

BLUE DEVILS ARE DEFEATED BY TAR HEELS BY 38-20

Sanburn's Proteges Play Best Game of Season in Defeating Dukemen.

SHIFTED TEAM AT START

Sides Is Individual Star While Hackney Plays Good Defensive Game—Moss Is Duke Star.

Playing their best game of the season, the Tar Heels defeated the Duke basketball team in the Tin Can Saturday night by the score of 38-20. The first half was rather slow but in the second period both teams pepped up and the game evolved into a fast and interesting contest, with both quints playing wonderful basketball.

Captain Sanburn decided to shift his line-up for the start of the game and started Vanstory and Morris, members of last year's Tar Baby team, in place of Captain Bill Dodderer, who was suffering with an infected foot, and Bunn Hackney. These two men filled the places of the veterans quite creditably and show great promise of developing into great basketball players.

Soon after "Footsy" Knight had tooted his whistle for the opening of the game, Vanstory caged a field goal to give the "White Phantoms" a lead which was never overcome during the entire game. While Vanstory, Cobb and Devin were ringing up shots for the Tar Heels, Pete Moss, captain of the Duke quint, was leading an offensive drive against the Carolinians which at times assumed threatening proportions. Moss rang up several beautiful shots from near the center of the court. He was unable to get any "crip" shots at the basket due to the almost impregnable five-man defense of Coach Sanburn's men.

Shortly before the end of the first half, Captain Dodderer, Sides, and Hackney were rushed into the fray, but even with their presence in the line-up Carolina was not able to obtain a safe lead over the Dukemen, who persisted in staying a few points behind. The period ended with the count standing 17-14 in favor of the Southern Champions.

The second half was likewise slow in getting started, but in a few minutes Carolina started a drive that completely swept the Duke players off their feet and which reminded the spectators of the days of "Carl" Carmichael and "Monk" McDonald. Led by Sides, who played the best game of his career, the "White Phantoms" started an offensive drive that the visiting guards were unable to cope with and which netted the Tar Heels a total of 21 points while the best Duke could do was to register up 8. The playing of the entire team in the final 15 minutes of play was nothing less than sparkling, scintillating, and brilliant. The Duke players fought valiantly but to no avail. They were simply outplayed and outclassed by the Carolina five. When the time-keeper's whistle announced the end of (Continued on page four)

DI WILL DISCUSS STUDENT FORUM

Propose Di and Phi Form Single Organization.

NEW MEN ARE INITIATED

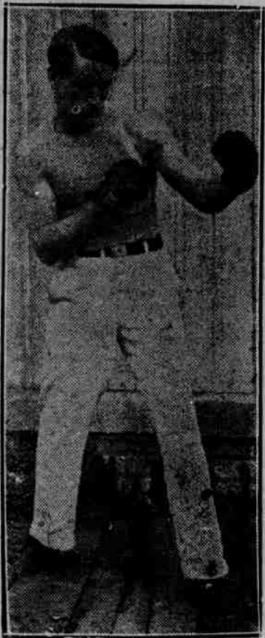

Six New Members Taken Into Di At Last Meeting.

Despite the necessarily brief session, the Dialectic Senate had an eventful meeting the past Saturday night. The attendance was near the 50 mark, and there are indications that this percentage will be maintained or even surpassed. The old disinterested pallor which has in the former meetings pervaded proceedings bids to be annihilated and a fresh, youth vigor substituted. There are factors brooding which may have a great deal to do with a regenerating and strengthening of the Dialectic forces. At any rate, this decided change is very gratifying to fond suitors of literary organizations.

The first noteworthy event of the evening was the initiation of six neophytes into this body. The fortunate initiates successful in passing the examination were: T. J. Edwards, Rutherfordton; L. H. McPherson, High Point; J. J. Shohan, Greensboro; C. E. Waddell, Biltmore; John Spicer, Goldsboro; Luther Byrd, Mt. Airy. The initiated ones were then welcomed into the senate as fellow members.

Following this occasion, President Crissman called for new resolutions. Senator Jonas rendered an explanation of a bill and stated that, due to the Duke game which would follow shortly, and the circumstances of the nature of (Continued on page four)

GRADY DISCUSSES CROP MARKETING

Outlines New Finance Plan for North Carolina Farmers.

READS N. C. CLUB PAPER

Plan Is Similar to System of Building and Loan Associations.

