

Carolina Defeats South Carolina In Baseball 3-2

O. SAPP PITCHES

Ninth Inning Rally By Visitors Prove Futile.

LAMAR STARS FOR VISITORS

Olympic Champion Osborne Makes First Appearance in Jumping Events.

Coach Duncan's Tar Heel Baseball Club defeated the University of South Carolina on Emerson field yesterday in a game featured by the beautiful defensive work of North Carolina and an inspiring ninth inning rally by the visitors that fell just one run short of tying the count. The game was a bit slow although packed with enough thrills and close calls to satisfy even the most exacting.

Sapp, starting his first contest in a Tar Heel uniform, was on the mound for the locals. He pitched beautiful ball until the eventual ninth, when he was forced to retire in favor of Poyner.

South Carolina threw a scare into the hearts of the Carolina fans when the first man up walked, stole second, and was sacrificed to third. Sapp took his eye off the plate long enough to hit Swink with a fast ball, but Mackie, local right fielder, chased under a long fly to retire the side. The Gamecocks repeated the scare in their half of the second, placing a man on third and second with two out. Sapp, however, fielded a roller to end the inning.

Carolina pushed across her first marker in the latter half of the second inning. Young started off with a single down third base—the first Tar Heel safety—but he was seized with an attack of sleeping sickness off first and was tagged by Rogers. Captain Jones followed Young down to first when the "Umps" called four balls wide. On an attempted steal of second, the catcher threw wild and Jones continued on to third. Dodderer scored him with the second hit of the inning—a long single to right. Bill swiped second base standing up, but was unable to get any further.

Carolina threatened again in the next inning. With one down Tenney doubled along the third base foul line. Sides walked; Mackie and Hatley failed to deliver, however, and nothing happened.

The next innings were all dangerous to Carolina's slender lead, but Sapp

CAROLINA LOSES DEBATE TO W. VA.

Affirmative Side Victorious in Debate Held in Durham.

ARGUMENTS CLEAR CUT

Livingstone, Crew, and Young Uphold Negative Side for Carolina.

The University of West Virginia successfully upheld the affirmative side of the query, "Resolved, That Democracy as a Political Ideal in the United States is a Failure," by defeating the University of North Carolina in the Durham high school auditorium last Thursday evening.

The argument for the evening evolved around a definition of the term "Democracy." The affirmative contentions were that a written constitution was necessarily embodied in a democracy and that the query as stated had nothing to do with governments other than the national government; while the Carolina debaters contended that democracy does not necessarily embody a written constitution, and that the term democracy is applied to local and state governments as well as the national branch.

The speakers representing the University of West Virginia on the affirmative were Russell Morris, Harry Lambert, and Stanley Lawson. Those who upheld the negative for Carolina were Theodore B. Livingstone, James W. Crew, and Malcolm M. Young. Each of the speakers presented his argument with merit, expressing himself forcefully and sincerely.

The arguments presented were briefly as follows:

Affirmatively: West Virginia contended that our government has failed to give us a representative government; that Congress does not act independently; that Congress has failed in leadership; that Congress does not represent the nation; that representatives stand for parties and not the best interests of the people; and that the voters have departed from the ideal.

EVERETT SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD

Discusses Philosophy of Tragedy in Parish House Tuesday Night.

"TRAGEDY VITAL IN LIFE"

Entertained at Dinner at Inn Following Lecture.

Professor Walter G. Everett of Brown University spoke here last night on the "Philosophy of Tragedy." The lecture was held at the Episcopal church, instead of at Garrard Hall, as announced. In spite of the inclement weather, quite a large crowd was in attendance.

Professor Everett spoke at some length on his subject. He is noted for the clarity and humanity of his teachings, and the seriousness with which he views ethical and religious problems.

In his lecture Professor Everett brought out the statement that tragedy was a vital and desirable part of life, as it is responsible for pleasure. For if there be no tragedy, there can be no standards by which pleasure can be judged.

He also pointed out that virtues and vices are man-made affairs, that sin is a thing that man has loaded on his own back, creating it entirely himself. Following this statement up, he said that where there no such designated things, that tragedy would still be present, because a chain of events or a set of circumstances.

HAL KEMP'S ORCHESTRA BROADCAST IN ATLANTA

Station WSB of Atlanta Is Host to Local Musicians—Orchestra Will Make Columbia Records.

Tuesday night at 10:45, central time, and 11:45 Eastern time, from Station WSB, Atlanta, Ga., Hal Kemp's Orchestra broadcasted a musical concert, which they were booked for at the Metropolitan opera house. This station is under the management of the Atlanta Journal.

The first announcement was as follows: "Hal Kemp and his boys playing to two full houses tonight at the Metropolitan opera house will broadcast from Station WSB, Atlanta, Ga." The announcer stopped here to mention the fact that telegrams from the parents of the boys and from friends all over the United States had been received and acknowledged by the boys from the University of North Carolina.

