

Dartmouth Takes Season Opening In High Wind 5-4

POYNER PITCHES

Young Gale Blows About—Hinders Both Teams.

JONES SCORES TWO RUNS

Carolina Leads During Most of Game—Three Runs In Eighth Gives Dartmouth Victory.

While a late March wind blew a gale across Emerson Field here today, the Dartmouth Greenies took advantage of all the breaks and defeated the Tar Heels in the first baseball game of the 1926 season by the close count of 5 to 4. The stiff west wind blew high balls hither and yon and bothered the fielders of both sides, accounting for practically every bobble made during the game.

After the Tar Heels had tallied four runs in the first six innings of play, the Hanoverians broke loose and crossed the plate twice in the sixth frame. Then in the eighth, with the Carolina stands calling for the Tar Heels to hold, the north-erners staged a rally that netted them three runs and the game.

The Duncans scored in the first on error by Owl, Dartmouth's right fielder, and a smashing double by Mackie. Then in the third Dey doubled Poyner's roller and Sides doubled to send Poyner home. The other Carolina runs came in the fourth and sixth innings, Captain Jones registering each time for the Tar Heels.

The Greenies broke the ice in the sixth while the Tar Heels were leading 3 to 0. They loaded the bases on a walk to Owl, an infield hit by Fusonie, and a single by Pocken, Stevens then drove a slashing single down the third base line to send Owl and Fusonie home. The winning rally in the eighth started when Sides misjudged Captain Micheli's pop fly in the fast wind. Fusonie and Picken flew to the outfield, and Stevens walked. Dey singled a moment later, and the two men scored from second and third to tie the score. Elliott's one baser to left drove Dey across with the winning score. McGlothlin fanned to retire the side.

"Hat" Hatley, with a single and a three bagger out of three started at bat for the Tar Heels, while Fusonie, Dey and Elliott rung up two singles each for the visitors.

TRACK MEN WIN FROM DUKE TEAM

Duke Take First Only in High Jump.

GUS McPHERSON STARS

Arthur Daniel Makes Final Heroic Spurt to Win Two Mile Run.

The Carolina Track team opened the 1926 season on Emerson Field Tuesday afternoon by defeating the Duke harriers by the overwhelming score of 94 2-3 to 31 1-3 in an interesting meet, but one which was void of any record breaking events. This was probably due to the fact that there was a heavy track and also because the boys are not yet in the pink of condition.

The Tar Heels started the scoring early by taking first and third places in the 100 yard dash and from then on they were never in danger of being overcome by the Duke team. Coach Fetzer's men captured thirteen first places out of the fourteen events and placed two men in practically every event. In the 220-yard dash, Carolina took the first three places, Giersch, Huggins, and Watt placing first, second and third respectively. The only event in which the Tar Heels failed to take first place was the pole vault in which Hargrove, of Duke, came out first with a leap of ten feet.

Gus McPherson, the speed demon of the Carolina team, was the high scorer of the meet with a total of ten points, he taking first place in both the 100-yard and the 220-yard dashes. He was closely followed by Lawrence Watt, who tallied a total of nine points.

Probably the best run of the afternoon was made by Arthur Daniel, who was representing Carolina in the two-mile run. He and Hodge of Duke were running neck and neck until the last 220 yards when Daniel made a great spurt and finished far ahead of his opponent. It was a thrilling run and brought forth much applause from the spectators.

Below is a summary of the meet: 100 yard dash—McPherson (Carolina), first; Bruton (Duke) second; Giersch, (Continued on page four)

Chase Speaks In Chapel Tomorrow

President H. W. Chase will speak to the students in chapel tomorrow morning.

As this will be the last day before the Easter recess begins, Alumni Secretary Dan Grant has asked Dr. Chase to talk to the students on the work which they may do for the university during the holidays in connection with high school seniors of the state and prospective university students. Mr. Grant has for some time been planning a program in cooperation with the Committee of 100 and the county clubs, by which he hopes to get in touch with the high school seniors throughout the state and interest them in the university and explain to them the opportunities which it affords.

BABBITT SPEAKS TUESDAY NIGHT

Large Audience Hears Noted Lecturer in Gerrard Hall.

DISCUSSES ROMANTICISM

Considers Orient as Misrepresented in Romantic Literature.