Discussing the local marketing problems of the North Carolina farmer, C. G. Grady, a graduate student of Johnston county, read one of the most interesting and important papers that the North Carolina Club has heard in quite a long time. Mr. Grady had a reasonably large and appreciative audience last night and handled his subject in a highly efficient manner. Considerable interest has been manifested in the work of the club during recent months, and the discussions are becoming both interesting and instructive to larger audiences at each meeting. Officials of the organization are enthusiastic over the recent interest and hope for the continued success of the interest being shown.

Mr. Grady prefaced his address with some interesting remarks that gave his hearers a keener insight into the real situation of the farmer's merchandising his produce in the most highly remunerative manner. The speaker in leading up to the issue of the evening quoted one of the University professors who likes to say that our state has reached an enviable position as a producer of crop wealth. "There are only three or four states which produce greater crop values than ours, yet we fail to feed ourselves. The trouble is that we are a great cash-crop state, our most important cash-crops being cotton and tobacco. As a result we buy our foods from neighboring states, states not having near as many acres of fertile soil as North Carolina. In view of this fact it seems that we need diversified farming. In order to have diversified farming, as well as our present cash-crop, we must have markets that will care for our agricultural products. And in order (Continued on page three)

THE FIRST YEAR WILL BE PRODUCED FEB. 1-2

Frank Craven's Play Was Originally Produced At the Little Theater in New York City.

The first Playmaker performance of this quarter will be given on February 1 and 2, when four performances of Frank Craven's The First Year will be given in the Playmakers theatre. There will be both matinee and night shows on each of these days at the hours of 3 and 8:30, respectively. As a result of the large attendance at the opening of the theatre last November, it has been deemed advisable to give four performances in order to accommodate the audiences.

ALUMNI ASSEMBLY BEGINS THURSDAY

Will Open With Dinner At Carolina Inn at 6:00 P.M.

GIVE COMPLETE PROGRAM

Shaw, of Michigan and Visiting Speaker, Will Address Gathering Opening Session.

With plans and details complete for the Alumni Conference and School, which convenes here Thursday evening and terminates Saturday afternoon, Secretary Dan Grant, of the central alumni office, is predicting the greatest and most successful gathering of alumni in the history of activity in that field.

Registration for the conference up to the present is indicative of a good attendance. Up to the present fifty have registered, and Mr. Grant is expecting the total registration to reach well over one hundred before the first session opens Thursday evening.

Three Purposes

The purpose of the gathering of the alumni is threefold. Quoting from the program, "This General Assembly of the Alumni is expected to: (a) Study the University; (b) Confer in order to determine what the alumni should do, and how they can best correlate their efforts in achieving it; and (c) Officially determine policies for the alumni body." It is known that when alumni are physically apart from the University and its activities they sometime fail to understand and appreciate the policies and positions of their Alma Mater. With that in mind, Sec. Grant has so arranged the program so that the returning alumni may see the inner workings of the University and get into more intimate contact with the University of today.

It is announced by Mr. Grant that all alumni are invited to attend the assembly, but those primarily concerned are association and class officers, the Alumni Loyalty Fund Council, the Alumni Review Board, the Graham Memorial Fund Committee, and the faculty committee on Alumni relations.

Proceeding from the desire to bring the alumni into more closer relation with present conditions, the program also purposes to reveal to the visitors the needs of the University, its possibilities, and recent accomplishments.

"The most significant development in this conference is the opportunity for those groups to stay in session over three days and to study the University at close range. The power to control alumni affairs without accurate knowledge of what should be done as the basis for the determination of policy as a danger and not a security. The administration of the General Alumni Association must be done in the full knowledge and close understanding of all University affairs. This requires study and planning."

One Guest Speaker

The program states that "a conference, visits to different University departments and decisions upon policies, cannot proceed through a large number of formal; consequently, the opening event of the program will be the formal one." Mr. Wilfred B. Shaw, Alumni Secretary of the University of Michigan will be the visiting speaker.

Probably no secretary in the field of alumni work is more conversant with the problems and conditions that face (Continued on page four)

WRESTLING MENTOR

Coach Quinlan, the new Carolina wrestling coach, has worked wonders with the Tar Heel grapplers. In the meet with State last Friday night his men showed great form and completely overwhelmed the Teelmen, winning six out of the seven matches.

WRESTLING TEAM WINS FROM STATE

Quinlan's Men Take Every Match Except One.