It was also made known that this was the first time in radio history that a broadcasting station had been allowed over-time for a concert. Each station is supposed to have only a limited amount of time. The extra time given was one hour and fifteen minutes.

Among the numbers played were those given in a recent performance of the Wigwag and Masque. They were written by Professor Daggert of the University faculty. These numbers were requested. Several of the compositions

AD WARREN LOSES JUDGE'S DECISION

North and South American Amateur Championship Won by Emanuel.

WARREN IS OUTWEIGHED

Warren Enters Heavyweight Class With Bruised and Swollen Hands.

"K. O." Warren, three times captain of Carolina's boxing team, was defeated in Boston last Monday night for the amateur championship of North and South America, by Armand Emanuel, of San Francisco. The fight went the full number of rounds and victory came to Emanuel only by a very close judge's decision.

This was Warren's third tournament in as many weeks. He won the heavy and the light-heavy weight championships in Baltimore, and the next week he entered the Philadelphia tournament. Here he took on three men in one evening, winning the heavy weight championship by defeating his first two opponents with little trouble, but he finished the evening by losing a close decision for the light-heavy weight championship.

After sifting through this imposing array of boxers "K. O." entered the Boston tournament as an even bet to win. He had behind him the formidable record of eight wins and two forfeits in three weeks, but this same great record probably cost him the international championship. He emerged from the battles in "Quakertown" with his hands bruised and swollen, and this had no little effect on the final outcome at Boston.

Warren had been fighting in two weights, but at Boston the contestants were not allowed to enter but one. So the Tar Heel puncher chose to cast his lot among the heavy weights. Emanuel weighed 183 pounds while Warren only weighed 170½.

Besides the "beef," the San Francisco lad also had the experience. He had been runner-up in the tournament on two occasions prior to this, and after his win over Carolina's captain it was no trouble at all for him to annex the championship. To hold such a man to a judge's decision is quite a feather in Warren's cap.

Next year "K. O." will go direct to Boston and this will give him a chance to concentrate on one fight instead of several. It will not be necessary to go through two grilling tournaments before facing his hardest man at Boston.

Warren was accompanied by Coach Crayton Rowe, of the Carolina boxing team. They arrived in Boston Sunday, p.m., April 4th. The return journey was started Wednesday a.m.

REMOVAL OF DANCE SUSPENSION WILL BE CELEBRATED THIS WEEK

Alpha Kappa Psi and Grail Dances On Friday and Saturday—Sigma Nus Give House Party—German Club Holds Meeting at 1:45 P. M. Today—New By-Laws Must Be Adopted

Plans have been completed for heralding the return of social activities to the local campus this week-end with considerable glamour. Alpha Kappa Psi Commerce Fraternity giving its first dance on the Hill, is using every endeavor to make the event thoroughly enjoyable for all attending. This initial frolic will take place Friday night from nine to one. Boys bringing girls will not be required to present cards at the door; all stags, however, will be admitted only on invitation.

The Tarsonian orchestra, engaged for the week-end dances, is practically unheralded organization; inquiry into the merits of the musicians has given rise however, to most optimistic expectations so far as the music for the approaching dances is concerned.

Psi chapter of Sigma Nu has done much to brighten the prospects for a successful series of social functions by opening the chapter house to approximately thirty girls who will arrive from Sweet Briar, Hollins, National Park Seminary, Converse, St. Mary's, N. C. C. W., Meredith, and G. C. The Sigma Nu dance which had previously been announced to be held Saturday evening, will not be given.

No dance or party has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon, as the baseball game between Carolina and Duke is expected to provide more than sufficient interest.

Saturday evening the Woodberry Forest Club will entertain at a dinner party which will be followed by the first Grail

HI SCHOOL TRACK MEET TOMORROW

Seventeen High Schools are Entering Annual Championship Meet.

THIRTEEN BIG EVENTS

Charlotte Team Admitted to Be Strong Favorite in the Fourteenth Meet.

The fourteenth annual inter-scholastic track meet for North Carolina high schools—ushered in as usual by rain—is the explanation that clears up the question of "What are all those athletic kids doing here today?" Seventeen high schools have signified their intentions of participating this year, and since "competition is the life of endeavor" we are certainly expecting to see some mighty keen rivalry for the cups.

Track has long been one of the coming sports of the country and if there are still any doubters as to whether or not it has arrived, we could answer their doubts by directing them to Emerson Field tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when the field events come off, or in the afternoon at 2 o'clock when the track events will be held.

