

POLITICIANS PREPARE FOR WARM FIGHT TODAY

the name of the voter will not be on the ticket. The polls will open at 8:30 and remain open until 6 p.m. Every member of the student body is urged to vote by President Fordham. The procedure will be a little slower than the other method and students are asked not to crowd the registrars, for there will be ample time during the day for every person to vote without the necessity of long waiting.

Speeches were heard from all of the nominees for president of the student body in chapel yesterday. In the absence of Jimmy Williams, on account of illness, his platform was read by Ted Livingstone. S. G. Chappell, Squatty Thomas, Bob Sides, and Fred Parker all made excellent speeches, each declaring himself to try to make the student government of next year be the best that the University has ever had.

It seems clearly evident to men closely affiliated with the political situation here that there are at least two machines functioning in this year's election. There is of course a spirit of genuine fellowship between both groups, but nevertheless each realizes that the other is out to defeat the interests of themselves. Intense feeling and unusual interest is expected in Thursday's voting since politicians will be forced to resort to personal work rather than the making of ballots already marked. There will no doubt be some hot politicking around the voting places.

The results of the election will be known Thursday night and as soon as they are officially known will be posted at the Y. M. C. A. Efforts to learn them earlier will be of no avail and such action will serve only to lengthen the period of waiting.

The complete tickets for students and class officers is listed separately in this issue.

if he failed quite to reproduce the effect of his great masterpiece. The chief poetic contribution of the month is "Lamentation" by R. K. Fowler. The author has done much better. The poem has been highly praised, but the metrical experiment seems to me a failure. The conception of the poem I like very much, but short rhyming lines, most of them inconsequential, fall not sweetly on my ear.

TAR BABY TRACK MEN TO MEET CHARLOTTE

First Meet of Year With High School Champions of State to be Held Saturday.

The Tar Baby track team will hold its first meet of the season tomorrow afternoon on Emerson Field when they will compete in a dual meet with the strong Charlotte high school cinder path artists. The lads from the Queen City have won the state high school track championship for the past three years and are out to cop the honors again this season. They made an auspicious start by defeating the strong Davidson freshman team in a dual meet. They also emerged victorious in the high school meet at Davidson in which seven teams competed. Judging by these performances, they have equally as good a team as they have had in the past few years.

Dale Ranson, coach of the freshman track team, announces that time trials will be held on Emerson Field this afternoon at four o'clock for the purpose of determining who is to represent the yearlings in the track and field events Saturday afternoon.

The Charlotte team is coached by Dr. Barrett and Andy Milstead, who formerly starred for the Carolina track team in the middle distances. Both of these men are excellent coaches and the team that they bring to the "Hill" Saturday afternoon will be one which the most ardent supporters can look upon with admiration.

HIGH SCHOOL STARS ON FROSH TENNIS OUTFIT

will give the other first year teams of the state a run for their money. Among the men who have been practicing on the courts during the past few weeks are: Tom King, of Greensboro, who has been prep school champion of the state for the past two years while playing with the strong Oak Ridge netmen; John Norwood, of Greenville, S. C., holder of the South Carolina open championship; "Bill" Scott, of Greensboro, winner of the state high school singles championship for the past two years; "Dick" Covington, of Waynesville, runner-up for the state high school singles championship last year; "Buck" Pressley, of Charlotte, who made a good showing in the high school tennis tournament last year. Among the others on the squad who are showing up well are: Ed Curlee, of Burlington; C. V. Cummings, of High Point, a former Oak Ridge player, and J. Shulan, of Greensboro.

These men have been practicing hard for the last week or two and are now rapidly rounding into mid-season form. In a few more weeks they will be ready to battle the best yearling and prep school tennis teams of the state and it is expected that they will win the state freshman championship. With all the promising material that is on hand, the Carolina frosh should have little trouble in disposing of the other teams which they will meet on the courts this year.

AD. WARREN WINS IN HEAVY-WEIGHT JUNIOR CONTEST

Warren. The Philadelphia Inquirer had the following to say: "The North Carolina youth, as clean a cut boxer as ever stepped in the local ring, dropped Gallagher in the second round for a short count with a terrific right to the chin. It was Warren's bout all the way through." The following came from the Public Ledger: "One of the big features of the final night of a round of battles that had the eager-eyed souls looking on rooting from first to last was the brilliant showing of Addison Warren, a student of North Carolina University."

By virtue of his victory in Philadelphia, Warren will now participate in one Senior National Amateur Tournament at Boston which will be held there on Monday and Tuesday, April 5 and 6. Should he emerge victorious there, he will be the amateur champion of America. This tournament is limited to those who participated in the finals and semi-finals at Philadelphia and the ex-champions who wish to defend their titles. Warren, therefore, is eligible to compete, both in the heavyweight and light heavyweight classes and will do so at his own discretion. He and Coach Rowe will probably leave for Boston Saturday night and the good wishes of every Carolina student will follow them.

BARWICK AND NEAL TO PILOT FRESHMAN BIBLE

Handbook Published Under the Auspices of Y.M.C.A. is to be Decidedly Different Next Year.

At a recent meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet Killian Barwick was elected editor, and Bill Neal business manager of the 1926-1927 Freshman Handbook which is published each year under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of being distributed to all incoming Freshmen. This book, which contains valuable information for all new men, has been published for more than twenty years, and a copy is sent to every freshman before he enters the University.

With the aid of Mr. Comer the newly elected editor and business manager are planning a radical departure from the old volumes of this book. Present plans provide for a book that will cost less and will more nearly fill the need of the new men. In the past the cost of the book has been far more than the income that it produces and the difference has been paid from the treasury of the "Y".

Formerly a large sum has been spent to make the book more durable to serve as a pocket copy. It was found last year that a few freshmen used it for this purpose, so this year it will be made in the form of a desk copy. This new arrangement will lower the cost a good deal and will still provide more space for needed information. This is the first time that any change has been made in the general make-up of the book, and it is believed that it will be more successful than ever before.

The Ox Woman On an East Indian farm, where the crop is tea, a wooden plow turns up the rich black soil. A woman drives, another woman pulls—and a black ox pulls beside her. Six hours under a tropical sun, a bowl of cold rice—and six hours more. Then the woman goes to her bed of rushes, and the beast to his mud stall. Tomorrow will be the same. The American home has many conveniences. But many American women often work as hard as their Oriental sisters. They toil at the washtub, they carry water, they churn by hand—all tasks which electricity can do for them at small cost, in half the time. The labor-saving possibilities of electricity are constantly becoming more widely recognized. And the social significance of the release of the American woman from physical drudgery, through the increasing use of electricity in and about the home, will appeal instantly to every college man and woman.