MEET AGAIN SATURDAY

Contend Grapplers Will Come Here for Second Setto.

Completely outclassing their opponents in practically every match, the Tar Heel grapplers opened the 1926 season in the Tin Can last Friday night by defeating the North Carolina State matmen by the overwhelming score of 28-3. It was a much better match than the average exhibition and was thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators who braved the cold weather to witness the setto.

It was certainly an auspicious beginning for the Carolina men and Coach Quinlan cannot be over-praised for turning out such a good team in a very brief space of time. He has worked wonders with the men on the squad.

Carolina won every match with the exception of the 119 pound class, which State took on a time decision. The match was refereed by "Bill" Baily, former wrestling coach at Duke University, but who is now head of athletics at the High Point Y. M. C. A. The way in which he handled the meet was of the highest order.

Following is a result of the various matches: Spry (State) won from Heat- (Continued on page three)

RETURNING ALUMNUS REMINISCENTS OF LIFE AT UNIVERSITY IN THE 90'S

George H. Crowell, Class of '92, Formerly President of Six Colleges, Prominent Educator in South, and Winner of Mangum Medal, Returns to Visit Campus for First Time in Quarter of Century.

By J. F. ASHBY

"It is a great place, son!" exuberantly proclaimed a beaming elderly gentleman to me as I met him on the walk in front of the Library the other day. Introducing himself, George Henry Crowell, class of '92, formerly president of six colleges, recounted some interesting features of University life back in the nineties and from other sources I have gathered a description of those days and some interesting incidents.

For the first time in twenty-five years Mr. Crowell was back on the campus. He was glad to get back. Running down here from High Point with a friend, who came on business, Mr. Crowell was spending his time hurriedly taking in the new campus and seeking familiar scenes. Of course, he was astounded at the changes, and proud, too. But in all his haste, he had a moment to tell me something of the bygone days.

Mr. Crowell's Unusual Record

Perhaps we are jumping our story. In glancing over the records of Mr. Crowell's achievements since he was graduated in 1892, it was found that he was one of the outstanding educators in the south and southern mid-western section. He has been superintendent of a number of city public schools, Vice Chancellor of Epworth University, in Oklahoma, and President of six Methodist colleges. In North Carolina he was superintendent of the High Point and Asheboro public schools for a number of years. In the field of education in the south, Mr. Crowell holds an enviable position.

As Mr. Crowell stood telling me of the scenes and incidents of over thirty years ago, a graphic panorama of those days became fixed in my imagination. "There were only a few buildings here then", he related. "The Chemistry Hall (old Pharmacy building now), Old and New East, Old and New West, Memorial Hall, Gerrard Hall, South, and the Library (Playmakers Theatre now) were all that we had. Look at the change now, a beautiful campus, carefully laid walks, and such a number of buildings!" (Continued on page four)

No Senior Photos After Saturday

After Saturday of this week, no more space will be allowed in the Senior or Junior sections of the Yackety-Yack. All seniors and juniors who wish their picture to appear in the annual must have it taken before Saturday or under no condition can it go in the book as these sections will then be closed and turned over to the printer.

Organizations and fraternities which have not replied to the card sent out by the business manager of the Yackety-Yack relative to the amount of space that they desire in this year's book are asked to send in this immediately. All fraternities will please make arrangements to have their photos taken this week unless they have already done so. It is imperative that the major portion of the photographs for the Yackety-Yack be taken this week as half of the copy must be sent in to the printer by the first of February.

After Saturday no more individual pictures will be taken.

FORM NEW GLEE CLUB ASSOCIATION

Southern Intercollegiate Glee Club Association Organized.

WEAVER IS PRESIDENT

Delegates From Seven Southern States Attend Conference At Furman.

Friday evening Paul John Weaver, director of the University Glee Club, Ludwig Lauerhauss, president of the organization and Ernest Young, business manager, left the Hill for Greenville, South Carolina, where they attended a meeting of delegates assembled from southern universities to form a southern association of glee clubs.

