TAR BABIES AND DUKE FROSH HERE MAY 12

Game Tomorrow Afternoon Will Decide Winner of Series—Hard Hitting of Lowe's Charges Auspicious.

The Carolina freshmen meet the Duke first year nine here Wednesday afternoon. The teams have already met twice this season and the games were divided; so the winner of Wednesday's encounter will also be the winner of the series. Both teams are especially anxious to annex this contest and it is sure to be a nip and tuck affair throughout.

The way the Tar Babies slugged the ball on their recent tour of Virginia gives them a slight edge in the pre-game dope, but they are not taking the Duke yearlings lightly and will be expecting some stiff opposition from them Wednesday. No matter who wins, the Little Blue Devil hurler that faces the Tar Babies' gang of ball assaulters is sure to spend a strenuous afternoon.

WIND GIVES LECTURE ON REMBRANDT FRIDAY

Captivate Audience With Delightful Lecture and Slides in Portrayal of The Famous Artist's Works.

In one of the most interesting and most instructive lectures of the year, Dr. Edgar Wind captivated his goodly sized audience at Phillips Hall Friday evening. The subject of the lecture was Rembrandt, the master artist. Slides were shown in connection with the lecture. The talk, lasting only an hour and a half, was crammed full of enough startling disclosures to have placed a real lover of art in a heaven of delight.

Dr. Wind first dealt with Rembrandt and the effects his feelings and life left on his paintings. He then turned on the lights and projected a series of lantern slides, showing pictures of Rembrandt painted by the artist himself at different stages of his life. The lecturer clearly pointed out in the slides the different phases of hardships or luxury exemplified in the contours of the face. He noted some of the many characteristics of Rembrandt found hidden in the pictures, such as the unusual contrast of black and white colors and the wonderful shadows betrayed in the faces.

Rembrandt's finest religious pictures were thrown on the screen and clearly explained by the lecturer. Following this were several interesting true to life pictures known as group portraits. Rembrandt's most outstanding characterizations of old women preceded the final glimpse of a series of beautiful landscapes and action picturization. The lecturer concluded with some well pointed explanation of how simple it is to distinguish the actual Rembrandt works from the imitation. He described the method used in taking pictures painted by unknown authors and verifying the authorship merely by a few evident characterizations.

Dr. Wind accomplished this feat with remarkable smoothness and power.

The Acacia Fraternity entertained with an enjoyable informal party at the chapter house Saturday evening in honor of the initiates taken in Friday night. A number of Chapel Hill people attended the affair as well as a few out of town visitors. The guests danced and played bridge until nearly midnight. During the evening delicious refreshments, nuts and sandwiches were served.

The men initiated Friday night were E. M. Johnson, of Murphy, and C. R. Stroupe, of Crossnore.

COOPER RAPS PHI FOR ITS LETHARGY

Ancient Assembly for Lack of Tangible Accomplishments.

ASKS FOR MANY REFORMS
Other Business Comes Up At Regular Session Saturday Evening.

One of the most striking inaugural addresses was presented by Speaker Cooper at the meeting of the Phi Assembly, Saturday evening.

"There has been nothing tangible accomplished by the Phi this year," he said. "The old glory of this Assembly is only a memory that has neither aided us nor provided inspiration for the present." The days when men gloried in high-flown sentiments and debates ended in fistic combats are past, he declared. We are undeniably less interested in speaking than our parents were, the speaker observed.

He advocated an entire reformation of the Assembly's machinery and new changes and amendments to the constitution in keeping with the present. It is necessary for everyone to co-operate to the formation of a real, functioning organization, he declared. Only in this way can the real purpose of the Society be realized and real benefit derived from it, he concluded.

A motion was introduced by Nash Johnston to the effect that each member be compelled to make a speech at a stipulated time in order to increase interest in oratory. He said that the society has failed to provide adequate experience in this form of self-expression, which is so important to the development of a forceful speaker.

Messrs. Lewis, Nde, Harrel and Mathews favored this plan with a slight change in wording, in that all members forced to speak should be from the Freshmen class. This motion was tabled until next meeting in order to be revised.

Another motion, "moved that next year's dues of the Assembly at one dollar and a half per quarter to be collected by the manner adopted last meeting, initiating fees to remain at three dollars payable at the end of quarter, in which initiated." As a quorum was not present, this was also tabled until the next meeting.

Plans were discussed for a smoker to be given for the members before the end of the quarter.

Registration For Summer School Large At Present

Approximately five hundred students have expressed their intention, according to Director N. W. Walker, of attending the first, second, or both sessions of summer school by reserving rooms in University dormitories, and attending to preliminary registration. It is expected that one thousand or more will send in applications before the first session, which begins June 11.

