

GIMGHOULS LODGE IS NEARING COMPLETION

The future home of the Gimghouls, which is being built on Piny Prospect, is nearing completion. Already the massive walls of the Hippo Castle have risen to a commanding height, and the observation tower, together with the stair tower, will be finished sometime within the next two or three weeks.

This unique structure has attracted a number of visitors from neighboring cities and the Gimghouls are being congratulated not only on the site chosen for their new home, but on the imposing castle they have built.

OAG RIDGE WINS FROM FROSH 4-2

one run that the freshmen pushed over didn't do any good. Both teams hit well, but the feature stick work of the day was contributed by Durham, the visiting first sacker. This slugger found Ingram for three hits out of three trips to the plate, and one of his hits cleared the fence in right field for a home run. Johnson also hit a homer for the visitors.

Williams played the best game for the Tar Babies. He accepted five chances in the field without a bobble and turned in a homer and a single for his share of the stickwork. Fred Beam returned to his old position behind the bat after an absence of several weeks, due to a sore foot, and the big receiver got two bingles that sent in runs.

GERMAN CLUB TO GIVE DANCES AFTER EXAMS

The final dances of the U. N. C. German Club will be held June 8, 9, and 10, according to a report from that Club. These dances are always the most fastidious of social functions that are held on the "Hill", and are looked forward to with much pleasant anticipation by the members of the Club.

The music for the dances will be rendered by two of the best orchestras in the South. The Carolina Club orchestra of Greensboro will probably furnish the music for the first two dances on the night of June 8 and the day of June 9, while the Jan Garber orchestra of Coral Gables, an old Carolina favorite, will in all probability furnish the music for the final dances on the nights of June 9 and 10.

Officials of the German Club issue special warning to its members who have not paid their initiation fees and all freshman who wish to join the Club, to pay their dues before May 15 if they wish to attend the final dances. Gordon Weeks is the secretary and treasurer of the Club and all fees should be forwarded to him at once.

FRIENDSHIP COUNCIL HAS BANQUET FRIDAY

Carolina Y. M. C. A. as the "mother of the Council, its aid and support; a fellow's true friend and helper, the University's greatest asset." In response to this toast, Tom Pearsall, of the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, spoke of the Freshman Friendship Council as the "forefinger of the hand of the Y. M. C. A.," and praised the work of the Council this year. The lively jokes given by Joe Bobbitt contributed a great deal to the evening's entertainment.

At the outset of his address, Mr. Meyer said that he had expected to deliver an extended serious talk, and try to give the members of the Council some thoughts that would do them good, but that was because he had been wisened as to the mood in which the program was to be given, and instead, he would try to follow the lighter vein. However, after an introduction of wit and a humorous sketch, he gave the Council a beautiful talk and illustration of the need and value of leadership for every undertaking in our country, the world, and on the Carolina campus. He pointed out the fact that education and training is necessary for the making of good leaders, and that the thought and life of these men would be the guiding influence of the entire generation. He placed confidence in the present young generation, and his talk was an encouragement to the youth of today to train themselves for leadership, to look into the sunshine of life, for the Council to continue in the work that would make for leadership, and to know and believe that "God's in his heaven; all's right with the world."

The menu, served in four course, consisted of grapefruit cocktail, celery, olives, tenderloin steak, julienne potatoes, green peas, lettuce and tomato salad, rolls, coffee, ice cream, and cake. Harmonicas, clown caps, fans, joke boxes, toy pistols, and a variety of noise makers were given the guests as favors. The color scheme of white and pink was carried out in the decorations for the table and hall, which combined with the gowns of the girls and the tuxedos of the boys to make the affair one of the gayest that has yet graced the main dining hall of the Carolina Inn.

CHASE ADDRESSES ALUMNI GROUPS

at Charlotte May 7. These appointments carry him to every section of the state. The alumni association at each of these places plays the part of host to the nearby alumni, thus enabling these points to become a rallying center for all the alumni in that territory. In this manner, leading alumni throughout the state will have an opportunity to receive from President Chase his own interpretation of the important things happening in University life, and his challenge for the future.

