

ELON DOWNS VARSITY NINE IN ELEVEN INNING GAME 7-2

One triple and one double play were the fielding features of the game. In the fifth frame Raub singled to center to lead off and H. Crutchfield duplicated his stunt with a single to left. Baxton walked and Sims hit a high one to Hatley who pegged out Raub at the plate, Sharpe doubling the ball to Jones who caught H. Crutchfield at the third sack. The double play was contributed to the Christians when Raub nabbed Tenney's hot one in the fifth frame to double Sapp at the second sack.

UNUSUAL MOTION DEFEATED BY DI

state. He admitted that the bi-cameral system of the United States was very satisfactory but it would not pay in North Carolina because all leaders were of the same party in North Carolina. He stated that the Senate of North Carolina held up a bill to extend Asheville's city limits because a member of the Senate used his political influence against it. The bi-cameral system has proven harmful because it is a cut-throat method of politicians working against each other for political reasons.

Senator Chrissman, of Guilford stated, that the Senator from Buncombe only knew of Buncombe County and that his stories would not prove true in the other parts of North Carolina. He said that the mountaineers only took interest in what interested their section and that in central Carolina interest was very keen politically. He violently opposed the bill.

Senator Block made a most eloquent speech against the bill. He asked the Senate not to let colorful pictures influence them. One section should not try to make the whole State suffer. He stated that there is no doubt that the Poole Bill would have been passed if the uni-cameral system had been in force. He made the fact clear that 47 other states were satisfied and that plainly indicated that the present form was satisfactory.

Several other speeches were made by the various Senators and the question was discussed from all angles. After summarizing the points and all facts stated the bill was put to a vote. It was rejected by over twice as many as there was for it.

Senator Houchins introduced a bill to the effect that women of the United States not be allowed to serve on juries. He introduced the bill very fluently and told the Senate that women were going to the dogs in politics and that it was up to the men to take care of them. They should realize their places in the home and not spend too much time in politics. A motion was made and carried to that effect that this be carried over to the next meeting.

Senator Block made a plea that more interest be taken in the Di Senate. He stated that the one freshman had failed on account of the fact that the older members had failed. He made a very earnest plea for more members and more interest.

Senator Jonas gave his criticisms on the various speeches and the method of delivery of the speakers. After this a motion for adjournment was heard and the Senate meeting was adjourned until Tuesday.

REVIEW OF REVIEWS PRAISES UNIVERSITY and laboratories and burdened with excessive hours of teaching, makes all the more noteworthy the productive scholarship of this University. The University Press has recently published a noteworthy series of volumes written or edited by University men or containing the lectures of leading publicists and scholars at the University.

"Of special significance is the Journal of Social Forces, edited by Prof. H. W. Odum. It has now been running for four years and has maintained the high standard set by the first number. It has made good use of material at hand in the first-hand study of social problems by faculty and students and by other southerners, and at the same time has had contributions from scholars of the country at large. It has thus become a truly national journal of sociology that has been highly praised by experts.

"Excellent teaching and productive scholarship have gone on pari passu with a well-planned scheme of University extension that has kept the University in close touch with the life of the State. Through lectures, extension bulletins, correspondence courses, and attendance upon every variety of public meeting and associations, the members of the faculty interpret the best that the University has to offer, and at same time they are bringing every year an increasing number of the people of the State in smaller and larger groups to Chapel Hill for conference and discussion.

"What I have written of the University of North Carolina applies, in part, to a growing group of colleges and universities—state, church, and independent. They kept the fires burning through many a dark night on the altars of truth, and now eagerhearted young men and women are carrying the light to even the darkest corners. In 1896 only six institutions could meet the academic standards adopted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools; now there are nearly 100, despite the fact that the standards have been raised. There has been a corresponding growth in endowment and in equipment.

RACQUETMEN TIE SOUTH CAROLINA

it out of bounds. Some of their volleys lasted for as much as 15 or 16 times, Elgin finally succeeded in winning by pulling his man up close and then passing him well directed drives in the corners.

The third match was won by Fayre of South Carolina from Geddie of North Carolina. The score in games was 7-3, 3-6, 6-1. Fayre's victory is explained by his ability to drive harder than his opponent.

In the fourth match Beatty of South Carolina finally nosed out Harvell of North Carolina to the tune of 6-3, 1-6, 6-4. This match was interesting in that both players employed the same kind of game. Both men used the straight drive serve; both men choked their rackets at times and to make the similarity more striking both men were built the same. They each seemed satisfied to "ping" until the point was lost. Near the end, however, Harvell started driving harder and almost staged a comeback. Five times the winner was within one point of victory, but Harvell pulled the game out by nice shots.

In the doubles Whitaker and Elgin defeated Wilson and Coleman without much trouble; the final score was 6-0, 6-3. Fayre and Beatty defeated Harvell and Geddie in the second doubles match by the score of 6-4, 6-2. Both doubles contests were interesting exhibitions of back court playing.

CAROLINA-VA. DANCE WILL BEGIN TONIGHT

Annual Official Dances Will Be Held in the Washington Duke Hotel.

The crowning event of the Week's social activities will be the two dances held in the Washington Duke hotel ballroom in Durham tonight and tomorrow night as the official Carolina-Virginia dances which are held annually when the two ancient baseball rivals meet in North Carolina.

Hal Kemp and his orchestra, just back from an invasion of southern concert stages, has been secured to furnish the music for the festive occasion and will render their musical art in conjunction with the regular Washington Duke hotel orchestra. With both of the orchestras playing, it is expected that the large crowds which annually attend this event will be amply taken care of.

The regular price for the two dances is $3.00 apiece, but a special concession has been made to Carolina students whereby they may purchase tickets for both dances for $4.00, provided they do so by Thursday at noon. These tickets may be secured from Bunn Hackley, at 201 Old East, or at Patterson's drug store.

A rebate of one dollar is being offered to the first fifty couples to enter the ballroom Thursday night, so it is expected that the affair will get under way on approximate schedule time. According to the management, this is an offer new to dance lovers of this section and it is hoped that students will take advantage of it.

These dances are looked forward to every year with a certain amount of keen anticipation and are becoming an event in the social life of the state.

Of course the blow was a homer, but Henry failed to touch first and was called out after he had seated himself happily on the bench. Murray of the visitors was the star slugger of the day with a triple and a homer out of four trips to the plate. Baxter, Carolina pitcher, struck out eleven men during the game.

A Long Lumber History

The Cary Lumber Company has a long history in the lumber business. Durham was a small town even when Cary started selling lumber to build more homes, and it has been pleasing to us to know that we have sold a good quality lumber to home-builders and contractors as we continue to grow with growing Durham.
