

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

One of Chapel Hill's four magnificent church plants. In this church, as well as in the others, many student activities are carried on. "Parson" W. D. Moss is pastor.

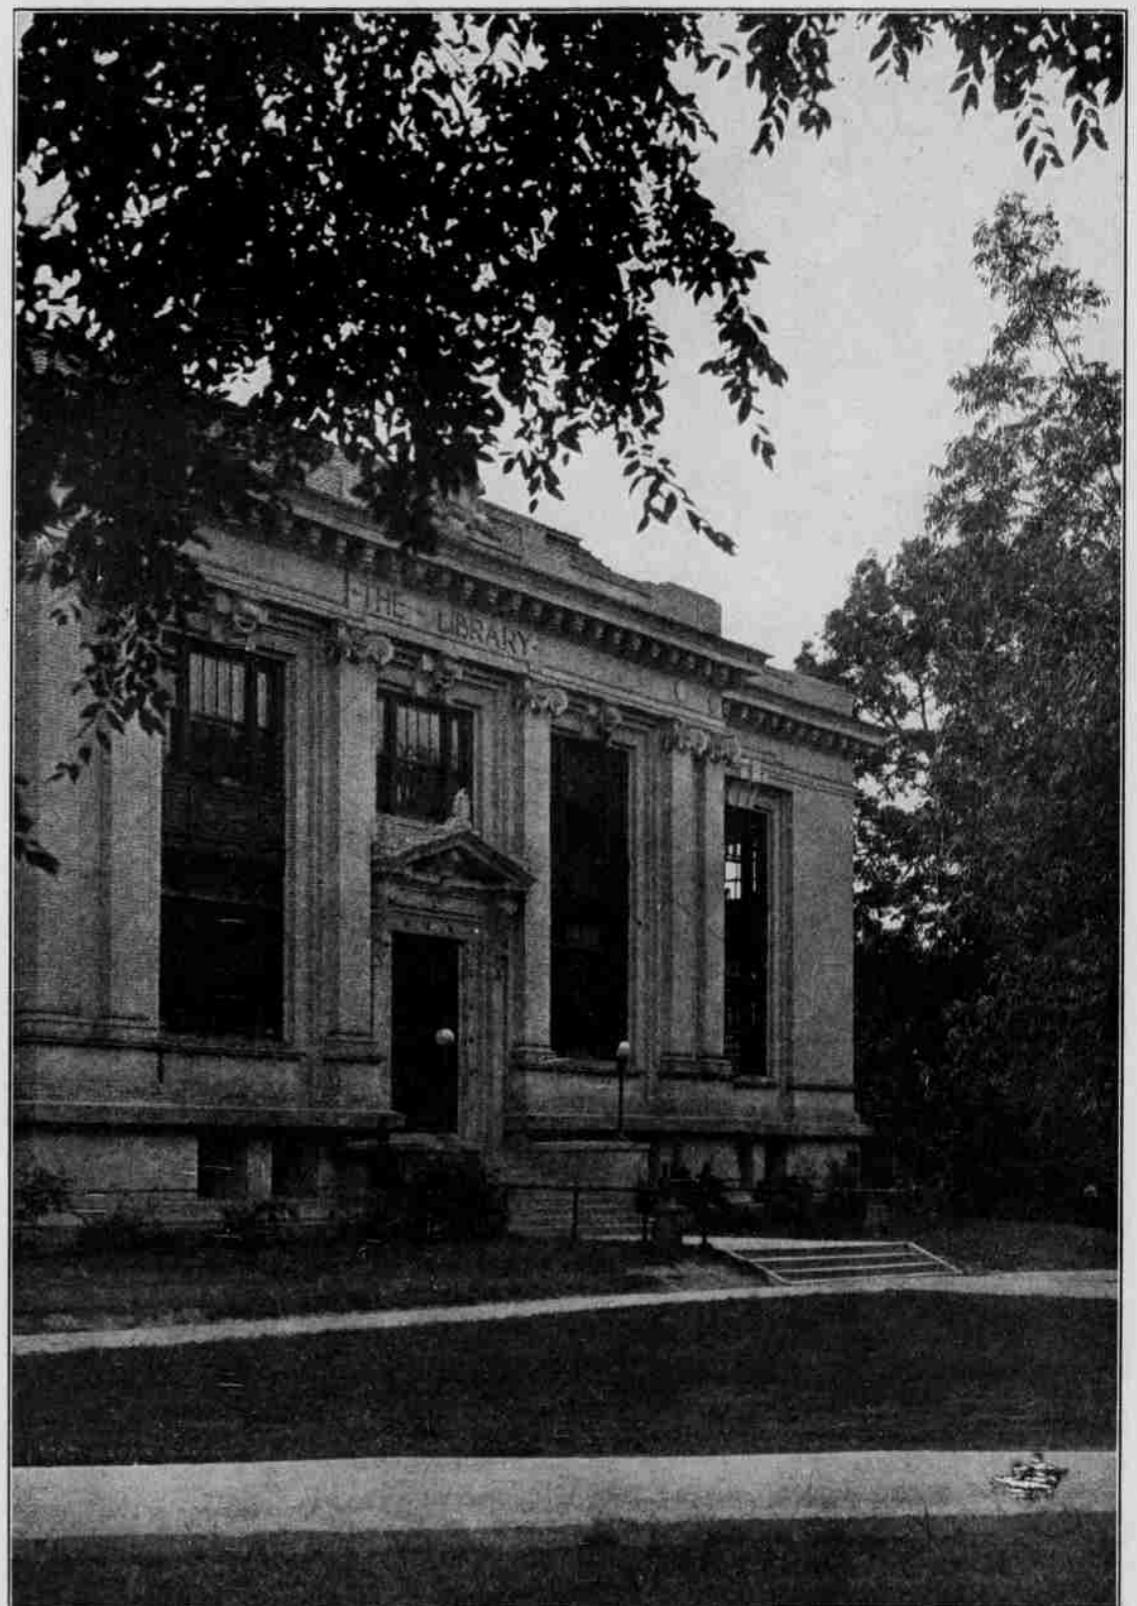

WEST GATE—PEABODY HALL

Peabody contains the Departments of Education and Psychology.

PHILLIPS HALL

This building, one of the best on the campus, houses the engineering departments—Electrical, Civil, Mechanical, and Chemical. The University's engineering schools hold an enviable eminence as is attested by the work of the graduates. They secure responsible positions with the largest engineering firms of the country.

LIBRARY

Built through the beneficence of the late Andrew Carnegie and endowed by alumni and friends of the University, the Library is serving an important need in an admirable way. It contains at present 135,000 volumes. Only one library south of Washington, D. C., has an equal or greater number of volumes.