Professor Irving Babbitt, Professor of Romance Languages at Harvard University spoke last night at Gerrard Hall on Romanticism and the Orient. His main points seemed to be that distance lends enchantment to the view, and that Kipling gives a false and romantic view of the Orient.

Professor Babbitt, who has translated pages of Sanskrit at the Sorbonne in Paris, assured his audience that, contrary to the idea given of the far east—India being used as an example, people there were active, temperate and religious.

To show their temperance, he spent some time in comparing the teachings of Jesus Christ and Buddha. He then took up Kipling, and showed how in his poem "Mandalay" he had given a false and somewhat derogatory idea of the East.

The characteristics of Romanticism, as outlined by professor Babbitt were four: instinct for escape, nostalgia, sub-rationalism, and picturesqueness. As an example of the romantic literature of the East the speaker discussed the works of Rudyard Kipling. Judged by these criteria much of Kipling's work may be considered romantic. In his popular poem "Mandalay", though the speaker considered it bad poetry and untrue picturization of the East, are exemplified particularly nostalgia and instinct for escape. The British sailor longs for Mandalay, "where there ain't no Ten Commandments, and a man can raise a thirst." "When Kipling is in India," Babbitt said, "he longs to be in England, and when he is in England, he pines for India."

Professor Babbitt discussed at length Buddhism and its influence on the oriental mind, calling attention to the relation it bears to both Christianity and Platonism, and extolling its virtues.

Professor Babbitt is one of the leading authorities on the subject of Romanticism and the Orient. His lecture was heard by a large audience, and caused considerable comment.

HIGH SCHOOL STARS ON FROSH TENNIS OUTFIT

Team Will Probably Meet Oak Ridge, and Davidson, and Duke Freshmen During the Season.

With some of the best high and prep school stars of North and South Carolina out for the squad, the freshman tennis team promises to be the best first year net team ever turned out at the University. Manager Caesar Cone, of Greensboro, is now working on a schedule and promises to have a good card arranged in a few weeks. Meets are pending with Oak Ridge, Davidson, and Duke frosh, and a trip will probably be arranged some time within the course of the next few weeks.

This year's freshman class boasts of some of the best tennis players who have been in the University, and out of these men a team should be developed which (Continued on page four)

AD. WARREN WINS IN HEAVYWEIGHT JUNIOR CONTEST

University Boxer Wins Popular Decision Over Marty Gallagher.

JOE MONTE WON DECISION

Judges Disagree Over Light Heavyweight Battle—Champion is Given Referee Decision.

Addison Warren, captain of the Carolina team, and captain-elect of the wrestling squad, returned to the "Hill" Monday morning from Philadelphia where he won the Junior National Heavyweight Championship and lost the light heavyweight title by a shade. He was accompanied to the Quaker City by Crayton Rowe, the Carolina Catch, and who is also one of the most clever little fighters to ever step into the roped arena.

The exhibition which Warren demonstrated were about the best ever witnessed in amateur circles in Philadelphia and the huge crowd vociferously applauded the Carolina boy. It was plainly evident that they were all pulling for him. The interest which was manifest on the campus here was demonstrated by the large crowds that gathered around the Carolina Smoke Shop to await the report announcing the outcome of the bouts. When it was learned that Warren had emerged victorious, a large shout went up from the University students.

In the light heavyweight bout Joe Monte, of Boston, who has held the title for the past three years, won the referee's decision over Warren after the judges had failed to agree. It was a great fight and neither boxer seemed to show any superiority over the other. It was clear, however, that the crowd was for Warren as a great hiss went up from the spectators when Monte was awarded the decision.

In the fight, for the heavyweight championship, Warren won a popular decision over the far-famed Marty Gallagher, of Washington. From the time that the two pugilists stepped into the ring until the final gong sounded, it was clearly Warren's fight, he completely outclassed his opponent. He came near landing a knock-out in the second round when he floored Gallagher with a terrific right to the chin.

BLUE AND WHITE N. C. BUTTONS NOW ON SALE

The University of North Carolina Class emblems which the different classes endorsed during "Speak, Meet, Greek Week" last spring have been received and a number of students have already appeared on the campus with the little blue and white buttons.

These emblems are diamond shaped, a blue field with white letters NC and class numerals. These badge are now on sale at the Book Exchange and can be had for the nominal sum of twenty-five cents. Officials of the various classes are anxious that as many of the students as can do so to avail themselves of the opportunity to purchase these buttons.

