

TELLS TRUSTEES THAT UNIVERSITY LEADS THE SOUTH

Chase Declares This University
Is Leading Southern Educational Institution.

NOT IN BOOSTING SPIRIT

Statement Based On Facts—Cites
Membership In Association of American Universities.

"The University of North Carolina is the leading educational institution in the south," Dr. Chase told the Wake County Alumni chapter yesterday in Raleigh. "I say this not in a boasting spirit, but as based on facts. In support of this statement we have such salient facts as the admission of the University to the Association of American Universities, which is made up of the 25 very strongest institutions in America. The University is the only Southern institution holding membership." President Chase followed this statement with a brief enumeration of instances in which national recognition has been accorded various schools and faculties in the University. "The moral tone of the campus was vigorously defended by the President. 'There is nothing that makes me more indignant than the loose and unjust criticism of moral and religious standards on the campus. It seems to me that the standards in these things are pretty well indicated by the type of the leaders that it chooses.' The Y. M. C. A. Cabinet was pointed out as being composed of men that were outstanding athletes and class leaders.

The social sciences were upheld as being an important study, though comparatively new. "The welfare and happiness of mankind is, after all, more of importance than purely material progress." The University President did not comment directly on the recent refusal of the textile industry to allow the department of social sciences to study conditions in the mills. "An explanation of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation was made. The local department he said, was selected as one of the four in the nation that was considered so well and efficiently handled as to justify the giving of it a huge sum of money in order to enable further and more extensive study.

DEAN BRADSHAW LEAVES SUNDAY

Goes to Columbia University to Take Graduate Work

PATTERSON TAKES PLACE

Dean of Students Will Be Away Until Next September.

Francis F. Bradshaw, Dean of Students, who recently was granted a five month leave of absence by the University will leave Sunday for Columbia University, New York City, where he will take graduate work in psychology for the coming two semesters of that institution, which lasts until the first of September.

It was recently announced that Dean Bradshaw had been granted a leave of absence by the University authorities. The leave of absence extends until the first of July, but as his work does not require his presence here during the summer school, he expects to remain at Columbia with his studies until the first of September. Mr. Bradshaw states that he is not a candidate for a degree at the northern institution, but will take such work as will benefit him most in his work among the students here. He plans to take a number of courses in psychology, especially those relating to educational and personal problems of college students. Last summer he took work here in that field, and found it so profitable for his work here this fall that he decided to continue along the same course.

The absence of Dean Bradshaw from the University is made possible by the fact that he holds a fellowship from a national organization interested in the field of training men for various phases of student welfare work. At the present time there is only one other dean of students in the country on the list of about thirty fellows holding these fellowships, Dean J. R. Dyer, of the University of Kansas, being the other.

Dean Francis F. Bradshaw came to University in the fall of 1920 in the capacity of Dean of Students. He was graduate from the University in 1916. During 1918 Prof. Frank Graham, of the History Department served as part-time dean of students, but with the in-

BRADSHAW SPEAKS TO "Y" CONVENTION

Dean of Students Addresses
50th Annual State "Y" Meet

PLEADS FOR HARMONY

Between Religion and Education—N. C.'s Recent World Figures Lauded.

In an address yesterday afternoon before the fiftieth annual state convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, being held at Raleigh, Dean Bradshaw declared "our manhood and womanhood is and will be the test and price of the success of North Carolina."

More than a hundred leaders in Y. M. C. A. work from all sections of North Carolina are attending the "Y" convention which opened yesterday in the House of Representatives hall at the State Capital, and will continue through this evening. Among the other delegates from here who accompanied Mr. Bradshaw over to the capitol were Secretary Harry F. Comer, and Walt Crissman, Governor Angus W. McLean was the chief speaker at the banquet held last evening. F. W. Ramsey, of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. spoke on "The Layman's Opportunity for Service in the Y. M. C. A."

Dean Bradshaw addressed the convention yesterday afternoon on the subject "Our Need of Harmony Between Religion and Education." Dr. W. D. Weatherford, president of the Southern College at Nashville, Tenn., made the

Write-Ups Must Be In By Monday

All Senior write-ups must be in the hands of the editor of the Yackety-Yack by Monday, February 1. Members of the board are endeavoring to visit each member of the class who can be reached.

Each senior is responsible for getting someone to prepare his personal write-up and seeing to it that the write-up is in the annual's office by Monday. In case members of the class are not called on by tonight they are advised to have one prepared and to turn it in immediately. Write-ups must be legibly written or typed.

The following data is necessary: FULL NAME, HOME ADDRESS, AGE, and DEGREE. The write-up must not be less than 90 words nor more than 115. The Yackety Yack office is on the third floor of New East and is opened from 4:30 to 5:30 every afternoon.