The conference was held at Furman University where M. C. Collins, business manager of that institution's glee club, had invited the various club officers to convene in an attempt to evolve a systematic governing board for the organizations. At this meeting, which was attended by Mrs. Harriet Pickernelle, secretary of the National Intercollegiate Glee Club Association and prominent New York musical contest promoter, and also delegates from West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama, the Southern Intercollegiate Glee Club Association formed. The University of North Carolina was signally honored when Mr. Weaver, head of the music department here as well as director of the glee club, was elected to the presidency of the Association. Tom Garner, of the University of Alabama Glee Club, was chosen vice-president; Maurice Mattison, of the University of South Carolina, treasurer; and M. C. Collins, business manager of the Furman University Club, secretary. Consideration was given an administration under student officers, but this plan was discarded since students can seldom remain in school long enough or find sufficient time to do justice to their management of the duties of such important positions. Faculty members were chosen as the proper executives of the new body.

During the course of the convention the representatives were entertained at Furman University, Baptist denominational school. The new southern organization produced by this conference will (Continued on page four)

GRAHAM ADDRESSES ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Urges Durham Alumni to Attend Conference Here This Week—Officers Are Elected for the Year.

In an address Saturday night to the alumni association of Durham, Prof. Frank P. Graham, of the history department of the University, urged the Durham alumni to attend the conference of University alumni, to begin here Thursday.

Declaring the conference to be "one of the most vital and practical alumni gatherings ever held at the University," Prof. Graham said, "it will be a way of information and understanding between the alumni themselves and between the alumni and the University. MUCH DEBATING

Resolutions Are Made in Both Societies At Meetings.

OFFICIALS SANCTION PLAN

President Chase, Dean Bradshaw, and Others Are Consulted—Some Students Fervidly Oppose Amalgamation.

By BEN EATON

At their meetings Saturday night the Dialectic Senate and Philanthropic Assembly approached the most significant issue of their meritorious and traditional careers. The societies have often discussed resolutions and bills which have been of very vital concern to institutions from the University to international orders, but never have they considered a proposition so peculiarly pertaining to their own particular institution. The bill has been drawn up with the hope of rectifying some of the alleged unfortunate circumstances which the two societies have laxed into, and with the idea of increasing the advantages of a literary organization. In the Di Senate the bill was read and given an explanation by Senator Jonas. Due to initiation of new members, lack of time before the game, and the advisability of permitting the senators a period of consideration, the resolution was deferred until the following meeting. The representatives of the Phi also heard a reading of the same bill, accompanied by a 25-minute exposition by Representative J. F. Cooper. The bill was sponsored by Representatives Cooper, Dantzier, and Parker, while it met opposition in Representatives Young and Noe. The bill was read in both societies is thus:

Moved—That each society elect a committee of five, which, with a like committee from the other, shall draft a detailed plan by which the Di and Phi shall establish a student forum.

Section 1. These committees shall have power to make all arrangements, subject, however, to ratification by both societies.

Section 2. These committees shall be chosen within one week after the passage of this motion.

Section 3. The plan agreed upon shall be submitted to the societies (whether in separate or joint meetings to be decided later) for ratification by a three-fourths majority, within 11 weeks after the appointment of the committees.

Section 4. Unless some such plan is ratified, the status quo will continue.

Section 5. To be valid, this motion must be passed by both societies.

Details of the plan as referred to in the bill are entirely within the volition of the committees representing the societies, but the essentials in mind in the consideration of such a step are such:

1. A student forum, with a close and distinct organization.

2. Regular weekly meetings.

3. Preservation of the primary purposes and plans of a literary organization, with its deference to decorum, ideals, and rules.

4. A forum whose objective is in the (Continued on page four)

TAR HEELS MEET ELON TOMORROW

Christians Will Bring Strong Team to Battle Carolina.

ADDITION TO SCHEDULE

Recently Booked Game Does Not Appear on Regular Schedule.

The Tar Heel basketball team will play their only game of the week tomorrow night when they meet the Elon Christians in the Tin Can. This game was not on the original schedule but was only recently booked.

Although Carolina should win easily, the strength of the Elon team should not be taken too lightly. Coach Corboy, who recently resigned as head of athletics there, has developed a team of basketball tossers who are capable of throwing a scare into the camp of many a larger team. Among the players on the Elon team are George Kelly and Garnet Bock, who were members of the Durham high's championship quint last year. Their playing will be watched with keen interest by their many admirers among the Carolina student body.

Since the defeat at the hands of the Wake Forest team, Coach Sanburn has been working the boys hard each day in an effort to erase some of the weak spots on the quint. They showed great improvement in their playing in the Duke game last Saturday night, and tomorrow night they should run up the largest score of the season.
