"Keep off the grass; use the walks" says the signs scattered about on the campus. Sounds encouraging, anyhow.

"We want more offices" tacked on the library door. Probably voiced the sentiments of the librarian as well as those of the perpetuators.

The laying of walks along Cameron Avenue brings forth the query, "Why didn't they do it before?" A campus walkful is the first step toward a campus beautiful.

GOOD AS THE BEST

The "Flying Phantoms" will play the last game of their northern trip tonight and will then return home to recuperate and prepare for the Southern tourney.

As a trip for winning games, the northern swing was not a success. The three strongest teams met scalped the Tar Heels. But the Naval Academy required two extra periods to win 30-31, Harvard had to make use of an extra period in order to defeat the Southerners 40-37 and Maryland, reputed to have one of the strongest teams in the South, barely nosed out the worn-out Phantoms 23-22.

The Tar Heels can return to Chapel Hill with the consciousness of a trip well done. Attribute the narrow defeats to hard luck, or to fatigue, or to what not; but we'd be willing to bet our lucky red penny if any of the three victorious teams had made a trip to Chapel Hill, and indulged in a game every night while on the way, that those same Tar Heels would have licked them by a comfortable margin and not by any of these sassy one point heart-breakers.

We refuse to call the Navy, Harvard and Maryland defeats moral victories. But Carolina did run up against the best in the East and the extra periods prove her to be the equal of those whom she met. The Tar Heels have had their share of narrow defeats and the tables are due for a turn. Barring staleness and bad luck, the team should be headed straight for another Southern Championship, and Jack Cobb for the title of All-Southern and All-American.

"PARSON" MOSS SPEAKS TO RELIGIOUS FORUM

Presbyterian Pastor Addressed Religious Forum Sunday Evening On "Faith"—Was a Real Sermon.

"Parson" W. D. Moss, pastor of the Presbyterian church, spoke to the Raleigh religious forum Sunday evening on "Faith," stating that faith embraces everybody but the bigot.

In reporting the sermon, Tom Bost, of the Daily News bureau, and who is no mean preacher himself, writes: "Parson Moss found faith big enough to embrace everybody but the bigot."

"Mr. Moss was not in pugnacious mood; he dealt more with the Beatitudes, as he always does. His man whom he found in the Bible was big enough to go to the forum, large enough to bring a Potato to Chapel Hill, and great enough of vision to see the glory of Christian instruction as interpreted by the denominational school.

"The Chapel Hillian spoke to the congregation just as though he had it before him in his university church, talked to the people as if he instructs the graduating class under Davie poplar during commencement week. He preached a real sermon from a real pulpit."

Sign Is Erected for the Benefit of Air Travelers

A sign, "Chapel Hill, North Carolina," at the suggestion of Edsill Ford, Vice-President of the Ford Motor Company, has been erected on the roof of the Strowd Motor Company, the local Ford dealers, for the benefit of pilots and air messengers.

This is one of the ideas of the famous Ford and his son, who are intensely interested in air transportation as a further profitable means of expansion for their automotive interest. Mr. Ford is requesting that every Ford dealer in any town of any size in the United States erect signs similar to that on the local garage. Edsill Ford has direct charge of the Dearborn plant built by his father for the experimenting of small, low gas consumption, all metal planes in which he became interested about three years ago.

ENGLISH CLUB MET AT HOME OF DR. ROYSTER

The English Club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Dean James F. Royster, Saturday evening, at 8 P. M. It was the February meeting of the club.

A paper, "New Interpretations of American Literature," was given by Prof. Norman Foerster. Other topics of interest came up for discussion, as the meeting was informal.

Delicious and dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Royster, and the social hour following the discussions was quite enjoyable.

The membership of the English Club is composed of the English department faculty. Dr. Royster is president of the club, and it meets monthly to discuss literature and allied subjects.

"Harold," in times past, has been considered a rather effeminate name.

COACH'S COLUMN

By M. D. RANSON

This is the first of a series of articles on Track and Field Athletics in which we shall attempt to discuss the methods and technique used by star performers in the various events making up the track program. The primary object in mind is to arouse a more general interest in track athletics thereby getting a more representative participation, on the part of the student body, in the world's oldest form of athletic competition. Running is a natural exercise and history would lead us to believe that it was the first athletic competition in which men engaged. It is undoubtedly a wonderful developer and conditioner as shown by the important part it plays in all other branches of athletics. Football, basketball, and baseball players as well as wrestlers and boxers use running as a part of their training and conditioning while the ability to move quickly is the basis of success.