Mr. Daniel Grant, General Alumni Secretary, accompanied Dr. Chase on several of his trips. While in Morganton, they were honored by a luncheon given by the Burke county alumni. Preliminary plans for the organization of the Burke county alumni were made, and Mr. R. O. Huffman was appointed temporary chairman. During President Chase's visit to Asheville, he addressed the boys of the high school as well as the Alumni Association. He also made a trip to Wildcat, where he inspected the summer assembly ground of the Mount Mitchell Association of Arts and Sciences, of which Dr. Thomas Nixon, celebrated novelist, is president. Dr. Chase, together with other prominent men of America, is a member of the advisory board of this association. Theta Kappa (Nu) Fraternity announces the initiation of Wallace Leary of Winston, James Paul of Erika, and Harry James of Ahoskie.

CHASE WILL SPEAK AT STATE COLLEGE MAY 12

To Deliver Principal Address At Annual Celebration of State College Scholarship Day, At Raleigh.

Dr. Harry W. Chase, President of the University of North Carolina, will make the principal address at State College Scholarship Day, which is to be celebrated May 12.

An annual Scholarship Day at State College has been inaugurated under the auspices of the Pine Burr Society and Phi Kappa Phi. The present plan is to set aside one day every year for the purpose of bringing the importance of high scholastic standards before the students of the institution.

In addition to Dr. Chase, the principal speaker of the day, there will be invited representatives from the chapters of Phi Beta Kappa at Carolina, Duke, and Davidson. The names of the members of the honorary societies and fraternities and the names of other students having a high scholastic standing will be read. All organizations having trophies or cups to award will do so on that day. The exercises will be held in Pullen Hall and will continue from 11 o'clock until 1 o'clock. All classes will be suspended during this time.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT CLOSE SATURDAY

with Rogers, who defeated Elgin, of Carolina, Brown, of Davidson, and Carr, of Davidson. Whitener won the state championship in the singles five years ago and should win over Rogers because of his experience.

Whitener and Rogers were decidedly off form in the doubles finals. Rogers could not get his service going as in previous games. He had the hardest serve of any man in the tournament but was a little weak in the court game. Whitener was also out of his usual playing style; he didn't seem to be able to place his shots with his usual accuracy or get his chop-stroke going. However, McCutcheon and Carr took advantage of many miscues to annex the title. Frequent errors were made by both sides with the odds favoring the Davidsonians. Time after time they would volley back and forth only for one of the players to drive the ball out of the court or into the net. "Mac" and Carr would often draw their opponents up to the net only to put a well-placed drive past them.

The Tar Heels' captain, Whitaker, after a hard battle with Agelasto, of Wake Forest, gave Whitener a mean struggle before he was eliminated. Both of these men had at one time held the singles championship of North Carolina and were well experienced in the art. But the sorrel-topped Dukemen had the advantage over "Hap" because of his superior height and strength, but "Hap" made up for it by his indomitable fighting spirit. Whitaker had a beautiful drive and it was a great factor in his game. The other Carolina players were eliminated in the second and third round of the tournament. It must be said, however, that the Tar Heels gave the other boys a long and hard scrap before they relinquished their hold on the tournament. A total of six institutions were represented at the tournament. They were Duke University, Davidson College, Wake Forest College, Guilford College, Lenoir-Rhyne College, and the University of North Carolina.

NORTHERN CAPITALISTS BUY ASHEVILLE SCHOOL The Asheville School for Boys, which yearly sends Carolina a large delegation of students, has recently been sold. Its owner and headmaster, Mr. Anderson, has retired, and the school has been purchased by Mr. Walter P. Fraser and a group of Pittsburgh associates for $1,500,000. Mr. Fraser says that there will be no change in the faculty or the instruction save in the placing of a greater emphasis on idealism in the religious education. This school is of interest to University students both because it is the only one of its kind in the South and because it has sent so many excellent men to Carolina. It is similar to such Northern schools as Exeter and Tonic and is the only representative of that class of schools south of Maryland. Among the men it has sent to Carolina, and who have played an important part in University activities are: George Stephens, Byron Glenn, Julius Adams, William Schaeffer, Frank Cox, Sam Fisher, Tom Chesborough, Parmelee Ward, Burnham Colburn, and many others. Mr. Fraser, the new owner and headmaster, is greatly interested in the almost phenomenal growth and prosperity of North Carolina.