LODGES EMPLOY HEAVY PADDLES IN INITIATIONS

One Hundred and Two Freshmen make the Grade to Incomplete Report.

LENDS COLOR TO CAMPUS

Self-Conscious Freshmen Subject of Mirth on the Part of Those Who Have Same Experience.

The campus has an added touch of color in addition to the budding plants, trees and the arbutum in the bits of gay ribbons—fraternity colors—that are seen almost daily now that the winter quarter is over and freshmen are reaching one of the most anticipated events in their young lives—fraternity initiations are on. Blows are heard emanating from the dark nooks of the campus nightly as the embryonic ones have impressed upon them the seriousness of their organizations.

Incomplete reports show that one hundred and two men have fulfilled the necessary requirements and self-conscious freshmen are beginning to take on air of importance that is the cause of mirth on the part of those who have been through the same experience and of envy on the part of some of those who have as yet to feel that sensation.

Efforts to ascertain the extent of injuries at the infirmary were of no avail—evidently the bruises are the subject of pride rather than the necessity of care. Light rains Wednesday night hindered the work of several of the organizations although the enthusiasm of the paddle wielders seems to have been in nowise dampened.

Several national and local fraternities have failed to furnish the Tar Heel with a list of their initiates. If those not published in today's list will see that they are furnished by the next issue they will be given due publicity.

The following is a list of those initiates furnished to the Tar Heel by the respective fraternities: Delta Kappa Epsilon: Bowman Gray, Winston-Salem; Sam Pettus, Charlotte; Nelson Woodson, Salisbury; Stedman Morris, Salisbury; Nelson Howard, Morboro; William Dortch, Raleigh; Sheperd Strudwick, Hillsboro. Beta Theta Pi: C. E. Waddill, Asheville; John Anderson, Fayetteville; M. G. Cameron, Charlotte; James Parsley, Fayetteville; A. H. Galloway, Winston-Salem.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon: J. G. Adams, Asheville; G. K. Cheatham, Henderson; Pace Fuller, Durham; R. W. Grier, Greenwood, S. C.; Byron Grier, Greenwood, S. C.; Donald McCray, Wilmington; F. K. Myers, Charleston, S. C.; Linton Smith, Raleigh; Edgar Robertson, Charleston, S. C.; Jack Pringle, Columbia, S. C.; Charles Graham, Wilmington.

Politicians Prepare For Warm Fight In Elections Today

NOTICE TO SENIORS

This year's senior invitations are now being prepared. A list of all seniors with their degrees and of all graduate students who are candidates for degrees is now posted in the Y. M. C. A. It is very important that all seniors and graduate students go by the "Y" at once and verify this list as it goes to the printer before the Easter holidays. If corrections are not made immediately, somebody's name will not appear in the invitations.

APRIL MAGAZINE SEEMS MEDIOCRE

Contains Nothing Outstanding and Several Poor Articles.

CATALOGUE IS REBUKED

"The Negro in Literature" and "Lamentations" are Praised.

Again the Carolina Magazine offers the campus a choice collection of near-literature. The April number is on the whole mediocre, containing no writing of distinguished merit, and much that is very bad.

The two leading features are the articles entitled "Debunking the Catalogue" and "What the Negro is Doing in Literature."

"Debunking the Catalogue" was written by thirty or more students, and attempts to evaluate from a student point of view 86 courses selected from the catalogue. In its published form the article does little debunking, and is of doubtful value, but should be read. It is most interesting, perhaps, as an unconscious study of the undergraduate mind. Occasionally you will find in it really significant criticism, and sometimes a little amusement. At least one chuckle must accompany the review of English 3-4-5, and the advice at the conclusion of that review is almost classic.

One other article ought certainly to be read; the others you can read or not, just as you choose. This is the first article in the Magazine, "What the Negro is Doing in Literature." It should be read for the facts it contains about an important but little-known movement. Read it, and God bless you, my children.

After these two very, very serious articles you deserve a good laugh. I recommend "Aberrations," a piece of fantastic, nonsensical humor.

"Our Parliamentarians" is a short satire which takes a good natural crack at our dear old literary societies.