It is necessary that the seniors attend to their own write-up owing to the size of the class and the inability of the staff to prepare them without this assistance. Two years ago about sixteen seniors did not get written up and the board is attempting to avoid a repetition of this occurrence.

No photographs will be taken after Saturday, January 30. This applies both to individuals and groups. All photographs that go into the annual must be made by the official Yackety Yack photographer while on this trip. Both the Senior and Junior sections will be closed after Saturday, January 30.

CLUB MEMBERS ELECT LEADERS

Executive Committee of German
Club Issues Statement

CLUB TO MEET TODAY

Senior And Junior Class Elections Tomorrow in Gerrard Hall.

In view of the coming elections of dance leaders and in order to prevent any misunderstanding concerning the recent reorganization of the German Club on a new basis the Executive Committee of the Club gave out the following statement:

"The recent reorganization of the German Club under a new constitution provides a greatly increased membership with a consequent decrease in the cost per man. It is desired that the Club be a functioning campus group, with its membership open to all University students except freshmen. Membership in the Club carries with it the privileges of attending the dances, voting for the dance leaders, and other like advantages not held by non-members."

"The German Club gives all the dances, but allows to the three upper classes the privilege and honor of naming and leading a figure in one dance a year. The entire expenses of these dances, including the cost of Yackety Yack photographs, are borne by the members of the German Club, and therefore the members of the Club have the exclusive privilege of voting for these leaders, who must also be members of the Club."

"Thanksgiving Dances, given last fall under the new system, were well attended; the music was good; and success crowned the efforts of those who were

PLAYMAKERS VIE WITH PICK FOR PLAY HONORS

The First Year Will Be Shown at Pick
Saturday and Playmaker Theatre
Monday and Tuesday.

It is quite a strange coincidence that a play should be presented in Chapel Hill on the screen and the stage at the same time; so it is unusually interesting to note that The First Year will be shown at the Pickwick Theatre Saturday night, and the same play will be presented by the Playmakers in the Playmakers Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, February 1 and 2. An opportunity is now offered to see the Carolina Playmakers and the stars of the screen vying with one another for the honors in the presentation of this typically American comedy-drama of life. The members of the Playmakers' cast are planning to attend the

PRESIDENT MAKES TRUSTEE REPORT

Semi-Annual Session Holds
Meeting in Raleigh.

CAMPUS LIFE IS CLEAN

Dr. Chase Says Conditions At University
Today Are Sound.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University in Raleigh on the morning of Tuesday, January 25, it was decided to continue the practice of inviting some distinguished person to make an address at the annual commencement exercises, despite a recommendation submitted by the University faculty to the contrary.

The Board of Trustees, holding their semi-annual session in Raleigh unanimously voted down this faculty suggestion. The recommendation was made with the idea of shortening the commencement exercises, but the Trustees, most of whom return to Chapel Hill every spring during commencement week, did not feel that the time-honored custom should be abolished. The Board endorsed Mr. Walter Murphy's statement that the address of Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, delivered at the exercises last year, was in itself sufficient justification for continuing the practice.

President Chase, who presented the recommendation without presenting his own views on the matter, explained that he wanted to set himself right, having been absent when the faculty took its action. "Tell the faculty that you have set yourself right and that the trustees have sat down on the faculty," replied Josephus Daniels, who presided at the meeting in place of Governor McLean.

In addition to passing upon this resolution there were several other important matters to be considered by the Board. The report of President Chase was given and a committee was appointed to draw up a memorial for the late Judge W. P. Bynum. A memorial was also voted to the late Bennet Cameron, N. A. Townsend was elected to succeed Judge Bynum on the executive committee and the following were re-elected for terms of three years each: W. N. Everett, Haywood Parker, Josephus Daniels, and A. M. Seales. The Trustees decided to give the general alumni association financial support on a fifty-fifty basis, provided the amount should not exceed $7,500.

In rendering his report President Chase departed from the conventional type of such reports and devoted the greater part to an explanation of the way in which the University makes use of its income and expenditures. He stated that "the University operates definitely on a budget system and has done so for many years. The system followed by the University is one that is followed by the larger Universities all over the country. Every one of the approximately 35 departments and administrative divisions of the University has at the beginning of the year a definite allotment of funds to carry out its work; it receives monthly

GROUPS TO START BIBLE DISCUSSION

85 Groups On Floors of Various Dormitories

BEGIN TONIGHT AT 8:30

Elaborate Banquet To Be Given The Winner.

The second series of Bible Discussion Groups conducted on the campus this year begins tonight at 8:30. Leaders have been selected for around 85 groups which will be conducted on the different floors of the various dormitories, there being two groups to some floors.

