The University Law School practically doubled its registration of first year men this year over that of last year. Up to Saturday at noon 61 first year men had registered as compared with 33 first year men last year. The School now has 95 enrolled among them being 61 first year men; 20 second year men; 14 third year men.

Prof. Atwell Campbell McIntosh, A. M., LL.D., is the acting dean to replace Dean M. L. Ferson, who resigned to go to the University of Cincinnati Law School last June.

The following new members have been added to the faculty during the summer:

Quite a few changes have been made in the School of Commerce during the summer months. The School has outgrown its location on the second floor of Saunders Hall and is located on the first floor of the same building. Dean Carroll now has his offices located in the East end of Saunders Hall in the rooms formerly occupied by Dr. Odum.

Several new members have been added to the faculty. Among them are the following:

N. C. CLUB PLANS ITS YEAR'S WORK

"The Problem of Democracy in North Carolina" Will Be Subject of Series

MEETS ON MONDAY NIGHTS

The North Carolina Club will hold its first meeting of the new year on Monday night, September 27, in room 112 Saunders Hall. The meeting is limited to one hour, and will begin promptly at 7:30.

This club has had a long and notable history and has rendered service and gained reputation far beyond the borders of the campus. It is devoted to a study of current economic, social, and civic problems of the state. At each meeting a member will read a paper dealing with some important state problem. This is followed by a half hour of discussion in which all members may participate. The object of the club is to furnish to such students as desire it an opportunity to keep abreast with the economic and social problems of the state.

The topics for this year deal primarily with political and governmental questions, and the series has been named "The Problems of Democracy in North Carolina."

On the opening night a part of the hour will be devoted to reorganization for the ensuing year. There will be a short talk given by Prof. R. D. W. Connor in which he will explain the history and purpose of the club and say something about the current year's program. Dr. Branson will then discuss "The Qualities of a Good Citizen," which is the first topic on the year's program.

The following is a list of the proposed topics to be discussed this year:

- Sept. 27 The Qualities of a Good Citizen.
- Oct. 11 Education for Citizenship.
- Oct. 25 Educating for Public Service.
- Nov. 8 Woman's New Place in Public Life.

100 MEN OUT FOR TAR BABY SQUAD

Coaches Belding, Pritchett, and Quinlan Put Freshmen Through Their Paces

SCHEDULE UNCOMPLETED

Over one hundred men have reported to Coaches Belding and Pritchett as candidates for the Carolina freshman football team. Practice started about a week ago, and since then the squad has been growing by leaps and bounds. On Monday, uniforms were issued to over ninety men, and others are still out in track suits or old clothes.

The freshmen present a very interesting spectacle as they swarm over Frosh field. It is not a very easy task to control such a large number of men, but Coaches Belding and Pritchett, ably assisted by Quinlan, have certainly performed wonders with their men. At four o'clock, or thereabouts, the men are all called together and then formed into a huge circle whose edges reach the most remote parts of the field. They are led through a complete set of exercises by Coach Belding. The men keep together very nicely and look particularly good when they sprawl out on the ground and perform various leg exercises.

After the exercises, they are divided up into teams and are instructed in the simple fundamentals of the game. Monday, the Coaches introduced their players to a few simple plays, and then the various teams ran through these plays. An odd feature that appears about this time is the manner in which the teams shift in the different plays. Every player counts aloud as they shift and they all land in their places with perfect harmony. Few well trained troupes could drill with more precision than the frosh as they move together in time to their counting.

Quite a bunch of famous high and prep school athletes may be seen on the field, but as to whether or not this year's team will be another wonder eleven is a matter of modest conjecture. They have a pretty hard task before them if they expect to maintain the standard set by last year's aggregation. The complete freshman schedule for this year will be published in a later edition of the TAR HEEL.

COACHES WHIPPING LARGE SQUAD INTO SHAPE FOR BAPTIST GAME

Uncertainty as to Who Will Fill Varsity Positions in Saturday's Encounter is Cause of Much Speculation On the Part of Football Dopesters

Only two more days before the annual Carolina-Wake Forest football game will become a thing of the past. No one can safely predict the outcome of Saturday's game, as little or nothing is known about the comparative strength of both elevens. Both teams are getting their first taste of different styles of play, and whether or not the teachings of Collins, Cerney, Fetzer, and Ashmore will triumph over the teachings of Baldwin, Wake Forest mentor, at Gore field Saturday, is only a matter of mild conjecture.

Sixteen days is not a very long time in which to drill a mob of men into a style of play different from any they have ever used before. That is the task of Carolina's new coaches have been trying to perform behind

NEW SCHOOL TO TEACH RELIGION

Dr. Workman to Conduct Three Classes Biblical Subjects this Quarter

IN METHODIST CHURCH

An interdenominational school of religion has been established in Chapel Hill. The Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Disciple, and Episcopal churches and the University Y. M. C. A. are interested in the project. The Rev. Mims Thornburgh Workman formerly pastor of the Methodist church at Little Rock, Ark., is the acting dean and Professor of biblical history and literature in the new school which was chartered May 12, 1926, as "The School of Religion at Chapel Hill."