The task confronting Coach Bob Fetzner in 1922 was that of building up a sport which, as he often said, "is sadly neglected throughout the South and especially at Carolina." Coach Bob took over the direction of the Tar Heel track squad the season after we had been annihilated by the Cavaliers in a dual meet. Virginia won that memorable encounter by the lopsided score of 109 to 17.

Opening the season last year by winning from Washington and Lee a feat hardly expected by the most sanguine supporters of the Tar Heel fortunes when they were slated to win. The whole team entered the meet in a serious and determined frame of mind and put up a splendid exhibition of spirit and endurance. Virginia was met in the third meet of the season, and had on the cinder path a team which would compare favorably with their 1921 squad while the Carolina tracksters traveled at a pace that day which brought joy to the hearts of all those who remembered the humiliating defeat suffered in '21. The final count showed Carolina 83%, Virginia 43%. Not only the score but the records made in the meet testify to the high calibre of the individual performances. It was a great meet for us. But here is the secret—Virginia expects to stage a comeback this year for they had a great bunch of stars on their freshman team in 1925, and Pop Lannigan, their veteran coach, is already getting them in shape to lick North Carolina April 17.

The 1926 schedule will require the best efforts of all those who are interested and have participated in track athletics. The interest and development as shown last year furnished the basis of our confidence in arranging a schedule of such magnitude. It is hoped that each one of you will assume his proper share of the responsibility in carrying through this schedule and in making the season a success.

Fayetteville Club Plans Easter Holiday Dance

The Fayetteville Club held its regular meeting Monday night in the social room of the "Y". On account of mid-term exams only a limited number of men were present. Several short talks were heard. In the absence of the president, Scott Russ presided at the meeting.

A good deal of discussion was held concerning the possibility of holding a dance at the Prince Charles Hotel in Fayetteville during the Easter Holidays. The dance is now almost a certainty. Those speaking on the subject were White, Russ, Covington, Hickleburial, and Klutz. Mr. White, secretary of the club made a speech in favor of the hop.

The first college football game in the United States was played by Harvard and Yale fifty years ago.

COACHES ISSUE CALL FOR FRESHMAN TRACK

Coaches Fetzner and Ransom have issued a call for all candidates for this year's freshman track squad to meet in 111 Murphy this afternoon at five o'clock. The freshman schedule is being arranged and will include meets with Duke, N. C. State, probably one or two of the stronger High Schools, and also a trip into Virginia where one of the strong prep schools, probably Woodbury, will be taken on. The season opens about the first part of April and the coaches are anxious to get a good sized squad out in order to begin training at once.

William Cain Society Meets This Morning

The William Cain Civil Engineering Society, the student chapter of the A. S. C. E., will meet to-day at ten-thirty in Phillips Hall, room number 319. The program will consist of a talk on "Stadiums" by W. M. Price, and will last throughout chapel period. The talks, which take place in 319 Phillips Hall, each Tuesday morning, are very instructive as well as interesting. They are not of too technical a nature to be quite intelligible to those not of the Engineering School. All members are urged to attend and visitors are invited to be present.

TOMMY CAMPBELL NOT INTERESTED

between the three it's almost impossible to keep peace in the family."

Campbell made his debut as football coach at the University in 1916 when he put out the great team that beat Virginia after ten years of successive defeats. During the next two years he served with the A. E. F. in France, returning in 1919 and coaching the team that "Nemo" Coleman, of Asheville, captained, which team made a remarkable record. In 1922 he coached at the University of Virginia. Since then, until the first of the year, he had been connected with the Harvard athletic department.

The list of recommendations for Bill Fetaer's position has been narrowed down to twenty for final consideration. Several applicants are to be interviewed personally this week by the coaching committee which has refused to divulge their names in advance.

Esperanto May Not Be Practicable
but the idea of a universal language is a good one. In the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, scholars and diplomats from all parts of the civilized world could carry on their conversation in Latin. Until recently, French performed the same service to the polite world. It is now prophesied that English will be the international language of the future.
But meanwhile there is a good deal of confusion, and ambassadors from distant countries must frequently rely on interpreters. Therefore, it is fortunate for the hungry traveler that the menus of restaurants everywhere still employ French. And it is fortunate, too, that if he wish to ascend to a higher floor of a building in any of the great cities of the world, the single word OTIS will bring him directions for reaching the elevator.
The Palazzo del Campidoglio, Rome, is built on one of the seven hills of Rome and at present houses the Municipality of the City of Rome. The original building on this site was a temple of Jupiter in the Roman era, the construction being started by Tarquin the Elder and completed by Tarquin the Proud. During the Empire of Vitellius and Vespasiano it was burned three times and was reconstructed by Domitian. In the Middle Ages it served as a temple to consecrate the Poets of the time. The present building was erected by Michel Angelo on the ruins of the ancient building, and it contains an Otis Elevator.