Walter Crissman, Religious Work Secretary and vice-president of the University "Y", is again in charge of the project, which will be similar to the one conducted last fall. But this quarter, instead of only 34 groups as was the case in the last series, no less than 85 will be in full swing every Thursday night from 8:30 to 9:00 for a period of six weeks. The topics for discussion will center around six of the major points in Christ's teachings, one teaching being scheduled for each night of the series.

The group having the highest percentage of the men available for that particular group during the six meetings will be given a banquet at the Carolina Inn by the "Y". Last fall the Vance dormitory group, with J. W. Harden as leader and L. N. Byrd as secretary, was given a similar banquet for having the best attendance. The attendance of this group was 100 percent.

This seems to be the first year in the history of the University that two series

Spencer Murphy Now With Salisbury Post

Spencer Murphy, editor of the 1925 Yackety Yack and formerly a prominent figure on the campus, has recently accepted a position on the Salisbury Post. Murphy is the son of Walter "Pete" Murphy, famous Carolina athlete and now a trustee of the University.

Says the Salisbury Post in announcing its latest addition: "Mr. Spencer Murphy is joining the staff of the Post. Mr. Murphy is well and favorably known in his home town and brings into the newspaper fraternity not only a personality and mental qualification to assure success, but his collegiate training and his experience with college publications fit him for the newspaper field most ideally."

DISCUSSION HELD ON COUNCIL PLAN

Fordham Calls Meeting to Consider
Proposed Change

PLAN FAVORED BY VOTE

Eleven Representative Men Approve of Reformation in Council Election.

J. B. Fordham, president of the student body and president of the student council called a meeting of eleven men Tuesday night to discuss the proposed change in the election of student councilmen. The plan in question is that of relieving the class presidents of their duties on the council and electing men from the class at large to fill their places. Those present at the meeting were Emmet Underwood, president of the Y. M. C. A., J. E. Calhoun, assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Lawrence Watt, president of the senior class, Charles Gold, president of the German Club, H. N. Parker, editor of the Tar Heel, J. E. Cooper, Lee Kennett, S. G. Chappell, Taylor Bledsoe, Walter Crissman, representatives of the Di and Phi, and Squatty Thomas, cheer leader. Dean Patterson of the School of Applied Science, Francis Bradshaw, Dean of Students and his assistant, Frank J. Bell were present as guests.

Speeches were made in favor of the plan by Kennett, Chappell, Bledsoe and Crissman. Squatty Thomas also favored the plan on the grounds that a class president's work on the student council took up so much of his time that he was unable to organize properly or maintain any class spirit. Watt told of his duties as a councilman and admitted that they were a serious inconvenience to the active head of a class. Gold opposed the plan

Juniors and Freshmen Who Paid Class
Dues Last Fall to Get Refund
On Friday and Saturday.

Before the installment of the newly adopted method of collecting class dues, the treasurers of the junior and freshman classes collected dues from many of the members of their classes by the old method. The amount paid in by the juniors and freshman was for the whole year. These same men, during registration for the winter and spring quarter, will be called on to pay their dues for a second time. A refund of the few collected during the fall has been decided on in order to prevent bookkeeping trouble in the business office.

NOTED VIOLINIST GIVES CONCERT

Francis MacMillen Plays to Audience of 200 Monday

WONDERFUL TECHNIQUE

Difficult Selections Feature Program—
Frequent Encores Are Rendered.

On Monday evening Francis MacMillen, probably the greatest violinist to perform here in several years, was heard in a recital in Memorial Hall. An audience of over 200 was present and frequent encores were given. Mr. MacMillen's program was excellent in its entirety although a preponderance of selections making a display of technical skill seemed unnecessary. Many of his numbers featured superb harmonic effects but those of simpler composition won the most applause. He was accompanied by Ralph Angell at the piano.

As his opening number he offered Sinding's familiar Romance. Its clear sylvan melody served as a worthy introduction to the balance of the program. The soft strains of this work never fail to grip an audience. Prelude and Allegro, Pugnani-Kreisler, was a marvelous demonstration of technique but little more. It was overlong, extremely disjointed and at times bordered on the discordant. The Symphonie Espagnole by Lalo was one of the best renditions of the evening. The rapid allegro movement was interspersed with difficult runs and harmonics; in the division andante the tempo was decreased and skilled finger work gave a tremulous beauty to the theme. This number was enthusiastically encored.

The second half of the program was introduced by Winthrop Cortelyou's Allegro Grazioso. In this the performer again gave an exhibition of his mastery control. Double stops were freely employed and a muted string interpolation was especially pleasing. Barcarole, a piece of Mr. MacMillen's own composition, was from the audience's viewpoint the most successful of all. It was only a simple, lyric melody with a minimum of useless display, but its appeal was irresistible and the artist was accorded a veritable ovation at its conclusion. This
