Tar Heels Lose Saturday's Game to Wake Forest; 13-0

ON BAPTISTS' FIELD

Demon Deacons Win 3rd Game
Straight from Carolina by Rackley's Passes

NOTRE DAME SYSTEM USED

Three years ago, the Demon Deacons got their first taste of victory over Carolina, and they liked it so well that Saturday at Wake Forest they lived true to form and registered their third straight win by a score of 13 to 0. The margin of victory was the largest Wake Forest has ever experienced over their ancient rivals.

Eight thousand fans packed the new Wake Forest Natural Bowl, and in the heat of a blazing sun watched twenty-two perspiring warriors clash against one another in their valiant attempts to ward off the attacks of one another.

New System Not a Failure

The drubbing administered at the hands of the Baptists cannot be called the failure of the new Notre Dame system being inaugurated at Chapel Hill this year by Coaches Collins, Cerney, Fetzer and Ashmore. Wake Forest had six of their last year's regular team in the lineup, while the Tar Heels were blessed with only three real veterans. Wake Forest played head-up football, and deserved their victory.

The Carolina Coaches made twenty-six substitutions and at one time sent practically an entire new line and a whole new backfield into the fray. In exact contrast to this method was the plan used by Wake Forest of sending new men. Up until the last few minutes of the fourth quarter only two substitutions had been made by Baldwin. This in itself is a tribute to the splendid condition in which the Deacons had placed themselves.

Stars of the Game

If one man had been absent from that sweltering mass of players, there might have been a different story to tell in today's TAR HEEL. That man was Captain Rackley, Wake Forest's brilliant quarterback. The accuracy of his arm in passing, his ability to return punts and punting—all these sounded the death knell of Carolina's hopes as far as a win over the Baptists was concerned. Aiding their Captain in every way were Riley, Emmerson, and Ober at halfback.

The Carolina thrill providers were nearly all in the line. Carolina displayed that she has one

Junior Smoker Tonight

Class of '28 to Have Get-together
This Evening at Swain Hall

The Junior Class will usher in the new school year with a get-together meeting tonight at 9:00. It will be on the order of the Senior Smoker which was held last night. The primary object of this smoker is to get everybody acquainted. Later in the quarter a program will be put on to dispose of the business interests of the class. Tonight there will be plenty of food and entertainment.

The Sophomore and Freshmen classes will also give a smoker on Wednesday and Thursday nights, respectively, at the same time.

HE STARRED

Captain Whisnant was at his best Saturday and several times broke through the Deacons' line to throw runners for losses.

DI AND PHI HAVE AMBITIOUS PLANS

Campaign for New Members to Begin at Chapel Exercises
This Morning

THE 2 MAY AMALGAMATE

This year will witness a revival of life and spirit in the Di and Phi societies characterized by the inauguration of more modern policies and a greater fund of enthusiasm and interest, according to a member of the Phi assembly. This new plan consists in the abandonment of the former conservatism and the adoption of highly modern ideas. The discussions will center about campus problems which are of vital interest to the entire student body and should attract a larger membership to the Societies.

An enthusiastic campaign for new members, which is to be launched in chapel this morning, marks the departure from the former method of allowing those desiring membership to seek out the Society. Now, acting in accordance with the latest ideas of efficiency and advertising, the Societies will select their own members and will go out upon the campus in search of the most desirable ones. New men will be given the chance of making application to the Di or the Phi, and from these applicants the most promising are to be chosen as members.

A new society hall for the Phi is being built in the renovation of New East. This hall, to be completely furnished by the University, will present a very suitable meeting place.

A committee has been appointed by each society to aid the other in creating a new interest and in getting new members.

If all these plans for a successful year fall short of their expectations, the two societies are considering amalgamation into one body, it is understood. In short, they plan to carry out any undertaking which will provide for a more successful and a better-working organization.

TIMEN'S PLAYERS HERE THIS WEEK

"He Who Gets Slapped" Be Presented by Playhouse
Friday and Saturday

SKETCH OF PLAY THEME

He Who Gets Slapped by Leonid Andreyev which is to be given here Friday and Saturday of this week in the Playmaker Theatre by the Playhouse of Asheville is a play with a simple theme but generally conceded to be a play full of deep and profound philosophy.

