

Freshman Cheering This Year Best Yet

Directed by Kike Kyser, the freshmen gave an exhibition of cheering in chapel yesterday morning that was declared by members of the faculty to be second to none ever presented by a freshman class at the University. The men were dismissed from chapel a few minutes before the ringing of the 10:53 bell and congregated in front of Memorial Hall, where Kyser led them in several spirited songs and yells.

Before leading the cheers, Kike pictured the hours of hard work expended by the football team every afternoon, and pointed out its need of the support of every member of the student body when it plays South Carolina Saturday. The freshmen received his talk enthusiastically.

Plans made for New Road from Here to Durham.
Word has been received that the Durham Country Board of Commissioners have started a movement to pave the New Hope Valley Road between Durham and Chapel Hill. This, however, depends upon whether Orange County will pave three miles of the road which lies within its boundaries.

New Hope Valley Road is the nearest route from Chapel Hill to the New Hope Valley Country Club which is being built for the benefit of the University of North Carolina, Duke University, and the citizens of Chapel Hill and Durham.

The construction of this road will make the new Country Club more accessible to the people of Chapel Hill and this immediate vicinity and should, therefore, be of much interest to them.

TAR HEEL OF PAST DECADES

Twenty Years Ago Today
Nineteen out of twenty-four students passed the State Bar. Whitehead Kenty was elected editor-in-chief of the TAR HEEL and B. S. Skinner was elected business manager.

Professor Howell was appointed chairman of a committee of seven to get bath houses and a swimming pool here.

Virginia has good football prospects. Fifty men are out for berths on the team.

Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society met. Dr. Richard H. Whitehead was elected president.

Freshmen elect Albert Cox captain of the frosh football team.

A training table at the Commons for football men will be run. Digestible food will be served.

Ten Years Ago Today
U. N. C. defeated V. M. I. 6-0. "It was the fiercest football curtain raiser ever pulled on the Hill." Winston scored for Carolina.

Henry Fairly, thought to be an intruder, shot by his roommate, at five o'clock on Sunday morning. Both the boys are from Monroe, and the wound is not of a serious nature.

Freshman class holds meeting and appoints committee to select appropriate colors for the class. One freshman wants bright colors to represent the stars in the class.

There was a pretty fair crowd out for the Carolina-V. M. I. football game—about 600 in all.

THINGS THAT COUNT

By Brown Shepherd, Jr.

Many a lesson is taught by defeat. Carolina seems to be unwillingly paving the way for a scholarship.

Authorities credit Tennessee with a championship team, it is a certain knowledge that the Tar Heels will not be by themselves "among those defeated."

Out of the black gloom of the Tennessee game there appeared a silver lining of hopeful nature. As the third quarter opened Carolina burst forth with an offensive effort which showed promise of definite results with a little more time and experience.

Several passes, Ferrel to Young, were completed in the Saturday fray. Looks like that ancient arial jinx has at last been lifted.

Many members of the Carolina squad have been subjected to heavy fire in the two initial games of the season. A great amount of nerve has been evinced, but not enough fight. There's a big difference.

Harry, Swartz, Tom Young, Joe Josephs and Steve Furches deserve lots of credit for the fight they put up Saturday.

The Carolina coaches have at no time predicted a winning team for this season. "The material is simply too young and lacking in experience." Give our grid-instructors time; they are working with the future in mind.

Several members of the squad have quit since Saturday. Some had excuses, some had too much Tennessee, some had too little of everything, others craved a recess.

Kike Kyser is doing a big thing for Carolina by the formation of his "cheerio" organization. It's hard to fathom how a Carolina team plays at all, in view of the spirit manifested, or rather not manifested by the students on numerous occasions.

Y CABINETS MEET; MAKE NEW PLANS

Decide to Invite Outstanding Speakers to Address Carolina Student Body.

FOLLOW BLUE RIDGE PLAN

The Y. M. C. A. building was again the center of activities Monday night when the three "Y" organizations held their regular meetings. Several important issues were discussed by the Junior-Senior Cabinet, while the completion of the membership for the Sophomore and Freshman Cabinets was the chief topic for these organizations.

The new series of Religious Discussion groups for all the fall quarter was discussed by the Junior-Senior Cabinet and President Glenn brought out several ideas expressed at the Blue Ridge Conference concerning Religious Discussion groups. A report of an investigation of the distributing of literature and pamphlets on the campus was given by Nash Johnston and was endorsed by the cabinet. Norman Block put before the cabinet in an interesting manner the idea of a concentrated effort to bring to the University campus a number of the most outstanding men and speakers of the country. Under this plan a program will be carried out according to the Blue Ridge plan of conference. The cabinet heartily endorsed the proposal.

The Sophomore organization of the Y. M. C. A. was formally named the "Sophomore Cabinet" by the members Monday night. The members of this cabinet will assist in holding the freshman elections Friday. The membership is not yet complete, and any Sophomores who are interested in Y. M. C. A. work are requested to give their names to the Y. M. C. A. office.

The Freshman Cabinet will hold a smoker at the regular meeting hour next Monday night. William Chandler, W. C. Spagh, and James McIver were appointed a committee to arrange the smoker. The Religious Discussion group plan was explained, and many members expressed a desire to join a group.

"A Thousand Years Ago" to Be Here October 15-16
"A Thousand Years Ago," a play of the orient, which will be given October 15 and 16 by the Carolina Playmakers has been enlarged and will be made to look as much like out-of-doors as possible. There will be a background of pine trees and evergreens across the back and sides of the stage, many Japanese lanterns will be hung throughout the auditorium, and incense from the orient will be burned in the building. Every effort will be made to make the setting as much in keeping with the play as possible.
