MUCH POMP TO GAME

Thursday, November the nineteenth Governor and Mrs. Trinkle of Virginia received a message from the Governor and Mrs. McLean of this state inviting them to be their guests at the annual Carolina-Virginia Thanksgiving football classic. The Governor and his wife accepted and will remain at the Raleigh mansion of Governor McLean before leaving for Chapel Hill to attend the game. The two governors and their wives will be the guests of President and Mrs. Chase for Thanksgiving luncheon while in Chapel Hill.

HOLIDAY TRAFFIC PROBLEM SOLVED

Freshman Will Aid Carolina Motor Club and Local Police.

CONVENIENCES PROVIDED

Information Booth, Checking and Rest Rooms, and Box Lunches Offered.

The Freshman Friendship Council at its last meeting discussed the work members are to do Thanksgiving day when they are to direct and control traffic with assistants from the freshman class, sell lunches, and install and be in charge of an information booth, baggage checking room, and several ladies rest rooms.

A committee was appointed to select around 75 men from the Council and the freshman class who will work with a delegation from the Carolina Motor club and with the local police department in handling the traffic. These men will be stationed at all important street intersections to direct automobiles and at other places on the campus to guide visitors to parking places and prevent parking that would block other cars or in any way interfere with free traffic. The whole campus is to be chalked off. The freshman field and other space will be reserved for parking. No cars will be allowed to park on any streets either in the campus or in the immediate neighborhood. Signs have already been painted which are to be put up to designate where parking space can be found. The Council so successfully handled traffic at the Thanksgiving game two years ago that much recognition was taken of it throughout the state and several papers had something to say about the good work.

An information booth near the old well is to be installed and also be under the Council's direction. Large signs (Continued on page two)

SEVERAL VETERANS END CAREERS THURS.

Five and Possibly Six of Carolina's Football Men Will Play Last Game Here in Thanksgiving Affair.

Day after tomorrow on Emerson Field five, and possibly six, of Carolina's veterans will take the field for the last time as members of the Tar Heel varsity. The Thanksgiving classic will mark the beginning of ineligibility for five of the varsity and the sixth, who graduates this year, may not return to school next fall. Of these men four are backs and two are linemen.

The backfield men playing their last game of their college careers are: Emmett Underwood, who has crashed into the ranks of stardom during the present season, Billy Davin, Rabbit Bonner and George Sparrow. In the line the Fetzer brothers will lose Captain Herman Melver and possibly George Robinson.

The passing of two of these men from the football stage will mark the final exit of the members of the famous Tar Heel team of 1922 which will long be remembered in the annals of Carolina as the "Wonder team" which fought its way to the undisputed possession of the South Atlantic championship and held Yale's bulldogs to the low count of 13 to 0. These two men are Captain Melver, who held down a berth as tackle and George Sparrow, who was reserve quarterback.

Melver has played the most consistent game of his career as pilot of this year's team, rounding out a brilliant record of a full four years as a varsity lineman. He is expected to be one of the bulwarks of the Tar Heel defense Thursday. George Sparrow, besides acting as field general of the teams has been for the last two years its most consistent punter, his toe many times booting the ball out of danerous territory.

George Robinson may return for a last year of football under the Fetzer brothers next year, but it is doubtful, as he is considering forsaking the gridiron for the bar. If he does not return he will leave behind him the enviable record of having risen in two years from the ranking of a substitute to that of a candidate (Continued on page two)

PLAYMAKER BILL ATTRACTS CROWD FOR DEDICATION

Dedicate First Theatre Building of Its Kind in America.

PRESENT 3 FOLK PLAYS

Koch Gives Short Account of Playmaker Organization and Its Accomplishments.

Last night the Carolina Playmakers Theatre was dedicated after an impressive, but short, ceremony. Not only did the dedication of this building mark the third formal dedication of a building on the campus since the great period of expansion was begun a few years ago, but it has marked the dedication of the first building of its kind in the entire country. An enormous crowd thronged to the new theatre to witness this important event, for which the Playmakers have been struggling for seven years, and which gives them an important and unique position in the dramatic world of America.

The dedication exercises were opened by Professor Koch, Director of the Carolina Playmakers, who gave a short account of the origin, past accomplishments and future plans of the organization. The importance of this dedication can be no better expressed, however, than it was in the Director's speech which follows:

"Seven years ago The Carolina Playmakers presented their initial group of folk-plays on a make-shift stage which they designed and constructed in the auditorium of the Chapel Hill High School. Tonight we have come to dedicate this historic building as the Playmakers Theatre.

"They were simple plays—these first plays—the work of youthful writers. But they interpreted in new dramatic forms the life and ways of their own people.

"Since then the Playmakers have produced forty-two of their Carolina plays, representing thirty different authors. Three volumes of the plays have been published: two, the work of various members of the group; and two, the work of various members of the group; and one, the plays of a single author. These plays are recognized as marking the beginnings of an authentic American Folk Drama.

"To be sure they are plays of a single locality, but they have a wider significance. For the locality, if it is truly interpreted, is the only universal. It has been so in all lasting art.

"In dedicating this building North Carolina takes a unique place in the United States; for our theatre is really a State Theatre—the first in America, devoted to the making of its own native drama.

"We conceive of our State University as the intellectual and cultural center of North Carolina, and it is fitting that North Carolina should establish here at Chapel Hill a building dedicated to the expression of the lives of her people in her dramatic arts.

"And so we have a distinct responsibility (Continued on page four)

GERMAN CLUB TO GIVE WEEK COLOR

Several Dances Will Be Given Friday and Saturday.

CLUB IMPROVED GREATLY

Plans to Be Best Organization of Its Kind in South.

The membership roll of the German Club is now practically filled to capacity. Under the newly adopted budget system whose success appears assured, the organization will be in a position to book attractions and to take steps which former executives have not felt safe in taking because of the lack of assured financial.

The change recently effected in the constitution of the German Club is but the first step in an elaborate plan which is designed with the purpose of placing the Club in a class higher and more efficient than the similar organizations of other southern institutions which in the past have been far superior to Carolina's German Club.

The Fall dances begin Friday afternoon at four o'clock. This initial affair will end at six. The biggest dance of the set will start that evening at nine o'clock. The figure will take place at eleven, and will be followed by favors and confetti lighting.

Members of the Club are urged to present their membership cards at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon where they will secure tickets for the set of dances. These tickets, when presented at the door of the dance will be exchanged for (Continued on page two)