The play deals with the life of "He", a man of high education and of great mental achievement, who leaves life, willingly in appearance, but forcibly in fact. He becomes a clown and performs stunts; he gets slapped; the public laughs, being unaware that this laughter is a mockery at itself, at its culture, at its achievement.

The characters are depicted with a bitter sarcasm and unfriendliness, for Andreyev seems to have lost his faith in man. His characters are only stray rays of light out of place in the world and even in the world-circus which is full of spiders, champagne, and human outcasts. Andreyev does not blame these outcasts. On the contrary, he feels sympathy, if for anybody, for these clowns, jugglers and bareback riders; but life—this strange combination of fate, accident and cowardly slander—is stronger, and they collapse under the burden of this combination.

The play is directed by John W. Timen, a director of skill in bringing out the emotions of the actors and whose philosophy embraces the idea that there are no small parts but only small actors. With this in mind he has directed He Who Gets Slapped and made of it a play with a well balanced cast as well as a thing of beauty.

SUCCESS OF "Y" FINANCE PLAN ASSURED BY GOOD COLLECTIONS

The new plan for financing the yearly program of the Y. M. C. A. has already surpassed any previous "Y" finance plan, and has practically solved the problem of securing "Y" pledges and collecting them. Yesterday, the last day given for the payment of the University bills, only 486 pledges had been paid in, but a total of $1,260.50 had been collected, more than was paid in to the Y. M. C. A. by students from September to June last year.

These pledges represent less than 50 per cent of the total of students who pledged subscriptions, although the pledges are past due, but it is expected that the remaining number will be paid in to the "Y" desk in the treasurer's office within the next week.

Last year the students subscribed $1,187 to the Y. M. C. A. The faculty responded generously, donating $368.00, the alumni subscribed $520 during the year; and it is hoped that the same amount will come from these sources this year. The university makes an annual appro-

PLANS FINISHED FOR NEW SYSTEM OF CHEERLEADERS

Pres. Chase, Fetzer, Woollen,
and Major Campus Groups
Indorse New System

TO BE CALLED "CHEERIOS"

A new organization takes its place upon the campus this week, an organization sponsored by President Chase, Head Coach Bob Fetzer, Graduate Manager Woollen and every important existing group. This newcomer is a thoroughly organized cheering unit of 250 men, to be known as "The Cheerios."

This unit will sit in a special section on the 50 yard line at every game and will act as a leading unit for the entire student body, in the execution of all yells, drills, and stunts. Each Cheerio will wear a regulation cheering uniform and will carry a blue and white 7-inch megaphone strapped around his shoulders. This megaphone will be presented to each man with his initials on it, together with a card of membership. A picture of the group will be put in the Yackety Yack, and each member will be allowed to list the organization after his name as a campus activity.

The work of organization will go on this week and rehearsals will occupy next week. The first appearance of the Cheerios will take place at the game with the University of South Carolina.

The cheering unit will be divided into squads, each squad having a student leader. The following men have volunteered to serve as leaders of the squads: Lawrence Watt, Walter Chrisman, "Red" Smith, Sid Chappell, and others. With such men as group leaders, success from the standpoint of backing and morale is assured. Membership will be open to all students. The time and place of enrollment will be announced later.

Such an organized cheering unit is conceded by all to be the best possible way of securing cheering which will be a credit to the school and to its teams.

SIX NEW MEN ON TAR HEEL STAFF

Several Reporters Either Fail to Return or Resign
from Staff

BOBBITT ASSIGNMENT MAN

Due to the fact that some of the members of the staff of THE TAR HEEL failed to return this fall and the occurrence of the resignations of several others since their return; six new men have been added to the staff.

J. R. Bobbitt, Jr., has been promoted from the general staff to Assignment Editor. Miss Ruth Hatch has been lost to THE TAR HEEL by her marriage during the summer. R. P. McConnell and J. W. Moore failed to return. H. C. Lay and J. A. Spruill have resigned because they did not have time to do the amount of work required to stay on the staff.

