Duncanites Lose To Georgia Tech By Score Of 10-5

MON. AFTERNOON

Heavy Hitting Features Game—Mackie Sensation With Stick.

TAR HEELS WEAK AT BAT
Westmoreland Occupies Hillock for Carolina With Edwards Opposing Twirler for Georgia Tech.

The Yellow Jacket baseball aggregation from Georgia Tech handed the Tar Heels a 10 to 5 defeat on Emerson Field yesterday in a game filled with pretty fielding and hard hitting by both teams. The Techmen played a little staid on the field, and thereby hangs the tale. Seven miscues were contributed by the Duncanites while four bobbles were made by the Yellow Jackets.

Mackie, the fleet Tar Heel right fielder, wins the batting honors of the day with a triple and two singles out of four trips to the plate, while Wycoff, the Tech center gardener, ran him a close second with a double and two singles out of four trips. Angley, the hard-hitting Yellow Jacket receiver, smashed out a single, a triple, and a four-bagger out of five times at bat.

Fielding honors for the contest go to the entire outfields of both teams, the Yellow Jackets probably having a little the better of the argument. The gardeners roamed the fields far and wide and pulled them in from all angles and all positions. "Kirby" Hatley made a beautiful play of Brewer's double in the fifth to hold Crowley on the third sack. Besides handling himself unusually well in the field, Hatley obtained two safe swats, both of the one base variety, out of four trips to the rubber. Wycoff, the Techman center gardener, also contributed several thrills to the game by his running catches of balls hit to the center field.

Edwards, hurling for the Techmen, pitched a superb brand of baseball. He gave one free pass to the first sack, and did not strike out a man, but he kept the Tar Heels slugging hitting in the hands of his teammates throughout the affair, and was especially effective in the pinches.

Westmoreland, who worked for the Duncanites, contributed a fair brand of (Continued on page four)

LEADS HITTERS

Ed. Mackie, diminutive Carolina outfielder, playing his first year on the Varsity, has been hitting the old apple lately with a consistency that is really astounding. His batting has featured almost every Carolina baseball game this year. Home runs and doubles are his favorites.

TRACK TEAM WINS MEET WITH V. P. I.

Gobblers Defeated at Blacksburg Saturday by Score 87 5-6 to 38 1-6

NEW CAROLINA RECORDS
McPherson and Williams Set Two New Carolina Records At Meet.

In the teeth of a towering gale that blew dust clouds high and low over the field, the Carolina track team conquered the elements and V. P. I. track athletes Saturday at Blacksburg by the score of 87 5-6 to 38 1-6. The Tar Heels ran off with twelve first places out of fourteen events.

The furious wind blowing was responsible for a few good records and just as many bad ones. Carolina's real strength was in the hurdles and the dashes, and Mother Nature, as if conscious of the fact, helped the runners in these events along from the rear rather than slowed them up. McPherson, Carolina's premier dash man, set a new Carolina record in the 220 yard dash, when he negotiated the distance in the flying time of 21.5 seconds—breaking his own record of 22 flat that he set last year. The wind had lulled a great deal when McPherson ran his record dash, and it is hoped that University authorities will accept his time as a new record. Zack Williams Carolina shot putter, also established a new Carolina record for the second time in two days. At Virginia Thursday he busted the old shot record (Continued from page four)

TAR HEELS MEET YELLOW JACKETS

Play Second of Two-Game Series Today at Four.

EXPECT CHANGE IN FORM

Fulcher is Slated to do Mound Duty for Dukemen.

This afternoon at four o'clock the Tar Heels and the Georgia Techmen will clash on Emerson field for the second of a two-game series on the home lot.

By virtue of their ten to five victory over the Tar Heels in yesterday's affair, the Yellow Jackets have the edge of the dope, but should Fulcher, who will in all probability be "Duke" Duncan's choice on the mound, have his balls breaking nicely, and should the Tar Heel infield work as smoothly as it did against the Cavaliers on Emerson field last Friday, the tale might be read different after this afternoon's affair than it did last night.

The Yellow Jackets beyond a doubt have one of the best teams in the South. Reeves on short, Moreland on second, and Angley behind the plate should be enough to bolster any infield to the highest point. All of these players exhibit a rare form of baseball, while they are (Continued on page four)

FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL HAS BANQUET FRIDAY

H. D. Meyer's Address, "Leadership," Was the Feature of the Evening—Four Course Meal Enjoyed.

One of the most elaborate entertainments of the year was the formal banquet given in the dining hall of the Carolina Inn by the Freshman Friendship Council Friday night. After a four-course dinner, H. D. Meyer, of the Sociology Department, delivered the address of the evening, his subject being "Leadership."

Bob Harper, President of the Freshman Council, acted as toast-master for the occasion, and continuing from his speech of welcome throughout the two hours, the guests were given a program of skits, toasts, wit and humor. "Stumpy" Daughttridge paid a tribute to the "fairness, sweetness, and wit" of the young ladies present, in his "Toast to the Girls;" and the extemporaneous response of Miss Emily Markham was equally appropriate. In his toast to the "Y", John Anderson characterized the (Continued on page three)

PLAYMAKER READING GIVEN BY MACMILLAN

PLAYMAKER READING
By THE WHITEWING

Sunday night, Dr. Dougald MacMillan read Oscar Wild's The Importance of Being Earnest at the Playmaker Theatre. Mr. MacMillan chose his subject well. The Importance of Being Earnest is anything but that. Light, pithy, with enough plot to attract attention, and not enough to detract attention from the excellent dialogue, it moves rapidly and capriciously. The characters that are instantly recognized are drawn with a fine hand, then given an impossible twist and there you are. From the guardian, whose sole ancestry was a black traveling bag, to the amazingly sweet and naive Cecily, the characters are delightful.