There are thirteen events scheduled to take place, and unless the wind blows the hurdles off the track, or if the elements have obliterated the pole vault standards, everything will come off as planned. The list of events follows:

PLAYMAKER READING TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

Miss Enita Nicks Will Read Rostand's "The Romancers" in Playmaker Theatre at 7:30.

The Romancers by Edmond Rostand, translated by Barret H. Clark, will be read by Miss Enita Nicks tonight at 7:30 in the Playmaker Theatre. The Romancers is perhaps the most delightful of Edmond Rostand's plays and one which is especially suited for production in the Forest Theatre, where it will be given May 30-31 as the last Playmaker performance of the school year. Last year Sheridan's The Rivals was given in the Forest Theatre and caused quite a bit of favorable comment. Other productions of the past years are The Taming of the Shrew, Comedy of Errors, Much Ado About Nothing, As You Like It, The Twelfth Night, all by Shakespeare, Housman and Barker's Promella and Eleanor Gates' The Poor Little Rich Girl. Try outs for The Romancers will be held Monday at 7:30 in the Playmaker's building.

PLAYMAKERS TRIP UNUSUAL SUCCESS

Elizabeth City Daily Advance Praises Playmakers Performance.

TOWNS ENTERTAIN CAST
Played in Elizabeth City, Durham, Clayton, Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, and New Bern.

"Good sports as well as actors in Playmakers," is a headline seen in the Elizabeth City Daily Advance after their performance of "The First Year" given there Saturday night. It happened that the bus which carried the players had to stop an hour in Edenton where repairs were made on the machine which was damaged in getting off the Edenton ferry. The Playmakers arrived a little late, and without a bite of supper, and after spending nearly an hour getting the stage set for the play, they put on their production of "The First Year" to an audience that had been waiting restlessly for an hour. The Advance goes on to say:

"Undismayed by these untoward circumstances, the Playmakers showed themselves good sports as well as delightful actors and put on their show, Frank Craven's "The First Year," in a fashion that made folks out in the audience forget themselves and their surroundings and all sense of being at a play in their interest in what had come to seem a bit of real life.

"A success like that, under the circumstances, was quite a remarkable in way of evidence of the real ability of the Carolina Playmakers as it was in way of tribute to their fine courage; particularly when staged in an auditorium the acoustics of which have been the despair of everybody, amateur or professional, who have ever tried to speak or sing or act therein. Only Thursday night the local high school dramatics clubs gave a good play there and did it well. But a lot of folks couldn't hear them.

OSBORNE TO ASSIST IN COACHING TRACK MEN

Star in Olympic Games and Holder of World's Record High Jump Will Help Coach Fetzer.

He immediately began training for the indoor centrals to be held in Chicago on April 23, where he will compete with the best athletes from all sections of the nation. While here Osborne will assist Coach Bob Fetzer in training the Tar Heel eidersmen for the Southern Conference meet which will be held here next month.

After watching the work of the Carolina track men Tuesday afternoon, Osborne congratulated Bob Fetzer on his team, which is one of the fastest in the South.

In speaking of his plans for the season, Osborne said that he would take part in the American Decathlon meet to be held in Philadelphia on July 4. After that he plans to tour Europe where he will compete in a series of events. Last year Osborne toured Europe with a group of eight of the University of Illinois men; however, this year he will travel alone.

Osborne was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1922 and since then has been teaching school. He was for

DI SENATE ASKS POOLE TO SPEAK

Anti-Evolution Exponent May Address Literary Society.

DISCUSS MUSOLINI

Walter Spearman, Charles Lipscombe, McDonald Gentry Initiated.

At the first meeting of the Di Senate since the Easter Holidays last Tuesday evening at the usual hour it was decided to invite Representative Poole, of the North Carolina House of Representatives, to come and speak his views against the teaching of evolution in the public schools of the state. President L. A. Crowell appointed a committee to invite Mr. Poole after the Senate had passed on a motion favoring such action.

Discussion was very heated in the Senate on two bills. Senator Ed Hudson introduced a bill condemning the present dictatorship of Mussolini in Italy. He stated that a dictatorship will not work as has been proven by history and that Mussolini is advocating the doctrine that might makes right too much. Senator Norman Block opposed the bill and stated that Mussolini had taken hold of the Italian government at a trying time to make it strong and more efficient so that he can later make it a limited monarchy at the proper time. Senator Geo. Stephens also opposed the bill on the grounds that so long as Mussolini's form of government does not hinder other governments of the world that it should be allowed to go on as Italy's business only. The Senate defeated the bill by vote.

Senator Stephens then introduced a bill favoring the elimination of the North Carolina Senate thus making our state government run on a uni-cameral system. Senator Lee Kennette opposed this bill. The bill was then deferred to the next meeting for further discussion.

The following men were elected to membership in the Senate to be initiated at the next meeting: Walter Spearman, Charles Lipscombe, and McDonald Gentry.