The new members of the staff are W. E. Kindley, Jr., D. T. Seiwel, D. S. Gardner, J. Shohan, W. H. Strickland, and Glenn P. Holder. Holder, a freshman, was chosen to cover the chapel beat as only freshmen go to chapel every day. He was formerly Editor-in-Chief of High Life, Greensboro High School student newspaper, which was adjudged the best high school paper in the United States last year. He also reported for the Greensboro Daily Record. The upperclassmen chosen have previously done work for THE TAR HEEL. Several other men are being held in reserve and may be called into service at any time. Regular try-outs for the staff are held in the spring. A co-ed will be added to the staff in a few days.

HENDERSON WRITES SERIES OF ARTICLES

Will Write Sunday Series on N. C.
History for Greensboro News

Dr. Archibald Henderson, of the University faculty, is to write a series of Sunday articles for the Greensboro Daily News on North Carolina history. These articles will deal with North Carolina's claims to historical greatness, her influence upon the history of the nation, and her outstanding leaders. They will take up the famous characters and events of North Carolina history, and also the cultural, literary, and scientific contributions of the state to the nation.

These articles are the result of a great deal of research and study on the part of Dr. Henderson, and they bring out many points in the history of the state which have hitherto been obscure. After their publication in the Daily News they will be published in book form and will add another volume to North Carolina history.

The first article, to be published Sunday, October 3, concerns the birthplace of Andrew Jackson. This point has long been debated, but now Dr. Henderson offers what is considered to be absolute proof that Andrew Jackson was born in North Carolina.

NOTICE

All men in the advertising department of the Tar Heel are requested to meet Baron Holmes and Kenneth Jones at the office between 2:00 and 3:00 today.

UNIVERSITY WILL ASK LEGISLATURE FOR $4,640,000

Executive Committee Decides on Appropriations Request for Various Objects

MET IN RALEIGH FRIDAY

Appropriations amounting to $4,640,000 will be asked for by the University of North Carolina from the coming general assembly, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the trustees of the University, held in Raleigh, September 24.

Of this amount $2,383,000 is for permanent improvements, $1,111,000 for maintenance in 1927-28, and $1,146,000 for maintenance during the sessions of 1928-29.

A new library building to cost $861,700 is the largest item on the list of permanent improvements. This building is to be located about the center of the campus, and it is to be the first construction begun.

Two new dormitories, H and I are to be built at a cost of $240,000 and a new Gymnasium at a cost of $350,000 to replace the old Bynum Gymnasium. The last new building on the list is a classroom building estimated to cost $200,000.

Other items on the proposed list of permanent improvements are:

New West renovation	$100,000
Wing of Phillips Hall	55,000
Wing on Peabody	120,000
Departmental equipment	85,000
Grounds improvement	60,000
Furniture and fixtures	75,000
Memorial Hall repairs	65,000
Sanitary engineering lab.	20,000
Watershed and storage	100,000
Campus mains and drainage	52,000

Total $735,000

Nine members of the committee heard estimates submitted by President Chase and Charles T. Woollen, Business Manager of the University. They stated that they considered the amount they were asking for as completing the six-year building program inaugurated in 1920-21 for which $5,500,000 was authorized. Of this sum, about $4,000,000 has already been appropriated, and the total sought this year includes the balance of that amount as well as some for additional construction work considered necessary during the coming biennium.

Seniors Have Smoker

Meeting Monday Evening Ushers In
Week of Class Smokers

Carolina's smoker season was successfully ushered in last night with a peppy, enthusiastic meeting of the senior class held in Swain Hall at nine o'clock when plans for the new year were discussed, and endorsement given the new cheering squad, the "Cheerios" which cheerleader Kyser is organizing.

Several members of the class of '27 spoke on the past achievements of the class and its personnel and outlined the possibilities for the coming year's program.

Kike Kyser's new cheering section was presented to the class by the cheerleader and president "Red" Smith, the idea meeting with hearty endorsement. Members of the senior class signified their intention of joining the group when organized and pledged to take an active part in improving student yelling.