The Playmaker's playhouse rang with laughter when laughter was the response desired from the audience.

CHASE ADDRESSES ALUMNI GROUPS

Visits and Speaks to Various Alumni Associations Throughout State.

SPRING ITINERARY HEAVY

Carries Message of Progress and Future of University to Alumni.

Throughout the coming weeks President Chase will address various alumni groups over the state. Since Dr. Chase has been president of the University, his duties have been so heavy and so exacting that he has been compelled to spend nearly all of his time here at Chapel Hill and has consequently had very little opportunity for becoming acquainted with the University alumni of North Carolina.

Last fall the General Alumni Association invited the President to devote a greater part of his time this spring to visiting the alumni chapters of the state. The purpose of these visits is to establish wider personal contacts, to inform the alumni of the University's plans and program, and to ascertain what the alumni have to contribute in shaping the future growth of the institution. In each of the places visited Dr. Chase will deliver an address to the alumni on the general subject of "What the University is Doing Today and What it is Planning for the Future."

Dr. Chase has already visited Winston-Salem, Asheville, Hickory, and High Point. He will be present at Fayetteville April 29, at Wilmington May 5, and (Continued on page three)

OAK RIDGE WINS FROM FROSH 4-2

Durham, Visiting Sacker, Is Star Batter.

WILLIAMS TAR BABY STAR

Beam Returns From Injury to do Good Work as Frosh Catcher.

Earle Holt's heavy hitting Oak Ridge nine took a loosely played game from "Runt" Lowe's Tar Babies on the freshman field yesterday afternoon by a 4 to 2 score. The game was a hard hitting and loose fielding affair from the start and both teams piled up runs till the end of the game.

The Oak Ridge boys scored twice in the opening inning on an infield error and a homer by Johnson. The Tar Babies took the lead in their half of the same frame when after Foard had been retired, Satterfield hit a long double to right center, went to second as Finlator walked, remained there while Cox was striking out and then scored on Furchess' infield hit. Two more infield taps and an error netted the freshmen three more runs in this stanza, and for a short time they enjoyed a four to two lead.

Holt's boys came back in the second and mixed a walk, two errors, and an infield out with four hits to produce five runs and the Tar Babies were never able to take the lead again. They entered the seventh one run behind but the Oak Ridgers annexed a trio of counters in their half of this frame and the (Continued on page three)

Carolina Loses To Virginia At Greensboro Saturday

BILL POYNER

Bill Poyner, veteran Carolina hurler, has been Coach Duncan's mainstay this year. His work in the Virginia classic here Friday was of the highest calibre and is a fair example of the splendid mound duty he has been dishing out regularly. Bill is certainly winding up his last year with us in a blaze of glory.

BY SCORE 6-2

Mackie and Webb Get Homers For Tar Heels Runs.

GIRLS ADD COLOR TO GAME

Sapp Pitches Excellent Game for Duncanites Until Relieved in Eighth—Record-Breaking Crowd.

Before a record-breaking crowd estimated at 5,200, the Tar Heels went down in defeat by the attack of the Virginia Cavaliers in Greensboro Saturday to the tune of 6 to 2. The game which was one of the most exciting that has been played by the Tar Heel aggregation this season, gave the Virginians the series by a 2 to 1 count.

Sapp and Darlington, hurlers for the two teams, worked one of the prettiest games of the year. Thirteen safe swats were registered by both teams, the Tar Heels getting eight of this total. Odell Sapp allowed the Cavaliers only four hits but dished out five free passes to first. His balls had the break to them that kept the Virginians guessing, however, they were able to solve them when hits were needed, and all four of the safeties registered counted for runs. Fred Darlington, who occupied the mound for the Cavaliers, allowed the Tar Heels eight safeties, but it was not until the final frame that the Duncanites registered in the run column. Four-baggers by Mackie and Webb, prevented a shut-out for the Cavalier pitching ace.

The batting honors of the day were won by Mackie with two doubles and a home run out of four trips to the rubber. His first swat came in the fourth frame after Sides had rolled out, pitcher to first, and Hatley had whiffed at three, but he died on the second sack when Tom Young skied out to center. His second double came in the seventh stanza. He was first hitter to face Darlington in that inning, but he died on the second sack again when Young grounded out to short, Webb flew out to center, and Dodderer rolled out to third. His homer came in the ninth inning and produced the first Tar Heel marker.

Webb, Tenny, and Hatley were the only three Tar Heels who connected with Darlington's offering for safe swats. Webb smashed out a stinging single to deep center in the second inning but was caught when he attempted to pilfer the second sack. His four-bagger in the ninth inning produced the final (Continued from page four)

Students Interested in Discussion of All Religions Form Club.

"PARSON" MOSS DIRECTS

Members Meet Weekly for Discussions—New Organization Unique in Purpose.

By JACK CROW
An unique departure from the usual run of college organizations has recently been organized here. Several students who call themselves "Agnostics, Atheists, Deists, and Golly Men" have begun a club for the sole purpose of discussing religion in all its forms. "Parson" Moss, pastor of the Chapel Hill Presbyterian church, has consented to be present at these meetings and give the students the benefit of his learning and advice.

The club has no official name. The students say that they don't care what it is called, so long as it is not referred to as a "Bible class." Not only the Bible, but the Koran, the Vedas of (Continued on page four)