The Rev. Workman is well fitted by his high attainments in scholarship and religion and by his striking personality to occupy the position to which he has been elected. Mr. Workman has spent five years as a student and instructor at the Southern Methodist University at Dallas. While there he organized the undergraduate department of religion. At the time he left the school, this department was employing three full time instructors. He is the son of Dr. J. M. Workman, retiring president of Henderson-Brown College.

The School of Religion is a new venture in inter-denominational cooperation. The school was incorporated recently, the purpose of the corporation being set forth as "the teaching of courses in the study of the Bible and religion, especially Christianity, at Chapel Hill." The corporation is entirely separate from the University, but after the first quarter of the present year the University will be asked to give credit for courses in the School toward the B. A. degree.

Mr. Workman is very enthusiastic over the School of Religion here and says that he will be glad to talk to any group of students who wish a regular course or some special work in Bible. All classes of the School this quarter are being conducted in the Methodist church annex on the second floor. During the winter quarter the classes will be held in the Baptist church and in the Episcopal church during the spring quarter.

In the meantime, address all copy to Box 770, Chapel Hill, N. C.

FIRST MEETING OF DI IS HELD

Phi and Di to Have a "Society Day" Tuesday—Jonas Elected President

INITIATION TUESDAY NIGHT

Donald Jonas, '27, of Lincoln, was installed as President of the Dialectic Society for the fall quarter at the Di's first meeting of the year Tuesday night, September 21.

A score of old men were present when the acting Speaker, Senator Crowell, called the meeting to order. Senator Jonas then received his oath of office, Senator Crissman presiding while he made his inaugural speech.

Jonas reminded the Senate that the existing decline of the societies can only be remedied by building from a new and firm foundation, in other words, by getting the present freshman class sincerely and wholeheartedly interested in the society. To this purpose he intends to devote his own abilities and that of his administration.

The new plan for interesting the freshmen, which is mainly the work of Senator Kennett, was then explained. The Di and Phi are to cooperate in a campaign for members which is to culminate in a "Society Day" at chapel next Tuesday. The freshmen will then be issued cards on which they may signify their intention of joining one of the societies, and will be requested to appear for initiation that night.

Senator Hudgins then introduced an amendment to the constitution. This was to the effect that the temporary change in the meeting night made last spring from Saturday to Tuesday be made permanent. This was referred to the committee on the constitution.

Senator Kennett introduced a bill prohibiting the canvassing of the dormitories for commercial purposes. This bill will be discussed at the next meeting. The Senate then adjourned.

Graduate School Meets

There will be a meeting of the entire Graduate School in the Episcopal Parish House Friday night at 7:30. At this meeting the Graduate Club will be organized, and officers will be elected for the coming year.

President Harry W. Chase and Dr. W. W. Pierson, Jr., will be the principal speakers of the evening. After the program, light refreshments will be served.

Every graduate student is expected to attend this first meeting of the year.

CHAPPELL WARNS STUDENTS ABOUT LIQUOR DRINKING

Imbibing Off the Campus Will Also be Tried and Punished by Student Council

PHONOGRAPHS ARE SILENT

S. G. Chappell, President of the Student Body, in a speech at chapel exercises Tuesday, September 22, definitely stated the position to be taken by the Student Council on the problem of drinking, on and off the campus, by Carolina men.

In opening, he stated that it was his duty, from time to time, to make known the general policies of the council to the student body. Satisfied that the response of the student body on the question of hazing would continue to be satisfactory, he contented himself with just a passing mention of this subject.

Then, observing the general proneness of the human race to alcohol, he saw the university as no abnormal exception. But, he continued, we, as a responsible body of the finest youth of the state, should see to it that the law of the land, of the state and of the campus is observed. Search of the records showed that in 1916 the council resolved to act against any act committed by a student, which was detrimental to the University. In the past, disgraceful cases of drinking had been reported from Durham, Greensboro, and other neighboring cities. This year the council will assume the trial and punishment of such offenses. This was no new departure from student government tradition on the campus.

Mention was also made of the lack of consideration showed by the men who play their phonographs or other musical instruments late at night.

FIRST PHI MEETING IS HELD TUESDAY

Assembly Housed in Law Building—New Constitution Under Way

Before a very few of their interested members, a business meeting of the Phi Assembly was held Tuesday night in the first year class room of the law building. This must serve as the headquarters of the Assembly until the reconstruction of New West building.

With the formation of a new constitution that is now under way, it was further decided that the ceremonies of the initiation used heretofore are slightly antiquated and in need of a renovation. A committee was appointed, composed of Walter Kelley, chairman, R. M. Hardee and W. H. Strickland, to formulate a new plan of initiation.