There are two full-length stories and two sketches, all disappointing. "Ralph as a Sophomore" is as bad as the title. "I Have Something to Tell You" presents the same conventional picture of collegiate youth. Both stories may prove to be the most popular features of the Magazine. We hope "Ralph" was written some time ago, because we have learned to expect better from the author.

"On the Limitations of Reason" is a very different thing and is not far from being good. The author may be excused (Continued on page four)

COFFIN MAY SUCCEED GERALD JOHNSON HERE

Head of Journalism School Resigned Recently to Join Staff of Baltimore Sun.

Oscar J. Coffin, editor of the Raleigh Times, Raleigh's afternoon paper is being considered as Gerald Johnson's successor in the school of Journalism. Mr. Johnson resigned his position as head of the school two months ago, and since then rumor has been rife as to his successor.

Mr. Johnson leaves here in June to join the staff of the Baltimore Sun as associate editor, his resignation becoming effective then.

President Chase would neither affirm nor deny the current rumor. He admitted that Coffin's name had been under consideration since Johnson's resignation. He said that the board of trustees have to formally approve of any (Continued on page four)

MANY FACTIONS

New System of Voting Is Used for First Time.

FORDHAM URGES ALL TO VOTE

Undergraduates Vote at Gerrard and Professional Students at Vance.

Apparently the campaigning for student offices closed with the platform speeches made in chapel yesterday morning by the candidates for the presidency of the student body, but now the fiercest struggle is taking place since the politicians are not publicly at work but instead are exerting personal influence to line up the delinquent pledges to party tickets. The complete nominations were made with the close of Tuesday's chapel period.

A new system of voting has been inaugurated by President Fordham for this year's election. The purpose of the new plan is to insure greater freedom on the part of the individual doing the voting and prevent crafty workers from rounding up votes that are sometimes not the actual choice of the name on the ballot. The type of voting for this year is somewhat similar to the Australian ballot idea. Pollholders will be stationed in front of Gerrard hall and in front of Vance dormitory. At each of these places there will be an enclosure and in it a booth. Undergraduates whose name begin with any letter from A-O will vote at the Gerrard hall booth and those from O-Z and professional and graduate students will find their names on the Vance register. The procedure is simple and there is no need for anyone to become mixed up as to his proper voting place. The voter will go to the man in charge of the register and have his name checked off the list; he will be given a ballot and allowed to enter the enclosure and go into the booth to fill out his ticket where no person can see for whom he casts his ballot. He will fold his ballot and come out of the booth to drop his ballot into the box. No person will know for whom he voted and (Continued on page four)

TRACK MEN MEET W. AND L. FRIDAY

Visitors Come to "Hill" With Envious Record.

EXPECT CLOSE CONTEST

Meet Begins at Two O'clock—Followed by Freshman Baseball Game.

The strong Washington and Lee track team comes here tomorrow afternoon for a dual meet with the Tar Heels in what promises to be one of the best track meets of the season. The Generals are invading the "Hill" with an impressive record behind them and they are expected to give Captain "Cholly" Jonas and his men a great fight before they admit defeat. Never in the history of the two schools has the Washington and Lee team conquered Carolina on the cinder path but last year they gave Coach Fetzer's men all the competition they were looking for and it is expected that they will repeat their performance this afternoon.

The meet this afternoon is scheduled to start promptly at 2 o'clock in order that it will be over in time for the freshman to get the use of Emerson Field for their encounter with the Mars Hill aggregation. The shot put and the pole vault will get under way at that hour, while the 100-yard dash will be called at 2:30.

It is of definitely known who will represent Carolina in the various events but will probably be picked from the following men:

- 100-yard dash—McPherson, Giersch, Woodard, Harrison, and Laney.
 - 220-yard dash—McPherson, Harrison, Lylerly, and Laney.
 - 440-yard dash—Edwards, Watt, McDaniel, Wyrick, and Moore.
 - 880-yard run—Jonas, Rhinehart, Henly, Russ, and Evans.
 - 1-mile run—Pritchett, Elliott, Credle, Crew, and Underwood.
 - 2-mile run—Daniels, Henderson, Goodwin, and Thorpe.
 - 120-yard high hurdles—Watt, Pearson, Buck, Purser, Young, Johnston, and Glenn.
 - 220-yard low hurdles—Watt, Giersch, and Huggins, Smith, Crowles, Shore.