In previous summer schools the majority of the students entered for the purpose of obtaining teacher's certificates, but most of the applications received to date reveal that the applicants intend to study for college degrees.

MISS SMEDES GIVES ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY

Miss Henrietta R. Smedes gave a delightful organ recital at the Chapel of the Cross Sunday afternoon, at five o'clock.

Either the rain or the seeming natural antipathy of the Carolina student toward any kind of music other than a jazz orchestra caused only a small audience to be present; but those who were present enjoyed Miss Smedes' pleasing rendition of six musical numbers. Her program was as follows:

- Minnetta Calkin
- Prelude and Fugue, M major Mendelssohn
- The Minster Bells Wheeldon
- Lyric Theme from Symphonie Pathetique
- Pathetique Tchaikovsky
- (Transcribed by Lemare)
- Scherzo Symphonique Concertant Faulkes
- Sunrise Karg-Elert

ANNOUNCE WINNERS IN FRENCH CONTEST SOON

The first annual French contest was held on April 29. Sixty-eight high schools throughout the state competed and one thousand four hundred and twelve students took part in the contest.

Each school sent its three best papers to the University and they are now being graded by members of the University Faculty of the French department. The winners will be announced within a few days and a trophy cup will be presented to the winning school for a permanent possession.

The contest is being held under the auspices of the French department of the University and the University Extension Division. E. R. Rankin, of the Extension Division, says that these contests are proving most satisfactory and that the high schools of the state are very much interested in them.

THE RECKLESS LADY

A heart drama of absorbing interest, "The Reckless Lady," with an all-star cast will be shown on the screen of the Pick today. It is a quadruple love story with a mother-love angle of intense pathos, beautifully photographed and cleverly acted.

Colonel Fleming leaves his wife, convinced that she has given her heart to Boris, a Russian. Mrs. Fleming retains her baby Sylvia. Years later, when she has become a reckless player at Monte Carlo, Boris reappears and tries to get the daughter into his clutches. A startling surprise climax is attained.

Belle Bennett, Lois Moran, James Kirkwood, Lowell Sherman, Ben Lyon are featured, with several other players of note in support.

She gambled and lost uncomplainingly, but with love at stake, fought as only a woman can.

STUDENT CONFERENCE PLANS ARE UNDERWAY

Blue Ridge Conference from June 15 to 24 Will Be Host to Eminent Speakers and Educators.

The annual campaign for delegates from Carolina to attend the Southern Student Conference at Blue Ridge, June 15 to 24, 1926, is now underway. The campaign is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., and it is the aim of the "Y" to send a delegation this year that will uphold the record Carolina holds for sending the largest delegations to the conference.

Byron Glenn, chairman of the Blue Ridge committee of the Y. M. C. A., states that many of the campus leaders and officers of the campus organizations are planning to attend the conference this summer. Any student of Carolina is eligible to attend.

The Southern Student Conference is held each summer for ten days at Blue Ridge under the auspices of the Blue Ridge Association. More than 600 students and professors from 100 southern colleges meet there for instruction, training, and fellowship, which has always been of great value toward making real progress toward raising the moral, social, and intellectual standards of the students attending and the colleges represented. This year some of America's leading speakers will be on the program. Sherwood Eddy, Mordecai Johnson, W. D. Weatherford, Tom Graham, W. E. Uphaus, J. Stitt Wilson, who made a favorable impression on Carolina students this winter, and many others of like character will be in charge of the meetings of the conference.

The program of the conference will include Bible Study, discussions of Student Problems, Lectures, Life Work Institutes, Addresses on Opportunities for Life Investment, and a variety of forms of recreation. The recreational program will be in charge of a leading Southern college coach. This will not only include organized climbs and hikes, but such athletic contests as tennis, volley ball, baseball, track, and swimming.

DAVIE WOODS

A Beautiful tract of woodland on the edge of Chapel Hill, on both sides of the Chapel Hill to Durham Paved Highway, to be opened to Home builders

Many purchasers have already recognized the rare quality of Chapel Hill as a place to live in—its trees and grass and flowers, its equable climate, its healthfulness, its easy accessibility from the rest of the State, its educational advantages, and its unusually rich program of entertainments and amusements such as lectures, concerts, drama, and athletic games.

Parents are recognizing it as the nearest approach to an ideal community in which to bring up their children; and families are moving here, in ever increasing number, to establish their homes.

Building activity is incessant. Get into an automobile and drive through the village and its outskirts—and everywhere you see homes rising. It is significant that this construction goes steadily on, unaffected by the changes in general business conditions throughout the state. As the center of North Carolina's system of public education, Chapel Hill rests upon a solid foundation.
